VOL. XXXIV. NO. 27. WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 1, 1915 PRICE FIVE CENTS

CLARENCE C. MILLER.

Mr. Clarence C. Miller of this town has today been admitted to membership in the firm of Plympton and Bunting, General Managers, Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., 24 Milk street, Boston.

Mr. Miller has been connected with the agency of Jas. T. Phelps & Co., State agents of The National Life Insurance Co., for over seventeen years. In 1909 he was appointed Supt. of Agents and on January 1st, 1913, was made a member of the firm. While with the National Life, several times in the last few years he has finished the year with the largest personal business of any agent they had in the country.

Mr. Miller has been an active member of the Boston Life Underwriters Association, having served as secretary, vice president, president, and is now chairman of the Executive Committee.

In commenting on the new connection, The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. makes the following announcement:

"The management is gratified in bringing to the aid of Mr. Bunting a gentleman peculiarly well fitted through long acquaintance with life insurance in all its varied forms to present its best adaption to any individual case.

"We are advising you of this accession to our strength in New England because your interests as a member of this company are to be promoted thereby. Especially will this be so if you give to our representatives the undoubted benefit of your favorable influence, in which case your personal interests will be enhanced. Our office continues in the Penn Mutual Building, 24 Milk street.

Yours very truly,
Lincoln K. Passmore,
Vice President."

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

Next week is the Week of Prayer the world over. In Winchester, as usual, union services of prayer will be held on Monday, Thursday and Friday evenings, using as a general topic for meditation, "The Ministry of the Church." The arrangement of services is as follows:

Monday, 7.45. Union service in the Baptist Church. Subject: "The Ministry of the Church to Industry," or "Can a Man Be a Christian in Business?" Romans 12.

Thursday, 7.45. Union service in the Methodist Church. Subject: "The Ministry of the Church to the Nation," or the stand that the Christian Church should take with reference to militarism in our country.

Friday, 7.45. Union service in the Congregational Church. Subject: "The Ministry of the Church to the Individual."

The pastors lead the service in their respective churches. And to this fellowship in prayer all people are very cordially invited.

The strong and stirring words of Lord Tennyson upon Prayer are most fitting for meditation on the part of all at this time:

"More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats,
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer,
Both for themselves and those who call them friend?
For so the whole round earth is every way
Bound by gold chains about the feet of God."

BAPTIST NEWS.

At the six o'clock meeting on Sunday evening Miss Lydia Jennie Crawford, of Hanyang, China, gave a most interesting account of how she had spent several Christmas seasons in China. Also Mr. Stanley B. Weld, who conducted the meeting, and Miss Sara Frances Felber read letters from friends who had recently gone to China, one letter telling of a Chinese wedding, and the other of hospital work. And on Monday at the Mission Band Miss Crawford told the story of a little Chinese girl.

Mrs. Nina Tuxbury, of Sendai, Japan, will speak at the gentlemen's night of the Woman's Missionary Society next Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wyman on Sheffield road.

Very timely topics engage our attention during the Week of Prayer next week, such as being a Christian in business, and the growing militarism in this country.

Mrs. Ella H. Sanborn, of Black Horse terrace, left yesterday for Montreat, North Carolina, a Northfield for the South, where she will spend the winter.

We wish to extend the season's greetings to our patrons and also to express our most sincere thanks for the patronage and support so generously shown to us in the last and most successful year of our organization.

"SYLVIA."

To Be Given Under Direction of Miss Kellogg.

Among the patronesses for the ballet of "Sylvia," to be presented at the Boston Opera House on February 1st and 2nd, under the direction of Miss Mary Kellogg, are Mrs. Robert deNormandie, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, Mrs. G. R. Fearing, Jr., Mrs. Lyman W. Gale, Mrs. Malcolm Houghton, Mrs. Benjamin Pitman, Mrs. Oakes Ames, Miss Caroline Amory, Mrs. Richard Washburn Childs, Miss Fannie Osgood, Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, Mrs. Benjamin Thayer, Mrs. C. E. Inches, Mrs. James Lord, Mrs. Oren Cheney Sanborn and Miss Frances Elder.

These are members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Women's Suffrage Association, under whose auspices the performance will be given. The ballet of "Sylvia" is by Leo Delibes and is written in his most delightful vein. The story which was never considered equal to the music, has been slightly altered by Miss Kellogg for the present production. Boston audiences are familiar with "Coppelia" by the same composer, which has been given often at the Boston Opera House.

"Sylvia" has not been seen in America since 1887, though certain selections from the score have been popular orchestral numbers. The ballet will be given a very different presentation now, as perhaps there is no branch of the dramatic art which has been changed so radically as the art of the ballet. The credit for this is largely due to the famous Russian school, also to some extent to Isadore Duncan, an American, and the great scenic artists of the theatre, Bakst, Urban, Craig and Rheinhardt. Miss Kellogg, who has been a conscientious student of the art, and is recognized as its foremost exponent in America, is soon to give an original and interesting presentation of this famous ballet.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

With the exception of the cupola, which is almost finished, the work on the Fire and Police building is now practically all inside. The water pipes are in, the electric wiring is practically finished, and the work of installing the heating apparatus is progressing rapidly. The two large heaters are in place and a considerable amount of the piping is up. The furring for the plastered walls is also well up.

The work of flowing in the concrete parapet at the Waterfield road bridge is now going on, the arch having been completed and covered with dirt. This bridge, like that at Main street, has a considerable crown, and may possibly necessitate either a flight of steps or the raising of the Lavacey building. Without doubt the grade crossing problem is proving a vexing one for the development of this town, although in the cases of the two bridges, it has been suggested that it might have been possible to have built them to the present grade and then crown them later with dirt.

The Edison Company are still at work laying new underground conduits about the centre and continue to remove the wires from the poles as they are completed.

At the Star Building the roof is on for half the building from the Park street end, and the brick front at that end is well up above the second story. The work of erecting the Church street front was started yesterday, some of the stonework being set in place. It is anticipated that unless another cold spell interferes the brick side walls will be completed as high as the parapet and the roof laid by tomorrow.

RED CROSS REPORT.

The chairman of the Red Cross organization gives herself the pleasure of submitting a report to the people of the town who have supported the movement in such a generous manner.

We record with pride the gift of twenty-five dollars each from four different sources, thirty-eight from a travel lecture given in the High School Assembly Hall, several subscriptions in tens and a few in five dollar amounts. The report shows how very valuable the small sums have been to the organization, and we are especially grateful for them.

We want particularly to note the voluntary contributions of the Italians. Through the kindness of a friend of the cause, who is also a friend of the Italians, seventeen dollars was given the Treasurer, representing a large amount of men and women cheerfully giving to this charity, with which many have had a personal experience. We thank them heartily for this generous gift.

Seven sewing meetings have been held in different church parlors. The result is: Surgical shirts 76, pajama suits 29, convalescent robes 22. The knitters have sent in mufflers 40, cholera bands 7, wristers 18 pairs, hospital stockings 4 pairs, stockings 2 pairs, 12 handkerchiefs have been given.

The Treasurer's report gives $213.55 received and $123.86 paid out, so we have $89.69 remaining. We will cheerfully make the garments required from headquarters, until the money is gone, and if the Winchester people give us no more, we just as cheerfully give up our work as an organization and continue it in other directions.

EN KA DANCE.

The En Ka Sorority of the Winchester High School held its annual Christmas dance in Waterfield Hall on Tuesday evening. Dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock. The dance committee included Misses Gladys Spaulding, Martha Locke, Marjorie Braddock, Josephine Woods, Dorothy Armstrong and Carlene Gleason. The matrons were: Mrs. Alfred Radley, Mrs. Paul B. Davis, Mrs. Clifford Mason and Mrs. E. Reddington Glidden. The program consisted of twenty dances.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Interesting Reports Followed by an "Opera Talk."

At the business meeting on Monday, Miss Folts announced Mrs. G. S. Littlefield and Mrs. J. L. Tufts as the two members appointed to serve with the president on the committee for the revision of the By-laws.

Mrs. Russell gave a report of the Art Conference at the Museum, and Mrs. M. A. Cummings read Mrs. Maxwell's report of the Education Conference held at East Saugus.

Mrs. Robinson, Field Secretary of Frances Willard Settlement, gave an account of the work of Llewsac Lodge, of the Home for Working Girls in Boston, and of the Settlement work.

Attention was called to the change in date of the Choral Class Concert to Thursday, January 28, at 8 p. m.

It was voted to hold the club luncheon this year at the Town Hall on the day of the annual meeting.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Havrah Hubbard of the Boston Opera Company. Before commencing the "opera talk," he spoke at length on the conditions of the opera in Boston, and of the possibility of making it a financial success if conducted according to American business methods. To this end the public can contribute by appreciation of the best in our native artists, and by encouraging the effort to produce operas in good English rather than in foreign tongues. We are too prone to think that when we can understand a thing it must of necessity be bad. With present conditions in Europe we now have a chance for American independence where art is concerned.

In a word picture, Mr. Hubbard then introduced the audience to the beautiful Thuringian forest of Germany and to the restored Castle on the Wartburg, near Eisenach, with its interesting legends and its rich historical associations. It was here that Wagner laid the scene of "Tannhauser," which was the opera chosen for the afternoon talk. By description, dramatic reading, and sympathetic piano accompaniment, each of the three acts was interpreted to an appreciative audience.

The next meeting of the Home Economics Department will be on Monday, January 4, in the Assembly Hall of the High School at 3 o'clock. This will be the opening lecture of the course of five free lectures offered by the Home Economics Department of the Mass. Federation, which The Fortnightly, Grange, and Mothers' Association unite in presenting.

Eva Whiting White, a member of the Board of Education, and head of the Elizabeth Peabody Settlement House, will speak on the "Meaning of Home Economics."

Regular rehearsal of the Choral Class Tuesday, January 5, at 9.30 a. m., with Mrs. Lefavour, 1 Herrick street. Extra rehearsal Friday, January 8, at 9.30 a. m., at the Town Hall. Please be prompt.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

The subject of Mr. Metcalf's sermon Sunday morning will be "Should We Fear God." Many people are troubled about the relation of the Jewish idea of Fear as related to the Christian conception of the Love of God.

Following the church service Sunday morning there will be an important meeting of the Ladies' Friendly Society to see what they will contribute to the Social Service Council of Unitarian Women.

The meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday School will be held on Friday evening, instead of Thursday as is the usual custom.

The proceeds of the Ladies' Friendly fair will be upwards of $400. The day was very bad but the amount is almost equal to last year.

The Christmas Celebration of the Sunday School was a great success. The children of the Nickerson Home were unable to come on account of a case of measles in the institution. Their plight was known so they had rather more and better presents given them by the members of our Sunday School.

Miss Campbell and Miss Jewett had charge of the presents, which were taken to the home by Mr. E. K. Jewett. The children of the Mount Hope Home who took their places came out to the number of 12. They helped the entertainment by gving a short program of their own. They also received presents.

The entertainment consisted of two acts of the "Bird's Christmas Carol," with Mrs. Lane as Mrs. Ruggles, Stuart Lane as the Uncle, Miss Emma Brown as Carol, and Edward Barton, Annette Mason, Louise Alexander, Marjorie Wait, Edward Sandberg, William Beggs and Robert Lane as the Ruggles Children.

MISS FOLEY AT TOWN HALL.

Margaret Foley, who is in demand all over America for her inimitable speeches and campaign work for woman suffrage, will speak in the Small Town Hall on Wednesday, January 6, at 3 p. m. The Rev. Murray W. Dewart will introduce Miss Foley.

The public is cordially invited to hear Miss Foley tell in her own witty manner why she works for woman suffrage. At the conclusion of her speech tea will be served.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION.

Editor of the Star:—

While I do not wish to enter into any religious discussion with Mrs. H. D. Murphy, it seemed to me that her criticism of the Catholic Federation meeting was unnecessary. The Federation did not criticise any Episcopal points, but tried to enlighten the people on some points the Catholic Church teaches.

It is well known that the divorce evil is a bad and growing menace to the United States. Witness, for instance, the morbid crowds at divorce hearings, the accounts in the papers read by children, and discussed by them. That is the answer, not to mention the loose moral conduct encouraged by the fact that divorces are easy to obtain.

In regard to parochial schools, the answer is in the daily papers, in the high positions filled, with honor, by men and women graduates of the parochial schools. The schools are supported by Catholics, and should rightly be managed by them, and not by prejudiced outsiders. Their teaching system is excellent, and covers as large a range as the public schools, without the unrestrained liberty allowed the pupils of the public schools. Their religious training is a part of the Catholic principles and criticising that, is criticising God himself.

As for the Federation in politics, I think any body of men, religious or otherwise, have the privilege of working for good and necessary legislation, when it benefits the whole people, and the Federation did no more than any other organization would have a perfect right to do without being criticised by any one.

The Catholic Federation is not a church organization, but simply consists of the members of the Catholic Church, and as such is entitled to enter into politics if it seems necessary.

Hoping to see this in print in your paper, also hoping I have not hurt anyone's feelings,

Sincerely yours,
"Another Murphy."

DANCING PARTY.

Miss Eleanor Hale gave a dancing party at her home on Black Horse terrace Monday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Alva Brown of Salem. Eleven couple were present. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening, followed by refreshments. Among those who attended were Miss Helen White, Miss Rhoda Case, Miss Julia Sherman, Miss Ruth Marchant, Miss Katherine Starr, Miss Winsome Abbott, Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Dorothy Fairfield, Miss Katherine Hale, Miss Sally Thompson, Messrs. Remington Clark, Henry Hart, Wellington Caldwell, Robert Coit, Robert Metcalf, John Higgins, Richard Higgins, Robert Hight, Eben Page, Edward Hale and Robert Hale.

FORTNIGHTLY CHORAL CLASS CONCERT.

Annual Concert Will be a Pleasing Event.

The Choral Class connected with The Fortnightly will give its annual concert in the Town Hall, on the evening of Thursday, January 28th. This organization, now in its sixth season, was started originally through the efforts of Mrs. William Lefavour, who has given to it, unsparingly, her time, talent, and enthusiasm ever since.

The leader for the first two years was Mr. Albert Edmund Brown, formerly director of music in the public schools of Winchester, who was also the baritone soloist at the two first concerts. For the past four seasons the class has been under the direction of Mr. J. Albert Baumgartner, and the results achieved give the best evidence of his musical discernment, and unusual ability as an instructor and inspiring leader. His piano solos, and delightful accompaniments for voice and stringed instruments, have given the greatest pleasure to all who have been fortunate enough to hear them. The music selected for the class work has been of a high order, and The Fortnightly has every reason to be proud of the work done by this group of its members.

It was thought best to give an evening concert this season in order that all the people of the town might have an opportunity to enjoy an event which has been so pleasurable for the club, in preceding years, and it is hoped that the same generous interest may be shown in the Choral Class work, which has been accorded the Winchester Orchestral Society in its larger endeavor.

The soloists for the coming concert are Miss Jean McLellan, soprano; Mr. John Wills, flutist; and Mr. Leon Van Vliet, the well known 'cellist. The latter will be accompanied by Mr. Baumgartner, who will also give pianoforte solos.

The program will consist of folk songs of Russia and Italy, old English songs, a chorus by the Norwegian, Grieg, and the charming French "Legend of Miana," with soprano solo and flute obligato.

THE CENTRE IN RELIEF.

At the meeting of the Board of Selectmen on Monday night it was voted to have a relief plan or cast of the centre made, showing just what its appearance will be when the so-called "Selectmen's" or "Town Plan" for the abolition of the grade crossing is carried out. This cast will be made of plaster of paris or paper mache. It will show in relief just how the streets will look when they are raised, how the buildings will look, and in fact give a definite idea of what will be accomplished by the plan.

This step is taken in connection with the desire of every resident of the Town to keep the present lines of travel and not close or disfigure the centre by any such plan of abolition as that recently reported by the special commission.

The exact method, etc., for making this relief plan is not as yet decided, but when it is completed it will be placed on exhibition where everyone may see it.

DANCING PARTY AT METCALF HALL.

Mrs. Fred C. Alexander of Lakeview road gave a dancing party at Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church on Wednesday evening to the members of the Metcalf Union and the Campfire Girls. About 75 were present. The hall was decorated for the evening with red pinks, and the guests were received by Mrs. Alexander, the following young men acting as ushers: Winthrop Foster, Earl Goldsmith, Stuart Lane, Kenneth Pratt and Clarence Russell.

Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour and during the evening refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn, Mrs. Wendell M. Weston, Mrs. C. J. Ramsdell and Mrs. Frank M. Russell, these ladies being assisted by Miss Eva Kellough, Miss Florence Fisher, Mrs. George H. Root, Mrs. William H. Foss, Mrs. George W. Apsey and Mrs. Herbert E. Maynard.

POPULAR SOCIAL EVENT.

One of the most popular and best patronized annual and social events held north of Boston, was the New Year's Eve Dinner-dance, given by the Belmont Spring Country Club. About three hundred members and friends filled the Clubhouse to its utmost capacity and it will be necessary that the call for extensions be given consideration the coming year. Among the people from Winchester were: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cloutman, Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Downer, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Dobyne, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Fairchild, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McAlman, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. BUSINESS AND THE CHURCHES.

The churches have been so long regarded from the spiritual standpoint, and as objects of charity, that their great value as business factors has been frequently overlooked. A few years ago, a police commissioner in New York remarked that the average church in New York, regardless of denomination, "did as much to promote good order as eight policeman. The cost of eight policeman with all other expenses associated with them is between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars. This includes cost of arrests, police courts and other expenses of the criminal classes. The average annual church budget is not half so great. The average salary of the ministers in America is about one-half as much as that of a New York policeman.

In round figures, the country spends on its public schools a half billion dollars. An equal amount is spent for motion pictures, theatres and entertainment. Four times that amount is spent for liquors of various kinds, and twice the amount for tobacco according to careful estimates, yet all the Churches get along with less than a quarter billion dollars, or less than the amount which is spent for ice-cream, candy and soda water. Moreover they are one of the most desirable business assets of any community. The real estate promoter starts his building operations with a church whenever possible. The residential section of our cities want churches while they exclude other kinds of buildings.

The churches in all ages and lands seem to have been the chief inspiration and promoters of art, the leaders in education and reform and the champions of law and good government. Before and since Columbus was sent forth by Isabella to discover and convert new lands, the church has led the way in discovery. Trade has followed in paths made by missionaries in all lands and times. Without entering into a discussion of its admitted chief work as a religious force, the church has always been one of the greatest factors in business and one of the best investments of the human race.

PEACE.

The recent publication of Mollie Poland's acoustic in the Star has brought several other samples of the work of the younger scholars in the public schools. The following was written by Barbara Goddard, aged 9 years:

Peace.

Germany and France and other countries
Listen to what I say,
There must be peace in this world,
So all be happy and gay.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

The Spectator has been seated in parlors when secretly his heart ached. He has looked into faces that were fair and untouched by the trace of care. Fair, soft hands, because of toil, would never lose their whiteness—and The Spectator knew it. And then he heard the footfall of the mother perfuming the drudgery of the back room. It set his thoughts a-going. Our girls are losing the art of "remembering mother." Winchester is full of mothers who are laboring and loving unto death. It is a shame and bodes no good—The Spectator just can't respect the girl who consents to let her mother wash dishes while she entertains some half-brained fop that would do well to draw a salary of $20 a month. The society that rests on that necessity is not made up right. Every day in this old world some household martyr folds her hands for the last, long rest. No more will the mother heart be responsive to the needs of one so dear to her. Every day pilgrim shoes are loosened from tired feet all too early given out. Every day the shadows gather in homes that might have otherwise been glad and cheery, if only somebody had thought—and thought soon enough.

Being "busy" is not necessarily being industrious. Even the slow molded ancients had their hit at "the laborious doer of nothing." Many a young man here in Winchester is taking credit to himself that he is always working at something. His (and yours) is the higher privilege to be working at the best thing. He is satisfied because he is doing some good, making some not unworthy use of life. It is your privilege—is it not every man's duty?—to be doing the most good, making the best use of life possible. Time flies too swiftly. Life is too short to allow the innocent voluntary waste of a single hour!

It is one of the pet theories of the philanthropist that kindness and courage beget like sentiments in the hearts of those toward whom they are exercised. But practical experience so often disproves the truth of this pretty maxim that none but those generous spirits, bent on believing only the best of humanity, could long withstand the daily exhibitions of egregious selfishness and brutality that come under the observation of all. Street, shop, car, theatre and even the church, are platforms whereon are constantly exposed such conspicuous examples of rudeness that ordinary persons early learn to distrust the appearance of even that susceptibility to right feeling which is the groundwork of all decent behavior.

The Spectator, who takes upon himself many ungracious tasks, may speak here a much needed word of reproval. If each individual in a crowd could be disabused of the feeling that he shares the responsibility of his action with his unknown neighbors, he might feel a deeper sense of obligation to conduct himself properly. But he fancies he is out of sight, and he is influenced by the lawlessness which pervades an assembly where the individuals oppose in themselves no moral resistance. He slinks like a coward in the shadows of numbers, and does what he would not do by himself in the full light of observation.

The best gift a parent can bestow on any child is to teach it to think for itself. Why are there so many namby pamby people in this world who stand first on one foot and then on another until opportunity has passed by? Because mothers have ignored the necessity of teaching them to judge accurately a situation and to make a decision. We are told as children that hasty conclusions are bad things—but no one speaks a word about the slowness that is so deadly when it becomes a question of deciding whether to go forward or back. Now it is perfectly impossible to stand still, therefore something is actually happening while we fondly think we are holding the situation pending a decision. It is the firm belief of The Spectator that there are few, if any, slug-gish minds. Those that appear to be so are merely minds that have never been trained to be agile.

Some parents keep the children tied to their apron strings so late that they always look to someone else to bear their responsibilities, and they are quite helpless when forced to rely on themselves. Children should learn to get along without their parents. Self reliance early in life spells sure success later on. Leaving out the fact that self reliance breeds the ability to resist temptations, children so blessed are spared much heart sickening loneliness. That is why many many parents believe in sending both boys and girls away to boarding school even when they are quite young. And do they love their mother for this? No, indeed. The slave mother who thinks that her children are unable to breathe without her is never half so beloved as the other kind who exacts manly conduct in her son and executive ability in her daughter. The mother who builds up a strong character in her children is the one they are going to love with deep gratitude.

MR. SANDERSON ERECTED TREE.

The credit for the fine Christmas tree erected on the Common in connection with the municipal observance of Christmas by the Town should be given to Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson, chairman of the committee having that part of the affair in charge. Through misinformation the credit for this important and beautiful part of the observance was given to other parties in our last issue. This is much regretted, as the tree has been greatly admired and much commented upon for the skilful arrangement of its lights and the beauty of its appearance. The entire work of erecting and decorating the tree was done by Mr. Sanderson and to him alone lies the credit for such a fine adornment to our Town on the first municipal observance of Christmas.

MRS. CATHERINE HOBAN.

Mrs. Catherine Hoban, one of the oldest women in Winchester passed away last Thursday evening at her home on Hill street under circumstances quite distressing. Her age is given as 85, but she claimed that she was considerably over 90. Her death was the result of exposure. One of the neighbors Mrs. Cullen, had for some time kept track of the old lady, and saw that she did not want.

At about six o'clock on the evening of her death, she requested one of her boarders, Thomas J. Smith, to take a plate of hot soup to Mrs. Hoban. He found her in the backyard of her home clad only in a thin wrapper and apparently very cold. He helped her into her house and induced her to eat some of the soup. She seemed to feel better and he left her.

About 7 o'clock Mrs. Cullen called and found her dead on a couch in the kitchen. One of the sons was asleep in the front room and knew nothing about the condition of his mother.

Mrs. Hoban for many years resided on Cross street on the site of the present Washington school building. She was a hard working, industrious woman, up to the time when age incapacitated her from working. But her genial and pleasant disposition are well remembered by the old residents of the Highlands among whom she worked for.

Mrs. Hoban was the widow of Patrick Hoban. She is survived by five sons, Edward, Henry and Joseph of this town, Thomas F. Hoban, who has a hotel in Lowell, and who has vainly tried to induce his mother to make her home with him, and John H. Hoban of Wilmington. A half brother of the dead woman, Thomas Mulkeen, is a lieutenant in the Woburn Police Department.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon. Rev. John W. H. Corbett officiated. The pall bearers were Luke Hoban and James Mulvaney of Lowell and Leo and Thomas Hoban of Wilmington. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Montvale.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GEORGE W. HEYS.

The funeral of Mrs. Geo. W. Heys of Manchester, N. H., formerly of this town, was held Thursday, Dec. 24, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Geo. A. Wade, Blind Bridge street. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. D. A. Newton of Reading, formerly pastor of the Congregational church of this town.

Mrs. Heys spent her early life in Winchester, graduating from the High School in the class of 1892. She was married in 1901 and had spent her married life in Auburn, Me., and Manchester, N. H., with her husband, who is traveling agent for the United Shoe Machinery Co. She always had a pleasant thought for her friends and her death came as a great shock to all who knew her. Her friends showed the esteem in which she was held in by the number of floral pieces that hid the casket from view. Relatives and friends were present from New York, Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Andover, No. Wilmington, Somerville, Beverly, Lynn and Newton.

WEEK-END FIRES.

Notwithstanding the fact that there were probably from five to six thousand lighted candles placed in the windows about town Christmas eve, there was only one fire from them. This was at the residence of Louis L. G. deRochemont on Foxcroft road. A member of the family placed a candle in an upstairs window and the curtain caught fire. The blaze was seen by two of the drivers of Hutchinson's Market, who entered the house and tore the blazing curtains down without other damage. The alarm was sounded from box 58, but the fire department found no work upon its arrival.

On Christmas forenoon shortly before 10 o'clock a still alarm took the chemical to the residence of J. H. Dowell on Main street for a chimney fire. There was no damage. A few minutes later Mr. Harry A. Wheeler of Cliff street telephoned the department for a similar fire at his residence. The apparatus responded, and like the Dowell fire, no damage occurred and the chimney was cleaned out.

The Winchester department was notified to hold itself in readiness to respond in case it was needed for the big fire at Woburn early Sunday morning, when the carpenter shop of Smith & Wallace burned down. The services of the local department were not needed however.

Special prizes will be award ed to the winners of the various events.

Thirty-seven boys were present.

When we read the announcement that the gross income of ninety-nine per cent of the railroads throughout the country, is millions of dollars less during the past six months as compared with the same period last year, and that great systems like the New Haven Railroad have been and are now laying off employees by the thousands, we can better appreciate the significance of the remarks of President Wilson, when he said "that the past seems like a bad dream."—Belmont Currier.

GREAT SUCCESS.

Community Observance of Christmas Participated in by All.

The community observance of Christmas by the Town of Winchester, as held on Christmas eve, proved to be one of the finest affairs this place has ever seen. A magnificent Christmas tree, illuminated by many colored lights, and the singing of Christmas carols about town by bands of young people, brought all classes into closer relation at this season of peace on earth and good will toward men. Lighted candles in the windows of almost every house in the community added to the beauty of the occasion and to the general feeling of good-fellowship. Rev. Murray W. Dewart, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, who first undertook the idea and to whose initiative it was carried out, has every reason to feel much satisfaction over the pleasing results.

About eight bands of carol singers went about town during the evening. An attempt was made to route the different bands, but as they were composed largely of members of the various churches, and as each had one or more special family of shut-ins or elderly people whom they desired to visit, a strict routing was abandoned. Nevertheless, the larger part of the town was visited by the singers.

About 350 singers were present when the final gathering was held at the tree on the Common at eight-thirty. The majority of the bands started out with from twenty to twenty-five singers, and as they went on their way others joined with them. One party on Bacon street was invited in at the Ginn residence, and sang their carols in the music room to the accompaniment of the large organ, making an impressive observance of the Christmas spirit for the large number who were present. Another band on Main street stopped at the residence of Samuel J. Symmes and sang their carols under the large star which shone forth from an upper window, and which was one of the finest of the many window lights. The Home for Aged People on Kendall street was not forgotten, the inmates being visited by two bands of singers. The Hospital and northern section of the town, as well as many invalids and elderly people were also visited.

At 8.15 the majority of the bands met at the Town Hall, and amid the ringing of the bells, marched singing to the tree at the centre, headed by the four cornet players, Messrs. George Bigley, Roy Downer, Herman H. Pool and William S. Richardson. It is estimated that about 1000 persons were gathered at the tree, and the singing was very impressive.

The tree was beautiful. It stood 35 feet high and was placed opposite the entrance to the Congregational Church. Many colored lights were used in its decoration, they being carried from it to the surrounding trees. The tree was erected and decorated by Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson, a member of the general committee, who gave it much time and thought. The result was beyond all expectation of everyone, and it is regretted that the credit for this most beautiful feature of the observance was given to other parties, as was last issue through misinformation. The singing at the tree was continued until after nine, when the bands dispersed and went to their homes, the final selection sung being America, in which all joined.

The appearance of the town during the evening was very fine. Almost without exception every house had its windows lighted by candles. Many people went about in automobiles, sleighs and taxis, viewing the handsome sight. The list of carols sung about town during the evening included "Silent Night," "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen," "The Christmas Tree," "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," and "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing."

Much credit is due the delegates appointed from the different churches to serve on the general committee and on the sub-committees who were as follows: First Congregational, William A. Kneeland and W. B. Thompson; Unitarian, Lewis Parkhurst and Charles A. Baldwin; Second Congregational, John A. McLean and Ronald Park; St. Mary's, Francis J. O'Hara and W. D. Richards; First Baptist, Henry C. Sanborn and Edmund C. Sanderson; Methodist, Charles A. Dodge and G. Henry McMillan; Episcopal, Marcus B. May and Roland H. Sherman; Christian Science Society, Edward S. Foster and John J. Flinn; and New Hope Baptist, Thomas S. Richardson and Charles B. Kirby.

Marcus B. May was chairman of the general committee and the sub-committees were as follows: Tree Committee, Edmund C. Sanderson, Harry Sanderson and John Campbell; Choral Committee, Rev. Murray W. Dewart and Charles A. Dodge; Publicity Committee, Roland Park, William A. Kneeland and Nathaniel M. Nichols; Finance Committee, Roland H. Sherman, W. D. Richards, N. W. Davis, J. L. S. Barton, Charles B. Kirby, F. S. Snyder, Harry C. Sanborn and Justin L. Parker; Music Committee, M. B. May, G. H. McMillan, Francis J. O'Hara, Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, G. W. Thompson, T. S. Richardson and Roland Park; Reception and Distribution Committee, Francis J. O'Hara, Miss Alice Clark, Nathaniel M. Nichols, Miss Bernice Billings, Dr. Frederika Moore and George H. Carter.

The special committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Nathaniel M. Nichols, appointed to receive and solicit clothing, toys and funds for needy families in town, report a very satisfying result of their labors. Including the gift of $100 from Thomas W. Lawson, $215 in cash was received. This sum provided Christmas dinners for 276 individuals, men, women and children. In addition the committee distributed 17 baskets, filled with apples, potatoes, toys and clothing, to as many families. These were the result of the donations left at the High School.

Many other individual gifts and donations were made to needy persons in town aside from the distribution by the committee. Some clothing still remains at the High School which the committee found impossible to sort and arrange for distribution at Christmas. This will be distributed during the coming month as it is needed.

The committee desires to express its thanks to the residents, both those who contributed money and those who gave articles of clothing and toys. It is hoped that with this fine start the work of giving Christmas cheer to the poor of Winchester may be carried out on an even larger scale next year.

CHRISTMAS BOWLING.

Five Prizes Awarded in Novel Manner at Calumet Club.

The Christmas bowling at the Calumet Club took a novel form this year. Five prizes were awarded and none of the bowlers knew what they were for until the announcement was made at the close of the contest Saturday evening. There was no entry fee charged for the bowling. The committee made a selection of ten awards, which were placed in an envelope and five withdrawn. These were sealed and opened at the conclusion of the tournament.

The prizes were of equal value and were won as follows:

Best single string with handicap; won by John W. Johnson, who rolled 132 with a handicap of 21, making 153. He received a leather bill fold.

Largest number of strings rolled; won by Judge Littlefield, who rolled 57. The judge was awarded a pair of bowling shoes.

Tenth best string rolled without handicap; won by Dr. E. Russell Murphy, who rolled 124. He received a thermos bottle.

Second lowest string; tied by Dr. Orion Kelley, Harold L. Randlett and James H. Hazeltine, each rolling 62. The prize for this was a thermos bottle, and the roll off will be held at the club this Saturday evening.

Highest total pinfall; won by George F. Purrington, who totalled 2359 pins for 22 strings.

Among the awards which were not selected were: best single flat, highest single string divisable by two, highest single string divisable by three, best two string total and lowest pin-fall.

CHRISTMAS REUNION.

Four Generations Represented at Marchant Home Friday.

An interesting Christmas reunion to their many friends was that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Marchant of Rangeley, when representatives of four generations of the family were present to enjoy the festivities on Friday. Mr. Alfred Marchant, 71 years of age, was master of ceremonies. Next in order were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Marchant; they were followed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Marchant of West Somerville, and last but not least was Miss Margaret Marchant.

Mr. Alfred Marchant is the champion chess and checker player of Canada. His son, Alfred H. Marchant, enjoyed the presence of all of the members of his family, Harry A., Louis A., Isabelle, Ruth and Gladys, and the youngest member, Margaret, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Marchant.

The reunion was one that seldom comes to any family, and especially pleasing that it should occur at this season.

WHY THE NAME WAS CHANGED.

Some persons have wondered why the name on the wagon of the Water Department reads "H. W. W.," instead of "W. W. W."—Winchester Water Works. The reason is this, and it is a good and valid one, too. Some years ago when the Columbus Hotel, on Main street, Woburn, was in working condition, it was known as the "house on the line," and a citizen of Winchester happening to pass the place in an electric car on his way to Woburn, saw a wagon standing in front of the Hotel lettered "W. W. W." The same citizen on his way back to Winchester, some time later, observed the wagon still standing there. A day or two later the said citizen accosted Mr. D. N. Skillings, chairman of the Winchester Water Board, and informed him of what he had seen. Later Mr. Dotten, superintendent of the local Water Works, was asked by Mr. Skillings what was the reason for the team being there. Mr. Dotten "fell to it," so to speak, quickly, and informed Mr. Skillings that the wagons of the Winchester and Woburn water departments were lettered the same. At the first opportunity the lettering on the Winchester wagon was changed to "H. W. W."—Highland Water Works, when all chances for future complaints were removed.

CAR CONNECTIONS.

Editor of the Star:—

Lax management seems to be responsible for a great deal of our electric car troubles. Last week, after waiting in Sullivan square for nearly three quarters of an hour for a Woburn car, I was further annoyed just when I reached Winchester square to see that a Reading car had just gone. Would be passengers hollered, but the conductor being inside the car did not hear them. The Woburn car stopped at the bridge and the passengers were obliged to change cars, but Winchester people walked to the square only to see the car going up Mt. Vernon street. The conductor ought to have given time enough to allow them to get the car, but he did not. I am told this is common on both lines. I hope that you will call the attention of the railroad officials to this.

Mrs. R——.

[The Selectmen have several times taken this matter up with the railroad, and conditions have been remedied, but only for a short time, when go-as-you-please conditions again prevail. It is a hardship to wait a half hour for the next car with no shelter from the cold and storm.]

JOHN KELLEY.

Civil War Veteran Buried Saturday.

John Kelley, a member of Post 33, G. A. R., of Woburn, died on Thursday night at the age of 82 years at his home in Woburn.

Funeral services were held from the home of his son on Main street, Saturday morning, with high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock.

The services were attended by a delegation from the Woburn Post and the casket was draped with the stars and stripes. Before the funeral procession left the house the G. A. R. ritual in honor of a departed comrade was read by Commander Joseph E. Carr, assisted by members of the Post.

Members of Camp 66, S. of V., acted as pall bearers, and the interment was at Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Kelley was born in County Cork, Ireland, July 1, 1832, and came to this country at an early age. He served in the Union army at the time of the Civil War, being mustered in August 22, 1863, in Co. D, 2nd Reg., Mass. Heavy Artillery. He had an eventful service, being taken prisoner at Newberne, N. C., February 2, 1864. He was confined at Andersonville for some time, but was paroled November 26, 1863, and given in exchange of prisoners March 25, 1864. He was discharged June 2, 1865, at the expiration of service.

A Happy New Year.

Have you made your New Year resolutions yet?

Now that the sliding season has commenced, would it not be a good plan for the Selectmen to designate certain streets and times when the young people could enjoy themselves.

The Greater Boston scheme, as time goes on, appears to be growing less and less popular. Charlestown is sorry that it ever became a part of Boston, and now there is a movement under way by East Boston people to have that part of the city set apart. Hyde Park, the latest place to be annexed to Boston, is sadly disappointed.

The Star believes that Winchester should adopt a schedule of all night lighting. The cost for the few additional hours that lights are not burning would be but trifling. It would be not only a measure of safety to pedestrians and policemen, but a protection to the homes of the people. Housebreakers and thugs do not like to work when the lights are brightly burning, they prefer the dark. The Selectmen, when they make up the appropriation for street lights, should include the small additional expense for all night lighting, and thus keep abreast of other towns in this section of the State.

No doubt next Christmas will see the Town unite again in holding a municipal celebration and observance of the day. The observance this year, although the first, was one of the most successful and united actions this town has ever carried through. The residents responded one and all to the call and united with true Christmas spirit in making the evening one long to be remembered. Again has been demonstrated, in a way that goes home to everyone, the friendly community spirit of this town. Like one large family, made up of hundreds of individual units, all working for the common good and pleasure of the community, each resident takes it upon himself to see that he does his part faithfully and well with naught but the noblest instinct, the good of all, to spur him on. Such unity of feeling is what is making Winchester the foremost suburb of Boston and one of the most important towns of the State.

The success of the municipal Christmas observance in this town will doubtless bring other nearby places into line another year. Since the first illumination of a few houses on Black Horse terrace several years ago in accordance with an old English custom, the movement has steadily enlarged, and it needed only the action of the head of one of our most prominent churches to crystalize the thought into action. Among our neighbors nearby the spread of the idea is noticeable. Both on the south and west many houses are lighted Christmas eve, and another year will probably see more than one surrounding town hold its first community observance of Christmas.

THE GATEMEN.

Boston, December 28, 1914.
Mr. P. J. Coyle, 47 Holland Bldg., Boston, Mass.
Dear Sir:—With reference to the complaint you made to Mr. Carmody about the gatemen being employed at the station at Winchester twelve hours a day, I am pleased to report that Mr. Pierce of the Legal Department, Boston & Maine R. R., assures me that this will be stopped in a few days.
In the event that nothing is done during the week, kindly notify Mr. Carmody and myself, and we will again take up this matter with them.
Yours very truly,
E. F. Wallace,
Counsel.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", the Christmas Fairy Play at Castle Square Theatre, has made hundreds of new friends during its second and last week. Next Monday is one of the big dramatic events, not only at Castle Square, but in Boston, for it sees the production of "Common Clay," the Play that won the Prize in the annual John Craig Competition for Harvard students.

"Common Clay" was written by Mr. Cleves Kinkead, a young lawyer from Louisville, Ky., who wrote it last year while attending Professor Baker's class. The heroine is a young girl who by sheer force of character, overcomes her environment and errors and turns the tables on those who have been responsible for them. Miss Mary Young will play the strong and vital role and Mr. John Craig will make a welcome reappearance with such favorites as Mr. William Carleton, Dudley Hawley and Miss Betty Barnicoat and the full strength of the company in support.

Joseph H. Muraay of 607 Main street, while crossing Milk street near Washington, Boston, Christmas eve, slipped and fell in front of an electric car, receiving injuries from which he died shortly after being removed to the Relief Hospital. He was 65 years of age.

Many people went to his rescue and he was dragged from beneath the car by Policeman Sheehan of the City Hall avenue police station and O. A. Lloyd of Everett. He was taken in an ambulance to the Relief Hospital where he died an hour later.

He resided with his wife and son, and conducted what is known as the Winchester Hotel on Main street.

The funeral services were held from St. Mary's church on Monday morning at 10 o,clock. Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. N. J. Merritt, assisted by Rev. John W. H. Corbett and Rev. Francis E. Rogers. Burial was in Calvary cemetery, Montvale. Father Corbett read prayers at the grave.

Court House Changes.

During the past month many changes have been made at the court house. The room used for many years by the deputy sheriffs and court officers has been turned over to District Attorney William J. Corcoran. The room occupied by state detectives Silas P. Smith and Thomas F. Eustis has been given to county treasurer Joseph O. Hayden. This room will now be used for the paying off of witnesses who appear before the Grand Jury and the superior criminal court. The court officers and deputy sheriffs have been given the room on the upper corridor formerly used as the telephone exchange. The exchange has been moved across the corridor into a room formerly used as a consultation room. The state detectives have been given the room near the clerk of courts office formerly used by the court stenographers. The court stenographers have been given a room over the clerk of courts office.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by the Winchester League.

"The old saying that the person who is least up on things is most down on them is certainly true of the anti-suffragists who are at present airing their views on the working woman," declared Miss Margaret Foley of Boston recently in commenting on the statement of the antis that equal suffrage would mean "a catastrophe for the working women of the country."

"What do they know of the working women?" asked Miss Foley, who has been for years a member of the Hat Trimmers' Union and the Woman's Trade Union League. "How many of them have ever earned a dollar by the sweat of their brow in a factory, mill, or shop?

"What possible catastrophe could come to the working woman if she had the right to express her opinion on the things that concern her more than to the working man who has this right? Women will do for Massachusetts what they have already done and are doing for Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Kansas, Oregon, Illinois, Arizona and Alaska, and will undoubtedly do for Nevada and Montana, where equal suffrage was granted at the last election.

"Women have always promptly enacted humanitarian laws since they were first enfranchised in Wyoming in 1869. Women in using the vote are merely carrying on their natural functions, the conservation of health and life, and therefore an invaluable constructive and complimentary force in the world's work. I do not believe that the women of Massachusetts are less humane than the women of the West.

"Our friends, the antis, say the 56 hour law for women and children would be an impossibility under an equal rights victory'. They forget that the women of the suffrage States are enjoying the 8 hour law and they also forget that the women of Massachusetts have been enjoying the 54 hour law for the last three years. It took 19 years to put the 56 hour law for women and children on our statute books and we didn't see any antis on the job, trying to put this legislation through."

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The Annual Meeting of the W. C. T. U. is to be in the vestry of the Congregational Church on the afternoon of Friday, January 8, at 2.30 p. m. Every one come and bring friends to hear Mrs. Brigham report the Atlanta Convention, and Mrs. Gleason give one of her stirring addresses. Let us make this meeting as memorable as the annual meeting a year ago. Each member is expected to invite five ladies of her acquaintance to join the Union. Annual fees will be due at this meeting.

Friends of prohibition are far from being discouraged at the failure of the Hobson resolution to secure the necessary two-thirds vote in the House. The innumerable letters, telegrams, and petitions sent to Congressmen by both sides, the long debate lasting until nearly midnight, the packed galleries ringing with tumultuous applause, all testify to the great interest in the question at issue.

Prohibition has become a national issue. A majority of the members of the lower branch of our national legislature have voted for it. The Boston Herald says editorially, "A majority vote in the National House for prohibition must be rated among the significant events of 1914." The West and South are thoroughly awake to the importance of prohibition, the East is beginning to awaken.

Acting Superintendent Fred H. Lawton of the Anti-Saloon League says, "We predict that the main issue before the country in 1916 will be national prohibition, and a number of Massachusetts districts now strongly no-license will be represented in Washington by men who will favor a prohibition amendment.

"Already pledges of support in the contest so well started are coming to this organization, and the sentiment of the public as a whole points to the complete abolition of the saloon within a decade."

No vote on the Sheppard resolution will be taken in the Senate at this session.

EDGAR J. RICH, ESQ.
Who Succeeds Mr. W. H. Coolidge on B. & M.

B. & M. LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL.

Edgar J. Rich to Succeed William H. Coolidge.

William H. Coolidge and Robert A. Southworth, who for almost a generation have represented the Boston & Maine Railroad at the State House, will no longer act for that corporation. It is assumed that their places will be taken respectively by Edgar J. Rich, the solictor of the Boston & Maine, and by Charles S. Pierce, who is Mr. Rich's first assistant.

Mr. Coolidge has been for 25 years Legislative counsel for the Boston & Maine. He entered the service of that company years ago, when the Boston & Maine took over the Boston & Lowell. Mr. Coolidge was at that time a member of the firm of Strout & Coolidge, who were lawyers for the latter railroad.

This change in the legal department of the Boston & Maine is made partly, perhaps, for reasons of economy, but doubtless also because the new management desires to start out with a clean slate. The New York, New Haven & Hartford last year dismissed its former Legislative counsel and employed Ex-Senator George L. Barnes to represent it at the State House. The Boston & Maine is now moving in the same direction; that is, it is probably trying to disassociate itself in the public mind from every name which has been connected with railroad legislation during the recent period when the railroads have been so much the object of public attack.

It should be said in justice to Mr. Coolidge, however, that charges of improper conduct have never been made against him. If the Boston & Maine has suffered at all, it suffered because of the popular feeling against railroads as a class and in particular against the New York, New Haven & Hartford, with which the Boston & Maine has been closely connected in recent years.

There is probably no other man in the State who is as familiar as Mr. Coolidge with the railroad legislation of the past 25 years. During all this period he has been actively concerned with the making of the laws affecting the great public service corporations. Legislative committees have frequently asked his advice on railroad matters in which his client was not interested, and he has, of course, argued for or against bills which would apply to the Boston & Maine. This experience has given him a historical viewpoint which his successors can acquire only with years of service at the State House.

Mr. Rich has been before Legislative committees more or less in the past few years, and has been extremely successful in his management of the interests of the Boston & Maine before the Legislatures of New Hampshire and other neighboring States. Mr. Pierce was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives a few years ago, and is a son of the late Edward L. Pierce, who was one of the leaders in the House in 1897, a year when the Massachusetts Legislature measured well up to its highest traditions.

EMPLOYEES TO BECOME STOCKHOLDERS.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company announces that arrangements have been made by which employees of the Bell System who have been two years or more in the service and who so desire may purchase stock of the Company for $110 per share on easy terms of payment.

No employee can purchase more than one share for each $300 of annual wages he receives nor more than ten shares whatever his wages.

The terms of payment will be $2.00 per share per month, beginning with March, 1915, and the quarterly dividends paid on the stock will go towards paying for it after deducting interest at 4 per cent per annum on the unpaid balances.

The American Company has paid 8 per cent dividends for seven years and it is calculated that dividends at this rate and the $2 per share per month payments by employees will pay for the stock in full by November, 1918. Any employee who so desires can after March 1, 1917, but not before, pay in the balance on his stock and receive his stock certificate.

Should an employee leave the service or die before his stock is fully paid for, the amount he has paid in plus the accumulated dividends (less 4 per cent interest) will be paid back.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is the parent company of the Bell Telephone System which operates or connects with eight and a half million telephone stations, throughout the United States.

It has about 60,000 stockholders and 160,000 employees. Its issued capital stock is nearly $350,000,000, and is quoted on the Stock Exchanges at about $118 per share.

The Company makes it plain that no employee is under any obligation to buy any stock but it is believed that a considerable number of employees will take advantage of this opportunity to save a little money every month and invest it in the business.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE NOTES.

Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard University will deliver a course of lectures under the auspices of the Public Interests League of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association on the Fundamental Principles of Anti-Suffrage. These lectures will begin in the League rooms, 685 Boylston street, at four o'clock in the afternoon of January 12, 19, 26, and February 2 and 9. The course of First Aid lectures given under the auspices of the League at the Hotel Thorndike were so well attended and the interest so great that a general request has been made that a second course be arranged.

The Milton Branch of the Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association, of which Mrs. John Balch is chairman, reports such a growth in membership that the committee has decided, in order to facilitate the work, to divide the town into twenty-five or more districts with a captain over each district which shall include some twenty members.

Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline in an interview given to the Philadelphia Inquirer, said, "The truly useful woman is a very unpretending sort of heroine. Her work is always obscure, often dull, but we are not going to have any country very long unless this sort of heroism is developed. We are distraught with appeals for votes for women when our need is for a leader who shall invoke woman to a better performance of her present obligations, wherein the community has a right to expect her highest efficiency. This efficiency is lessened by all this distraction which is created by the appeal for the ballot in the hands of woman as her best means of moralizing and reforming society."

William Jennings Bryan, whose declarations on suffrage are almost as numerous as leaves on a tree and as unstable as the leaves of the shivery aspen, has issued a new revelation in the December number of his paper. Now he thinks the time is not opportune for the submission of the amendment. He thinks it would divert the attention of the people from other matters on which they are really ready to act. For the once it would seem as if the Honorable the Secretary of State had struck something like a normal note of observation.

"Women have done so many immensely valuable things for the uplift of the world that we do not need any more credit than is ours by right. The great reforms which women have brought about have been accomplished through the arousing of public opinion without which no law is of any avail, for if the public conscience is not behind a law that law must necessarily fail of enforcement, and with an enlightened public demand the law to carry out that demand is scarcely needed. The public conscience is more easily aroused by women without possessing the ballot than were they able to vote because the knowledge that she is non-partisan is a great asset to a woman who is working along political lines for the public welfare."—Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, in a recent letter.

The Honorable John A. Matthews of New Jersey, who has spoken several times in Massachusetts in opposition to votes for women, debated the other night with the President of the New Jersey Suffrage Association. In answer to her argument that it would, at the most, only require twenty minutes for a woman to vote, Mr. Matthews said, "There are too many twenty minute citizens among the men of New Jersey today." Mr. Matthews said a bad situation would only be doubled if, when they received the ballot, women should give only as little time to the study of its use.

The anti-suffrage argument that women as women without party affiliations can be vastly more effective in securing real reforms of the kind they are most interested in, is well supported by recent happenings in connection with the congressional blacklist which the Congressional Union perpetrated on the people of the country. Norman Hapgood in Harper's Weekly is almost peeved over the mistake which was made. "The efforts of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage to defeat the Democratic candidates," he says, "seem to have been either ineffective or to have caused a disastrous reaction. On the other hand, the eighteen Senators and Representatives who were blacklisted by the National Association were all reelected, except Senator Root, who retired before he was put upon the list. That seems also to have been futile. Would it not be a better policy to make as many friends for the cause of equal suffrage as possible rather than to manufacture enemies in the effort to punish either individual opponents or a political party?"

Professor Charles Zueblin, of Winchester, Mass., who tried to enter the Massachusetts State Senate one time and who is one of the gentle spirits in the suffrage movement gave a tea for Miss Pankhurst in St. Paul. This is printed simply to make the record clear when the suffragists issue their next denunciation of the militant movement in England.

THE SUCCESSFUL SINNER.

It hadn't rained a drop in weeks
When Silas joined the congregation,
The streams were thinned to simple streaks
And drouth was threatened for the nation.

"I've seen the error of my ways,"
Said Si, "and joint 'cause I'm a sinner;
I'm told the man who works and prays
Is labelled as a winner."

The drouth was rankling in Si's heart.
He tried to think how to combat it,
And at pra'r meetings took his part.
And prayed a lot while he was at it.

Then, all this fruitless, being styled
In worldly wisdom, Si suggested
A scheme, at which the whole town smiled,
But which straightway the pastor tested.

So he announced a picnic soon,
A church affair which pleasure warrants;
And on that day, ere came the noon,
The rain it simply came in torrents!

And now Si says, when he thinks back
To when that deluge spoiled the dinner,
But helped the crops when things looked black:
"It sometimes pays to be a sinner."

MILITANCY DOESN'T PAY.

Prof. Zueblin Lectures on Subject at Ford Hall.

That militancy does not pay, and that its greatest strength is in its picturesqueness was the substance of the address by Prof. Charles Zueblin at Ford Hall on Sunday night, his subject being "Militancy and Morals."

"Life is a dull gray for working people and for most women," he said, "and capitalists, politicians, scientists and militants are getting all the fun out of the present system.

"Conventional religion is disappointing; commercialism is disappointing; trade unonism is disappointing; society is disappointing. Hence the Salvation Army, suffragettes, syndicalists and warriors.

Takes Patience.

"The methods of custom and law are tedious and disappointing because the rules of the game are framed by the rulers. It takes infinite patience and unlimited time to win by constitutional means. It pays in the long run, but it is stupid.

"Militancy does not pay, but the people responsible are not the militants, but those who provoke militancy. The militants are irrevelant in England, but ministers of state and church are responsible."

Professor Zueblin divided militancy into three classes—vicarious, destructive and malicious. In the first class he put the suffragists when petitioning, heckling or hunger-striking; workingmen on strike or picketing, the Salvation Army, the victims of free speech agitation and the innocent privates in the armies of Europe.

In the second class he placed those who cause others to suffer without malice, suffragettes irrevelantly destroying property, the I. W. W. engaged in sabotage, organized employees denying organization to workingmen, Prohibitionists annihilating the liquor business, merchants destroying cotton or fruit to increase prices, the war party and the Chicago anarchists.

Malicious Militants.

The malicious militants, he said, are those with a personal animus, such as the prosecutors of the Chicago anarchists, the McNamara kind of labor leaders, the Lawrence and Calumet kind of employer, railroad officials with blacklists, corporate landlords evicting employee tenants, the Carrie Nation kind of prohibitionists, "Judge Lynch" judges who interpret the law by personal whim, soldiers taking revenge upon non-combatants.

On the platform last Sunday night were many of the leaders of the woman suffrage movement in Boston.

The cantata "Christ the Child" was sung at the vesper service at the First Congregational Church Sunday afternoon at 4 by the church choir, assisted by Miss Grace LeBosquet, soprano; Miss Elizabeth Kneeland, soprano; Mrs. W. S. Sawyer, alto; Harry Wilson, tenor, and George Alfred Brown, the boy 'cellist.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Another "Hopeless Case"

He Astonished the Doctors—Recovers Without Operation—Used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Mr. James Lettice, of Canajoharie, N.Y., writes:

"Some years ago I was attacked with fearful pains in my back and side. I could not control my kidneys and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered intensely. A prominent physician of Albany, N.Y., told me that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded it and concluded to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. [illegible] I was saved from the surgeon's knife."

The above letter was written in 1900. To prove that the benefit he obtained from Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was permanent, read what he says in a recent letter in 1912:

"I am enjoying the best of health. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me permanently. [illegible]"

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had nearly 40 years of great success in Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Not a "patent" medicine, but a physician's prescription, prepared for universal use. Write to Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N.Y., for a free trial bottle and booklet of valuable medical advice. Large bottles sold by 40,000 Druggists.

WHY THIS EXCEPTION?

Only a few days ago the Interstate Commerce Commission recognized the railroad's need of increased revenue. Freight rates were advanced five per cent. But the rates for carrying the parcel post have not been advanced. That constantly growing branch of the postal service continues to travel free, as it has ever since the parcel post was inaugurated two years ago. Why? Why should the Government continue to impose the extra burden of this bulky mail upon the carriers, without paying even the cost of transportation? President Peters of the Long Island Railroad said last week, "The railroads will lose this year not less than $8,000,000 in carrying the parcel post." Why should the railroads lose anything by this service? Because of the peculiar income conditions existing, the Commission recently raised the rates on other shippers. Why should the Government, as a shipper, be exempt from paying its rightful share of transportation charges?

Nearly a year ago the Boston Chamber of Commerce, in a statement by its Directors, said: "The Government has no right to make the railroads carry mail matter at less than cost." This judgment is more emphatically true now, after one more year of parcel post imposition on the railroads.—[Current Affairs, Boston Chamber of Commerce.

CLOVER.

Susie Moore was out in her father's pasture, back of the barn, picking blackberries, when she was suddenly startled by the blast of a horn. A look of anxiety came over her sweet face as she ran quickly and climbed the fence to see if Mr. Thyson, the "meat-man," who blew his horn twice a week to announce his coming, was to stop. She watched the horses climbing the hill; and when she saw her mother come to the back door and swing a towel, she threw herself on the ground and sobbed as though her heart would break. She knew full well it was not to buy meat that her mother had signalled to Mr. Thyson to stop for though she was but ten years old she was aware of the fact that there was not the money with which to buy it. Oh, no! She realized that the event she had been dreading so long was to happen now; that her pet calf, Clover, her only playmate, so white and so fond of her, was to be sold. Week after week she had heard her parents discuss the subject of selling Clover, but week after week they had heard the butcher's horn blow and let the wagon go by. But affairs had been coming to a crisis lately. Her father, who had been sick all summer, was still feeble, and the small sum of money he had saved was rapidly going. She knew he could not afford to feed the calf through the winter, and she knew that Mr. Thyson wanted her, and had offered a large price for her. Mr. Thyson was a man who wanted to possess all the rarest specimens of cattle, and he had been very anxious to buy this calf, which was said to be the handsomest creature, in color and shape, ever seen in London County. He was a selfish man, withal, and was very ready to take advantage of Mr. Moore's misfortunes to get her. He was known throughout the country as a man who always got the best of a bargain, who thought more of making money than anything else, and who never worried himself about his neighbors' troubles, or felt it his duty to share or relieve them. He had one child, a boy about fourteen years old, named Tom, and he was determined, if possible, to teach him to be as shrewd in business matters as himself; but so Tom had not shown much progress in that direction. He often went with his father as he rode through the country with his meat and he was advised to "watch sharp," as he would soon be old enough to take the business himself. And Tom did watch sharp, and his large brown eyes grew moist with tears as he saw his father take Susie's calf away, for he knew how Susie loved Clover, and it was only necessity that made Mr. Moore sell her.

Meanwhile, Susie had climbed the pasture fence and crept quietly behind the old barn, where, through a crack, she saw and heard all that passed. Then, as the wagon turned to go out of the yard, she went back, and running across the pasture with all her might, climbed the fence on the other side, ran along the road to the corner where she knew the wagon must pass, and waited for it. As she saw it approaching she waved her hand for it to stop, and in a trembling voice, cried:

"Oh, please stop a minute, I want to ask you something."

Mr. Thyson drew up his horses wondering what child it was in such apparent distress, for he didn't recognize Susie at first, for in her haste to reach the turn in the road before the wagon, she had fallen down in the dust, and then, wiping her tears with her stained hands, had smeared her face so as to be easily recognizable. Her long flaxen hair was blowing in every direction, and her hat was lying on the other side of the pasture fence, where it had fallen when she climbed over.

"Oh, please, Mr. Thyson," she screamed, "you won't kill my calf, will you?"

"Father," said Tom, "that's Susie Moore. Why Susie, what's the matter?"

"Oh, I'm so afraid your father will kill my dear Clover. You don't know how I love her and I can't help crying;" and here the poor child broke down and sobbed bitterly. Then, as she saw Mr. Thyson draw up the reins to start, she continued:

"Perhaps if father gets well, he can buy her back, you know. So you won't kill her, will you?"

"No, no, child; I won't kill her. She's too pretty to kill. I will take good care of her, and you can come and see her whenever you want to."

"Then I guess I can bear it better. I came out here so that father could not hear me cry, for that would make him worse. I knew I should cry when I said good-by to Clover." And sure enough, when the horses started her tears started again, too; and there she stood in the dusty road weeping and watching the wagon till it disappeared behind the next hill.

"Queer," said Mr. Thyson, as they drove along, "that she should feel so. Well, I can't help it. If I hadn't bought her somebody else would. Well, it's the way of the world. It don't do to give way to your feelings for little things like this, you know, Tom. If you do you will never get ahead. They couldn't afford to keep her, and had to sell her, and that's all there is about it."

But if it was all there was about it, it made him feel vey uncomfortable. In spite of all his reasoning, he couldn't help thinking how easily he could spare feed enough from the loads of hay and stacks of grain with which his barn would soon be overflowing to keep the calf for a time. How happy that would make Susie, and how it would lighten her parents' hearts. He couldn't get the sick countenance of Moore out of his mind, or the tired face of his wife, or, more than that, little Susie standing alone in the dusty turnpike, watching him as he took away the only pet and playmate she had.

As he was sitting at supper that evening, Tom burst out, suddenly:

"Father, would you sell that calf?"

"Yes, and be glad to get rid of her if I could get my price."

"Well, I'd like to buy her if I have got money enough in the bank."

"You! What do you want of her?"

Oh, something. Will you sell her to me?"

"Yes, I suppose so. Yes, you may have her for ten dollars; just what I paid for her."

"And do exactly what I please with her, father?"

His father hesitated. He suspected what Tom was going to do, and he saw a difficulty in it for him. However, he replied at last:

"Yes, Tom, you may buy her, and do exactly as you please with her, upon one condition, and that is,if by buying her you get yourself into a hard scrape, you will work yourself out of it without help.'

Mr. Thyson thought by binding Tom to that promise that he should have a good chance to teach him a valuable lesson in shrewdness and foresight about making a bargain.

Tom readily promised, for he couldn't imagine what scrape he could possibly get into by buying Clover. So the bargain was soon concluded and the money paid.

Meanwhile, Susie had dried her tears and gone home, trying to be cheerful; but as soon as she had eaten her supper, she crept up to her little bed and sobbed herself to sleep. The next morning she felt braver, and thought she would try very hard [illegible] Clover. Her father usually lay on a lounge by the sitting-room window through the day, and for several mornings Clover had been in the habit of coming there and putting her head to be carressed. So Susie made it a point to get a basket of fresh clover blossoms, with which her father would feed Clover while Susie and her mother were at breakfast. But the morning after Clover left, Susie sat down to the table with a heavy heart, for she missed Clover more than ever. She had hardly taken a mouthful, however, before her father called out:

"Susie, just bring me a basket of clovers, won't you? Clover wants her breakfast."

Susie sprang from her chair with a bound, exclaiming:

"Why, papa, you've forgotten. Clover has gone!

But no! there was her white face peering in at the window, and there, holding her by a cord, stood Tom Thyson, his face covered with smiles.

"Why, Tom," screamed Susie, "did she run away?"

"No, I bought her of father, and now I am going to give her back to you. She's yours again, now. Good-by;" and before Susie could express her thanks Tom was gone.

Now, although the return of the calf brought great joy to Susie, it brought equal concern to her parents, for the question arose how Clover could be fed. Mr. Thyson had foreseen the difficulty from the first but Tom, in his eagerness to get the calf back to Susie had not thought of it. Mr. Thyson said nothing, however. He thought he would see how he would manage.

Towards night Susie's father called her to him and told her although Tom was very thoughtful and kind to bring Clover back, she couldn't stay, for he had not feed enough to keep her through the winter, and no money to buy with. So the next morning Susie started to carry her back to Tom. It was two miles away, but it was a lovely morning, and Susie enjoyed the walk very much. Tom saw her before she reached the house and ran to meet her.

"I know why you've brought her back," said he laughing heartily: "because you haven't enough to feed her. I forgot she would have to eat; but don't you worry, Sue. You shall have this calf for yours, if you have to wait till she's a cow," and then they both laughed to think she wouldn't be a calf by that time. "But you see," he added, "I'm in a scrape, whether I give her up to you or keep her myself and it will never do to ask father for any. But I'll manage it somehow before tomorrow. I'll go to bed soon after supper and think it out." So Susie left the calf, and Tom took part of what money he had and went to his father to buy some feed for her. He was determined not to ask him to give any, and his father was pleased to see Tom sticking so close to his promise not to ask for help.

The next morning he said to his father:

"Father, have you anything you could hire me to do this winter? I am going to carry the calf back again this morning. I am not going to give this job up now that I have started. So I am going to earn enough to feed her this winter myself."

"Ah! So you've got to work for the calf's board, have you? Well, if you want to take Jim's place here, you can earn board and something beside. You could do his work before and after school, if you got up early."

"Well, I'll try. I'd like to buy feed to keep her this week now, and after this I can earn it and carry it over."

His father smiled at Tom's business-like way, and thought to himself, "Well, I'm teaching him a good lesson, that's a fact. He'll get sick of his bargain before spring; but it will do him good."

Tom filled his hand-cart with the feed and tying the rope around Clover's neck, started again to carry her back. I don't know what the people along the road thought to see the calf going back and forth so often. But Tom didn't care. He kept going straight on and carried the calf to Susie's door.

"Here she is, Susie, and here's enough to keep her one week, any way, and I'll see that she has enough all winter, unless I get sick, and I don't feel very sick now. Don't catch me backing out of this scrape. No sir-ee!"

All winter Tom was up betimes in the morning, bed and watered the cattle, groomed the horses and did whatever was required. He carried Clover's feed every week or two and never complained. His father watched him curiously, and every week congratulated himself on the good lesson he was teaching him.

At last spring came. The tender grass began to sprout, and Clover could keep herself from the pastures and meadows. The farmers were all ploughing and harrowing and getting the ground ready for planting. Everybody was busy, and in a hurry, as usual.

Mr. Moore was improving, but still weak. His affairs looked very discouraging to him, and his distressed state of mind did much to retard his recovery. He had bought the farm where he was living only the spring before, after planting season was almost over; expecting to earn enough by his trade that of a carpenter—through the following season to enable him to buy seed and to thoroughly plant the whole place in the spring. Instead of that, he was taken ill soon after he bought, and had been obliged to sell his stock to get money to live on. And now, right in the busy season, when every hour seemed worth a day at any other time, he was sick, with no money to buy seed or the necessary farming implements or to hire the needed help. With his mind overwhelmed with discouragement, he sat one evening in the doorway of his house, and looked hopelessly on his still unemployed land.

At the same time, Mr. Thyson was riding slowly along, having made an unusual trip with his meat, and was reviewing in his mind with great satisfaction the prosperous condition of his own affairs. As he passed he saw Mr. Moore sitting there, and noticed that he looked very pale and worried. A feeling of sympathy took strong hold of him, and he was tempted to stop and have a talk with him, but those fields waiting to be ploughed and sown spoke to him so plainly and reproachfully, that he concluded that he had better bow and go along.

"I'm sorry for Moore," said he to himself; "that's a fact. I'd be glad to give him a lift, but I've got my own family to look out for. If I had always given away to my feelings, I wonder where I should be now!"

But as he drew up to his own house, the sight of his own broad acres, so carefully planted, and the neat, thrifty appearance of all the surroundings, did not give him the feeling of satisfaction he was enjoying before he saw Mr. Moore. As he went into the kitchen, where his wife was busy preparing supper, he said, glancing out of the window at Tom, who was having a grand frolic with the dogs:

"It does me good to see Tom playing. He has had a hard winter of it. But I'm glad I let him go through with it. It has taught him a lesson he'll never forget, I guess."

"Yes, I think very likely," gently answered his wife, "but I have thought many times, father, that Tom was teaching a more important lesson than the one he was learning. But come, supper is ready.

She then stepped to the door and called Tom, and the subject was not continued.

As Tom came in, breathless from play, his father remarked:

"That's better fun than working for Clover's board, and carrying it over to her, isn't it?

"Yes sir. But I'm afraid if Mr. Moore doesn't hurry up and plant, Clover will be marching back here, in spite of me, next fall. I wish I was a rich man. I'll bet I'd make things look different over there in no time."

Mr. Thyson made no reply, but finished his supper and went into the yard, where he stood leaning against the fence, apparently in deep thought. As Bill his head man on the farm, came along, he stopped him, and they had quite a talk together.

Meantime Mr. Moore had gone into his house, utterly unable to throw off the gloomy thoughts which filled his mind. He saw no way out of his difficulties. He went to bed early, but did not sleep for hours. Toward morning, however, he fell into a deep sleep. His wife quietly darkened the room and left him. The sun was several hours high when he drew aside the curtains to look out. What a sight met his eyes! Men were ploughing, harrowing, and shouting to their horses. Part of the ground was already prepared for planting, and there, in the barn doorway, sat Tom and Susie, cutting potatoes, and chattering like blackbirds.

"What does it mean, mother? What does it mean?" said he, as he opened the kitchen door.

"It means, father, that the dawn has come. 'Twas very dark, you know, last night. Those are Mr. Thyson's men."

"Thyson's men! Thyson's men! Why, I don't understand."

"Well, nor I, and the men say they don't know what has come over him, either. But he told Bill to take men and horses, and come over here and plant whatever you wanted, and he'd provide the seed; and they are working like beavers, I tell you."

The next afternoon, when the horn was blown, Mr. Moore was waiting at the gate. As the wagon came along, Mr. Thyson saw him, and didn't feel just like bowing and passing on. No! he felt like stopping and shaking hands, and getting out to see how his men were doing.

"God bless you, sir," said Mr. Moore. "You've given me the best medicine I've had, I believe it's going to save my life. I don't know how to thank you, but I know I feel like a new man."

"So do I, friend Moore. So do I. But don't thank me. It's all Tom's doings. I thought I was teaching him a great lesson. But, bless you, he was teaching me a greater one, all the time. Well, the Lord has great surprises in store for us, hasn't he?"

And, with a fervent shake of the hand, Mr. Thyson got into his wagon and drove home.

From that time Mr. Moore's health steadily improved, and from that time also, Mr Thyson was another man. It was the beginning, not the end of his kind deeds.

A few years later, when Tom and Susie commenced housekeeping on their own account, and Clover lived contentedly in her new home, Tom remarked with a merry laugh:

"You see, father, I was longer-headed than you thought. 'Twas all in the family, after all."

ALL MEN ARE LIARS

How "Truth" Sees the War of Nations

Now that the war is fairly on and the zeal of accusation and recrimination has abated; and while the second stage of war is on, the charges of cruelty, outrage, dum-dum bullets and so on are progressing, we who are supposed to be non-combatant and neutral, might look the field over and try and orient ourselves.

Out of the smoke and noise of disturbance these facts emerge: Servia egged on by her Slav patron, Russia, murdered the Austrian Crown Prince; Austria-Hungary declares war on Servia; Russia declares she will aid her protege; Germany, to help Austria, declares war on Russia and her ally France; and England with "deep grief" declares war on Germany. The motives of all and several are declared to be pure, high and moral.

England wars reluctantly and only to defend the neutrality of her political ward, Belgium. Her fleet is in the North Sea August 1st; her troops and transports are en route to France August 3rd; she declares war on Germany August 4th. Mr. Asquith within two weks advises Parliament how sad he felt in warring, but honor and treaty obligations had swiftly precipitated the conflict. Mr. Borden in the Canadian Parliament said Canada was prepared for war, as fortunately Mr. Asquith's cabinet warned him two months ago that war was at hand. The two premiers should harmonize their stories.

President Poincare of France was in St. Petersburg two weeks before the war came; his return to France synchronized with the murder of the Crown Prince; and presumably it would be slanderous to say the President and the Czar were putting the finishing touches to the plans for the coming campaign.

England, with a sigh, asserts that duty compelled her to move to the protection of "neutral" Belgium; yet England, France and Belgium have had an "understanding," offensive and defensive, for some time; and the chances are that inasmuch as French officers directed the Liege defence, they would have led the German invasion, but that Germany, to avoid being caught moved first.

There may or may not be something significant in the fact that all the Belgian fortifications are on the German frontier; there is an open road from France to Belgium.

Germany had knowledge of conditions; the Germans are a practical people with few illusions; they knew war meant for them destruction of trade, cessation of industry and the loss of the colonies built up with so much pains and expense. She knew her navy was outmatched; and yet she went to war. Probably when a nation, like a man, finds his life in danger he doesn't stop to think about his personal property. France never pretended to be a persecuted creature; the French are not hypocrites; they wanted revenge and Alsace and Lorraine, and never hesitated to say so; and they believed their hour for striking had come. Russia never makes any claims, virtuous or otherwise; when she is ready to war and the time seems ripe she does so. Russia is mediaeval and cares about as much for the opinion of her neighbors as the Custom House tower does for the Equator. Japan is merely a plain highway man, under the protection of England, who sees a chance to pick up some loot and serve her patron. America is naturally pleased.

These appear to be the facts about the war up to date; and every man is free to handle them and formulate his own theories We have ours, but we are in no hurry to publish them. We are watchfully waiting.

Radolph M. Tuscher.

The priests in attendance with the societies of which they were in charge were: Rev. Rudolph M. Tuscher, Immaculate Conception, Malden; Rev. Walter A. Fegan, St. Charles' Church, Woburn; Rev. Charles A. Donahue, St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham; Rev. Florence J. Halloran, St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield; Rev. John W. H. Corbett, St. Mary's Church, Winchester; Rev. James A. Brewin, St. Mary's Church, Melrose; Rev. George P. O'Connor, Sacred Heart Church, Malden; Rev. Timothy J. Holland, St. Joseph's Church, Maplewood; Rev. Francis Walsh, St. Agnes' Church, Reading; Rev. Patrick T. Higgins, St. Joseph's Church, Montvale.

The following reception committee were appointed by the Holy Name Committee to serve at the Union Meeting: President Patrick Noonan, Vice President Michael Maguire, Secretary Luke Glendon, and Messrs. Patrick Kenneally, Daniel Murphy, James Roach, Frank Rogers, George Young, and John Shinick.

Over 1700 men attended the service and joined in the singing of the Hymn to the Holy Name, and the Hymn to the Holy Cross, by Cardinal O'Connell. The Rev. preacher exhorted the men to be loyal to their faith, since the Catholic Church was the divinely appointed regenerator of society. He said in part:

"It is our solemn obligation to appreciate the benefits of the gospel in contrast of the corruption of the pagan world before the birth of Christ, in order that we may not be seduced by the modern spirit of paganism which seeks to exclude God from public relations and private life, and to undermine the foundations of civil society. For amid this enlightered civilization of the 20th century, while justice and charity towards our fellowmen, the purity and sanctity of the home, the dignity of woman, and the rights of individuals are respected on every side, there are those who disregard the fact that before the Christian Era these foundation-stones of our modern civilization did not exist at all.

"There are those who shut their eyes to the fact that love of enemies, forgiveness of injuries, the sanctity of marriage, the immorality of divorce and the dignity of womankind in the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary, was proclaimed for the first time to a wondering world by Him who was born at Bethlehem. There are those who, while admitting that our civilization is the result of progress, shut their eyes to the fact that for nineteen hundred years and more, the influence which formed, directed and sustained the forces of which our civilization is the result, was and still continues to be the Roman Catholic Church.

"What guarantee have we today of the permanence of our civilization? What guarantee that our children's children shall enjoy unsullied the civil and religious liberty we today enjoy? What is the lasting basis of the liberties of this Republic. History repeats itself. The natural tendency of man is to indulge his selfish inclinations. The atheist of today is the anarchist of tomorrow.

"Freedom never sprang into existence because of phrases inscribed upon paper, but freedom is the perfect flower and fruit of Christian principles long since planted in Christian hearts. This Republic is the logical effect of the gospel that all men are equal before God. The faith which inspired this republic is the only force which can preserve it. Government which rests upon the consent of the governed demands men and women imbued with Christian morality. All others are false to the principles of this Republic."

BAPTIST NEWS.

The Gentlemen's Night of the Woman's Missionary Society last Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wyman on Sheffield road was a most delightful event. The large gathering, the gracious hospitality, the pleasing music, the encouraging report for the year, and the inspiring address by Mrs. Nina Truxbury, of Osaka, Japan, combined to make the evening long to be remembered. The total receipts for the year were $1859.8, an increase over last year. The officers elected were Mrs. Edward E. Thompson, President; Mrs. Henry E. Hodge, Vice President; Mrs. West D. Eldredge, Secretary; Mrs. George A. Weld, Treasurer; and Mrs. Gustave A. Felber, Mite Box Committee.

Our B. Y. P. U. and that of Stoneham exchange leaders on Sunday evening, Mr. Stanley B. Weld leading in Stoneham, and Mr. Clyde Carter of Stoneham leading here. This exchange is effective throughout all the societies of the Boston East Association on Sunday evening.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. Wallace P. Palmer exhibited a copy of the world's smallest Bible and smallest New Testament. He also showed different kinds of Bibles, and among them was one in which he had copied with great care "Notes From My Bible," by Mr. Dwight L. Moody, opposite the texts on which these comments were made in Mr. Moody's Bible.

A very fine program of vocal and instrumental music, and readings, has been prepared for the Church social on Tuesday evening.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The next meeting of The Fortnightly will be held on Monday afternoon, January 11th. Business meeting promptly at two-thirty. At three-thirty, the entertainment for the afternoon will be a stereopticon lecture by Dr. Chauncey J. Hawkins on "Bright Eyes and Wild Hearts." Dr. Hawkins is one of the few who hunt with the camera rather than with the gun, and his pictures of wild life in our great forests are now among the finest in the world. This lecture is far above the ordinary "stereopticon lecture," and promises an afternoon of unusual enjoyment.

BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED.

K. of C. Show to be the Best Yet Given by Council.

The show to be given in the Town Hall next Thursday evening by Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, is said to be the best production which the council has yet presented to Winchester people. The title of the comedy is "A Bit of Blarney," and it is the most difficult piece of work the members have ever undertaken on the stage. Nevertheless the ability of many of the prominent members who will head the cast has been fully equal to the task, and the managers are highly elated over the work as shown in the numerous rehearsals.

Already there has been a large sale of tickets, but as a large reservation of reserved seats was made, it is anticipated that everyone will be accommodated. Without doubt the attendance will be the largest the Knights have ever enjoyed at their popular shows.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The High School lunch counter has enlarged its scope of operations to take in the Prince School, where lunches are now served each day at eleven. The Prince lunches consist of sandwiches, hot soup and cocoa, and other extras on occasions.

Miss Juliette Todd of the Wyman School is out on sick leave.

Miss Dorothy M. Ayer of the Washington School, who has been out on sick leave for the past two months has returned to her duties. During her absence the 2nd and 3rd grades have been under the charge of Mrs. G. Frank Sheridan.

The no-school signal was sounded yesterday morning at 7.50. As this was not repeated one hour later it signified that school would begin at 9.30 instead of 8.30. The attention of parents is directed to this system. The sounding of the no-school signal at 7.50 simply postpones the commencement of school until 9.30. If the signal is again sounded at 8.50 there will be no morning session. The same rule applies to the afternoon whistle, which blows at 12.50.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION.

For some time the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association has felt that a room, where all kinds of household articles could be sent, that have for different reasons become useless to the owners, and where those needing such articles could procure them for a small sum, would be of mutual benefit to giver and purchaser.

The Association has been given the use of a room for this purpose at the Prince School, and household articles and clothing of all kinds may be sent there daily from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., excepting on Saturdays. Sufficient notice of the time of the sales of these goods will be given before each sale, and the money realized will be used for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital.

The establishment of this room and the sale of goods is in no way to interfere with the charitable work already being done by the Association. It is earnestly hoped that the people in Winchester will co-operate heartily with the Association in this new work and that all articles contributed will be sent in good condition so that they may be of the greatest possible use.

Mrs. Margaret Ellsworth Pecker, aged 68 years, died at her home, No. 21 Park avenue, on Saturday after an illness of about two weeks. Her death was due to a complication of diseases. She was the wife of Mr. George Pecker, and had made her home in Winchester for the past ten years with her husband and family.

Mrs. Pecker was born in Lynn. Her parents were Charles and Ann (Moulton) Cowles. She is survived by her husband, three sons, Arthur E. and Albert L. of this town, and Walter E. of Stoneham, and by two sisters, Mrs. L. C. Chase of Lynn and Mrs. John Clellan of Watertown. LADIES' NIGHT.

Aberjona Council, R. A., Held a Big Event on Tuesday Evening.

Aberjona Council 1002, Royal Arcanum, held its annual ladies' night in Harmony Hall on Tuesday evening, the affair being one of the largest events in the history of the order. About 150 members and ladies were present.

The program of the evening included impersonations and solos on various musical instruments by Mr. Clarence G. Bartlett of Boston, professional entertainer, who was accompanied by his pianist, singing by the Welco Quartet, the patriotic solo "Heavenly Born Banner," by Ruth Baldwin of Everett, in costume, and music by Arnold's Orchestra.

The Welco Quartet was one of the features of the evening. It is composed of the following well known young men: John F. Fitzgerald, first tenor; Clifton C. Bradbury, second tenor; James H. Hammond, baritone, and C. Clyde Dunning, bass. Arnold's Orchestra, which gave several selections and furnished music for the dancing, was composed of William Connolly, xylophone; Paul M. Paulsen, violin; and Ralph F. Arnold, piano.

Following the concert program a collation was served, the entire company being seated at long tables. Short addresses were made by Grand Orator F. A. Goodwin of Dorchester and Grand Regent C. Edgar Searing of Stockbridge.

At the conclusion of the collation dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. The evening was in charge of a committee of members composed of Orator Walter H. Stevenson, Vice Regent John F. Webber, and Past Regent Harrison A. Hatch.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

The most noticeable work during the week on the new Fire and Police Building has been the cupola. This is now nearly completed, and the bell has been hung and the weather vane on the top put in place. The cupola is coming in for its share of criticism, some approving and others disapproving. However, when the roofing is on and it is painted the appearance will be very different. The new bell was struck several times when it was hung on Monday. It has a surprising volume of sound and its tone seems very pleasing. The work in the interior of the building is progressing rapidly, the plumbing being practically in and the heating nearing completion.

The work at the two bridges has progressed so far that it appears that little is being done. In reality much is being done in the way of cleaning up and taking care of the numerous little details. There yet remains the small portion of the new river channel to be excavated and the filling in of the old channel.

The first large volume of water since the work started came down yesterday forenoon, it increasing with the day as the water ran from the hills from the extremely heavy rain of the night before. This water flooded many portions which have been dry for months and gave the first idea of what the new work will look like when in use.

The Main street bridge is now in constant use and the Waterfield road bridge could be used so far as it being ready is concerned.

The Star Building is completed so far as the shell is concerned, with the exception of the Church street front. This is expected to be completed this week. As soon as the front is done the slate roof will be laid and the glass set. Work is being started today by George T. Davidson on the plumbing, and the wiring and heating will be commenced within a few days by J. A. Laraway Co. and Edmund C. Sanderson. The weather conditions will not affect the work here from now on provided it holds fair until the slate is on the roof. The Park street front has been cleared of staging and is much admired for its simple attractive design.

PRINCIPAL COLLINS RESIGNS.

Mr. James S. Collins, principal at the Chapin School, has sent his resignation to the School Department. Mr. Collins goes to Wellesley, where he has accepted a position as assistant principal in a grammar school at a largely increased salary.

His position has been filled at the Chapin School by Mr. William D. Hannan of Provincetown, a graduate of the Hyannis Normal School, and who is warmly recommended for his ability, teaching skill and good discipline. He is at present principal of a 6th grade building at South Walpole. He will enter upon his duties here Monday, February 1st.

MEMORIAL TO EDWARD P. NOYES

Joseph Lee of the Boston School Committee has contributed $15,000 to the fund being raised for a new dormitory at Dummer Academy. This gift is in the nature of a memorial to the late Edward Parish Noyes of Winchester, and the building to be erected will be on the site of the "farmhouse," which was destroyed by fire a year ago. "My interest in the academy," said Mr. Lee, "is founded on two points: first, my intense interest in Edward Noyes of Byfield, who spoke to me of the academy many years ago, and who died last year; and second, the fact that Dummer Academy is one of the oldest Massachusetts academies, started by private funds and laying the foundation for the whole secondary system of education here today."

MILL POND TO BE CLEANED OUT.

Last evening papers were signed by the Park Board, Mr. Lewis Parkhurst and Mr. Bryne, the contractor, to clean out the mill pond, work to commence Monday. The Park Board having no funds with which to do the work, Mr. Parkhurst and other gentlemen furnished the money, later to be reimbursed by the town. The contract calls for an expenditure of about $5000.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Business men long ago recognized the truth that longevity is not attained by idleness. The majority of celebrated and successful men, who have lived long, were indefatigable workers. Galen, the famous physician, who lived to be 140 years old, was one of the most voluminous authors the world has ever known. He is said to have never been sick for a day after passing twenty-eight years of age, at which time he learned and practiced sure rules for preserving health.

John Jacob Astor, the merchant, who lived to be eighty-four, and whose constant admonition in the midst of business excitement was "Keep cool—keep civil," until his fifty-fifth year was at his office before seven o'clock every morning. Clergymen, lawyers and other professional men, even when forced to retire from active life, have still been heard from through books, lectures and charitable works. If they ceased working they felt that the spark of life would leave their bodies. Idleness was naturally abhorent to them. A moderate amount of work for the old, just enough to keep the mind pleasantly occupied after a strenuous business life, is conducive to good health.

There are men who have such active brains that they cannot stop thinking. In such cases the mind should be diverted from usual pursuits into other channels. Gladstone felled trees and chopped wood for relaxation from brain-work. George Stephenson, the inventor, cultivated grapes and peaches to forget railway construction.

Physicians are familiar with a complaint which, although sufficiently specific, has yet no name of its own. The patient suffers from an alarming and morbid thirst, and consumes a perfectly fabulous amount of liquid, almost always of an unwholesome nature. Tea in a highly diluted shape, eau sucre, raspberry vinegar and water, soda water, or some other such abominable mess, is taken by the gallon, and the unnatural craving is stimulated by indulgence. Wholesome food is refused; no exercise is taken; and the patient finally sinks into a flabby and sickly condition, which nothing but severe and determined treatment will shake off.

This dropsical habit of body finds its exact analogue in the species of mental dropsy which is produced by over-indulgence in novels. This terrible complaint is one of the worst evils which modern civilization has brought with it. Its progress is gradual, very insidious, and often almost imperceptible. At first all that is noticed is that the sufferer is apt to be found bent over a novel at unnatural hours—as, say, in the early morning, or in the middle of a beautiful summer's afternoon. Soon, however, the disease becomes more pronounced, and in its worst stages novels are gone through at the rate of three or four, or even five a week, or at an average, in a severe and chronic case, of some 250 or 300 a year. At first some discrimination is exercised, and one writer is, perhaps, preferred to another. But soon, however, the taste becomes deadened and blunted and all power of discrimination and appreciation is lost. In this stage the unhappy patient can no more go without her novel than can a confirmed dipsomaniac without his dram.

Quality is held absolutely of no importance and quantity is everything. The very process of reading becomes more or less mechanical and seems to afford a species of mechanical pleasure or satisfaction, a novel of the feeblest possible type being read as religiously from cover to cover, and yielding apparently as much enjoyment as if it were a second "Romola." In the confirmed novel reader the dropsical habit of mind becomes apparent. The conversation of the patient becomes flabby and limp. Her interest in all ordinary subjects—except, perhaps, the latest fashions or the more scandalous portions of evidence in some divorce case, dickers feebly in the socket, and finally dies out. The last stage—that of absolute imbecility—is now, unless very powerful remedies are used, a mere matter of time.

When we are startled by the recital of a crime that is particularly unnatural and revolting the impulse is to rigidly bar out every vestige of sympathy for the culprit, on the ground that, offering no mercy, he is entitled to none. But after all, do we look far enough? The surface reveals so much that is repellant that there is little temptation to penetrate farther, and yet that is not exactly fair. It has always seemed to The Spectator that one of the hardest blows Nature can give is to set upon a man or woman the seal of the abnormal. If it is in marked physical infirmity or peculiarity, it may be borne with resignation and grace, and one still may be lovable and not apart from the rest of the world. But when the mark of "different" is upon the mind or the soul—that is something to reckon with, to call forth sympathy and excite pity. With some of the crimes with which the good people of Winchester and vicinity frequently are familiarized with, with parent arrayed against child, son against mother, or other manifestations of distinctly abnormal instincts, there is lack of it all the conviction that the perpetrators were started wrong.

The normal person quails and shrinks at the sight of suffering, and its wilful infliction upon man or beast is impossible. There is nothing meritorious about it; it is simply natural. And when we meet one who is cut off from the saving human impulse, does not know the meaning of sympathy or mercy and has no dread of crime except the fear of detection, he has entered life without his full birthright. Despicable, cruel and unnatural, we may shun and avoid him as we will, but we must pity him as one to whom Nature has been most unkind. When the question of punishment comes to mind, the rights of others must be protected and there can be no escape; but from the viewpoint of the criminal it would seem punishment enough to live all the years of one's life on the outskirts of humanity, different from the rest of mankind, hateful and hated. When we miss one of the five senses pertioned out to humanity it is a loss to deplore, but is not comparable with the [illegible] heritage.

[illegible] once in a while we get a glimpse of a soul so distorted and ugly that we cannot rightly guess at a makeup so foreign to the normal, but the mere fact that the unhappy person has been born different, shut out from what we think are our rights, should make for sympathy, if not for understanding. And when we express the hope that he may get "what he deserve"—what is that? It is one of the things not pleasant to dwell upon, but, living in a world where the good and evil shift about so rapidly, we cannot shut our eyes before a picture which happens to be sordid. At least we cannot if sympathies would be broadened to embrace the neediest. And while we cannot be expected to love and admire one whose nature is at variance with the usual, it seems only human to extend pity and some measure of understanding. When one is able to look the world in the face and be equal to any environment, no other heritage can quite approach that, and possessing it, in greater or lesser degree, there ought to be room for comprehension of the awful deprivation of some of the unfortunates brought in the limelight by reason of conspicuous crimes.

ALL NIGHT LIGHTING A PROTECTION.

Editor of the Star:—

Your editorial in which you this week express the belief that Winchester should adopt a schedule of all night lighting deals with a most important matter. The protection that would result from such a schedule can hardly be overestimated. It has been said in some municipalities that every electric street light burning all night is equal to one policeman.

Without intending to reflect on any of the Winchester police force, for whom I entertain nothing but good will, I do not believe that the taxpayers of Winchester can purchase as much additional protection for themselves and their property in any other way as by providing all night lighting for the streets.

During my three years of residence in Winchester it has been a constant source of amazement to me that so progressive and substantial a town as this should extinguish its street lights one hour after midnight, leaving the streets in darkness throughout those hours when lighted street lights give the most protection.

Why, twenty years ago a country town in western Massachusetts, having then no more inhabitants than Winchester has now, and with hardly a third as much taxable property, had already adopted a schedule of all night street lighting. Ought Winchester be more than twenty years behind a country town in anything?

Very respectfully,
Harris M. Richmond.

"ACROSS THE BORDER."

Editor of the Star:—

May I through your columns call the attention of the people of Winchester to the play at the Toy Theatre called "Across the Border." Those of us who have seen in the Boston press that Mayor Curley threatened to stop its production on account of the realism of one of its parts might easily get a very wrong impression of the drama. It is a peace play to be compared with Kennedy's Terrible Meek, but unlike it, with nothing to show our religious susceptibilities.

I sincerely hope that the pin pricks of a few over sensitive people will not in any way affect its lesson being brought home to many minds. Such plays are the kind that justify the stage as a morally elevating agency. As I had an opportunity to see it, I know that it accomplishes just what it sets out to do—tear the mask from the face of hideous war. To do this realism is necessary. It is the false glory of war that makes it still so powerful in the human heart.

I believe the great realists in art and literature have done more to produce a proper antagonism to war than the idealists who see it through the rose colored glasses of glory. All praise to Verestchagin and Zola here.

This vice at least "is a monster of so frightful mien as to be hated needs but to be seen."

Very truly yours,
Joel H. Metcalf.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Low Rated Teams Picked for Winners This Season.

It looks as though the prizes in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club will be taken by low rated teams this season. The scratch teams, which on previous years have had things pretty much their own way, are already going down before some of the low raters, and the closeness of the scores show that the ratings were estimated very accurately by this year's committee.

Team C, a last season winner, lost three points on Friday evening to team L. The team rolled a slightly better game than on its first match, but team L increased all along the line and had little trouble in taking the last two strings and totals. The best total for the ladies went to Mrs. Flanders, who rolled 247. Mrs. Breen rolled the best single with 94. Dr. Olmsted, with 113 and 310, and Mr. Miner, with 107 and 305, were high for the gentlemen.

On the same evening team B took three points from team O, although it just got by with them, taking the third by a margin of six. Mrs. Johnston, with 86 for high single and 239 for total, rolled the best score for the ladies. Mr. Olmstead rolled a single of 113 and a total of 307, which was high for the gentlemen.

Two of the best matches thus far in the tournament were rolled on Monday evening. The scores were good and the increase of the ladies over their former figures was very noticeable. Two of the individual records were broken, both by Mrs. James H. Gerlach. She raised the high average flat from 82 to 83 and the high total flat from 278 to 266. Her best single during the evening was 93. Mrs. Tompkins also rolled a good game, making a single of 89 for high and getting 253 for total. The best individual work by the gentlemen was done by Mr. Comins, who rolled a single of 112 and a total of 295. Other good singles were Smalley, 114; Tompkins, 108; Starr, 107; Boutwell, 101, and Gerlach, 103.

AUTOS COLLIDED SUNDAY.

Accident on Cambridge Street Near Willard E. Robinson's.

An automobile accident occurred on Cambridge street Sunday noon at the bad letter S turn between Willard E. Robinson's estate and the Country Club which resulted in one man receiving a broken knee cap, a woman being cut by flying glass from a windshield, and several other persons, including two children, being badly shaken up. The scene of the accident is at that portion of the road which was recently somewhat straightened by the joint action of the towns of Winchester and Arlington, and over which there was considerable controversy.

According to stories of the affair Dr. Frank F. Lahey of Beacon street, Boston, was driving toward Winchester. As he rounded the second turn of the road which runs down towards the Robinson estate a touring car, owned by Gennaro Ciullo of 15 Fairmount avenue, Arlington, and driven by his brother, Alfonso, approached going towards Arlington. The Lahey car was at the right side of the road and the Ciullo car running in the ruts in the centre. As the latter attempted to turn out his car skidded towards Dr. Lahey. The Doctor saw it coming and turned out onto the sidewalk to avoid it, but a telegraph pole caused him to head back toward the road, and the two cars came together head on.

Dr. Lahey was accompanied by his wife and in the Ciullo car were the two small daughters of Gennaro Cuillo. Alfonso Ciullo was thrown out and received a fractured knee cap and his brother and the two children were badly shaken up although not thrown out. Mrs. Lahey was cut about the face from flying glass from the windshield and the Doctor somewhat shaken up. That any of the occupants of the cars were not more seriously injured was fortunate, for while they were not travelling fast, the came together with a heavy crash.

Messrs. Fred C. Hinds and George W. Fitch were on their way home from the Country Club and witnessed the accident. They immediately rendered what assistance they could and telephoned to the police. Mrs. Lahey was taken to the Robinson residence and attended by Dr. Allen, who went to the scene with the police. She later went to the home of Dr. Harold R. Webb at Arlington with her husband. Alfonso Cuillo was taken to the Symmes Hospital, Arlington, and his brother and the two children taken to their home by a passing auto.

The cars were badly damaged. The left front wheel of the Lahey car was broken, together with the spring, radiator and windshield, and the car badly damaged about the body. The other car was [illegible] damaged and the steering post [illegible]

FIREMEN'S CONCERT AND BALL.

The annual concert and ball of the Winchester Fire Department will take place in the Town Hall Friday night, February 5th. The ball is given for the purpose of increasing the fund of the Relief Association. This fund is a most worthy one, as the money is used to assist disabled and sick firemen, of which there is quite a few in a year. Tickets are now being sold and the purchase of one means that some deserving fireman or his family will thereby be assisteded in time of distress. It is to be hoped that the tickets will be purchased liberally and thus show that the work of the men in the protection of the homes and property is appreciated.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Women's Benevolent Society of the First Baptist Church was held at the vestry last Thursday, with a good attendance. The morning was spent by sewing for the Red Cross, with lunch at noon.

At the business meeting the reports of the various officers were read and accepted, all showing the society to be flourishing and prosperous. During the year the society has worked for the Alaska Orphanage, Sunlight Mission of the Hopi Indians, New England Baptist Hospital, Red Cross, Winchester Hospital and the Visiting Nurse Association.

The result of the election was as follows: President, Mrs. John Lawrence Tufts; Vice President, Mrs. Wallace P. Palmer; Secretary, Mrs. Henry E. Hodge; Treasurer, Mrs. John S. Blank; Work Committee, Mrs. Granville D. Richardson, Mrs. A. B. Allen, Mrs. C. L. Reynor, Mrs. Cullin and Mrs. T. L. Peters.

WINCHESTER IS HEALTHY.

The year just closed shows that Winchester is one of the most healthy towns in the State, its death rate being only 9.4 per 1000, the lowest for many years. In 1913 it was 11.2. There were only two deaths of children from diarrheal diseases, owing primarily to the watchfulness of the milk supply. This condition is due to the efforts of the Board of Health in its supervision of the milk supply furnished the inhabitants. There were 26 outbreaks of diphtheria and scarlet fever, but in every case the disease was confined to the house in which it originated. Winchester should view with pride the healthy condition of the town and the watchfulness of the health of the people.

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

According to President Wilson, business in the United States is "steadily improving." American exports for the year just ended fell off nearly $383,000,000.

The statistics of the automobile show that there were registered in the United States last year 1,808,441 machines, an increase of nearly 700,000 over the number in 1913. The investment itself in these cars must total a good deal over $1,000,000,000.

Yesterday was a bit of summer set in the middle of winter. Many persons lamented the warm wave, with the mercury standing above 60, and thought it so unhealthy. We confess it suited us. The heavy rain of the early morning swelled the river to a good sized stream—the first time since the work was commenced on the new bridges that any volume of water has come down.

We extend our thanks to the many good wishers who have brightened the new year by their expressions of good will. Our mail has been so full of friendly greetings that we fear we may have omitted to return the compliments in some instances. Such a host of season's greetings can hardly fail to warm the cockles of the hearts of Editor and staff alike. Again our thanks. May the new year be a happy one to all.

New Year's Day was an auspicious opening for 1915 at this office. We entered five new subscribers for the paper, signed contracts with three brand new advertisers and received a check from one subscriber, who has had the Star for over ten years, for the next five years in advance. This was not only gratifying to our pocket-book, but it was much more gratifying to our business endeavors, showing in the best possible way the recognition of our efforts to make the Star the best suburban paper in this vicinity.

Credit for the singing on Christmas eve, which many people considered the crowning feature of the municipal celebration, was largely due to Mr. Richard W. Grant, supervisor of music in the public schools. Mr. Grant, with the assistance of Mrs. Grant, conducted the numerous rehearsals which were held in the High School in preparation for the evening, and he also drilled the scholars in the public schools. It was larg'y [illegible] gh his endeavors that this part of the affair was so satisfactory.

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church held its annual election combined with a gentlemen's night on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wyman of Sheffield road. There was a large attendance, about 60 ladies and gentlemen being present.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Edward E. Thompson; Vice President, Mrs. Henry E. Hodge; Secretary, Mrs. West D. Eldridge; Treasurer, Mrs. George A. Weld; Mite Box Committee, Mrs. G. A. Felber.

Following the business an entertainment was given, including songs by Mrs. John Lawrence Tufts, and a duet by Mrs. Alfred O. Weld and Rev. Henry E. Hodge. Mrs. Nina Tuxbury of Osaka, Japan, gave a most interesting address on her work among the Japanese people and of their customs. Mrs. Tuxbury is a missionary of the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society who is home on a furlough.

During the evening refreshments were served the company, the hostess being assisted in the serving by six guests, Mrs. Lena Wing, Mrs. Isabel Wing, Mrs. Grace Wickam and Miss Anna Almeda of Somerville, Mrs. Grace Merry of Brookline and Mrs. Hattie Hopkins of Cambridge.

STAR GIVEN THANKS.

Editor of the Star:

In behalf of the Young Men's Social Club, we wish to extend to you our New Year's greeting. We want to thank you for your excellent work and the manner in which it has been accomplished. It is needless to say that we sincerely appreciate your co-operation and trust that the coming year will find our relations closer and to our mutual advantage.

Sincerely yours
The Young Men's Social Club.

TAX COLLECTOR'S RECEIPTS.

The receipts by the Collector of Taxes for the past year were about $25,000 more than the previous year. ONE SIDED THEORIES.

Winchester, January 4, 1915.

Editor of the Star:—

Dear Sir:—The Winchester Star of Friday, January 1st, publishes an article taken from "Truth," under the caption "All Men Are Liars." It is with great pleasure that I note in the first paragraph the inference that we non-combatants should be neutral. Most of those of us who have sincerely endeavored to arrive at some just conclusion as to the causes of this great war, have long since sifted the pros and cons, added salt to the over fervid statements of partisan supporters, and weighed in the balance the opinions of the few unbiased authorities. There the true neutral stops, for his investigations have shown how little will argument and bitter recrimination avail at this time of uncertainty as to material facts.

The Editor of "Truth" makes the bald statement that, "Servia, egged on by her Slav patron, Russia, murdered the Austrian Crown Prince." The purpose of this article is not one of sarcasm nor of argument, but if the above allegation is founded on any reliable information, may I venture to heartily congratulate the Editor of "Truth" in discovering what the whole diplomatic corps of Germany, and the whole of that nation's wonderful secret service have as yet been unable to prove. Proof of this fact will bring to the Editor of Truth untold riches if he cares to impart his knowledge to a great nation, one which though all powerful in resources has as yet lack of material evidence to convince the world of what "Truth" now tells us.

I shall not take up all the statements made by the writer of the of the quoted article. The fact that, "Germany to help Austria has declared war on Russia" is too widely different from Germany's claim of self preservation to need comment. It may be that Belgium realized fortifications were needed only on the German border fortifications are used for defense, not offense—thereby lending great weight to one statement of "Truth's" Editor, but hardly in the light he would have it appear.

But enough of the above, which is not written in the spirit of controversy, but to try to show to any readers of these two articles the value of the opinion of "Truth," that we may not be misled by "The facts about the war up to date, and every man is free to handle them and formulate his own theories." Many of the facts as stated are as yet theories which should be accepted as worth only what attempts at influencing the Public by strongly partisan believers are worth in such a case.

"Truth" has stated facts leaving to the reader the option of formulating his own ideas. I trust that few neutrals will be swayed to either side by such articles purporting to state the facts, yet giving only the most glaring of one sided and partisan theories. May this apply to any such articles, be they Germanic in origin or be they strongly anti-German.

I do not derive satisfaction in arguing about the causes of the war, but receive more pleasure in non-partisan discussion as to the truth of what facts we have, and such an article as the one under discussion, which hypocritically purports facts where in the very nature of things history alone can give us the truth, such an article, I believe, should be brought to light for what it is worth.

When an editor wishes to make a partisan argument on the causes of the war, let him be man enough to come out and take his stand in the open, and not try to shield himself or his paper from any charge of partisanship by claiming to give the facts as they are, when those with which he enlightens his readers are unproven, wholly one sided, theories.

NOVELTY BOWLING.

Three Contests at Calumet Club for Ladies.

There was an attendance of about 100 at the informal ladies' night at the Calumet Club on Tuesday evening. The chief attraction this week was a novelty bowling tournament, consisting of three separate tournaments, for which four prizes were offered. The contests were largely entered into by the ladies and some excellent scores were made. The three tournaments consisted of a one ball tournament, blind rolling and a two string total with handicap.

Two prizes were offered in the blind rolling. This consisted of bowling the usual number of balls to a frame with the ten frames constituting a string, a sheet being hung in front of the pins hiding them from view. The pin boy called the number of pins left standing after each ball, but did not say which they were. The first prize in this contest went to Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, who rolled 105 for a single string. Mrs. George E. Willey took the second prize in the contest which was for the tenth best string, she rolling 83.

The one ball contest consisted of rolling but one ball to a frame, ten frames to a string. Two strings were rolled. Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders captured this prize with a total of 104 for her two strings.

The two string total with handicap was won by Miss Giles, who rolled 169 flat and 190 with her handicap.

The bowling was in charge of a committee of gentlemen as follows: Mr. James H. Gerlach, the one ball contest; Mr. Henry Weed, the two string total rolling; and Dr. E. Russell Murphy and Mr. W. J. Breen the blind rolling.

Following the various contests refreshments were served.

BEEHIVE TAKEN TO WOBURN.

An impressive ceremony took place Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Hall, Woburn, when a delegation from Victoria Rebekah Lodge of this town presented to Hope Rebekah Lodge of Woburn the silver Bee Hive. This is a travelling Bee Hive which is taken from city to city and presented to the various lodges in turn. Appropriate ceremonies accompany the presentation.

Mrs. Margaret J. Nauffts, noble grand of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, presented the silver token to Mrs. Lizzie Lovering, noble grand, who made a graceful acceptance speech.

A delightful entertainment was given by the visitors and refreshments served by the members of Hope Rebekah Lodge.

WINTER BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Fewer Games Now in Calumet House Contest.

With the opening of the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club the winter tournament has slowed down considerably, there now being but two matches a week rolled between the teams. The scores continue good, although the absence of some of the bowlers on the teams which are down in the line is noticed a little more than during the earlier weeks.

Last week's games were between teams 10 and 14, and 4 and 5. None of these teams were near the top, and the results of the matches did not materially affect their standing. A number of the bowlers were absent, but one team having a full quintet. Nevertheless some very good scores were rolled. Two men totalled 324, one 315 and one 314. The best single was rolled by Seller, who got a big one of 130. His total was 315. Miner rolled 118 for his best single, with two others, each over a hundred, and Dr. Cutter was a close second with 117 for high. These two each got 324 for total. Comins rolled three pretty strings with a total of 314, and outside of these men not another bowler topped a hundred.

Two interesting matches in which all three of the leaders in the tournament participated were rolled on Wednesday night. The three teams about which interest ran high were 2, 7 and 1, standing in the order given. Team 2 and team 7 were equally fortunate in winning three points apiece, while team 1 took a decided drop by losing three. Its loss however, does not cost it its place, although it gives 13 a good chance to catch it. The scores were good, as was to have been expected from the teams rolling. Dr. Olmsted led with a single of 127 and a total of 323. Henry Weed rolled two singles of 113 and got 321 for total, while Wilson, Lane and W. S. NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The thirtieth annual reunion and banquet of the Dartmouth Alumni Association of the Northwest is to be held on Monday at the Minneapolis Club. The fact that President Nichols, Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, alumni member of the board of trustees, and Governor Hammond are to be present assures an exceptionally good meeting.

Miss Kate F. Pond explained the work of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association at the meeting of the Ladies' Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church yesterday. The meeting sewed during the morning for the Association and held its business meeting at 2.30.

Mr. Walter E. Chamberlin is on a trip to Tennessee and the West.

John E. Redmond Division 763 and Sarah Curran Division 1015, A. N. F., held their installation jointly last evening in the Irish National Foresters' Hall.

ASSIGNED TO COMMITTEE ON METROPOLITAN AFFAIRS.

Complying with the request of Representative Winfield F. Prime, Speaker Cox has assigned him to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and also to the Committee on Federal Relations. Owing to the matter of dredging Wedgemere Pond and the Aberjona River, in which the Town of Winchester is vitally interested, Rep. Prime felt that he could render more efficient service by serving on the former committee than on the Committee on Judiciary, to which he was assigned last year. Mr. Prime will also give his attention to furthering the Town's selection of a Post Office site so far as possible.

SECTIONALISM.

The striking discrimination against all New England lines made by the Interstate Commerce Commission in flatly denying any increase in freight rates to them should be resented by every patriotic New Englander. If the Interstate Commerce Commission had discriminated, in this vindictive way, against the South or the West, the loudest kind of a protest would have been heard, followed by an insistant demand for a rebuke to the commission, because of its sectional discrimination. The Commissioners who joined in this extraordinary action (Messrs. Daniels and McChord did not) should be marked for removal. To that end every New Englander should make his demand upon the administration for prompt action. The time for sectional differences in this country has passed. We have a united land under one flag. The interest of one is the interest of all. He who would raise a sectional issue should receive short shrift. We are not doing so. The impossible, inscrutable "I. C. C." has done it.—[Leslie's Weekly.

W. H. S. 2nd 24, Janitors 23.

The W. H. S. 2nd—Janitors' game proved the excitement of the evening Wednesday night. This is the second time that the teams have met, the Janitors winning the first game 12 to 8. Wednesday night the school boys led their opponents 8 to 2 at the end of the first half but the score climbed steadily in the second period until when time was called the board showed a tie, 22 to 22. It was agreed to play for the first two points scored to win and King for the Janitors hung up a single from a foul. The ball was carried back and forth on the floor, with a shot now and then, until it fell into the hands of Paul Cole under his own basket and he threw the winning goal. Budreau and B. Larson excelled for the school team and Noonan and Mawn for the Janitors.

Score, W. H. S. 2nd 24, Janitors 23. Goals from floor, Budreau 4, B. Larson 3, Fenno 2, J. Caldwell 2, P. Cole, Mawn 5, Noonan 1, McGowan 2. Goals on free ties, King. Time, two 15 minute periods and four minute extra.

HOCKEY.

The hockey season opened on Mystic Lake Monday when the High School had as their opponents Cambridge Latin School. The visitors won 5 to 1.

At the start the teams seemed evenly matched and the first fifteen minutes of play were without score. Moser for Cambridge Latin was the first to tally and his goal was quickly followed by one by Capt. Smith of Winchester.

L. Cobb, Smith and Tenney played the best for the local seven and Capt. Hennessey and Moser excelled for the visitors. The new players on the High School team did not show the skating ability exhibited by the players on former teams. The team sorely misses the Goddu aggregation. The summary:

CAMBRIDGE LATIN	W. H. S.

H. Mills, c	c, Tenney
Hennessey, r	r, Smith
Blackman, lw	rw, Goldsmith

PLAN TO WEAR TUNIC GOWNS.

A co-operative organization of women, whose principal object is to introduce and standardize tunic dresses of absolute simplicity, held an informal meeting Saturday afternoon at the apartment of Miss Mabel Ury, 9 Myrtle street, Boston. Miss Constance Gutterson, director of physical training at the Newton Hospital, is the head of this group, which has not yet chosen a name or elected regular officers.

Many gowns of the new type which these women are so anxious to popularize were exhibited and tried on at this meeting. While varying widely in color, material and decorative scheme, they are all designed on the plan of a one-piece tunic, very loose and comfortable and bound loosely about the hips instead of about the waist.

Economy is an important feature of these gowns, which are worn mainly for purposes of health and practicality. Flat turbans, which do not require the aid of any hatpins in order to stay on the head, are also adopted by this group, as well as low, flat-heeled shoes, much like sandals.

Among the members of this group are Miss Ury, Miss Grace R. Horne, Miss Hildegarde Gutterson, Mrs. G. H. Gutterson, Miss Miriam Allen de Ford, Miss Julia Goldman, Mrs. Philip Davis, Miss Daphne Dunbar, Miss Amy Churchill and Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child. Mrs. James J. Storrow, Mrs. Glendower Evans and Miss Gertrude Huzard are deeply interested in the project.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Editor of the Star:—

In no winter since I have known this town, has so much of the people's money been spent on public improvements as this winter of 1914-15. Sad to tell, so little of it has been given to our citizens, and at a time when so many need it. Surely someone is to blame for this. Public improvements are justly urged in many towns so that their citizens could be given work.

Soon I think, our citizens will be asked to vote more money "before the March meeting" to make good what is believed to be a large amount needed to complete the work now in progress. Before this is done I urge upon every one in town to see to it before another dollar is voted, that our laborers be given work. Those who would not take care of their own are worse than infidels.

HOLIDAYS PROLONGED THIS YEAR.

This is going to be a great year for the combination of holidays and Sundays, for practically all the holidays of the year fall on Saturday, Sunday or Monday. Washington's Birthday falls on Monday, as does Patriots' Day in April. Memorial Day and the Glorious Fourth fall on Sunday and Christmas Day on Saturday. Labor Day, of course, is on Monday. This leaves Columbus Day in October, which falls on a Tuesday, and Thanksgiving Day, which is always on Thursday.

Bunker Hill Day, which is a purely local holiday in Boston, comes on a Thursday, and election day is by rule on Tuesday.

"BEN-HUR."

The Boston Theatre, New England's historic playhouse, and for more than fifty years the leading amusement temple of America will come into its own on Tuesday evening, January 12, when Klaw and Erlanger will present their new spectacular arrangement of "Ben-Hur" for a limited season. And this enterprising firm of American managers wish the public to know that their offering is the acted stage version of the Wallace drama enlisting the services of 400 people and 20 fine, thoroughbred race horses in the chariot race scene. The fact that the Boston Theatre has of late been presenting moving picture productions they wish the public to know they are to enjoy the living interpretation and not the shadows on the screen.

Carpenters, electricians and a horde of other workers are now in possession of the Boston stage, getting ready for this production.

For the first time in its history and in order to make the limited season interesting for the general public the Boston Theatre management has arranged the following attractive scale of prices: the entire lower floor and first balcony, the best seats in the theatre, will be reserved at $1.00; the dress circle, at 75c; the family circle at 50c; while the general admission to the gallery will be 25c. Mail orders addressed to William Wood, Manager, Boston Theatre, Boston, will receive prompt attention. Seats are now available for the first week.

MISS MARGARET FOLEY IN WINCHESTER.

Speaks Before the Equal Suffrage League Wednesday Evening.

There was a largely attended meeting of the members of the local Equal Suffrage League and other interested persons in the Town Hall Wednesday afternoon to hear Miss Margaret Foley talk on "Why I Am Working for Woman Suffrage." Rev. Murray W. Dewart presided and introduced Miss Foley. Following her speech there was a social hour and tea. Miss Foley spoke in part as follows:

"The chief business of women is mothering. This includes the co-related and equally important activities of reproduction and conservation. It means not only bearing children, but looking after their food and clothing and housing, their bodily safety and the welfare of their impressionable minds. The woman of today who wishes to do her business well, finds herself in a serious predicament, for today the greater part of all the activities upon which the successful bringing up of a family depends are carried on outside of the home. In order, in the disenfranchised States to exercise any control over the food, the education, and the industrial conditions which environ her children, the mother must attend a vast number of public meetings, armed with the ancient and ineffectual instrument of 'indirect influence.'

"The very word 'indirect' is a confession of inefficiency. The business of women is of such importance to the State as to demand the most direct and immediate means. It is only with the ballot that women can stay at home to nurse one child and yet follow the other to school, to the shop, the factory, the place of amusement. With the ballot she can to some degree overshadow and protect him. It is not only to enable her to do her work in the world that man must restore to woman her natural control of those departments of life which make for stable conditions. It is in order that he may do his own work more efficiently.

"Man under modern conditions has so overloaded himself with women's work of conservation that he can scarcely do his own. By attempting to constitute himself the sole center of woman's activities, he has overleaped his capacity. Much of the modern industrial revolt is all unconsciously a reaction against the excessive burdening of man with the whole business of society. It is woman's instinct to make things comfortable, the natural outreach of the mothering impulse. And a good half of government is just that; it is neither a duty nor a privilege but an efficacious way of making us all comfortable together."

CORT THEATRE.

The last two weeks of Peg O' My Heart is announced at the Cort theatre, the engagement terminating Saturday night, January sixteenth.

The several months that Oliver Morosco's delightful comedy has been playing at the Cort theatre it has been attended by thousands that seldom look to the theatre for their entertainment but the keenness and the purity of the play has been the magnet of its unusual popularity, coupled together with a cast of players that brings you out of the mimic theatre into the real home life in the exacting English home something that only the true artist or artists can do convincingly.

The story of the play, as written by Oliver Morosco, is happily free from, and does not tax the auditor with deep thinking problems, but evolves around a youthful Miss full of the joy of living.

To miss "Peg" will later cause regret as the present-day stage is not any too well illuminated with plays that are really worth while.

The daintiness and charm that Miss Martin has brought to the character of "Peg" and the playing of Mr. Smith, Mr. Short and Mr. Bassett, who were in the original cast, Miss Tell, Miss Leigh and the remainder of the company will long be remembered with pleasure by those that have seen the play.

BOSTON SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The Boston School of Social Science announces, as the second lecture in Mr. Charles Zueblin's course on "The New Citizenship," "The Nation's Material Resources," to be given at Tremont Temple, on Monday evening, January 11th. The question of endorsing American-made goods in consequence of the war makes this lecture especially timely. It will be preceded by a half-hour's phonograph concert, and followed by period of questions from the floor.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 13th in Gilbert Hall, Tremont Temple, Professor Ellen Hayes will give the second conference on The History of Ethics. This course is attracting wide attention.

FIRST RACES SUNDAY.

Ice Boats Taken by Pathe Moving Picture Company on Mystic.

The first ice boat races for the winter were held on Mystic Lake Sunday, they being witnessed by a large number of spectators and enthusiasts both from Winchester and other surrounding towns. The present winter is said to be the first in a period of over 16 years when the Mystic Lakes have frozen over so early in the season. Although the ice had been in condition for racing for several days, the races Sunday were the first thus far owing to lack of wind, the weather having been particularly calm.

Eight boats entered the contests on Sunday, they being under the direction of Chairman Richard C. Smith of the Medford Boat Club ice boat committee. A feature of the event was a series of motion pictures taken of the races by operators of the Pathe Company. The one accident of the day, when the Pretzel, owned and sailed by Frank H. Gerlach of Winchester, got out of control and ran into the group of judges, was taken complete by the operator, who himself was in great danger of being struck. The accident, very fortunately, did not result seriously, although Henry S. Perrin, secretary of the Medford Boat Club, and Walter Manton, another well known member, were knocked down and somewhat bruised, Perrin being knocked out for a time by being wedged beneath the boat.

The boats entered in the races included Roy Pigeon's "Crystal," Carrol Fisk's "Venture," Wm. Kar-hick's "Rambler," Frank Trott's "Marion," James Newman's "H. & S." Edward Trott's "Thelma," Earl Frazier's "Simplex" and Frank Gerlach's "Pretzel." The boats finished in the order named, the Crystal winning the first cup of the season. The Simplex and Pretzel were withdrawn.

The accident of the day occurred when Gerlach attempted to round inside the barrel buoy, he losing control of his boat and running into the group of judges without warning. Several managed to escape being knocked down, but Perrin and Manton were unable to save themselves. Perrin was wedged beneath the boat almost directly under the mast, while Manton rolled along in front of one of the runners. Members of the crowd nearby rushed to their assistance and by turning and holding the boat prevented further injury. They were both somewhat bruised, but not seriously hurt.

The entire detail of the accident was filmed by the Pathe operator, who had his camera in motion taking the race. The boat missed striking him by but a few inches, but he coolly continued his work of taking the entire scene, even to the rescue of the young men from beneath the boat. Several other films of a sensational nature were taken showing the boats sailing with their runners off the ice. It is said that the pictures are to be exhibited in Boston moving picture houses next week, and they will probably be a big attraction to people of this vicinity.

Considerable agitation is being made to increase the skate sailing at the Lake. Already there is a fleet of some sixteen sailers and numerous other members of the Medford Boat Club are making sails. Richard C. Smith, who has the racing in charge, announces that races will be held each Saturday afternoon from now on, prizes being offered each week.

The Medford Boat Club will also have a hockey team on the Lake this winter, and judging from the material which is out for the team it should prove an interesting asset to the sports.

A PAN OF POTATOES

Earl Denison reclined on the wide old lounge beside the sitting-room fire surrounded by a happy and deeply interested group of children. In the hay field six months before this January day he had sustained serious injuries which had kept him confined to his bed till now, for the first time, he had with the assistance of his wife, and children walked out to his nearby bedroom to enjoy the change of reclining upon the old lounge.

His wife, passing and repassing the open door between the room where she was at work and that occupied by the happy group, paused to look in upon them and listen to the voice she loved so well, and to which the children were listening with rapt attention; they were perfectly certain that no one could tell quite such lovely stories as their father told them, so like the dear improbable tales in their beloved fairytale books.

She smiled a little sadly as she caught words that gave her a clew to the theme of his story. "My poor boy," she murmured, "what a pity that some of his beautiful treasure stories cannot come true; then his mind would be more at rest in regard to the vital matter of feeding, clothing and educating our children. As it is I do not know how we are to live, even with the most careful management, through the remaining long months of this dreadful winter. It is well that he is not one of those who think always deeply and seriously, never forgetting some things which it is as well, sometimes to forget—for the sake of one's peace of mind. "But," she added, "I am glad we are not both like that, for someone has to bear the burden of it all and I am better able of the two."

With a sigh and a parting glance at the group, Sarah Dennison took a pan from a shelf and went down the cellar stairs to get potatoes for dinner; and, in spite of her brave words, her face wore a look of anxiety.

"For instance," her thoughts continued, as she looked ruefully down into the dark interior of the old potato bin, "he knew when the potatoes were carried into the cellar that there was only half a crop, so they could not last all winter, yet he has forgotten, his mind is untroubled, for which I am truly thankful."

She bent over and looked anxiously and carefully into all corners of the bin. It was so dark that she could not be quite certain that there were any potatoes at all, at first, but as her eyes grew accustomed to the darkness she could see a few scattered here and there.

There is plenty for today and maybe for tomorrow," she said, still communing with herself, "but the Denison dinner table will soon be potatoless, and what will our hearty youngsters do then, I wonder."

She bent still lower, searching anxiously for any of the precious tubers which might be hiding, even digging with her poor toil-hardened hands among the litter and loose earth, searching for the very last one; she wanted to collect them all, so as to know how to divide them and allow an equal quantity for each day.

In one corner her vigorous efforts dislodged a small flat stone, exposing to the touch of her investigating finger an iron ring. This being foreign to the legitimate use of a potato bin, Mrs. Denison, tried to pick it up, thinking to take it with her to throw into the box up in the woodhouse, where the children always put every piece of iron they could find to sell to the junkman. Indeed the children of the last of the Denison were up against a turn of fortune that made them glad to earn and save in any way they could.

The iron ring did not yield readily, however, so she let it alone and went upstairs with her pan of potatoes, her mind occupied as ever, with the haunting problem of ways and means to the end of feeding her sick husband and four children during the remaining months of the winter; farther into the future she dare not look.

While Sarah Denison sat in her kitchen preparing her precious vegetables she listened absentmindedly to the animated voice of her husband still entertaining the children in the way he loved best. He was telling one oft he many tales of the Denisons of the past who had gained great treasures, some honestly and honorably, others in dark and wicked ways, and of these accumulated treasures not half had been used or invested in any way. They had been simply hidden, buried in the ground, or under rocks, and no one would ever be benefitted by them.

She knew how, just here, the charmed listeners would sigh delightedly as the beloved voice went on and on to say that chests of gold and other precious stuff were doubtless buried all about the old farm, under big flat stones and under the roots of trees that at that time had been small bushes. The children did not mind repitition, the longer he dwelt on the subject and the more he repeated details the better they were suited.

"One of the Denison," related the storyteller, "was a great old practical joker. He was always playing pranks on others. I think he was the only one of them all who did not have the name of burying his money; I think he did not have any to bury, as he always lived on the farm; I have never had any left over to bury."

Right here they always had a quiet laugh together at the idea of father having money to bury. "Well, I am the last of the Denisons, or I would be if it were not for you lusty youngsters," the languid voice resumed. "The treasure is too well hidden for anyone to find. Not that I ever tried; I never had sufficient faith to prompt me to dig a foot below the surface for it. Not that I doubt that the stuff is out there all around us, but—" The soft languid voice of the speaker died away in a yawn of weariness duly noted by the alert ears of love, owned by the listener in the kitchen, who immediately set down her pan of potatoes and hastened to assist the invalid back to bed.

Though wearng a cheerful smile Sarah Denison had never in her life felt so discouraged and sad. All sorts of forebodings haunted her. She was glad when at length, the dinner over, she could get away by herself and hug her misery; a foolish thing to do, perhaps, yet there is no doubt that it is at times a great consolation.

She had divided the potatoes into three equal piles, one for each of three days, and left them lying on the bottom of the bin. She went down at the usual time next day to get the allowance for that day, and in picking them up her hand came in contact with the iron ring she had found the day before. She gave this a little pull, but it seemed to be held quite firmly in place by something to which it was attached.

Suddenly a strange feeling came over her. Thoughts came in her mind which had never been there before. Suppose there was truth in some of the stories her husband had learned in his youth, and with which he now amused the children.

He might not be willing to dig, but she would if she had an inkling of the location of any treasure belonging to the Denison family.

She looked down into the shadowy corners of the bin where the iron ring lay, now fully exposed. A thrill ran through her. Suppose there was something buried under that iron ring.

She reached down and firmly grasping the ring gave it a quick, nervous jerk which freed it from its fastening and let her fall backward upon the hard cellar bottom, where she lay for a short space of time, shocked and angry, the ring in her hand, to it a small piece of metal attached.

When she had sufficiently regained her scattered senses she arose and investigated the bewitching corner of the old potato bin, finding that when the ring had pulled out a small square of iron had come with it, disclosing a folded yellow paper. The fact that the paper was yellow was not evident till she had carried it to one of the little windows, where she unfolded it and read the following:

"Ha! ha! Out of potatoes, are you? Of course you are, or you, if you are a Denison, would never be digging so low in the old potato bin as to find this paper. Well, if you want potatoes, dig for them, as I had to do. Dig for them or you don't deserve them."

This to poor Sarah Denison, who had never done anything else but dig, in the sense that he meant. To be sure, she was not really a Denison, only in name.

"He must have been the practical joker," she thought, resentfully. "The old hardheart to taunt his great-great-great grandson with a hereditary failing which he is not to blame for even if he has it; he shall never know it though, for I'll never tell him."

She tucked the offending paper into her bosom, intending to burn it when she reached the kitchen fire. "Of course we'll dig, or I will, and so will the children; we are willing to work and take care of him and ourselves, and no thanks to you."

Poor Sarah Denison's head was aching from the shock she had received in falling and she felt angry at the thought of the cruel words on the paper, just as if they had been recently written and addressed to her husband personally, instead of being the work of the hands of a bitter old man long since passed away into the shadow and ,and not meant for anyone in particular.

All at once she burst out laughing. The childishness of her feelings against the old practical joker struck her. And had she any right to withhold the paper from her husband, to whom it rightfully belonged, he being one of the old man's direct descendants? While climbing the cellar stairs with her pan of potatoes she came to the conclusion that she had not any such right.

She would deliver the paper—by and by, maybe—only Earle just now was so weak and miserable in mind and body—but maybe she had no right to withhold the taunting thing even that length of time—which would he required to gain his strength. The old man might not like the postponement of his little joke. she looked behind her with a shiver and went up the few remaining stairs of the long flight quite

All the time she was peeling the potatoes she thought about the paper. There were perhaps three left in the pan to peel when a strange thought began to creep in among the others and insist upon being heard.

What if the old ancestor had meant something by his taunting command to dig! Something besides cruel sarcasm.

In crept the wonderful, hopeful, cheering yet preposterous thought that had come from—who can tell where?—and insisted upon being attended to, and as the last potato dropped from her hand, stripped of its brown jacket she sprang from her seat and went swiftly to the place outside where the farming tools were stored.

Equipped with a lantern and a spade and hoe—the hoe is very essential to a woman in digging a hole in the ground —Sarah Denison soon found herself looking into the old potato bin again, and with designs upon it which make her tremble with extetement.

"I told you I could dig, Grandfather," she said, "and now I'll show you." And immediately she began to ply first one tool and then the other, soon dislodging the box that had contained the message from the old ancestor, for she had decided that if her surmise was correct she would find—potatoes—or something that would insure plenty of them to the ones she loved forever.

So Sarah Denison buckled to and dug and dug.

She dug until she was so tired that it seemed almost impossible to continue, but still she worned on, thinking grimly that if the old joker could see her he would think that at least the Denison delegate would dig some.

At length she drew back and leaned up against one of the old timbers that supported the floor, her heart in her throat and her brain twirling. She had struck with her last rather feeble stroke of the hoe something that rang like metal.

Sarah Denison will never forget that moment; it was almost equal in thrilling interest to that in which she stood before the fully revealed iron chest a short time later, the chest which she had no dohbt contained a fortune for the branch of the Denison family in whom she was so vitally interested.

With the aid of the shovel she pried off the lid of the chest and—there it was. She reached down into the chest and let her worn, almost blistered hand revel in the sensation of playing in the shining heap of gold doins that lay before her, their brilliancy but half-displayed by the dim light of the lantern; there was, so far as she could see, nothing but gold.

Bringing a deep breath that seemed to lift some dreadful weight from her very soul, Sarah Denison left everything as it was and went up the cellar stairs. She had been absent two hours from the kitchen, and her fire was out; she rebuilt it and put the potatoes she had peeled over to boil, feeling all the time as if she were in a dream.

"Or if Earl were only well enough to go down there and see it just as it is," she sighed regretfully. She stood a moment, thinking, then took a pan from the shelf and went down again into the celar.

When she came up she carried the pan half full of gold constituting the legacy of the grim old practical joker and she went straight to the bedside of the legatee with it, and set it down before him.

Then she took from her bosom the paper bearing the taunting message and delivered that also to him, in solemn silence.

Earl Denison read the paper, looked again at the pan, and then with pale wonder into the face of his wife. She said, simply, in explanation:

"Grandfather said we must dig if we wanted potatoes, so I thought as we were nearly out, I'd better dig.—Mary Sweet Potter,

YOU SHOULD LEARN TO SWIM

"I was very glad that I took swimming lessons at Havergal," said little Helen O'Hara. Well she might be, for otherwise she would not have survived the sinking of the Empress of Ireland. When little girls of eight and ten years survive where strong men drown the moral is not to be escaped. It is art, not strength, which conquers the treacherous element. Giant muscles beat themselves out idly in the water unless there is a knowledge of how to make the water a servant.

No swimmer rears himself above the waves in the impossible manner attempted by the ignorant person in the water, whose impulse is to lift himself above the level of the waves as though he were pulling himself over a fence. The swimmer knows when it is safe to open his mouth, and that he must not breathe if his nostrils are full of water. Panic, strangling and heart failure cause many deaths in the water. The swimmer has a chance for his life because his accomplishment enables him to keep his wits as well as his physical strength. He knows better than anybody that he cannot swim ashore, but he knows also that he can get to a deck chair, or a life-boat, if it is within reasonable distance. The swimmer knows that he can help others to help him and it is no little thing to be of help to a rescuer at a time when economy of time means saving others' lives as well as your own.

Now is just the time to make this lesson profitable to innumerable thousands. It is the outing season. Learning should not be delayed because the prospect of an ocean voyage is small. Lives may be lost or saved in a duck pond, as well as the ocean. Those who go down to the sea in ships or rowboats alike should learn both what to do and what not to do in the water. The element should be respected rather than feared. No liberties should be taken with it, but it should not be allowed to end your life before your time. Learn to swim, learn this season, and you will be glad as long as you live, even though your life never should be in danger on the zens or have just come into the water.—New York Times.

SUGGESTS ARTIFICIAL PONDS

"There are hundreds of farms where artificial ponds can be made and where large quantities of fish could be raised," said Commissioner George H. Graham of Massachusetts, recently. "On many farms are found swamps that are full of springs and where quite a stream of water is flowing at all seasons of the year. At a small expense in cleaning out the brush and stumps at odd times the owner could make quite a large basin and by building an earth dam could create an artificial pond of considerable size. If the water is cold and deep enough, brook trout and rainbow trout could be raised, and if the pond is shallow, such fish as white perch, yellow perch and large and small-mouth black bass could be raised in large numbers. These fish breed very rapidly and the owner would soon be realizing a handsome profit.

"All artificial ponds are under the control of the riparian proprietor without regard to size and the owner could thereby control the fisheries in these ponds. He could procure his stock of fish from a commercial hatchery or from the Federal Government, which supplies fish for private ponds as well as for public waters. Besides producing fish in these ponds, a large crop of ice could be annually harvested. I believe it will pay any land owner who has a worthless swamp to look into the proposition, which will be the source of considerable revenue and at the same time afford him much sport."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Editor Hoag Confesses

"For many years, as Editor and Proprietor of the Pine Plains, N. Y., Herald, I have advertised Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. While I enjoyed not only the business relationship but the personal friendship of Dr. Kennedy, I have never until now, paid him a long standing obligation. For many years, as my friends so well know, I suffered excruciating pains from rheumatism. Many were the nights when it was impossible to sleep. Without much faith, I admit, I tried as a sort of last resort, a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, just as thousands of others had done before, and like them I found permanent relief. Favorite Remedy has stood the test of time and I believe it is the best medicine in existence for effectually expelling the cause of rheumatism—uric acid. My regret is that I have neglected to make this frank confession long ago. It makes my Kidneys do their work properly, tones up the liver and makes one feel that life is worth living. I publicly and earnestly advise all my friends who are suffering from troubles that arise from unhealthy Kidneys and Liver, to get a bottle of Favorite Remedy at once. There is no use in putting it off as I did. S. T. HOAG, Editor."

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING.

Some of the Important Articles to be Passed Upon.

At the special town meeting to be held on Monday evening, January 25, the warrant calls for action on eleven articles. This meeting was necessary because of changed financial conditions occasioned by the close of the municipal year on January 1. Probably within a few years town meetings throughout the State will be held in January, made necessary to conform to the new order passed by the Legislature at the request of Mr. Gettamy, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics.

Of the more important articles to be acted upon are the raising of money for the care of surface drainage water of streets and the construction of sewers and drains for such purpose.

To raise and appropriate a sum of money to pay for the building and completion of the bridges over the Aberjona River at Main street and Waterfield road, the approaches thereto, and the dam, and for the excavation of the river between the bridges, and for the improvement of the Whitney mill site.

To authorize the Park Commissioners to purchase a tract of land on the westerly side of Washington street, consisting of a parcel owned by Wilson and Crosby and an adjoining strip about one hundred (100) feet wide owned by Bryer and extending from Washington street to the Aberjona River, for use as a playground.

A similar article was passed almost unanimously at the last March meeting, but there was a hitch in placing the bonds because attorneys for banking houses were not fully satisfied with the wording of the article. So that to overcome the objections raised a new article has been prepared to replace the previous one.

To ratify a certain agreement made in its behalf by the Board of Park Commissioners with Lewis Parkhurst, Esq., by which the town agreed to reimburse said Parkhurst for all payments made by him under a contract between him and a contractor for the excavation and improvement of the mill pond, or at its option to assume said contract, when a proper appropriation should be made therefor; to authorize the Park Commissioners to reimburse said Parkhurst under said agreement or to assume said contract as they shall determine; or do anything in relation to the excavation and improvement of said pond; and to raise and appropriate a sum of money for any of these purposes.

That the work on the Main street improvements might continue uninterruptedly, Mr. Parkhurst and other gentlemen raised among themselves an amount of money sufficient to clean out the mill pond, trusting to be reimbursed later by the town. The action of these public spirited gentlemen is to be commended for hastening the work on this great town improvement and their action will meet with the hearty approval of the inhabitants.

To raise by taxation or borrowing a sum of money for the purpose of laying a permanent sheet or block pavement on Main street from Converse place to Elmwood avenue and from Common street to Elmwood avenue and Mt. Vernon street from the railroad crossing to the westerly line of Washington street.

To see if the town will vote a sum of money to be spent on any town work for the purpose of giving labor to our citizens.

THANKS FROM DEAN OF WINCHESTER.

In November a group of Winchester people sent to Winchester, England, a box of clothing and toys for the relief of the Belgian Refugees at that place. It was deemed fitting that Winchester residents should extend their aid to their namesake, and the box was sent in care of the Dean of Winchester.

Mrs. George N. P. Mead, who headed the group, has received from the Dean a letter of appreciation, and in order that all who assisted may receive his message she has asked that the letters be published in the Star.

Deanery, Winchester,
December 14, 1914.

Dear Mrs. Mead,

I have safely received your generous enclosure of £11-6-0 for our Belgian Refugees. I will pay it into the Mayor's Fund. The barrel of clothing will doubtless arrive soon.

I propose to send an extract from your loving letter to our local paper. I am sure that the Winchester folk will be as much touched as I have been by such kindly evidences of sympathy. This terrible war has furnished many proofs that our brothers and sisters in America believe as greatly as we do that England is fighting in a righteous cause.

Sincerely yours,
W. M. Hurlbut,
Dean of Winchester.

16 Kingsgate street,
Winchester, Dec. 30th.

Dear Mr. Dean,

On behalf of the Belgian Committee I wish to write and thank the people of Winchester, Mass., U. S. A., for the delightful boxes of clothing which were received yesterday, and for which we also have to thank you, too. If you are writing to the Winchester people, will you tell them how charmed we were with the beautiful clothing we found. They may like to know that some of it was at once seized to go on the Xmas tree for New Year's Day, and the body belts are going straight to some of the Belgian soldiers who are in a shocking state of suffering from cold and want of warm things; the rest of the things will be distributed as need arises.

Yours very sincerely,
M. E. Scobily,
Hon. Sec. Ladies' Committee
Belgian Refugees.

BAPTIST NEWS.

The annual meeting of the Young People's Society was an enthusiastic gathering where the splendid work of the year was reviewed in written reports, and a new year of larger activity was planned. President John Edmund York presided. The receipts for current expenses for the year were $40.71; for home missions, $77.79; for foreign missions $75.10; total, $193.60. Fifteen members have been added, making a membership of 114. The officers appointed for 1915 are, Mr. John Edmund York, President; Miss Ethel E. Jewett, Vice President; Miss Florence M. Jewett, Recording Secretary; Mr. George H. Morse, Treasurer; Miss Alice B. Romkey, Corresponding Secretary; and Miss Agnes M. Crawford, Missionary Treasurer. This is one of the largest societies in the Boston East Association, and a committee was appointed to consider more active work in the Association. A very enjoyable social hour followed the business meeting.

In spite of the stormy weather Tuesday evening, a good number attended the social of the Church and formed a most appreciative audience for the very excellent program that was given. Miss Gertrude Keister, of Virginia, and of the Emerson School of Oratory, gave readings from Rudyard Kipling and other authors; Mr. Thomas N. Shufelt, of Medford, bass soloist, rendered several selections; and Mr. Harold Bugbee, of Winchester, gave several 'cello numbers. Miss Sara Frances Felber was the accompanist. The entire program was most thoroughly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served. The Social Committee were Mrs. H. Earle Richardson, Mrs. Frank W. McLean, Miss Lizzie E. Johnson, Mrs. Percy A. Richardson, Miss Sara F. Felber, Mrs. A. Barnham Allen, and Miss Ethel E. Jewett. Superintendent Jacob Fritz, of Merrimac Mission, Boston, speaks to the Brotherhood Men's Class at noon, Sunday.

MISSION UNION MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Mission Union was held in the vestries of the Congregational Church on Wednesday. The meeting opened at 10 a. m., with lunch at 12.30, the following business meeting closing at 1. A good attendance was present notwithstanding the inclement weather, about 60 members and guests attending. The forenoon was spent in sewing for a Western missionary and for the housekeepers' sale next fall.

A full sixty sat down to a most appetizing luncheon at noon, which was served by a committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Benjamin T. Morgan and Miss Alice Joy.

Rev. Cyrus Richardson and Deacon Edward L. Baldwin were guests of the Union, and both gentlemen spoke, Rev. Mr. Richardson giving an interesting account of a luncheon which he attended while in Japan.

The Union voted to give the sum of $20, which was augmented by an additional sum of $25 contributed by a member, to the A. M. A. School at Moorehead, Miss. Mrs. Alfred J. Wallace contributed a very interesting paper on the "Social Aspects of Home Missionary Work."

The Union is in a flourishing condition and now numbers over 140 members, several new comers signing the constitution at the meeting.

A NEW INDUSTRY TO BE LOCATED IN WINCHESTER.

The Puffer Mfg. Co. have leased their building known as the Peg Mill to The Lamb & Nash Co., a close corporation composed of three members, Henry W. Lamb of Brookline, Geo. M. Nash of Newton and E. I. Braddock of Winchester. They will at once begin manufacturing sheet metal goods, such as corrugated and plain round conductor pipes, metal eaves, troughs, corner beading and barrel hoops.

The location is very suitable for the business on account of there being a spur track leading to the building, which is 325 feet by 50 feet, and as some of the machines are very heavy, weighing 30,000 pounds, it was highly important that they be located on the ground floor with solid foundations under them. Most of the machines are special and were designed by Mr. Braddock and built under his supervision. It has taken four years to build them.

BOSTON SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The third of the series of lectures entitled "The New Citizenship," being given by Mr. Charles Zueblin under the auspices of the Boston School of Social Science will take place at Tremont Temple on Monday evening, January 18th. "The Nation's Human Resources" is its title, and it will take up many vexed questions of American manhood and citizenship. The lecture will be followed by a half hour of questions from the audience.

BARN BURNED AT W. B. FRENCH ESTATE.

When the Winchester Fire Department responded to an alarm from box 53 at 4.18 Wednesday afternoon they found a hot fire awaiting them at the William B. French estate on Church street, now occupied by President J. H. Eustis of the Boston & Maine Railroad. The barn on the estate was a mass of flame. Energetic work extinguished the blaze without damage to adjoining property, a Winton touring car being ruined and the barn badly gutted as the result of the flames.

The origin of the blaze is a mystery. The chauffeur, Joseph Donaghey, had not been in the barn for over an hour. He was attending to the fires in the cellar of the residence when it was discovered. He immediately opened the door and attempted to run the car out but the heat was so intense that he was unable to throw off the brake and he just managed to get out himself without being burned. Harry Carrol rung in the alarm.

The original alarm was sent to the central house by telephone, and immediately afterward the box pulled. During the preliminary excitement a second alarm was rung in, which drew crowds of sightseers from all parts of the town.

The flames belched from every window and opening and the interior of the barn was gutted, it being sheathed, which furnished fine food for the flames. 1700 feet of hose was laid and four streams were used. The all-out signal was sounded about 2½ hours after the alarm.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

The Winchester Unitarian Parish extends a cordial invitation to all new comers to Winchester to join its free fellowship. It has an open door for all. It has no creed that could exclude anyone who believes in the Higher Life, in the Love of Truth and the Spirit of Jesus Christ. We unite for the worship of God and the service of man, and we invite to our working fellowship any who, differing from us in belief, are in sympathy with our aims and practical purposes.

Sunday morning Mr. Metcalf will preach from Matthew 12:43-45. The picturesque statement of Jesus in regard to the Spiritual Relapses or Vacant Houses as Haunted Houses. Though based on the idea of demoniacal possession the text contains one of the most important of spiritual truths.

The Ladies' Friendly Society realized $171 from its Fair in December. This is the largest amount they have ever raised and is most remarkable when it is remembered that the day was one of the worst of the winter.

The Society at its meeting this week appointed a committee to consider the subject of a new calendar for the parish to take the place of the general Unitarian Calendar that was given up.

On Thursday, January 21st, the recently appointed Hospitality Committee will meet at the minister's house, No. 16 Lawson road, to organize for the new year.

Steps are being taken to properly celebrate the 70th anniversary of the founding of the society which will come some time next autumn.

Arrangements for the Men's Supper have also been started.

Mr. Metcalf would again request all members to let him know of cases of sickness in the parish.

DICKIE OUT OF GAME.

Eugene H. Dickie, well known as catcher on the Winchester Baseball team, will probably never stand behind the bat again. In the second Woburn game last summer he had the misfortune to break a finger. Up to recently it was not thought that the finger was broken, but constant and increasing trouble with it led to an X-ray examination, and the result is that Dickie will be obliged to go to the hospital next week and have an operation performed, the result of which it is feared will prevent his participation in the game in the future or at least at the best only outfield work.

Lester M. Bangs, who played second base on the Winchester team, is reported as having signed with the Lynn team in the New England League for the coming season.

VOTED $50 FOR BOYS' WORK.

The Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Edward L. Dunning on Main street. There was a good attendance and the ladies were favored with the presence of Mr. D. C. Drew, County Secretary of Boys' Work, who spoke on the work as it is now being carried on.

The Auxiliary voted to contribute the sum of $50 for this work, for the purpose of furthering the plans for a boys' conference, and it also voted to send two Winchester boys to one of the Association's summer camps during the coming summer.

SEWING CLASS FOR WORKING GIRLS.

Next Tuesday evening, January 19, the Educational Committee of the Fortnightly will have a sewing class for working girls in the sewing room of the Wadleigh School, from 7.15 until 10 o'clock. Each girl will bring the material for the garment they wish to make, also the pattern, thread, needles, thimble, tape measure, etc. Only plain sewing will be taught. Mrs. Charles F. Maxwell, chairman.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION.

A room in the Prince School is open daily from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., excepting Saturdays, for the reception of all kinds of household goods and clothing. These articles are to be used for charitable purposes or for sales for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital. adv,ja15,4t

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Praise for Our Local Board of Health Well Deserved.

Editor of the Star:—

In the Star of January 8, in an article under the heading "Winchester is Healthy," the following facts, taken from the report of the Board of Health, are published:—"The year just closed shows that Winchester is one of the most healthy towns in the State, its death rate being only 9.4 per 1000, the lowest for many years." The significance of these remarkable facts may not impress itself upon the thoughtless reader, but it seems to me they deserve more than passing mention.

It is not by luck that a community of ten thousand population is able to report a death rate for the year of only 9.4 per 1000 inhabitants, and the death of only two infants from diarrheal disease during that time. The millions of dollars spent by this country as a whole in the application of measures discovered and advised by sanitary science, by the students of hygiene and public health measures, have been spent to lower the death rate and improve the health and comfort of the living. Great facts have been discovered. Improved methods of dealing with the difficult and intricate problems of public health have been perfected.

It is the knowledge and application of these methods by our faithful and efficient Board of Health that has put Winchester at the head of Massachusetts towns of its size, in the record of low mortality. The credit belongs there and the gratitude of all the people is due the Board of Health. The health department has saved the community far more money than the amount allowed it for expenses by the town, not to mention the improvement in public health and comfort brought about through its agency.

The Boston newspapers have recently sounded the praise and given the credit to the Boston Board of Health for a death rate of a little over 15 per 1000, which is a low rate for the city. The more should we be proud for a rate of 9.4 per 1000. This department of the town government has done its work, not by guess or by the antiquated methods of ancient tradition, but according to the latest and best methods of modern science. The record of mortality in infant diarrheal diseases is superb, and is a reward for the work done by the Board of Health for a pure milk supply and the instruction given in baby hygiene by the Visiting Nurse Association. Possibly the doctors have helped a little. Results count, and in this case we are proud of the showing. I have been told that some of the methods of our town board will be published by the State Board of Health and suggested as models for other towns to copy.

The annual report of the Board of Health, containing many facts and details that space will not allow us to mention here, is an interesting document and when published in the town reports may be read by all. Let us give credit to whom credit is due.

Very truly yours,
D. C. Dennett.
7 Washington street.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The annual roll-call and business meeting of the church was held last Friday evening. Over a hundred sat down to the supper provided by the committee of which Mrs. Henry Smalley was chairman. The Blaikie-Marsh trio furnished music for the occasion.

Mrs. John Park was chairman of the entertainment committee. An interesting program was rendered, Miss Bradley of the Leland Powers School was the reader, and Mr. William Corliss the soloist. Both were enthusiastically encored each time, as well as the trio.

Dr. Harrison Parker, the church clerk, read the call for the meeting, and Deacon William J. Nutting was elected moderator. Reports were read by the clerk; also by Mrs. Arthur Belville, the treasurer, who reported that all expenses had been paid, a liberal sum given to missions and that the church was able to close the year with a small balance. Mr. Edward Comfort reported for the Standing Committee, Mr. John A. McLean for the Sunday School, and Elizabeth Hinds for the Board of Church Visitors and for the Nominating Committee.

The following officers were elected: Mr. Justin L. Parker, deacon for four years; Mr. John A. McLean, Sunday School superintendent and member of the Standing Committee for three years; Dr. Harrison Parker, church clerk; Mrs. Arthur Belville, treasurer; Mr. Ronald Park, auditor; and Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds, Mrs. Henry Smalley, Mrs. George Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Arthur Belville, church visitors. All present agreed that it was one of the most pleasant and satisfactory annual meetings in the history of the church. A unanimous vote of thanks was given to the supper and entertainment committees.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Wednesday, January 20, at 3 p. m., the annual meeting will be held at H. S. Assembly Hall, in charge of the music committee. The entertainment will consist of songs by Mrs. Helen Follefson Barr, and readings by Mrs. Alonzo Woodside.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The following building permits have been issued by the Inspector of Buildings for the week ending January 14:

George B. Whitehorne of Eaton street; wood frame dwelling at No. 46 Wedgemere avenue, 39x39x28.

As to Fields.

Many a man who is fooling away his time in the literary field might be useful in a potato field.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Activities of This Promotive Organization.

During the business meeting on Monday afternoon, Mrs. R. H. Bean gave the financial report of the playground work and also gave notice of the dancing class for working girls which is held every Thursday evening at 8 p. m. in the High School, under the direction of Miss Flynn.

Dr. Fredrika Moore reported on the progress of the open air class in the Prince School. A member of the class was present in costume, which consists of hood and suit made from heavy army blankets, and felt boots. By a series of charts it was shown that pupils of this class show greater increase in height, weight, and oxygen-carrying power of the blood than pupils of the same grade in an ordinary class room.

The financial report of the vacation school was given by Mrs. C. F. Maxwell.

Mrs. George H. Eaton gave a report of the work of birth registration, a work which is being done by the women's clubs throughout the State.

It was voted that free, non-transferable tickets for Gentlemen's Night be issued for members of the Fortnightly. These, together with guest ticket may be obtained later from the social committee.

It was voted that a special meeting of the Club be held Wednesday, January 27, at 2.30 p. m., in the small Town Hall to consider and act on the changes suggested by the committee on Revision of the Constitution and By-laws.

Under the direction of the Education Committee, Mrs. Maxwell chairman, a sewing class for working girls will be held Tuesdays and 7.15 in the Wadleigh School.

The lecturer of the afternoon was the Rev. Chauncey J. Hawkins of Jamaica Plain. Dr. Hawkins is a direct descendant of Daniel Boone, and is by birth and inheritance a child of nature. He was once a hunter of big game with the gun, but for nine years has hunted with the camera, finding that it requires more skill and is more exciting. His lecture on "Bright Eyes and Wild Hearts of our Northern Woods," with its remarkable pictures of moose, bear, beaver, deer and other animals and birds took one deep into the haunts of the wild folk. Humor, pathos, thrilling adventure and art were mingled in an unusual way. One realizes the virtue of patience when told that it requires, on an average, two weeks of waiting along the trail, in the company of mosquitoes and black flies, to secure each of the pictures thrown on the screen. Many of the most interesting ones were taken by flashlight from a canoe at night.

Choral Class rehearsal, Tuesday, January 19, and Friday, January 22, at 9.30 a. m. in the Town Hall.

The Art Department will meet at the Museum of Fine Arts on Tuesday, January 19, at two o'clock. Mr. Huger Elliott will meet the ladies and show some of the beautiful Minor Art which the Museum contains. The committee hope that many of the Fortnightly will take this opportunity to visit the Museum. There is no charge. Bring your membership tickets and let Miss Mabel Vinton or Mrs. Edward Russell know your intention.

The Literature Class will meet Friday, January 22, at 3 p. m., in the High School Library. Mrs. Wallace will present a paper on George Elliott.

The Choral Class Concert under the auspices of the Fortnightly will be held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, January 28th, at 8 o'clock. The class will be assisted by Mr. Leon Van Vliet, 'cellist, Miss Jean MacLellan, soprano, and Mr. John B. Wills, flutist. The conductor, Mr. J. Albert Baumgartner, will also play pianoforte solos. Mrs. Fay Hoyt LeFavour is to be the accompanist. If a sufficient surplus is realized from the sale of tickets it will be shared with some local philanthropy. Members are reminded that membership tickets will not admit them to this concert.

The Literature Class of the Fortnightly met with Mrs. Rufus Herrick on Friday, January 8th. Readings from the works of the three authors studied this year were given. Mrs. Paul Lewis read from "The Journal of Sammy Burney," Mrs. Ely and Mrs. Newell read characteristic selections from Jane Austen's works, Mrs. Livor read from the letter of Madame De Sevigne, now amused and now impressed her hearers by the wit and depth of character of that wonderful woman. Refreshments and a social time ended the meeting.

LADIES' FRIENDLY MEETING.

A meeting of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church was held at the church on Tuesday. Luncheon was enjoyed at 1 o'clock, it being served by a committee of which Mrs. C. Herbert Symmes was chairman.

At the afternoon meeting addresses were given by Mrs. Arthur Robbins of Belmont, a director of the Alliance, and by Mrs. G. G. Saville of Quincy, chairman of the Cheerful Letter Exchange. Piano solos were rendered by Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis, Mrs. Arthur H. Linscott of Woburn and Miss Lillian Knapp.

HAROLD BUGBEE PRESIDENT.

Harold Bugbee was elected president of the Class of 1915 at the High School at its meeting held on Tuesday.

The following play committee was also elected: Harold Bugbee, chairman; Francis Locke, manager; William Warner, assistant manager; Miss Virginia Mosman, Miss Margaret Adriance and Ralph Joslin.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The Mission Study Class which has been under the able leadership of Miss Grace Snow, will have charge of the League meeting next Sunday night. This is a meeting that no Epworthian should miss, so we look for a large attendance on this night. Some will be there, will you? All are welcome.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

Work on the town improvements was brought to a standstill this week by the heavy rain of Tuesday and the snow of Wednesday. The two bridges being so far completed that the weather conditions do not affect them except to delay the cleaning up process, this part of the work will be well finished by summer. The large volume of water which came down the river again this week swept over the new dam and flooded all the excavated places and prevented further work on excavating the new river channel, but this work will probably be resumed within a day or so unless other storms occur. An amusing point on the completion of the bridges is the old sign at the Parkway, set up when the work was started and pointing towards the new Main street bridge, which reads "this way to the foot path." Although the Waterfield road bridge is finished the forms have not been removed and the roadway wholly filled, although at least two automobiles have passed over it.

The new Fire and Police Building is still in the slow stage, partitions, piping and interior work being done. The roof is ready for the slate and the belfry is now completed.

The Star Building is ready for the plastic slate roof, which would have been laid Tuesday and Wednesday had it not been for the storm. The Church street front is completed except for the parapet. The plumbing is being installed rapidly and the J. A. Laraway Co. have the heater in the building ready to set up as soon as the boiler room is cleared of debris. The window glass has arrived and will be set as soon as the slate roof is on. The work on the interior partitions is now being done by the carpenters.

EASTERN FELT CO. OFFICERS.

NOVELTY BOWLING.

Next Tuesday evening, the usual weekly ladies' night at the Calumet Club, there will be another novelty bowling tournament for the ladies by special request.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Persons who believe in the old-fashioned notion that it is necessary to eat a great deal to keep alive, could easily convince themselves of their folly by a simple experiment. Go to a lunch counter and order a sandwich and a glass of milk. After you have eaten the sandwich you still feel hungry. If you really need more food, you will order another sandwich. If the thought of another does not appeal to you, and the palate hankers for pie, you have eaten enough. Plain food appeals to you when you are hungry. After your hunger has been appeased, appetite still calls. You ate the sandwich because you were hungry. If you order pie is will because you think it will taste good, not because you need it.

The chief aim in cookery is to tickle the palate, to stimulate the appetite. Most people have the food habit. They never know when to stop. Appetite has been pampered from childhood. Stomachs are overloaded because daintily prepared and garnished dishes allure the eye, the nose, the tongue, and thus paralyze the will. In some homes here in Winchester the fault is with the men folks, who demand a bodily stocked table. In others it is the fault of the good hou-ewives, who are never satisfied unless their families are eating themselves into dyspepsia. If one did not know better, it would seem that most hostesses were deliberately planning to kill off their guests by stuffing them to the bursting point. If a man drinks too much he knows it when he comes to himself. If he eats too much there is a temporary discomfort, which he does not take as a warning. He repeats his gluttony day after day, week after week, and he realizes that his health is gone when it is too late. Intemperance in eating is confined to no class, and affects all Winchesterites who can get all the food they can cram down their throats, except those who have already ruined their digestions by indulging their appetites beyond the point of safety.

What an important truth was that uttered by Napoleon—"What France most needs is mothers," the benign influence of virtuous homes. Home government is at the basis of national government. Religion has its best ally in the home. Our charitable and benevolent societies all depend on the home relation. It is the influence which home exerts upon individual members that shows the best fruitage. It is the place where the warmest endearments of life are found—the sanctuary of a mother's, and a father's love. What music so charming, what melody so sweet, as that of "Home, Sweet Home"?

"That hallowed word is ne'er forgot,
No matter where we roam;
The purest feelings of the heart
Still cluster round the home."

It would seem that the Moravian poet had summarized into rythmical sweetness the endearments of home in the familiar following words. May each reader of the Star enjoy the blessings of such a home—a dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest."

"There is a land of every land the pride,
Beloved by heaven, o'er all the world beside,
Where brighter suns dispense serener light,
And milder moons emparadise the night;
A land of beauty, virtue, valor, truth,
Time-nurtured age, and love-exalted youth.
Here woman reigns; the mother, daughter, wife,
Strew with fresh flowers the narrow way of life!
In the clear heaven of her delightful eye
An angel-guard of loves and graces lie;
Around her knees domestic duties meet,
And fireside pleasures gambol at her feet,
Where shall the land, that spot of earth be found?
Art thou a man?—a patriot?—look around;
Oh, thou shalt find, howe'er thy footsteps roam,
That land thy country, that spot thy Home."

Mistakes that are laughable often creep into the columns of the largest newspaper, with great forces of editors, copy and proof readers. Even the Star contains errors occasionally and if there are any readers who think that these mistakes are avoidable, we invite them to spend a day reading proofs.

The Editor and Publisher, a trade paper, telling of errors that have been made by a large city paper, said that a Chicago paper, reporting a political meeting, stated that the vast audience rent the air with their snouts, and another paper in the same city reported a vessel sailing with 40,000 bushels of cats. A Buffalo paper, in describing the scene when Roosevelt took the oath of office as President, said that it was a spectacle never to be forgotten when Roosevelt, before the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and a few witnesses, took his simple bath. In the same edition the Editor and Publisher, unintentionally, of course, said that a woman writer "spent the summer of 1908 among the fishermen and Esquimo on the Labrador coast. The summer of 1908 she spent in Mexico and Cuba." Were the statement true it was a remarkable case of dual personality. It was only last week that an exchange reaching the spectator's desk said that in "a clam manner" a man entered a room, the l and a being transposed.

A correspondent of The Star asks advice on a course of reading that shall educate him. And he remarks that he "has read Dr. Eliot's list of books." The spectator is in the dark as to whether he has read the list of titles, or the entire five feet of printing. He seems to mean that he has accomplished the latter feat, however, and the awe with which such a being fills the Spectator is the inspiration for these lines.

Do you remember Dr. Eliot's five-foot bookshelf? Do you remember that it included such monumental works as the "Journal of John Woolman," the "Autobiography of St. Augustine," Sir Thomas Browne's "Religio Medici" and Walton's "Lives of Donne and Herbert." And the five feet what The Spectator has mentioned scarcely goes six inches.

And here is a Winchesterite who has gnawed his way through this appalling mass and wants to know what to read next! He has read the "Arabian Nights," (The Spectator wonders if it was Burton's translation in seventeen volumes) and he has read Darwin's "Origin of the Species," and he is at a loss how to proceed! Milton, Shakespeare and Browning were included, and Emerson and Goethe and Bacon—and this Winchesterite asks how he shall educate himself.

What a commentary on the way we read books! Shakespeare and the Bible have been the entire course of reading for many a great man of the past, while thousands of moderns starve intellectually in a land of plenty. Do we read books nowadays, or do we swallow them whole?

"Reading maketh a full man," says Bacon. And here's an intellectual ostrich who should have died of mental dyspepsia long ago, crying out pitifully that he is hungry!

The Spectator.

STREET ACROSS THE POND.

The street across the pond is about two-thirds filled in and by next spring it is expected that the second culvert will be reached. Some people are now walking up and down the street as far as it has been built, going up on the bed of the railroad only to cross over the second culvert. The expense thus far has been trifling, the only lay out of money being to make a way to get to the pond and the erection of a bridge over the first culvert. The filling has cost the town not one cent and there was no trouble in finding the bottom of the pond. There are two houses of not much value that will have to be moved in order to connect Winchester place and Railroad avenue with the new street. Later the town will be asked to do this.

Wednesday evening of next week there will be a meeting of residents of the Chapin district in the Chapin schoolhouse on Swanton street to discuss plans to hasten the work and talk over connection of existing streets with the new thoroughfare at the northern end of the pond.

INSTALLATION COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Division 58, A. O. H., held a meeting on Friday evening for the purpose of making arrangements for the degree work and installation, which will be held on the afternoon of Sunday, January 17th. The following committee was appointed: Henry M. Longfield, Dennis McKeering, Edward F. Dalton, Michael Kennedy, Joseph Conlon, John Bryce and Patrick Dempsey.

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

Ladies Raise Records at Calumet Alleys.

Two matches in the mixed bowling tournament were rolled at the Calumet Club on Friday evening, and team F continued its clean record by winning all four points from team K, while team A again dropped a point in a hard fought game with team G. This latter match was productive of some excellent scores. Mr. S. E. Newman rolled a fine single, making 134, and this with two other good ones, gave him a total of 338. Henry Weed rolled a fine single also, making 118. Mrs. Fred Clark raised the handicap average from 98 to 102, and also the three string total handicap figures from 306 to 307. Her best single was 92. Team A only lost the last string by two pins, it being very close throughout. Its total was 1630, with 567 for high string. In the match between F and K, Mrs. Hindes rolled 247 for high total, with 88 for her best single. Mrs. Kerrison rolled 87 for high single and 234 for total.

Two interesting matches were rolled in the tournament on Monday evening, team B dropping one point, and team C winning all four, thereby placing them in a tie for third place. The losers were teams H and O, which were placed well down in the standing and whose positions were not affected by their loss. The matches produced some good rolling. Team C almost lost its last string, which it won by a margin of one pin, while team H rolled three strings of exactly the same figures, an almost unheard of procedure. Mr. Bradlee proved the dark horse of the games. He rolled 135 for a high single and was not content with anything less than 340 for total. The only gentleman to approach him was Dr. Olmsted, who by rolling a total of 303 kept his place at the head of the average list with a continuance of 102. Mrs. Flanders excelled for the ladies. Her best single was 92, and her total of 261 was but five pins short of the record. Mrs. Johnston rolled a good game also, making a single of 92 and a total of 234. Mrs. Miner rolled 91 for her best single and 251 for total. Mrs. Avery had the highest single, she making 94 in her second.

Mr. White, who is the husband of Evelyn Scotney, is a man of very great versatility, and not only has a magnificent baritone voice, but is an artist on the 'cello and an accomplished dramatic reader. Dangerous, distressing Kidney and Bladder Trouble removed by Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Mr. C. H. Smith, 320 Washington St., Providence, R. I., writes: "I thank you for the free sample bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy you sent me. Since taking this I have continued its use and have used three large bottles, with much relief. I had been troubled severely with constipation for years. My case was supposed to be chronic. Now my bowels are regular. I was also a great sufferer from Kidney and Bladder trouble and for seventeen months I had no rest at night, as it was necessary to get up so often, sometimes as often as twice an hour. I am pleased to say that now I do not have to get up more than twice during the night as I sometimes only once. Your Favorite Remedy has proved a blessing to me. I feel better all over. The heavy "loggy" feeling has left me, as well as the bloated eyes. I sincerely thank you, for if I had not first tried the sample bottle I would to-day probably be in the same old condition, with aches and pains and all tired out."

Same old chestnut: That an earnest attempt is to be made at the State House to make the 1915 session of the legislature safe, sane and short.

Some one has said that is is estimated that it costs $145 to dispose of every bill introduced into the Massachusetts Legislature. If every person who introduces a bill was required to pay one dollar then the number would probably be cut in halves.

It is said that March town meetings will soon be only a tradition in this State. Most of the towns, it is asserted will henceforth hold their annual meetings earlier in the year as a result of the new law that requires towns to close their fiscal year, December 31st.

It will not be pleasing to the people of the State to learn that the $9,000,000 voted by the Legislature to build up Boston and its harbor has resulted in the accusation of extravagance and no definite plan for improvements by the new Board of Port Directors who had the expenditure of the money in charge. Soon the State will be called upon for more money.

FEED THE BIRDS.

January 13, 1915.

Editor of the Star:—

We are having this season an early winter, and a very severe one, and all the game and song birds who hibernate with us, are suffering severely. Many have died of starvation. Our birds are steadily decreasing each year, and our insects are steadily increasing. If we want birds instead of caterpillars, etc., we must feed what birds we have, and thus help them to increase, and attract others.

If we want the birds to stay with us and have more of them, we must feed them, and feed them now. If every household in Winchester would feed the birds around them, especially on the outskirts of the town, we could save them all. In the "Outlook," December 23, 1914, is an article by Harold Baynes, which gives full directions for feeding all varieties of bird. But what we need to use is, briefly, this:—

(1) Crumbs of bread, corn-bread, muffins, doughnuts, etc., which every household has. (2) The mixture of cracked corn and mixed seeds, known as "scratch food," which suits nearly all birds, large and small. This may be bought from the grain dealer or grocer, and is the best and cheapest all around food. (3) Suet. Buy a pound or two of suet in one lump. Tie it onto a small piece of board with string, then hang the board to a tree branch, or even to the piazza rail, if not too near the front door. Suet is an important bird food. Those three foods will keep the birds from starving, but food must be put out at dusk, and at noon, or earlier, and regularly. More of it at dusk, as breakfast is the birds' heartiest meal.

Take a box about a foot square; set it on its side with its back to the Northeast; and scatter crumbs and "scratch food" on top and inside it. If put on a post, or tree branch 4 or 5 feet high, it is better, as dogs will eat both crumbs and suet. Or trample down the snow till it is hard, and scatter the food there. Or lay it on a board. The main thing is to supply the food at once, and keep on doing it.

To save our birds we must feed them, and the food must be plentiful and regular. It is easy. It is cheap. It saves our birds. It is most interesting to watch them, too. When crows come close to houses searching for food, it is a sure proof of the severity of the winter. The crows have been doing this for a month. So I can reasonably urge the need of feeding the birds at once; and plentifully and regularly. Try it, and see how interesting it becomes.

POP CONCERT.

High School Assembly Hall was the scene of a merry gathering Wednesday evening when the members of the Winchester Teachers' Club and friends met at their annual Pop Concert.

The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. Garlands of wistarias were used effectively on the stage and balcony, while yellow chrysanthemums were placed to good advantage on the tables arranged invitingly about the hall. The evening's program consisted of the following numbers:

March.....High School Orchestra
Selection.....Girls' Glee Club
Bedouin's Love Song.....Mr. Grant
Selection.....High School Orchestra
Readings.....E. Stanley Nichols
Selection.....Girls' Glee Club
March.....High School Orchestra

The concert was under the direction of Mr. Grant, supervisor of music in the public schools and gave evidence of earnest and thorough supervision on his part.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the singing of an original song in honor of Mr. James S. Collins of the Chapin School. Mr. Collins has accepted a position in the schools of Wellesley and will begin his duties there February 1. Since coming to Winchester Mr. Collins has taken an active interest in the Teachers' Club and the members deeply regret his going. He carries the best wishes of all to his new field of labor.

During the evening dainty ices and cakes were served by the following committee, to whom much credit is due for the success of the evening's entertainment: Miss Lyons, chairman, Misses Jepson, Woodbury, Loomis, Small, Hawes and Mawn.

The members of the orchestra were: First violin, Carl Bean, Selma Coburn, Lester Davis, Sally Thompson; second violin, Esther Russell, Phoebe May, Donald Starr; flute, Roland Murphy; 'cello, Harold Bingel; instrumental, Bird; drums, Terrence Cullen; second cornet, Campbell Roll; first cornet, Remington Clark; trombone, Orlow Clark; piano, Elizabeth Passano.

The Glee Club was made up as follows: First sopranos, Alice Hodge, Dorothy Jones, Marion Kendall, Ruth Lingham, Wilhelmina Ross, Marguerite Saltmarsh; second sopranos, Rhoda Case, Edith Downer, Maude Gurney, Elsa Johnson, Grace Jones; altos, Marjorie Braddock, Margaret Erskine, Irene Lord, Ethel McEwen.

Dancing was enjoyed after the concert. Other social events for the coming term have been planned by the Executive Committee, including Mr. E. C. Wixom, president; Miss Mary F. Riley, vice president; Miss Helena B. Doherty, secretary and treasurer; and Misses Sanborn and Dodge, directors.

NEW OFFICERS FOR B. Y. P. U.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union was held on Monday evening in the vestry of the First Baptist Church. The following officers were elected for the new year: President, John F. York; Vice President, Miss Ethel E. Jewett; Cor. Sec., Miss Alice B. Romkey; Rec. Sec., Miss Florence Jewett; Treasurer of current expense fund, George H. Morse; Treasurer of mission fund, Miss Agnes Crawford.

The reports of the various officers were read and accepted, showing the Union to be in a flourishing condition with substantial gains in all departments. The present membership contains 85 active and 29 associate members, a gain of 15 during the year.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the business by a committee under the direction of Miss Daisy Smith.

"A BIT OF BLARNEY."

Before an audience which taxed the seating capacity of the Town Hall, Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, gave its annual dramatic performance, "A Bit of Blarney," last evening. The play was a decided success, both financially and from a critical standpoint. The characters were taken by a group of young people of exceptional ability, and under the able direction of Charles J. Harrold, who himself was in the cast, instilled a vim and dash into the production which captivated the audience and resulted in frequent and repeated encores.

The cast was as follows:

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Rody the Rover.....Charles J. Harrold
Cuddeen Cassidy.....James W. Kelley
Squire Rossmore.....Augustus M Leonard
Edward Lawton.....Howard S. Cosgrove
Teddy Burke.....J. Joseph Higgins
Captain Castleton.....Frank Butler
Corkerry.....J. Joseph Higgins
Darby Durrey.....Edward J. Donovan
Rosaleen O'Connor.....Miss Elizabeth Doherty
Lady Patrice.....Miss Loretta Hargrove
Shevaun Jack.....Miss Helen Bevan
Property Man.....Daniel L. Haggerty
Fresh Colleens.....Misses Mary C. Kennedy, Lucy A. Glendon, Alice M. Flaherty, Beatrice M. King.

Soldiers Frank M Collins, Martin J. Kelley.

Peasants James Bradley, James F. Lodwidge, Philip LeDue, Joseph F. McCauley.

The story of love and tribulations, the rich squire and the poor rover, ran its course smoothly to the finish. The entire cast was excellent. As Rody the Rover, Charles J. Harrold took the principal part and proved a prime favorite. His songs and ever ready humor kept the audience in pleased laughter most of the time, while his love-making proved him a past master in the art.

The dance by the Colleens and Peasants, with the Jig dance by Mr. Donovan and Miss Ragan, were exceptionally good. J. Joseph Higgins, in his two characters, was also remarkably good, and as an Irish servant he carried the house with him. Mr. Howard Cosgrove gave an excellent portrayal of the breezy young American lawyer, his eye always on the main point of events. The most difficult part, perhaps, of the whole cast was that of Mr. Kelley, and although not popular with his audience in the character he portrayed, he nevertheless came in for a generous round of applause in the last act when he repented his villiany. Mr. Leonard also handled the difficult part of the unscrupulous English squire in such a way as to win deserved admiration.

Miss Doherty carried off the principal feminine character well. Her song in the first act received deserved encores, and Miss Hargrove, as the Lady Patrice, was also a favorite.

At the close of the last act the ladies who took part were each presented with handsome bouquets. Dancing followed until a late hour.

The committee which had the affair in charge and to whom in no small measure its success was due was as follows:

WINTER TOURNAMENT.

Games Continue to Split Points Among Leaders.

Team 13, which was in the tie for second place in the winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club, lost points in its match with team 11, thereby dropping into fourth place. The win, however, did not affect the standing of 11. Team 13, by losing three points to team 8, lost with it a chance to go into fifth place, while team 8 now has a possible chance to escape from the cellar. The scores were fair. Berry, with a total of 309, led the individual work, and Priest, with 302 followed. Among the high singles rolled were the following: Eaton 112, H. Randlett 112, Berry 109, 102; Nutting 107, Dolben 107, Baldwin 106, A. H. Russell 105, Priest 105, 100; Purrington 102, Johnson 101.

The scores:

Another of the leaders dropped on Wednesday night when the Tigers lost three points to team 6. The strings were not particularly close, team 6 rolling its best game yet. Hildreth rolled a single of 121 and got 321 for total and Bowers rolled 320 for total. Bradlee was the only Tiger to top three hundred, and he rolled a fine game, making 131 for high single and 322 for total. Gendron rolled 110 for his best single, W. S. Olmstead 108 and Kinsley 107. On the same evening team 15 won three points from team 14. Carleton was high man for this match with 115 and 308. Stone also rolled one of 115 and Metcalf one of 108.

FIREMEN'S EFFORTS MEETING WITH SUCCESS.

The efforts of the Winchester Fire Department in making their coming concert and ball the best ever given in Winchester are meeting with deserved success. Already they have made big strides in securing advertising for their souvenir program and its number of pages is being added to daily under the energetic work of the committee, composed of Messrs. Albert R. Libby, Wm. Richardson, Frank Huffler, John McCarron and Edw. Fitzgerald.

The sale of tickets is being carried out by a house-to-house canvas and the residents are responding generously. The affair promises to draw the largest audience yet. This feature is also very encouraging to the committee. The general committee is composed of Ernest M. Polly, chairman; Ernest G. Beaton, secretary; John Gorman, treasurer, and John H. McCarthy, Eugene S. Flaherty, John McCarron, Albert R. Libby, Edward Fitzgerald, George Osborne, Hugh J. Skerry and Harry Kempton.

The dancing will be in charge of Messrs. Gorman and Flaherty, the entertainment under Messrs. Polley, McCarthy, Osborne, Kempton and Flaherty and the reception committee is Messrs. John H. Haley, Harry Kempton and Hugh J. Skerry.

SOCIAL AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

There was a large attendance at the social at the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, about 75 being present and enjoying the program. Vocal solos were given by Mr. Thomas N. Shufelt of Medford, well known to Winchester people through his work at the Unitarian Church, readings by Miss Gertrude Kreister of Virginia, a student at the Emerson School of Oratory, and 'cello solos were rendered by Mr. Harold Bagbee. Refreshments rounded out a very pleasant evening.

The social was in charge of Mrs. Frank W. McLean and Sarah F. Felber and the ushers were Mrs. Edward E. Thompson and Mrs. Gustave A. Felber.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by the Winchester League.

The Winchester Equal Suffrage League held a most successful meeting at the Town Hall on Jan. 6.

The speaker of the afternoon, Miss Margaret Foley, was introduced by the Rev. Murray W. Dewart who gave, briefly and convincingly, his reasons for believing in equal suffrage. Miss Foley told in her own inimitable way of her work, not only in Massachusetts, but in campaign States in the West. The audience, which filled the hall, paid the closest attention to her and thoroughly enjoyed her speech.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting, the pourers being Mrs. James W. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn and Mrs. George Root.

The ballet "Sylvia," which has not been seen in America since 1887, is to be given at the Boston Opera House on February 2nd. The cast includes many of the leaders of Boston's society as well as many well known amateurs.

The production is managed by Miss Mary Goddard Kellogg who recently put on "Pandora's Box" in New York, with the highest success, artistic as well as financial. Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, devoted the proceeds of "Pandora's Box" to her well known Vacation Girls Club. The proceeds of "Sylvia" will be evenly divided between the Massachusetts Red Cross Society and the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association. Tickets may be ordered from Mrs. Oren Sanborn now.

HAZEL DAWN IN "THE DEBUTANTE" AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE.

On Monday evening Hazel Dawn will make her first appearance in Boston as a star in her own right in "The Debutante," a new operetta for which Harry B. Smith has written the book, Robert B. Smith provided the lyrics and Victor Herbert composed the music. Ever since the success of the new star in "The Pink Lady" a few seasons ago, it has been forecasted that Hazel Dawn would make a bid for stellar honors and this prophecy is now being fulfilled apparently in a very happy manner. In "The Debutante," which is divided into two acts Miss Dawn appears in the role of Elaine, a pleasant, ingenuous American girl, who is making her first appearance in English society. She is betrothed to an American youth the son of her guardian, who has grown neglectful owing to an infatuation with a reigning footlight favorite, and Elaine, in order to revenge herself upon the rival and at the same time to arouse the jealousy of her fiancee, permits an impecunious French nobleman to make violent love. It is said that for this story Victor Herbert, the composer, has provided a score that will compare most favorably with any of his previous works. Miss Dawn's starring tour is under the direction of John C. Fisher who will be remembered as the senior member of the firm which produced "Florodora" in America. Among those who will appear will be Will West, Robert G. Pitkin, Stewart Baird, Frank Doane, Carl Gantvoort, J. Abbott Worthley, Thomas Reynolds, Zoe Barnett, Maude Odell and Sylvia Jason. There is a large chorus of pretty girls and good looking men, and an orchestra of grand opera proportions.

PURE MILK.

It is not too much to say that New York City has taken steps that mark the beginning of the end of tuberculosis. That is the effect reasonably to be expected from the rigid enforcement of the regulations adopted by the Board of Health requiring the pasteurization of all milk, including certified.

This policy has for its purpose the exclusion of live virulent tubercle bacilli from the daily diet of human beings. In requiring the pasteurization of much of the milk supply a great advance was made. In requiring the pasteurization of all the milk sold in this city, whatever its pretensions to purity, Dr. Goldwater has set absolute safety above theoretical.

This regulation is an embargo upon the germs of tuberculosis and of six other infectious diseases typhoid and scarlet fevers, diphtheria, septic sore throat, summer complaint, and foot and mouth disease. It will deliver the people from the common source of these infections.

For this action the Board of Health deserves unstinted praise, and it would be less than just to fail to include in the appreciation the twenty-three years' work of Nathan Straus, who blazed the way for this life-saving regulation by his pioneer work in the protection of infant life and the prevention of tuberculosis.

From this regulation there should be no retreat. The requirement should be permanent. The danger of infection with the foot and mouth disease is relatively small; the transmission of tuberculosis is the big peril met and overcome by pasteurization.

POLAND OF 1715.

A Once Prosperous Nation Partitioned Among Other Countries.

The Poland of 1715 was larger than any other European country with the exception of Russia. Today it has no political entity, says the National Geographic Society, at Washington, D. C., in a statement issued today. Two centuries ago its domain reached from the Baltic to the Carpathians, and stretched from east to west for a distance of approximately 600 miles.

"The first partition of Poland came in 1772, when Prussia and Austria, alarmed by the progress of Russia in Poland, suggested, as a means of maintaining the equilibrium of Europe, that all three powers readjust their territories at the expense of Poland," reads the Society's bulletin. "Poland lay utterly helpless. She lost about one-fifth of her population and one-fourth of her territory. The second partition, in 1793, reduced Poland to one-third of her original dimensions, with a population of about 3,500,000. A third treaty of partition was signed in 1796. The Congress of Vienna, in 1815, divided Poland between Prussia, Austria and Russia, with the exception of Cracow, which was erected into a republic embedded in Galicia. Posen and Gnesen, with a population of 810,000, were left to Prussia. Austria remained in possession of Galicia, with its 1,500,000 inhabitants. Lithuania and the Ruthenia Palatinates continued to be incorporated with Russia. The remnant was constituted as the so-called Congress Kingdom, under the Emperor of Russia as the king of Poland.

"In the same year, Tsar Alexander I granted the new kingdom a constitution, which declared it to be united to Russia, in the person of the tsar, as a separate political entity. Poland retained its flag and a national army. In 1830, following the outbreak of the French revolution, a military revolt took place in Warsaw. This war lasted for ten months, and at its conclusion the Congress Kingdom was reduced to the position of a Russian province. The last remaining remnant of Poland's separate political existence was Cracow, and it was finally occupied by Austria in 1846. The last attempt of the Poles to achieve independence was in 1863. It was marked by no real battle and the uprising was soon repressed. The national history of Poland closes with this attempt at freedom. In 1868, by ukase of the Emperor of Russia, the government was absolutely incorporated with that of Russia, and the use of the Polish language in public places and for public purposes was prohibited.

"Russian Poland contains the first line of defence of the Russian Empire on its western frontier. The marshy lowlands, covered with forests on the western bank of the Vistula, offer a natural defence against an army advancing from the west, and they are strengthened by a number of fortresses on that river. The center of these is Warsaw.

"The Poles are rather of medium stature and well built. Those in the south are dark and in the north are inclined to be fair. While well endowed by nature they are 'today not remarkable in that energy which characterizes the northern races of Europe, and in a sense of unity which has been the strength of their present rulers, and the reason is obvious.' For several years past the German element has been annually increasing both in number and in influence in Russian Poland. From remote antiquity Poland has been celebrated for the production and export of grain. Since 1875 there has been a remarkable development of manufacturing enterprise. The railroads of Russian Poland have an aggregate length of 1500 miles.

"The entire administration of the province is under the governor-general residing at Warsaw. After the insurrection of 1863 all towns with less than 2,000 inhabitants were deprived of their municipal rights. The elective municipal councils were practically abolished, and Russian officers nominated in their place. The prevalent religion is Roman Catholic."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Common Clay," produced by Cleves Kinkead, the Harvard Prize Play which had its first production last Thursday, opened its first complete week Monday with every sign of an unprecedently long and successful run at the Castle Square.

The really remarkable notices accorded this strong drama by the Boston Press are reflected in big houses and advance orders for seats on a big scale. The play deserves its success.

Miss Mary Young lives in the part which she acts. Her speech in the great court scene is electrifying in its realism and is accorded the tribute not only of applause but of tears. Mr. John Craig as the humane lawyer, Filson, Mr. William Carleton as young Fullerton, Mr. Al Roberts and Mr. Alfred Lunt continue the sound work that critics praised on Thursday.

D. OF I. INSTALLATION.

Officers of Santa Maria Court Installed Sunday Afternoon.

The installation of the new officers of Santa Maria Court No. 150, Daughters of Isabella, was held on Sunday afternoon in Lyceum Hall, the work being done by District Deputy, Miss Elizabeth Flynn and suite of Malden. There was a large attendance, with visitors present from Arlington, Woburn and Malden, together with Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt of St. Mary's Church, Chaplain of the Court, and Mrs. Henry C. Blake, Lecturer.

The officers installed were as follows: Grand Regent, Mrs. Josephine Kane; Vice Regent, Mrs. Sarah Brine; Prophetess, Miss Ella Foley; Historian, Miss Margaret Callahan; Fin. Sec'y, Miss Mary Kenney; Treasurer, Mrs. Julia Fitzgerald; Monitor, Miss Elizabeth Glendon; Sentinel, Miss Jennie McIsaac; Trustees, Mrs. Johanna Glendon, Mrs. Annie Kennedy and Miss Mary Reagan.

Following the installation exercises a piano solo was given by Miss Ruth Poland and Miss Frances Noonan gave a reading. Addresses were made by Miss Flynn, State Regent, Mrs. Mary Cogan of Stoneham, and Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt. Among the visitors present were also State Treasurer, Mrs. Annie Weary of Stoneham and Miss Mary F. Riley, State Advocate.

Following the entertainment refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Henry C. Blake and composed of Mrs. William A. Davidson, Mrs. John McNally, Mrs. Owen Flaherty, Mrs. Frank Nowell, Miss Mary Kilcoyne and Mrs. Smith.

CARPENTER KILLED BY FALL.

Edwin B. Beard, a well known carpenter of North Winchester, was instantly killed by falling from a staging of the house which he was erecting for his own occupancy on Washington street, near Clematis, last Friday afternoon. In company with Peter Biederbeck he was working on the staging placing the clapboards on the side of the structure. One of the brackets holding the staging suddenly broke without warning and he fell to the ground below, striking on the side of his head and fracturing his skull. He fell a distance of 20 feet.

Biederbeck, who was near the other bracket, succeeded in grasping it and holding on until help arrived and a ladder placed for his descent.

Mr. Beard was 41 years of age. He resided in the first house over the Woburn line, formerly known as the Nichols place. He was well known among local carpenters and numerous residents of the Highlands. He is survived by his wife and two small children, his mother, Mrs. Marie Beard of Billerica, and one brother, Percy, also of Billerica.

Funeral services were held from the residence on Monday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. William Fryling, pastor of the Second Congregational Church. There was a large attendance of friends and the display of floral offerings was very beautiful. The following gentlemen were pall bearers: William G. Richardson, Ernest Richardson, Fred M. Symmes and Fred Macdonald. The burial was in the family lot at Billerica.

DAVID H. CHAPIN.

Mr. David H. Chapin, a former well known resident of the Highlands, died on Tuesday at Danvers, where he had been for about a year, suffering from a mental disorder. He was 42 years of age.

Mr. Chapin occupied a house on Maple road when residing in Winchester. He is survived by his wife and seven children—Rhoda, Charles, Nathan, Beulah, Francis, Edward and Margaret. About a year ago the family moved to Cambridge, where the funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. William Fryling, pastor of the Second Congregational Church.

Editor of the Star:—

I wish to ask your readers to see the two notices of Town Meetings on page 5 of your last edition, and ask why the difference in type, and one is signed by the Selectmen, the other by the Clerk.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Annual Meeting Shows Rapidly Growing Interest.

One indication of the rapidly growing interest in temperance reform is the increasing attendance at the meetings of the W. C. T. U. Twice in the past year seventy-five have been present; last Friday ninety Winchester ladies and guests from neighboring towns attended the Annual Meeting in the vestry of the Congregational Church.

The exercises of the afternoon opened with words of welcome from the President, Mrs. G. M. Hamilton. Mrs. R. M. Armstrong conducted the devotional exercises, and spoke of the faithful and devoted life of Mrs. C. U. Dunning, one of the two members of the Union, whom, in the words of the President, "we have watched down the long road till the bend conceals them from our view." Mrs. Gleason gave a tribute to the memory of the other member "promoted" in the past year, Mrs. Thomas J. Martin, whom she characterized as a remarkable woman, benevolent, large minded, and helpful in every just cause.

Miss Anna Heffion sang sweetly, "I Hear Thee Speak of the Better Land."

After the usual annual reports had been presented, the following officers were elected for the year 1915:—President, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Martha Gage, Mrs. Annie D. Enman, Mrs. G. W. Purrington, Mrs. Sarah Richardson, Mrs. S. E. Dover, Mrs. Wm. Fryling, Mrs. Mary T. Nicholson and Mrs. Sarah F. Goffe; Secretary, Mrs. Etta Richardson; Treasurer, Miss Eugenia M. Elliott.

A vote of thanks was given to the retiring secretary, Miss E. C. Richardson, and the newly elected secretary, Miss Etta Richardson, was introduced to the audience.

Thirty-nine years ago the Winchester Union was organized. The only surviving charter member, Mrs. Oliver, was present, and came forward to be presented with a certificate of life membership in the State Union. After Mrs. Oliver's gracious words of thanks all rose and sang together, "Blest be the Tie That Binds." Then followed the remarkably effective recitation by Mrs. Oliver of a long and striking poem, entitled, "The Losing Side." The impression produced was deepened by the singing immediately after by Misses Heffion and Alice Hamilton of Mrs. Stevenson's poem, "All 'Round the World the Ribbon White is Twined," to the touching tune of "Old Black Joe." Again the audience rose and joined in the chorus.

Mrs. A. R. Brigham, delegate of the Middlesex County Unions to the National Convention at Atlanta, was then introduced and gave a lively and interesting report of her trip to the southland, the enthusiasm on the train, the scenes along the way, the hospitable entertainment of delegates, the interesting and varied proceedings of the convention, the side trips and social affairs. After describing her visit to a cotton field, Mrs. Brigham presented a bursting cotton boll she had herself picked to each of the officers of the Union.

At the close of the exercises seven new members received the white ribbon badge of membership, pinned on with well chosen words of welcome by Mrs. Gleason.

In anticipation of large meetings and a continued increase in membership, the February, April, and May meetings of the Union are to be held each in a church vestry. Let each member feel personally responsible for the success of these meetings, and put forth every effort to have them well attended and to bring many new members into the Union. They are greatly needed just now to help by their influence, their prayers, and their money in the battle for national prohibition, which must be carried on to victory.

THE PERFECTLY NICE LADY AND THE EDITOR.

A perfectly nice lady called us up and with tears in her voice, reproved us for not mentioning the fact that she had a friend visiting her last week. We told her that she did not let us know anything about it and that therefore we did not know that she had a visitor. Then she said, "Well, you should have known. I thought you were running a newspaper." Wasn't that rubbing it in? Some people think that an editor ought to be a cross between Argus and Anna Eva Fay. They seem to think that our five senses are augmented by a sixth that lets us know everything that happens, even if we see, hear, feel, taste or smell it not. Dear lady, editors are only human, or at least almost human. If you have a friend visiting you, if you are going away or have returned from a visit out of town, if Johnnie falls and breaks his arm, if your husband chops his toe instead of a stick of wood, if anything happens that makes you glad or sad, happy or mad, call us up. Tell us about it. That's the way to get it into the paper.—[The Marshfield News.

LEGISLATIVE REGULARS.

Familiar Faces Seen at State House Every Year.

The Star is asked to print the following taken from the Boston Globe:

It is generally admitted that the Massachusetts Legislature gives more time and attention to bills and petition for legislation than any other Legislature in the United States.

Massachusetts lawmakers have always held the right of petition to be sacred. The right of petition is safeguarded in the bill of rights. Very few Representatives in the Legislature have ever refused to introduce a petition, even though they do not believe in the prayer contained in the document.

It is also an old custom and a rule of the Legislature, which amounts to law, that every petition and bill introduced must be heard and acted upon by the committee to which it has been referred. There is no such thing in this State of pigeonholing a bill or a petition and allowing it to die for want of action by the Legislature. No matter how trivial or absurd the prayer of the petitioner, it must be heard, and before it is heard advertised in the newspapers that those interested may know when it is to be heard. A report must be made on every subject before the committees of the Legislature to one of the two branches of that body.

The framers of the Government of Massachusetts were so careful to safeguard the right of every citizen to be heard and his prayer acted upon by the Great and General Court, that the humblest citizen can get a hearing from the highest court in the State—the Legislature. The Massachusetts method of permitting everybody to be heard on any subject before the Legislature, means that year after year those who believe in certain legislation keep coming before the Legislature to renew their efforts to place their pet laws on the statute books.

This Massachusetts idea produces a small crop of men and women who spend much of their time on Beacon Hill, trying to get their schemes through. This year's crop isn't as large as usual. Oldtimers, with their hobbies, come and go, but it would seem some live on forever.

There is Moody Boynton, for example. Think of the time and the energy he has put into his plan for a bicycle railway. Every year, for over a quarter of a century, he has spent months at the State House trying to induce the Legislature to grant him some sort of a charter under which he can build his road. Sometimes he has succeeded, but oftener has failed. Failure doesn't seem to dampen his ardor, and he is one of the earliest to arrive when the session of the Legislature begin and one of the last to give up hope of getting some sort of a law through which will enable him to start his road.

Most of his time is spent before the Committee on Railroads to get a report and the rest of his time buttonholing members of both branches to support his measure. He is one of the rapid fire talkers on the hill and the fastest official stenographers have hard work keeping up with him when he begins one of his addresses to the committee.

Woman suffrage is one of the hardy Legislative perennials. In the old days, the late Henry B. Blackwell, husband of Lucy Stone, was the chief advocate of woman suffrage. Since his death, however, the representatives of equal suffrage come from the newer crop. The suffragettes have become more militant, have hired an attorney and an agent, and almost every day they swarm the anterooms of the House and Senate, trying to convince Senators and Representatives that it is their duty to give them the ballot.

Miss Margaret Foley and Mrs. Teresa Crowley are the leaders of the suffragettes at the State House this year. They keep tabs on the committee that has the matter in charge, and their agent, Michael Culluney, may be seen almost every day interviewing legislators and getting ready for the final legislative showdown on the matter.

When it comes to general all-round legislative matters, very few have anything on Whitfield Tuck of Winchester. His specialty is politics and railroads. In the latter matter he is often assisted by his fellow-townsman, John H. Carter. Tuck keeps a pretty close watch on the politics of the Legislature and usually bobs up just as the committee thinks that it is about time to close a hearing. Sometimes a committeeman endeavors to shut Tuck off, but as sure as he does, there is pretty likely to be fireworks and fun. Those who know him best think the best plan in dealing with Tuck is to let him have his say.

The labor lobby is large; it usually confines itself to matters before the committee on labor and the new committee instituted this year—the committee on social welfare. The labor men have a clear and well-defined notion of what they want and make short work of their business before committees unless there is something of vital importance in which they are interested, and then they usually demand and get all the time they want to present their case.

Before Gerry Brown's appointment to a State job he headed the so-called people's lobby. Gerry could be seen almost every day propounding the law to the assembled committeemen, but the people's lobby disappeared with the appointment of Gerry to the position of supervisor of loans by Gov. Foss a year ago.

This year the Bull Moose party has come forward with a lobby of its own to push its pet measures before the Legislature. Their spokesman is Arthur D. Hill, who has addressed several hearings urging the adoption of Progressive measures. With him are associated Miss Mary Hale, sister of Matthew Hale, chairman of the Bull Moose State Committee, and Prof. Johnson of Harvard University.

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, is no stranger on Beacon Hill. He is usually put on before the committee when there are matters affecting the civil service, good government and education up for consideration.

When there is an assault on the observance of Sunday as a day of rest Rev. Dr. Kneeland may be depended upon to put in an appearance.

The old prohibition lobby has practically disappeared. Instead of trying to force prohibition into the Constitution they urge stricter temperance laws. When anything of great importance to them is on Melvin M. Johnson usually represents them. The liquor interests are looked after before the committees by William F. Weld.

When it comes down to looking for real cranks the genuine article in that line is hard to find on Beacon Hill this year. The crank crop is growing less and less of late years. This is probably accounted for by the fact that most of the freak legislation is put in and advocated by the members of the Legislature themselves. It isn't difficult to get a legislator to introduce and fight for this sort of legislation. A number of them eagerly grab at this sort of proposed legislation. It gives them a lot of free advertising, and in this day of direct primaries they believe that all the notoriety they can get in this way helps them publicly.

MOTHER PLAYS FIVE HUNDRED.

Well, come on, if you insist on my playing. Do I have to get the table ready every night? Put up your book, Mary, you can finish that chapter after 'while. No, John, you can't have an apple. I believe in playing while you play. Don't bother cutting for deal. There's no sense in it. Father, you deal. You always give me lots of diamonds. What's that? Your bank account shows it? Don't be funny. We're playing cards. Well, did you ever! not a face card in my hand! I knew we ought to cut for deal. What? Seven on diamonds? Let him have it. He ought to be put in the hole for reneging twice last night. You didn't? Well, I ought to know, you put me back. John, close the door. I feel a draught. What's trumps? Diamonds? I thought you said clubs. Why don't you lead them out? What, another ace? No, you don't that's my trick. Oh, I thought you said hearts were trumps. Now, Mary, you know what it means when I play a king. Cousin Lucy, when did you hear from Frank? Has he sold his store yet? Who led that? Excuse me, I thought you did. What's trumps? Father, there you reneged again! I say you did. You should have played that heart on the second trick. Let's see it. Oh, excuse me, I thought it was a diamond. What's trumps? John, did you know your geography lesson today? You didn't? What did I tell you— Oh, it's my deal, is it? I dealt last time. I say I did. I gave you the left bower. How did I know? Oh, yes, I remember, it was the other time. Now father, if you don't give me a good hand. Well, you can just give me a few more like these. Good! I'll make it seven on diamonds. Now, come on. I'll show you. Who leads first? Come on! What? Seven on hearts? You mean thing! Can't you let me have it once? No, take it, and I'll put you in the hole for that. What's trumps? Hold on, I haven't played yet. I want to change the left bower over to the heart side. What are you laughing at? Say, Lucy, I saw the loveliest chiffon down at Stead's today. Only seventy-five cents a yard. It would just match that old dress you're making over. Haven't I suit? Oh, excuse me, who led that? I thought spades were led. What's trumps? Well, you don't need to take my head off. Just listen to the rain. Father, what did you do with my silver-handled umbrella? In the rack? It isn't—I was looking for it today. My deal? John, shuffle them for me. There, that's enough! You only put them back where they were in the first place. Mary, I wish you wouldn't comb your hair that way. I don't care if all the girls do, it isn't becoming. What's trumps? What's the score? What! Four hundred and fifty! Now, father, if you beat again, I won't play for a month. I never did like this game, anyway. When you have a partner you can make it something. Well, what's trumps? Oh, I declare, I forgot to turn the draughts off the stove. Run out, John, and do it. No words! I won't let Mary look at your hand. Now, let's get down to business. I can't play more than this hand, anyway. That's obvious? I talk too much? Well, you can play four handed, if you're dying to. I've got to sew. You're always begging me to make up five, and you know I don't like the game. Now, play, and keep quiet."

RICHARD BUHLER AS BEN-HUR.

BEN-HUR AT BOSTON THEATRE.

Klaw and Erlanger's stupendous Panama-Pacific World's Fair production of General Lew Wallace's "Ben-Hur" has registered the biggest hit ever known in the historic Boston Theatre and this statement is made with the full knowledge that the most noteworthy offerings in the history of American amusements have all been shown upon its stage.

Its presentation at a popular scale of prices—the best seats being only one dollar—is bound to make history in connection with the Boston Theatre. It is the first time that General Wallace's awe-inspiring Biblical narrative has been staged at such a moderate scale.

It is well to bear in mind that the curtain rises on the evening performance of "Ben-Hur" promptly at 7.45 and at 2 o'clock on the matinees, and that no one will be seated during the Prelude, which shows the appearance of the Star of Bethlehem to the Three Wise Men, and which should be seen by all who would thoroughly enjoy the performance of "Ben-Hur."

ONE WEEK MORE AT CORT THEATRE.

Owing to the enormous demand for seats for the last two weeks of the record breaking run of "Peg O' My Heart" at the Cort Theatre, Boston, the management announces an additional week beginning Monday, January 18th. This will positively be the last week for "Peg" as Morosco's charming comedy must give way to John Cort's latest musical farce, "What's Going On" which Mr. Cort postponed for a week in order to meet the demand of the Boston and suburban playgoers for another week of "Peg." This production intact will positively close Saturday evening, January 24th.

An innovation for the last week will be a new scale of popular prices, for the evenings the best seats will be at $1.50 and the Wednesday matinee $1.00.

Following "Peg O' My Heart" John Cort will bring to the Cort January 25th "What's Going On," a new musical farce. "What's Going On" will be a worthy successor to the greatest of the modern comedies "Peg O' My Heart."

Mr. Cort has gathered together a cast that commands attention, among them being Walter Lawrence, William Burress, Frances Cameron, Roy Atwell, Carrie Graham Burress, Maude Beatty, Doyle and Dixon and a chorus of unusual attractiveness.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Charles Frohman's triple alliance of stars, William Gillette, Blanche Bates and Marie Doro in Sardou's greatest play "Diplomacy" is the current attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre. The entire Boston press is unanimous in pronouncing this attraction the most important dramatic offering of the season. The coming of three such magnets as Mr. Gillette, Miss Bates and Miss Doro in one production contributes a rare and unique event. Mr. Gillette after an absence from the stage of four years has been cordially welcomed back with even greater enthusiasm than attended his last appearance in Boston.

"Diplomacy" is undoubtedly the strongest and best of Victorien Sardou's world famous plays. Many memorable productions in the past have made "Diplomacy" familiar to American audiences and it has become something of a classic on this side of the water, as well as in England, Germany and France. Its thrilling plot and countless exciting episodes full of surpriseful and unexpected climaxes rivet the attention of the spectator from the rise to the fall of the curtain in gripping suspense.

The length of the play and the elaborateness of the massive scenes showing the palatial interiors at Monte Carlo and Paris necessitates the rise of the curtain at 7.45 sharp evenings, and 1.45 at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

RUSSIA.

Interesting Information Regarding This Great Country.

Showing how Russia is larger than the entire continent of North America, with the islands of the Caribbean thrown in; how it occupies three-fifths of Europe and two-fifths of Asia; how its Asiatic possessions are one an a half times as great as those of China and three times as great as those of Great Britain; how it comprises one-sixth of the landed area of the globe and one-tenth of the world's population, Gilbert H. Grosvenor, Director and Editor of the National Geographic Society, has just furnished the nearly 350,000 members of that organization with a striking pen picture of "Young Russia—A Land of Unlimited Possibilities."

After giving an impression of the diversity of the origin of its peoples, who come from the Orient and the Occident, the frigid north and the tropic south; of its range of climate, which gives the Palm Beach touch to its Crimea and the breath of the north to its White Sea region; of its vast agricultural wealth; of the widely varying aspirations of its peoples, which differ as greatly as those of the Poles and the Mongols, as those of the Confucians and the Jews, as those of the Tartars and the Lapps; and of the vastness of the geographic limits of the Empire, Mr. Grosvenor says:

"But with all its geographic greatness Russia is about as poor in natural outlets to the world as the smallest of the countries of the earth. Holland could be hidden in the vast reaches of the Russian plain, almost as a needle in a haystack, yet Amsterdam does more international business than all the ports of Russia together. Not one free outlet to the open sea does European Russia possess except on the icebound shores of the Arctic Ocean. The path from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean leads through the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles held by alien hands."

Mr. Grosvenor next shows how there lives within the boundaries of the Russian Empire enough people to duplicate the population of Germany, Great Britain and France combined, with enough left over to duplicate half the population of Austria Hungary. Furthermore, if Russia grows from 1912 to 2000 as she grew from 1872 to 1912 her population then will be upward of six hundred million.

He then continues: "From such a record of size, of bigness in everything, we should expect Russia to be an old nation, like Great Britain, with perhaps a thousand years of unhindered growth behind her. But, as a matter of fact, Russia is a youth among the nations compared with England, a stripling whose full stature and breadth is still a subject of conjecture and speculation.

"Russia is young because she never has had a chance to grow until recent years. Her geographical shape or condition was such that for centuries her people were constantly being enslaved or despoiled by stronger neighbors."

After dealing briefly with Russia's remarkable history, especially with the surprising reign of Peter the Great, Mr. Grosvenor shows that when Alexander II freed the fifty million serfs of Russia he released from bondage a population equal to that of the twelve leading States of the United States, and a population more than twelve times as great as was freed by Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation not very many months afterward. Alexander bought 350,000,000 acres of land for them, permitting them to buy it from the Government on easy terms. He thereby carried into effect the most extensive piece of agrarian legislation in history.

"Each village conducts its own internal affairs through 'town meetings' and not through elected or appointed officials. Their lands are held on the common ownership basis, and is apportioned out for cultivation from time to time.

"With the bulk of its crops raised by the peasantry, and for the most part, employing most primitive means of farming, Russia is still able to produce a very large proportion of the world's food supply. In 1913 it gave to civilization nearly a fourth of its wheat, a full fourth of its oats, a third of its barley, and more than half of its rye. That year the wheat crop was 200,000,000 bushels greater [illegible] oats, its barley crop was three times as great as ours, and its rye crop twenty-five times as large as ours.

"Russia has more horses than any other nation on earth, with 35,000,000 as compared with our 24,000,000; more sheep than any other nation, with 80,000,000 as compared with our 50,000,000; nearly as many cattle, with 51,000,000 as compared with our 59,000,000.

"The latest authoritative information on Russian educational conditions, that for 1908, shows that only 211 out of every thousand people in the Empire could read and write, and there were two illiterate women for every illiterate man. With our hundred million population, in 1912 we had an enrollment of 19,218,000 school children. With her population of 172,000,000 Russia's total enrollment was 7,970,000, and 23 of these were boys for every 10 who were girls.

"And yet the first woman civil engineer in the world was a Russian, and the educated woman of Russia enjoys a freedom equal to that of her kind in any other country in the world. They are even allowed to become professors in men's universities, and after twenty years of service are retired on pensions, which continue during the lives of their husbands, if they are married and are survived by the heads of their houses.

"The Tsar of Russia is a well paid ruler. He receives the revenues from the Russian crown lands, and their area is equal to that of one-third of the United States. Several years ago the imperial treasurer is reported to have advised the Tsar: 'Your Majesty need have no fear of ever coming to feel the sting of poverty. Financially you are solvency itself. With one hand you could buy out the American multi-millionaires, Morgan and Rockefeller, and still have enough left to talk business with Baron Rothschild.' It is said that the Tsar was displeased at the flippancy of the holder of his purse-string. Whether the story is apochrypal or not, it does not misrepresent the Tsar's wealth.

"I have seen the famous cathedrals of Europe—the noted structures of France, Germany, England, Italy and Turkey—but was utterly unprepared for the splendor and brilliancy of St. Isaacs, at Petrograd, with its pillars 30 feet high of lapis lazuli and malachite, its altar rails of solid silver, containing half a ton of this precious metal, an its icons of pearls, studded with huge diamonds, sapphires, emeralds and rubies!

"His religion is very real to the Russian, and his God is really omnipresent to him; he sees His Spirit everywhere and everywhere acknowledges it with the sign of the cross and the words 'Oh, Lord! have mercy,' or 'Glory be to Thee, Oh Lord!'"

Mr. Grosvenor also brings out the surprising fact that Russia has in the neighborhood of 38,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 41 inclusive, and that it annually has about 1,100,000 boys reaching the age of 18.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The work of placing the new trolley guard over the railroad tracks in the centre which has been going on for some weeks reached a material stage on Monday when the first section of the copper cage, which will run over the trolley wire, was put in place. The idea of the guard is to catch the trolley of electric cars should it slip from the wire while the car is crossing, thus allowing the full power to be applied until a safety point is reached. It has been necessary to erect many new guy wires in the centre to support the guard. In placing the first section in position it was necessary to carry it above the guy wires at a point well up Main street, bringing it to the crossing over them.

MY PARIS GOWN.

She bought a simple Paris gown
Before the war cloud settled down,
But with her trunk 'twas lost, when she
Fled in alarm across the sea;
And, ever since, that gown has grown
Till it's the finest ever known.
When first described 'twas "simple net";
The second time it seemed to get
A sweeping train, a regal air;
By this time it's of lace most rare,
"Real Brussels think how much it cost!"
(Perhaps 'tis well the gown stays lost.)
—Grace McKinstry.

The Gentleman

As a finished product, the gentleman seems to do everything very easily; but that ease like the ease of the habit, can only come by effort. He is socially secure; but whatever his station, he was not born so for no man ever is socially secure by birth, even if he was born to be a king. The test of a gentleman is the pleasure others take in his society, and not in his wit or his virtue of his learning, but in their ordinary social relations with him. And this pleasure he cannot give merely by being on good terms with himself.

Although in recent years the Ivory imported into London has decreased, the falling off has been caused by a new market having been created by the opening up of the Congo free state. VOL. XXXIV. NO. 30. WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1915 PRICE FIVE CENTS

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Report of Superintendent Shows Prosperous Year.

Members of the School Committee:

Gentlemen:—Herewith is presented the thirty-second annual report of the Superintendent of Schools. It is intended to convey through you to the citizens of Winchester a brief record of repairs and improvements, an explanation of changes in internal administration that have characterized the year just ending, a statement of the educational needs that are most pressing, and the usual statistics for study and reference.

Repairs and Improvements.

The painting of the Prince interior has made the dingy walls of rooms and corridors as fresh and bright as those of a new building. Our grade rooms are now as attractive as could be desired except that pictures are needed. If the high school interior is repainted in 1916, a moderate expenditure thereafter will renew each year one or more buildings outside and inside.

The electric lights have been placed in all buildings in accordance with plans made by a lighting expert. The lighting is as satisfactory as any system of direct illumination can be. It is probably better for school purposes than indirect lighting, but equipment and of running expenses being considered. These lights will relieve the strain on the eyes of pupils on dark mornings and afternoons, will enable the janitors to work more efficiently, will remove the danger of fire from lanterns in caring for the boilers, and will make it possible to hold evening meetings in all school buildings.

At the Gifford the new boiler is entirely satisfactory and a fire escape has been installed in accordance with the requirements of the law.

The high school roof has been resurfaced and should demand no further attention for many years.

On all the school grounds Mr. Samuel S. Symmes, Tree Warden, has set out a number of young trees. As time passes these will greatly add to the beauty of the town and will assist in creating a desirable school environment for our pupils.

In addition to the foregoing items, a long list of minor repairs might be mentioned. These need not be given in detail, but it may be pertinent to say that the aggregate of them might be deemed unimportant, yet as a whole they conserve the school property and make the buildings and grounds each year better fitted for purposes of instruction.

Pictures.

Mr. James J. Fitzgerald has presented copies of Corneille's "By the Riverside" and Van Marcke's "Golden Autumn Day" to Miss Lyon's room at the Chapin. We should have more such pictures in our school rooms.

Registration in the Grades.

The total registration in the grades is 1505, 93 smaller than one year ago, the loss being largely confined to the Kindergarten and grades one and two in the Chapin and Rumford buildings. These grades have been thus reduced to better proportions for instruction. So far as may be judged at this time, we shall continue to need as many teachers as at present in the Chapin and Rumford; in the Washington and Wyman the congestion in the second and third grades is such that it will be necessary next year to divide these buildings solely to grades one to five, the sixth grade pupils being transferred to the Prince. In consequence, an additional teacher will be required.

MRS. JOSEPH MOULTON.

Mrs. Susan Greene Moulton, wife of Mr. Joseph Moulton of Madison avenue, died at her home on Monday morning in her 76th year. She had been an invalid for some years, her death being due to hardening of the arteries. A year ago she suffered a slight shock, and eight weeks previous to her death she had another, being confined to her bed from that time.

Mrs. Moulton was born in Charlestown. Her parents were Samuel and Caroline M. White, and she was one of a family of six children. She is survived by her husband and several nephews and neices. A year ago last December Mr. and Mrs. Moulton observed their golden wedding anniversary. They had made their home in Winchester for over 40 years.

The funeral services were held from the residence on Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading, a former pastor of Mrs. Moulton, he officiating by her request expressed previous to her death. The display of flowers was very beautiful, and there was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. The burial was in Woodlawn.

Coming Events of Interest to the Members.

The next meeting of The Fortnightly will be on Monday, January 25. Business meeting promptly at 2:30.

The entertainment for the afternoon will be a lecture on the United States Life Saving Service, by Maude Burbank Harding. This lecture will treat of the significance of the service as one of the powerful arms of our government. It will contain a little intimate information about the personal side of the question and a brief review of the political situation. As the "Coast Guard Bill" is slated to come before Congress on the 27th of the month it is a timely opportunity to become acquainted with one of the most important and humanitarian acts of legislation which has come before Congress for many years.

Besides this lecture there will be piano solos by Miss Dillaway of Boston.

Choral Class rehearsals, Tuesday, January 26, at 9.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m., and Thursday, January 28, at 9.30 a. m., all at the Town Hall.

The ladies are reminded that by vote of The Fortnightly January 11, 1915, a special meeting will be held in the Small Town Hall on Wednesday, January 27th, at 2:30 p. m., to consider and act on the suggestions of the Committee on Revision of the Constitution and By-Laws. Members are requested to bring the suggestions mailed to them and their own printed copies of the Constitution and By-Laws to the meeting, this next Wednesday, January 27, 1915. It is hoped a large number of members will be present.

The Choral Class Concert under the auspices of The Fortnightly will be held in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, January 28th, at 8 o'clock. The class will be assisted by Mr. Leon Van Vliet, 'cellist, Miss Jean MacLellan, soprano, and Mr. John B. Willis, flutist. The conductor, Mr. J. Albert Baumgartner, will also play piano-forte solos. Mrs. Fay Hoyt LeFavour is to be the accompanist. If a sufficient surplus is realized from the sale of tickets it will be shared with some local philanthropy. Members are reminded that membership tickets will not admit them to this concert.

The Fortnightly will observe its annual Gentlemen's Night on Monday, February 8, at 8 p. m. A very pleasing programme has been planned, consisting of a lecture by Mr. Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly, followed by refreshments and dancing.

In order to assist the Social Committee to satisfactorily provide for the members and guests of the Club voted to issue special, free tickets for members only, and notification has been sent, stating that membership tickets will not admit on that occasion but that these special tickets can be procured from any member of the Social Committee.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

At the regular service Sunday morning, Mr. Metcalf will discuss the subject of Child Labor. "Should Children be like the lilies of the Field that Toil Not?"

At the collection which was taken up by the Sunday School for the benefit of the Belgian sufferers, $21 was realized and more is promised. This money is to be used to buy condensed milk for Belgian children and will be distributed through the Unitarian Sunday School society which has some reliable agents in the field for this purpose.

Next Autumn is the time when the Society completes fifty years of existence. We still have in our midst a number of people whose connection with the church goes back to the beginning.

The Standing Committee has just appointed a committee to have charge of an appropriate celebration in connection with the anniversary.

Owing to its discontinuance by the A. C. A., the parish has had no monthly calendar since last summer.

Recently the Ladies' Friendly Society has taken an interest in the subject and beginning the first of February a monthly calendar will be sent to all the members of the Parish through the mails.

All music lovers of Winchester are cordially invited to hear the noted 'cellist, Alwin Schroeder at the special Vesper Service, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p. m.

Next month we are promised Madam Scottey on the seventh and Madam Sundalues later in the month.

The father of Mr. Edgar J. Rich of our parish, the Rev. Adoniran J. Rich, one of our oldest and most respected Unitarian ministers has this week passed away full of years and honor. His last settlement was at Dighton, Mass.

STREET ACROSS POND.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Chapin Schoolhouse.

The seventy-five or more men and women who attended the meeting in the Chapin schoolhouse Wednesday evening were more than pleased at the progress of a street or path across the pond. As was stated last week, the street is more than two-thirds of the way across the pond and by next spring presently after will be completed. The meeting also was enthusiastic over the prospect of early connection with the centre of the town and the remarks of the gentlemen who are assisting in building the street were received with applause.

As at the first meeting held about a year ago, Mr. Howard S. Cosgrove presided and Miss Mary Lyons served as secretary. The speakers were Mr. James J. Fitzgerald, Dr. C. J. Allen, secretary of the Board of Health, and Mr. C. A. Lane, chairman of the Park Board, and they were given votes of thanks for their interest in the matter. Mr. S. F. Herron, Supt. of Schools, also spoke, his remarks not only relating to the street, but to the need of a concrete walk from the school to Main street, and the desirability of shower baths in the Chapin school building. He said that there was an excellent opportunity to place six of them in the basement of the building at small expense. Later in the evening it was voted to ask the Selectmen to build the sidewalk, and also to ask the School Committee to include in their appropriations for next year an amount sufficient to install the shower baths. This latter had the hearty approval of the meeting.

The Selectmen also came in for a vote of thanks for their support of the street. Mr. Arthur Holland offered to give a strip of his land thirty feet wide if the street was extended, provided it entered Spruce street. This would bring the new street almost to Swanton street. A telegram from Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, who is out of the State, was received, in which he said that he was heartily in favor of the street across the pond and hoped that it would be completed soon.

The meeting did not adjourn until ten o'clock. When the street or path is completed, the residents of the Chapin School district propose to have a fitting celebration—fireworks, band concert, etc.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

The heavy down pour of rain the first of the week put a stop to all of the out-door work about town, the heaviest flow of water perhaps far during the winter coming down the river in consequence. The work at both the Main street and Waterfield road bridges was thereby discontinued, and the work of dredging out the mill pond was not commenced.

The copper work on the outside of the Fire and Police Building is well in place, the cupola being covered and the edges of the roof being practically done. The plumbing and steamfitting is done and the steam was turned on for the first time on Wednesday. The wire lathing is now being put up and the wood lathing is to be commenced at once. The gypsum partitions will also be put up in the fire department portion at once.

The work of placing the copper trolley guard over the centre railroad crossing is still going on, the guard being now up over both tracks on the west side and over the Stoneham line on the east side. The large number of guy wires necessitated by the guard will probably more than make up for the removal of such other wires about the centre as are to be taken down.

At the Star Building the warm weather afforded an opportunity to clear the street and sidewalk, which are now open to use, and the staging from the front of the building has been removed, giving opportunity to see the structure as it will stand when completed. The partitions are now up and ready for the metal lathing and the plumbing is well advanced. The roof covering is on with the exception of the final course, which will be put on after all plumbing vents are through and the glass set. All of the glass except that in the Church street front will be set at once. The heater will be set in place the first of the week, at which time the wiring and installation of the sprinkler system will be commenced.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

The concert given by the Winchester Base Ball Association in the Town Hall last evening was well patronized by the citizens and fans alike, and although the proceeds have not been determined, the affair will doubtless net the association a small sum above expenses, which will be used to carry on the sport the coming season.

As on last year, the chief attraction of the concert was the Apollo Quartette, a musical organization which needs no introduction to residents of Winchester, and which ranks first among its kind in this section. The program consisted of ten numbers, the Apollo Quartette being assisted by Miss Erdine Cowlishaw, reader.

The work of the quartette was well up to its usual high standard. The solos by Mr. Whittaker, baritone of Town Auditor Arnold Whittaker, Mr. Logan and Mr. Smallman, were greatly enjoyed as special features, and the gentlemen were warmly applauded.

Miss Cowlishaw gave three numbers in a very satisfactory way, her "Proposal Under Difficulties" being exceptionally good.

The ushers were: Messrs. John Maguire, Fred Dodge, Edward Boyle, William Rogers, Harry Donovan, Leo McNally and George Leblanc.

The organization of the Association for the present year is as follows: President, Frederick L. Waldmyer; Vice President, George W. Tilley; Secretary and Treas., John F. O'Connor; Manager, George D. LeDue; Directors, George T. Davidson, Arnold Whittaker, Frederick T. Dotten.

POST OFFICE SITE.

William J. Daly Spoke at Deliberative Assembly Meeting.

The meeting of the Deliberative Assembly, at which Hon. Samuel W. McCall was to have spoken on the matter of the new site for the Post Office, was held on Tuesday evening with William J. Daly of West Medford, a member of the special committee appointed by the town to handle the matter, as the speaker. Mr. McCall was unable to be present owing to a bad cold, which necessitated his confinement to his home.

Mr. Daly outlined the situation from its start to the present time, rehearsed the work of the committee, gave the results of the efforts of representative Deitrick, Senator Weeks and Representative Peters. His summary of the matter to date is that nothing has been accomplished, although Mr. Howard D. Nash of the committee has been in Washington this week in an endeavor to get the matter in shape to present it to the citizens at the coming town meeting of Monday. Mr. Nash is expected home tonight.

The Assembly passed the resolution to admit women to its membership. In the matter of the purchase of the Alexis Cutting estate by the town, the committee previously appointed, consisting of Messrs. James W. Russell, Jr., Howard D. Nash and Albert C. Wixom, reported favorably on the project and recommended bringing it before the town. The same committee was instructed to carry out its recommendations.

Many more prominent young society people of Boston and vicinity are being added daily to the cast of the Leo Delibes ballet of "Sylvia," which is to be presented at the Boston Opera House on the afternoon of February 2, for the joint benefit of the Red Cross fund and the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, under the auspices of the Ways and Means Committee, Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman, chairman of the Suffrage Association. Rehearsals already show that the production will be one of the finest amateur performances in Boston this winter and the scale of boxes and seats give early promise of many thousands of dollars to be added to the war sufferers' fund and the Association coffers. This production is being put on by Miss Mary Kellogg.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT FEB. 2nd.

Gifted Amateur as Soloist. Tschaikowsky's Great Symphony "Pathetique" to be Given.

Two features of the next Concert of the Winchester Orchestral Association which takes place Tuesday evening, February 2nd, are of unusual interest. The soloist on this occasion, Miss Mary Fay, is an amateur and the principal orchestral number will be Tschaikowsky's Sixth Symphony, "Pathetique," generally considered the greatest composition of this greatest of Russian composers.

Miss Fay is an amateur only in the narrowest meaning of the word, that is, she is not a professional musician. She has a fine full soprano and uses her voice with skill and intelligence having had the best of training both in Europe and America. She has never had to depend on her voice for a livelyhood being the daughter of the well known Boston banker, Herbert H. Fay of Beacon street, but she is a thorough musician and wholly devoted to her art. She has studied with Edmond Clement in Paris, with Madame Arnould in New York and receives under George Longy of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. As a singer she is not in the amateur class but ranks high among the professionals.

A conductor who had not every confidence in his orchestra would not dare attempt the great Sixth Symphony of Tschaikowsky, but Mr. Eichheim has confidence in his players, is convinced that the public will appreciate their efforts and their interpretation of his convictions. A concert of unusual interest may be expected.

Mrs. William H. Herrick has returned to town and taken up her residence on Fletcher street again.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

A town is very much like an individual. To be flourishing, it must have energy and enterprise. The people should remember that individual prosperity depends to a considerable extent upon the character of the place in which their business is located. Every public measure should be liberally supported by all especially the business men. At the present day there is as much competition between towns and cities as there is among persons and business enterprises. A man seeking a location will invariably select a place that is up to the times, and is eagerly in favor of every modern improvement. A town in these modern times cannot afford to be peopled with old fogies or antediluvian fossils who are continually kicking at every enterprise. To make a flourishing town you must believe in its future and work for it, encouraging every improvement. Make a special effort to exhibit some evidence of improvement in your own work and character. Help every worthy man here in Winchester, help every enterprise in town, and encourage every good man to locate in Winchester.

There would be little progress and few reforms, if all men here in Winchester and elsewhere were prudent and carefully weighs every step they take. It is impossible to overestimate what the world owes to men of one idea; to imprudent men; men who only look upon one side of a question at a time; men who are not always consistent, taking equally strong position on opposite sides of the same questions when under some strong impulse a change of opinion has occurred. These progressive men are so constituted that their convictions are peremptory; their minds admit of no alternatives; to hesitate with them is to be untrue to conscience and duty; all opposition is infidelity to righteousness; no language is too strong to express their apprehension of the justice of their course; nothing is sacred that stands before them and the accomplishment of their mission; denunciations are but the normal expressions of their emotions, and they strike out with all their vigor in the direction of their convictions, whosoever's head may happen to be in the way.

Imitators have a short lived reputation. The real prophet declares his mission, but does not search the public prints to see how it strikes the multitude. He cares neither for their applause not their censures. He does not seek either. The world reads pretty correctly its teachers. It knows the true prophet. Although it cannot always calmly receive his word, it, after all, reverences the man. It does not attempt to reward him until after he dies; then it garnishes his sepulchre and knows he is crowned by a higher hand. But men soon become disgusted with one who makes merchandise of his superior virtue.

No doubt there are many good people here in Winchester who will read with interest the following paraphrase on 1 Corinthians, by Wayne Stahl, an Iowa lad, and read by him at a gathering of Prohibitionists:—

1. And though I speak with the tongues of Woodley, and of Gough against strong drink and cast not a temperance vote, I am become as a sounding brass or a harp of wind.

2. And though I have the ability to prophesy the awful results of drink, and though I have all knowledge of its fearful consequences and such abominable things, and cast not a temperance vote, I am nothing.

3. And though I bestow much of my goods to help the drunkard's wife and children, and though I pass burning temperance resolutions, and cast not a temperance vote, I am nothing.

4. A temperance vote suffereth not policy of any kind; a temperance vote compromiseth not; a temperance vote exalteth not mammon, and by it the brewer is not puffed up.

5. A temperance vote doth not behave himself selfishly; seeketh his country's good; is not switched off by minor questions and thinketh rightly on election day.

6. A temperance vote rejoiceth not the politician, but maketh glad the truth.

7. A temperance voter hasteneth prohibition, believeth in prohibition, hopeth for prohibition, and prayeth for prohibition.

8. The temperance question never faileth, but whether there be money questions, they shall fail; whether there be silver issues, they shall cease; whether there be tariff agitation, it shall vanish away.

9. When I was younger I spoke only for party; I understood only party; but when I became a voter, I put away vanity and voted for prohibition.

10. For how many see through a beer glass darkly, but at that day the true license will confront them face to face; now they know party, but then they will know what they should have known, even principle.

11. And now abideth temperance speeches, temperance resolutions, and temperance votes, these three, but the greatest of these is temperance votes

There are chronic kickers who do not achieve much beyond sore toes.

When a persons argues with you so earnestly that it is evident that he wants to convince himself of something that he want to believe, by all means agree with him. It is the easiest way.

Considerations of modern sentiment have operated generally to maintain the custom of interring instead of incinerating the dead; yet, with the Greeks, sentiment centered itself about the latter, and in literature the funeral pyre has a significance as fine as the grave's. Certain pioneering spirits have essayed with some success to give beauty to the baptism of flame, wherein mortal clay becomes dust, and have directed that their ashes be flung to the winds from the top of some lofty tower, or cast into the sea at flood tide.

Economic reasons, at any rate in the neighborhood of large cities, will tend more and more to make incineration gain headway at the expense of interment. The land is needed. Of course it will be a long time before cremation becomes widespread in Winchester, but The Spectator is aware that there is a great deal of sentiment here in favor of the incineration of the dead.

When a Winchesterite asks you to give him your complete opinion of him, don't, if you value his friendship.

Every person who receives mail is interested in its prompt delivery and should be willing to cheerfully go to the trivial expense or trouble of providing a box for its reception when knowing that promptness would be so greatly aided by the universal adoption of such action. With scarcely an exception our letter carriers are faithful, courteous and obliging and those whom they serve should feel a pleasure in lightening their labor by any reasonable assistance within their power.

The convenient placing of mail receptacles may not soon become a compulsory condition precedent to the enjoyment of free mail delivery, but without such compulsion the people of Winchester should show sufficient local pride and public spirit to set the example of a voluntary widespread establishment of the very desirable system suggested.

Winchester possesses many distinctions and recommendations in which her inhabitants may find abundant ground for pride. It should therefore be the delight at all times and in all places to proclaim aloud these claims and not to belittle the town of their home. The man whose disposition and habit is to undervalue and depreciate himself usually will find himself mistaken at his own estimate by the world in which he moves. As with an individual so with a town. If its people are prone to minimize its importance and disparge its attractions the outside world naturally will concur in what it will regard as trustworthy judgment.

The duty of every inhabitant it is and the pride and pleasure it should be to advertise Winchester whenever and wherever opportunity is presented to sound her praises and point to her attractions and her material recommendations. This is the advertising that will prove more effective than even the constant faithful exemplification of the Star. Let every man, woman and child in Winchester unite in unremittingly exalting the prestige of Winchester and soon will be manifest a steady progress toward the realization of that Greater Winchester to which all auguries of the future already point.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

The concert given by the Tufts College Glee and Mandolin Clubs in the High School Assembly Hall on Friday evening proved highly successful, about 150 attending. The affair was given under the auspices of the Boys' Athletic Association of the High School. A program of 24 numbers was given by both branches of the Tufts organization, augmented by readings by Mr. E. W. A. Jenkinson, which gave much pleasure to the audience and brought numerous encores. Mr. Franklin J. Lane, son of Mr. Charles A. Lane of Glen road, was one of the soloists for the Glee Club, and his work called for repeated applause. In the last number on the program, "Brown and Blue," the Tufts men in the audience took part, among them being Messrs. Raymond Young, Kenneth Pratt, James Penaligan, Marshall Symmes, Herbert Metcalf, and H. Wray Rohrman. About $15 was cleared from the concert, which will be used by the Association.

The committee in charge of the concert included Messrs. Francis Locke, chairman; Paul Cole, Philip Wait, Warren Johnston, John Caldwell, William Warner, Wellington Caldwell and Donald Cole.

FREIGHT WRECK AT HIGHLANDS

A freight wreck occurred at the Highlands on Tuesday morning, three cars being badly wrecked and ten or twelve off the track. The accident occurred just below the station at the entrance to the freight yard and appear d to have been caused by the freight striking a hand-car standing on the main line in front of an open switch.

The hand-car was reduced to splinters and as the locomotive took the switch its forward trucks left the rails. A part of the train passed the second switch to the freight yard entrance, but one car split it, mixing up the train considerably.

Fortunately the main line was left clear and no one was injured. The freight was a heavy one, No. 604, and hauled by one of the big Fitchburg division locomotives, No. 2667. The wrecked cars were loaded with ice. The wrecking crew had the tracks cleared during the afternoon.

SCHOOL CENSUS.

Mr. N. M. Nichols, custodian of the public schools, has completed the school census for this year. A singular thing in connection with the census is that the tabulation shows a gain in children between the ages of 5 and 16 years of only three, when the number was 1910, while this year it is 1913. This poor showing is owing, it is said, to families in which there are large numbers of children leaving town, with the desire of parents to place some of their children at work in the city. Ever since the McKay plant left town, and in fact for the last five years, this has been going on. When conditions become settled the increase will become more noticeable.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Too Early to Begin to Pick the Leaders in Calumet Series.

Two more matches were rolled in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club on Friday night, both being straight wins for the victors. It appears still too early to pick the leaders in this tournament, the ratings being particularly even this season, and a number of teams, when they have rolled a sufficient number of games, will probably contest the first place honors. Friday night the winners were teams E and D, both of which now stand with 8 won and 4 lost. None of the scores were particularly high with the exception of a few singles and the score of Mr. James H. Gerlach, who rolled 116 for high single and 311 for total. Mrs. Comins rolled 91 for the best ladies' single and her total of 234 was equalled by Mrs. Tompkins.

Team F continued its lead in the tournament with 100 percent. on Monday evening by taking all four points from team G. The winners had an easy victory, the results at no time being in danger. Mrs. Hindes led the ladies with 90 for high single and 249 for total, and Mr. Davy, with 113 for high single and 309 for total, was high for the gentlemen. The match between H and J on the same evenings was very close, J taking three of the points by narrow margins. It won the second by one pin and the total by three. Miss Parshley led the ladies with 217 and Mr. Smalley with a single of 110 and a total of 295, was high for the gentlemen.

FIREMEN'S ENTERTAINMENT.

The talent for the coming entertainment and ball of the Winchester Fire Department, to be held in the Town Hall on February 5, is now secured, and from the list submitted will doubtless prove very attractive.

Among the headliners are the following:

Elmer Crawford Adams. A treat for you. Adams loves music and his violin. He puts his whole soul and personality into his playing. There is nothing forced about his work, its genius. So pronounced has his success been that the great Western Chataugua Circuits have engaged his summer time for three years to come.

Charles Bacon Pettes, in a series of female impersonations, will be sure to surprise you. Besides the "Broadway Girl," "Bathing Girl," "Grecian Dancing Girl," "Oriental Dancer," Mr. Pettes has orginated new character studies and classic dances which he will show to Winchester folks at the Firemen's entertainment and ball, February 5, 1915.

C. Leslie Waterman, the Funny Man. May we quote from a letter regarding his work: There is absolutely nothing dry about Waterman. The two turns which perhaps describe his program best are "novel" and "original." Waterman has made a conscientious effort to shun the shopworn jokes and impersonations. We believe you will agree when you hear "The Old Man," "The Old Lady" (studies from New England life), "What Happened at the Hotel." See for yourself at the Firemen's concert and ball.

Herbert A. Clark ably sustains his reputation of being the city's most popular entertainer. With his humorous stories and timely songs he is irresistible. A distinctive feature of his work is the "making up" for the character songs, musical readings and negro impersonations in full view of the audience. He is going to keep you in good cheer at the Firemen's ball.

Winchester's own. Bartszeh and Curtin in their equilibrist stunt at the Firemen's concert and ball, Friday, February 5, 1915. The concert will start at 8 o'clock p. m. sharp. All seats free, come early and avoid the rush.

SARGENT NORMAL GIRLS BEAT WINCHESTER HIGH.

Sargent Normal School of Cambridge, which has lost only one game in five years, opened their season Saturday and defeated the Winchester High Girls, 55 to 14, in the Sargent Gymnasium.

All the Sargent School points were made in the first period as Capt. Ruth Crowther substituted an entire team, with the exception of Laura Campbell, in the second.

Miss Campbell was the star for Sargent School and caged 17 goals from the floor, several from difficult angles. Capt. Crowther played a strong game, making eight goals from the floor, and Dorothy Vestal and Miss Kendall of Winchester did brilliant work. The summary:

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

January 18, 1915.

The Board met at 7.30 p. m., present Messrs. Davidson, Kerr, Sanborn and Kendall.

J. R. Livingstone reported that he would be unable to serve as teller at the special town meeting January 25, and George E. Lake was appointed to serve. The compensation of the tellers for this meeting was fixed.

A letter was received from Sewall E. Newman enclosing a tracing of a plan of land on Highland avenue owned by Wm. S. Walbridge, and asking for a formal expression of opinion from the Board as to the probability of the plan being accepted by the Board of Survey. The Selectmen arranged to view the land on Friday, January 22. Mr. Newman was advised that a decision would be made later.

A petition was received from H. S. Palmer, Edward W. Chase, J. A. Laraway, Thomas J. Fallon and Wallace P. Palmer asking that a special appropriation be made this year to cover the cost of widening and grading Forest Circle, and the petitioners were advised to cover the matter by sending an article to be included in the warrant for the March town meeting.

A request was received from William Warner for the committee of the senior class of the Winchester High School asking for the free use of the Town Hall for the senior prom for the evening of May 14, and the Clerk was instructed to reply that the Board did not see its way clear to grant the request in view of the sentiment of the town as expressed in its town meetings, giving the use of the hall free only to the Visiting Nurse Association and to the School Committee for the graduating exercises of the public schools.

The Clerk was requested to ask the Supt. of the Bay State St. Ry. Co. to give some attention to the imperfect wheels on its cars running through the town.

The Town Engineer submitted two estimates of cost of laying out and constructing a proposed new street from Palmer street bordering on the shores of Wedge Pond to Lake street. The amount of the first estimate, $9806.50 plus $500 for drainage, covered the location as indicated on the ground when the last hearing was held by the Park and Cemetery Commissioners and the Selectmen, and based on a grade of .50 per cent; the second of $8716.50 plus $650 for drainage was based on the same layout as the first, the grade being different, the street to be graded so that surface water might enter Wedge Pond at a point between Palmer and Lake streets instead of at Lake street as in the first estimate. In both cases, cost of material for filling was not included, it being assumed that filling material would be given by the Cemetery Commission free.

Adjourned at 8.35 p. m.

Frank E. Miller,
Clerk of Selectmen.

THREE DAY BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

A special bowling tournament was announced Saturday at the Calumet Club to cover the three days, January 16, 20, and 23. Prizes will be given for the following marks: 1. Highest single string flat. 2. Highest single string with handicap. 3. Highest five selected strings with handicap.

WINCHESTER VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION.

A room in the Prince School is open daily from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., excepting Saturdays, for the reception of all kinds of household goods and clothing. These articles are to be used for charitable purposes or for sales for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital. adv,ja15,4t

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Suffered Awful Pains From Stomach Trouble
Sick Three Months—Could Eat Nothing—Only Relief Was Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Read what Mrs. May T. Bartlett, of Salem, Mass., says in a recent letter: "I shall never be without Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy again. When I wrote for a sample bottle I was suffering badly with my stomach and from constipation. I could eat hardly anything and I would have awful pains. I was down sick for three months that summer and could take nothing but gruel and beef tea. I am now on my second bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. My stomach is better, my bowels move freely. I used to have severe headaches but do not now. Not only has it helped me, but four of my friends who have been troubled with constipation are using it and have been benefited."
Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had 40 years of wonderful success in Kidney, Liver and Blood troubles. Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

A general plan of protest against the expense of uniting Reading with the Metropolitan sewer system being assessed against Woburn is being worked out by the mayor. Where will Winchester come in if the sewer is built?

The Germans cannot be accused of carrying on a civilized warfare, if such a thing is possible. Absolute destruction of life and property, anywhere and everywhere, seems to be their aim, night or day.

Representative Aaron Dowse of Sherborn has introduced a bill in the Legislature which provides that the lieutenant-governor shall be president of the Senate. It is a good measure and should pass. There is no reason why this official should not do something to earn his salary.

The heaviest rain of the winter visited the town the first of the week, an intermittent downpour with frequent heavy showers continuing for three days. The water in the river rose rapidly, reaching its maximum Tuesday afternoon as the weather cleared. Tuesday was reported as the warmest January 19th on record, the mercury reaching 60 degrees during the afternoon. Wednesday was also mild and springlike.

The article in the Warrant to see if the Town will vote a sum of money to be spent on any town work for the purpose of giving labor to our citizens is one in which many residents are interested. It is said that there are this winter more able and industrious citizens idle in Winchester than on any previous winter for many years. The men are willing and able to work but are unable to find employment. In the Street, Sewer and Water Departments a number of men are by force laid off during the winter months. What money they are able to earn during that time depends wholly upon weather conditions, and so far during this winter, there having been practically no snow to speak of, such employment has been wholly lacking. It has been suggested by a well known contractor that the town take up at once the proposed construction of Palmer street around the west shore of Wedge Pond, and by so doing give employment to these men, of benefit alike to themselves and the town. This construction work, he states, can be carried on as well at this time as at any other season. Such a suggestion is worthy of consideration when this article comes up at the meeting.

EMERALD TEA PARTY.

Successful Event Given by Santa Maria Court Tuesday.

The Emerald Tea Party, given by Santa Maria Court, D. of I., Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening proved to be thoroughly enjoyable and quite as successful as had been anticipated when members of the Court first undertook to prepare for the event. The general arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Henry C. Blake of Pond street. The reception committee consisted of G. R. Mrs. Josephine Kane, V. G. R. Mrs. Sarah Brine, Miss Ella Foley, Prophetess; Miss Margaret Callahan, Historian, Miss Mary Kenney, Fin. Sec., Miss Julia Fitzgerald, Treas., Miss Jennie McIsaacs, S. and Miss Elizabeth Glendon, M.

The entertainment was exceptionally good, the program comprising numbers by the best local talent, together with a number of well known artists from outside. The solos by Miss Mabel Coty gave much pleasure and she received abundant applause from her hearers, while the reading by Miss Grace Thorson and the solos by Miss Mary E. L. Coyne of Medford were also most ably rendered. The program also included solos by Joseph Breslin of Woburn, accompanied by Miss Alice Walsh, and Irish songs by Mrs. Dennis Walsh of Woburn, all of which brought forth the appreciation of the audience in requests for encores.

Dancing followed the entertainment until a late hour.

Among the out of town guests were Miss May Donahue, grand regent of Arlington, and Mrs. John McCarthy, Miss Helen Donahue, Miss Annie Kelley and Miss Nellie Dineen, all of Arlington.

THE SPECIAL TOWN MEETING.

Editor of the Star:—

The calling of a special town meeting in this month so near to the time for the regular March meeting is food for thought. If I am correctly informed, the necessity for such meeting arises from the town officers having in charge the borrowing of money overlooking the requirement that at least part of the year's loans should be made payable at a date later than the annual meeting in the following March.

This carrying over of part of each year's borrowing is obligated by the town having on its books at the end of each year a certain amount of uncollected taxes. The appropriations and expenses roughly balancing and the taxes being based on the appropriations, the necessity for making part of the borrowed money fall due after the annual meeting can be readily realized. The recent act of the Legislature relating to town finances had practically no bearing on the calling of this special meeting.

To preserve the town's credit it is of course necessary to authorize the borrowing of money to pay the town's notes and I appreciate the necessity of calling a meeting for that purpose.

The consideration of other articles in the warrant calling for expenditure of money should be deferred to the March meeting, so the voter may have an opportunity to carefully consider the annual reports of the town officers and the printed recommendations of the Finance Committee before being called upon to vote.

It will be impossible to know on January 25th the total amount required to run the town for the coming year, and the relation that amount will bear to the town's income and consequently the tax rate. If the money to be asked for under the various articles is appropriated, how can we know that we are not necessitating an abnormally high tax rate or the cutting of departmental appropriations more important than those under consideration.

The town's budget should be presented at one time in its entirety and except under extreme and unforeseen circumstances, the holding of special town meetings should be deprecated and when necessary should be confined to the question calling the meeting.

Article 7 refers to an agreement between town officers and a citizen calling for the citizen to advance certain funds for work not authorized by town meeting, except possibly by implication, with the expectation of being reimbursed by the town. No matter how meritorious the object or how public spirited the citizen, the principle underlying the transaction is wrong, because while the town is apparently free to refuse to reimburse no town would want the under obligation of that description to a citizen, and consequently the citizen forces the town to expend its money for what he thinks is immediately necessary, rather than for what a majority of the voters think. It is an assumption of powers which belong only to the voters in town meeting assembled.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

There are two great masters in the world today.

The first one Deceives.
Entices.
Vitiates.
Infatuates.
Leads to destruction.

The second one Justifies.
Elevates.
Sanctifies.
Unites to God.
Saves.

Which master are you serving, Leaguers? "From Passion to Self Mastery," is to be our subject for next Sunday night, and Mr. George Stearns, who will lead, hopes to see a large delegation of Epworthians and their friends at this meeting.

CHARLES YOUNG SOLD OUT.

On Thursday of this week, on account of ill health, Charles Young sold out his ice cream and confectionery business which he has carried on at 11-13 Mt. Vernon street, to Perley H. Randall of Somerville. Mr. Randall through his long experience in the wholesale confectionery business comes well prepared to keep up the reputation which Mr. Young has established. Mr. Young's intentions are to remain in Winchester, and for the next few weeks he will assist Mr. Randall in becoming acquainted with the business of which he has taken immediate possession and of meeting his customers.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM ROCHESTER, N. Y.

24 Electric avenue,
Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Wilson:—

Dear Sir:— * * * * I wish to congratulate you on your success in having a new building and on the progress Winchester is making in so many new buildings.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Mary H. Stetson.

COSGROVE TAKES HIGHER POSITION.

Becomes Passenger and Freight Agent of N. E. I. & S. Trolley Lines.

Robert E. Cosgrove, formerly chief clerk to vice-president C. V. Wood of the Springfield Street Railway Company has been appointed freight and passenger agent for the company, a position that was created this week after investigation showed such a move to be advisable. Mr. Cosgrove has been in the employ of the company since September, 1908, and is a son of the late John T. Cosgrove of this town.

Mr. Cosgrove's new work covers all matters pertaining to traffic, including rates, traffic of passengers, freight and express. His headquarters will be located in room 801 in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company's building, Springfield, and he will be in charge of many of the branches controlled by the New England Investment and Security Company, including the Springfield Street Railway Company, the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Company, the Milford, Attleboro and Woonsocket Street Railway Company, the Interstate Consolidated Street Railway Company, and the Attleboro Branch Railroad Company.

HUGH DE PAYENS LADIES' NIGHT.

Hugh de Payens, Commandery, Knights Templars, of Melrose, which includes in its membership many good citizens of Melrose, Wakefield, Reading, Stoneham, Woburn and Winchester has completed plans for a ladies' night to be held in Memorial Hall, Melrose, on Friday evening, Jan. 29 at 7.45 o'clock. All Masons and their families and their friends will be welcome and tickets may be procured from William F. P. Moore, 23 First street, Melrose, or 30 State street, Boston, or from any member of the Commandery.

The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock and will be the best ever offered by Hugh de Payens. Elmer Crawford Adams, who has been the star of the last two Christmas gatherings of the Commandery, will be present with his violin; Andrew Visocchi, the latest sensation in the musical world, will produce some thrills with his accordeon and Miss Grace Sage, the well known and versatile reader, also is on the programme.

Dancing will begin at ten o'clock, following the entertainment, and continues until one o'clock. The dance order will be evenly balanced with old and new dances so that everybody may be happy, and music will be furnished by Keyes's Banjo Orchestra. Demonstrations of the new dances will be given during the evening by Le Clair and Carleton. A continuous collation will be served between ten and twelve o'clock both in the banquet hall and in the Grand Army hall so that room will be ample.

A feature of the evening will be an exhibition drill by Hugh de Payens guard, a score or more of handsome young men, from the various towns from which the commandery draws its members, under the personal command of Captain John D. Nichols the adjutant of the Commandery. The members of the committee in charge of the evening's proceedings are: Percy W. Witherell, Sanford Crandon, Jr., Claude L. Allen, Wilfra L. Swindlehurst, Horace E. Child and William F. P. Moore, all well skilled in the arts of Templary and Society.

AN APPEAL FOR POLAND.

Saturday, February 6, is the day on which an effort will be made to raise funds throughout the Commonwealth for the war sufferers in Poland. On that day Polish eagles will be sold for ten cents each and it is hoped that the people of Winchester will respond heartily to this appeal. Nearly everyone even after having given so much for the relief of the sufferers in this terrible war, can spare ten cents more, and ten cents will provide food for one person in the devastated district one day. Mme. Szumowska-Adamowski, speaking at a meeting of the Public Interests' League in Boston, told of conditions in that part of Poland that is being ravaged by war, which according to recent letters and reports are as bad if not worse than in Belgium.

Mme. Adamowski will speak again at the rooms of the Public Interests' League, 685 Boylston street, at 4 o'clock, Saturday afternoon and will play selections from Chopin. All persons interested are invited to the meeting.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The Middlesex County convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Methodist Church in Malden, Tuesday, January 26. The car leaving Winchester at 9.07, connects with the Malden and Everett car at Winthrop square. That car passes the door of the church and will reach there in time for the morning session, opening at 10 o'clock. The program promises to be interesting and it is hoped there may be a large delegation. Winchester Union is entitled to a large number of delegates and other members will be equally welcome.

LEADERS MEET IN TOURNAMENT.

Bowlers Closely Bunched at Calumet Club.

The two leaders in the house tournament at the Calumet Club met in the week end games, and when the smoke of battle had cleared sufficiently to see the score, Team 2, although still in the lead by a margin of three points, had lost a like number to team 7. This brings all of the first half dozen teams well in the running, and a win or loss means considerable to practically all of them. None of the strings in the 2—7 match were close, 7 taking the first two and the total. Gerlach led the bowling with a single of 117 and a total of 319. Corey rolled 114 for a single and got a total of 309, while Newman, with a single of 110 and a total of 302, followed closely. Some of the others slumped badly, however, which kept the team scores below the average. On this evening team 3 suffered another defeat, this time at the hands of team 12. In this match Kelley was the only bowler to roll a three hundred total, he making 302. His best single was 113, and Marshall Berry also rolled a good one with 110.

The Earth's Shadow.

The earth has a shadow, but very few ever see it, except in eclipses of the moon, or else few recognize it when they see it. Nevertheless, many of us have noticed it on fine, cloudless evenings in summer shortly before sunset, a rosy pink are on the horizon, opposite the sun, with a bluish gray segment under it. As the sun sinks the arc rises until it attains the zenith and even passes it. This is the shadow of the earth.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES.

Not satisfied with having "captured" the noted humorist, John Kendrick Bangs last week, the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, Saturday, sent a representative to call upon Irvin E. Cobb, the war correspondent, who was giving a lecture in Boston. Mr. Cobb at once surrendered, admitted that the evidence he had secured abroad, with the results of his observations at home, had overwhelmingly convinced him that the one great thing the world needed to secure permanent peace and to solve many big economic problems was the ballot in the hands of the women. Further, he offered his services to speak at a suffrage meeting in Boston in the near future.

A mid-winter, whirlwind campaign for suffrage was made in Berkshire County last week by Mrs. Wenona Osborne Pinkham, suffrage speaker of the Massachusetts Association. Mrs. Pinkham spoke at 9 meetings in as many cities and towns and was most enthusiastically received. At North Adams there was a record attendance at an A. O. H. meeting in the evening. In the afternoon the G. A. R. and Parents Association held a joint meeting to hear Mrs. Pinkham and the public schools were dismissed early to allow the teachers to attend. A Berkshire County conference was held during the week which reported encouraging progress in the campaign.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Common Clay" began its third week at Castle Square Theatre Monday with two of the big houses that are now the usual thing at the popular South End Playhouse, and there is every sign that what many enthusiasts declare will prove to be the biggest American play for years, has settled down for an unprecedented run at Mr. Craig's theatre.

Thrills, surprises and that indefinable quality described as "the punch" must be held responsible for "Common Clay's leap into prominence and popularity.

Miss Mary Young's fine performance of Ellen Neal gains in power and insight. Mr. John Craig as suave and worldly Judge Filson, Mr. William Carleton as buoyant Hugh Fullerton, Mr. Dudley Hawley as the weakling Coakley, and Mr. Al Roberts as attorney Yates all do good and realistic work.

ROOFING

The importance of a water tight roof on your home can only be measured in terms of the value of your ceilings, walls, carpets, and furniture which may be ruined by a small defect in the roof. Your comfort and security must also be considered.

It is our business to put on or repair any kind of roof and we maintain a large organization of more than forty men for this work. We are also specialists on skylights, conductors, finials, gargoyles, etc., having our own coppersmithing and sheet metal working plant. No job is too large, and none too small for us. We also remove snow promptly after storms without injury to the roof.

An example of our work is the roof of the Woburn Public Library which we have just completed.

LAZY FISHERMAN'S PARADISE.

Brazillians Hunt and Fish With Poison and are Successful.

Fishing and hunting with poison, as practised by the natives of Brazil and other tropical American countries, is described in a communication to the National Geographic Society, at Washington, D. C., by Dewey Austin Cobb.

"Brazil is certainly the lazy fisherman's paradise," he says. "It was only after two years residence among the secretive Indians that I was reluctantly taken into their confidence sufficiently to be permitted to join them on one of their fishing excursions. We followed the stream for half a mile or so to where it spread out into a pool, perhaps fifty feet across. The men divided into two parties, one going up and the other down the stream a few rods. Then they entered the stream and thrashing the water with their feet and with sticks, returned, driving all the fish before them into the pool.

"Meantime one of the women had granted some of the mysterious 'barbasco' roots, resembling horseradish, into about two quarts of water. This was thrown into the pool at various points. In about two minutes we began to see minute fish come to the surface, belly up, remain a few seconds and then disappear. In ten minutes all the small fry were on the surface, apparently dead, and larger and larger ones began to go through the same performance. With a long handled scoop-net, the leader nearly filled a bushel basket with fresh fish from eight to twelve inches long in half an hour.

"Some of the fish were broiled but I hesitated about eating them. The leader, surmising my reason, took several spoonfuls of the poisoned water and mixing it with a dipperful of water, drank it down. It had not the slightest effect upon him. Never did I enjoy broiled fish more. To all appearance, the fish remaining in the stream, except the smaller ones, were affected by the poison only through their respiratory organs, and experienced no lasting injury.

"In hunting, the arrows, which are dipped in poison, consist of a point of wood or bone, not more than an inch long, and the size of a toothpick, to which is attached a little tuft or hairy fibre of the silk cotton tree. The gun is a straight bamboo tube, from five to six feet long, with a sight at one end and a funnel-shaped expansion to fit the mouth at the other. The principle is precisely the same as the schoolboy's tube for blowing puttyballs. Even the most expert natives can shoot only a short distance, as compared with firearms, but their accuracy is wonderful."

Mr. Cobb gives the following description of the shooting of a deer:

"A good sized buck walked out of the corn and stopped, exposing to us its full broadside as we lay some thirty feet away. Our hunter fired. The animal gave a slight start as he felt the prick of the arrow on his flank, and turned partly around, sniffing the air for a scent, and looking around as if searching for the insect that had bitten him. Detecting nothing, he stood still and unalarmed. At the end of a minute or so, his head dropped a little, as if he was sleepy. The hunter stepped out in plain sight. The deer looked at him and moved forward, not away from him, a few steps and stopped. He showed no fear, but simply curiosity.

"My companion and I rose and the three of us walked quietly within reach of him. He made no movement to run away, but watched us intently, and shifted his position a little. His movements seemed perfectly easy and natural. Absence of fear seemed the only observable change, until at the end of ten minutes, though he opened his eyes when touched, his breath became shorter and slower. Eighteen minutes after he was struck by the arrow he was dead."

Spared Listeners and Himself.

For humor, combined with brevity, it would not be easy to rival the French cleric, who, on the festival of St. James, was called upon to pronounce a panegyric on the saint. "My brethren," he said, "twelve months ago I preached a eulogy on the eminent apostle whose festival you celebrate today. As I doubt not, you were all very attentive to me, and as I have not learned anything new of him, I have nothing to add to what I said at the time."

DANCING COMPETITION AT ASSEMBLY.

Winners Were Miss Nickerson and Mr. Bean.

The second assembly of the year, given by Miss Mary Kellogg, was held in the Town Hall last Friday evening. The party was an exceptionally large one, due to the dancing competition which had been previously announced. The balconies were well filled, probably never before has an assembly proven such an attraction.

Those who received were: Miss Mary Kellogg, Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn and Mrs. Frank Carpenter. The ushers were Messrs. Harold Hovey, Robert Bean, Pierce Bufford and David Witmer.

An innovate "Lucky Card Dance" was introduced which proved both entertaining to the spectators and delightful to the dancers. Fifty-two gentlemen drew cards and danced for three minutes with their partners. Then the music stopped and another pack of cards was placed in a hat and shaken up; one gentleman held the hat and another drew five cards. The holders of the duplicate five cards were retired from the floor and the dancing continued. This was repeated until but one couple remained on the floor. The winner of this dance was Mr. Charles Rogers and partner.

The dancing competition was held at eleven o'clock and about thirty couples entered. The competitors were numbered, the gentlemen having a number upon his left shoulder. The judges for the contest were Miss Elizabeth A. Jones from the Boston Castle House, Miss Pauline Chamberlaine, Mr. Dart Moulton Thorne from the Boston Castle House, Mr. Preston Early, Mr. George Silsbee and Mr. Clarence C. Miller. Eliminations were made by fives until but three couples remained and then the competition was so keen that the judges were obliged to take secret ballot. The judges determined their choice upon the most natural style and freedom, grace and erectness of position, no fancy or elaborate steps permissable but merely the ballroom one step was to be danced. The winners of the championship were Miss Mary Nickerson and Mr. Robert Bean. Prizes were awarded to each.

IN APPRECIATION OF "THE FORTNIGHTLY."

Editor of the Star:

The coming evening concert of The Fortnightly promises to be a rare treat for music lovers. In addition of the chorus of Winchester ladies (which has been in training for many months) Miss Daisy MacLellan, Mrs. William LaFavor and Messrs Baumgartner, Van Vliet and Wills will assist in making the occasion most enjoyable. The low price of admission (fifty cents to all parts of the house) ought to insure a very full house. As this is the first time in its history The Fortnightly has ever given a public evening entertainment and charged admission, it certainly deserves on this occasion substantial recognition for its public services these many years in Winchester. After paying expenses, the proceeds of the concert, if any, will be divided between The Fortnightly and some public philanthrophy in which Winchester is interested. The gentlemen of the town should especially avail themselves of this occasion to substantially recognize the work of Winchester ladies, not only in raising the standard of music in town but also The Fortnightly's long continued and successful efforts in promoting many civic improvements of far reaching and permanent value to the community. Gentlemen have attended many "free blows" given by the Fortnightly, in times past and now is a chance to reciprocate by purchasing a liberal number of tickets to a most promising entertainment. Tickets may be obtained of the committee and at the door of the hall.

CORT THEATRE.

This is the last week of "Peg O' My Heart" at the Cort Theatre, after twenty weeks of capacity business, the show having played to $151,108 during the first eighteen weeks of the engagement, seats are almost at a premium for this week as the scale of prices have been reduced to 25c to $1.50 nights and Saturday matinee, with the Wednesday matinee 25c to $1.00.

"What's Going On" a new musical farce "made in America" by American authors and with an American plot will come to the Cort Theatre, Monday evening, Jan. 25th.

John Cort who owns and controls one hundred and twenty theatres and is one of the foremost American managers, will present. Among the the principals are Walter Lawrence, Frances Cameron, William Burress, Roy Atwell, Dorothy Webb, Maude Beatty, Carrie Graham Burress, P. O'Malley Jennings, and a chorus that can sing and dance.

The author have built along the lines that amusement seekers demand this season and there is nothing but laughter, song, dance and speed in the dialogue and the fifteen musical numbers that have been written into the farce.

An attractive scale of prices have been arranged; evening and Saturday matinee 25c to $1.50. Wednesday matinee 25c to $1.00.

HOME TALENT NIGHT TUESDAY.

The regular monthly ladies' night at the Calumet Club for January comes next Tuesday evening and will be the much commented on "Home Talent Night." The entertainment promises to be unique, and its nature is still a mystery to many of the club members. The committee however, promise that every minute of the evening will be productive of interest to all who attend, and the title gives rise to much speculation.

The announcement reads: "Ye yonge wimen and meine of ye Calumet Village will expand their goode lunges on this evening, and all ye will participate in a dance."

It is anticipated that most of the members will attend in old fashioned costumes to lend a complete air to the spirit of the occasion.

NOVELTY BOWLING.

Second Evening Draws Many Ladies to Calumet Club.

The second novelty bowling tournament at the Calumet Club was held on Tuesday evening, the weekly informal night at the Club. The tournament was repeated upon the request of several members, a previous affair having proved so popular that another was largely desired. As previously several matches of a novel nature were arranged, and about 85 members and ladies attended and participated.

The blind rolling was again employed as a feature, the arrangement being similar to previous matches of this nature, with a sheet hung in front on the pins and the boy calling the number left standing after each ball without giving their location. In this feature Mrs John C. Kerrison won the first prize, that offered for the best single string. Mrs. Kerrison made 110. A second prize was also given in this rolling, it being for the highest two string total divisable by two. For this Mrs. Danforth W. Comins and Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders tied, they each rolling 146. A roll-off of two frames gave the decision to Mrs. Flanders.

Another feature was duck pin rolling. In this the prize for the best single string was won by Mrs. Phillips C. Simonds with 83, and the prize for the best two string total was won by Mrs. Herbert J. Saabye with 147. No lady was allowed to take more than one prize.

The third feature was a novel candle pin match. Six pins were set up—1, 5, 4, 7, 6, 10—the ladies endeavoring to roll through the openings without hitting the standing pins. The set-up is known as a full-worcester. Each pin knocked down counted five points on the score, as did a ball off the alley. Mrs. James H. Gerlach and Mrs. Kerrison were tied for the lowest score with 240 each. Mrs. Kerrison having taken a prize in the blind rolling, the honors went to Mrs. Gerlach.

BEN-HUR SCORES BIG IN BOSTON

The return of the big Boston Theatre to the legitimate amusement field is one of the pleasant theatrical events of the past week in the Hub. And that the public of New England as well as Boston approved of the move was shown by the audiences which taxed the seating capacity of this historic amusement temple to witness Klaw and Erlanger's new production of "Ben-Hur." This spectacular drama is not the sort of a stage attraction which depends upon its brilliant past to hold a foremost position among the successes of the present. In its new and resplendent garb as shown at the Boston Theatre it stands today, greater, grander and more gorgeous than ever, a veritable miracle of stagecraft and irresistible in its way over lovers of the best in theatricals.

"Ben-Hur" will not be presented in any other city in New England outside of Boston. At the end of the engagement it will be transferred to Chicago for a short season and then to San Francisco. The attention of theatregoers is called to the curtain arrangements at the Boston for this production. Night performances are started precisely at 7.45; matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2 p. m. Latecomers are not seated until the Prelude showing The Star of Bethlehem is concluded.

MILK THE CHEAPEST.

"Everyone agrees that milk, as compared with other food products, is one of the cheapest," said C. J. Steffen, President of the International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors in a recent address. "The butcher, the baker, the gardener may ask 20 per cent or 30 per cent more for what he has to sell and nothing is said, but let one cent be added to the cost of a quart of milk and it is immediately the subject of investigation by the authorities. The need of the dairy business, in order to promote the best interests of the consumer, is not more laws, but laws more in harmony with the desires of the consumer. Rest assured that as soon as the consumer stands ready to pay for the labor incidental to the production of a clean and pure milk supply the producer will meet the demand.

"Furnishing the people with milk, safe and wholesome, is after all not a question of law as we all know. Generally speaking, I believe that the quality of the milk supply has improved faster than the people have shown a desire to pay for improved quality. In this connection I am more than convinced that the solution of the clean milk problem is economic and not political, and the sooner law-making bodies recognize it as such, the sooner will the present tendency of the milk producer, to cease milking cows, be discontinued, if not altogether abandoned."

DEATH OF REV. A. J. RICH.

He Was Father of Edgar J. Rich of This Town.

Rev. A. Judson Rich, a prominent Congregational and Unitarian clergyman, died at his residence, 15 Cobden street, Belmont, Tuesday morning, after an illness of more than three months. He was 88 years old and a sufferer from heart trouble.

He leaves his wife, one son, Edgar J. Rich, general solicitor of the Boston & Maine Railroad, Mrs. Alice Cate and Miss Martha Rich, a teacher in the Lexington schools.

Rev. Mr. Rich was born in Cooper, Me. He attended the schools of Cooper, and when he was 17 went to Machias Academy and fitted for college. He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1862. He entered the Newton Theological Seminary, from which he graduated three years later. He then located at Dorchester, and for four years was pastor at that place. From there he went to Westminister and was pastor of the Congregational Church the next three years.

While at Westminister he changed from the Congregational to the Unitarian denomination. He retired in 1909, after about 48 years' continuous service.

He organized and put into working order the card system called the Unitarian belief, which is in use now in the churches of that denomination.

Rev. and Mrs. Rich celebrated their golden wedding, Aug. 27, 1913.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

William Gillette, Blanche Bates and Marie Doro are making their farewell appearances together in the brilliant revival of Sardou's "Diplomacy" at the Hollis Street Theatre, where enthusiastic audiences have tested the capacity of the playhouse at every performance. "Diplomacy" with this distinguished trio of stars constitutes one of the memorable events of the dramatic year. William Gillette, who is one of the really great actors on the American stage today, is seen to superb advantage in the role of the wily diplomat, Henry Beauclere.

Blanche Bates who is unquestionably one of the most accomplished actresses of the present day, has won fresh laurels by her consummate portrayal of the "Countess Zicka." Marie Doro who has duplicated her London triumphs in "Diplomacy" by her success on this side of the water, never looked more radiantly beautiful and never acted with greater tenderness and power. Her portrayal of the heroine "Dora" enchants the eye and touches the heart of every spectator.

The final performance of Sardou's comedy with its triple alliance of distinguished stars is positively scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 30 and seats are now selling for all remaining performances of "Diplomacy."

TREMONT TEMPLE.

The great Photo Play, Les Miserables, is back at Tremont Temple for a short return engagement which will positively close Saturday evening, Jan. 30. Of all the Photo Plays that have been produced perhaps there is none which has such a wealth of human interest running through it as does this masterpiece of Victor Hugo's in motion pictures. The pictures are given twice daily at 2 and 8 p. m., at the popular prices of 50c, 35c, 25c, 15c.

Another series of splendid entertainments going on in the Temple is Mr. Herbert Gleason's illustrated lectures of the Pacific Coast given on Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons. Anyone contemplating going to the Panama Exposition may get splendid ideas of desirable excursions radiating from San Francisco from Mr. Gleason's lectures.

Every Saturday morning at 10.30 there are motion pictures for boys and girls. Parents and teachers may send the children unattended, if they wish, as college girls are in attendance to take personal charge of these little folks. The admission of 15c, 10, and 5c is very reasonable for the large and attractive programs offered.

CHARLES H. TAYLOR.

Charles H. Taylor, a former well known Winchester resident, died on Monday at Pittsburg, Pa. He was a member of Company C, 45th Mass. Volunteers, and served in the Civil War.

He leaves two brothers in this town, William E. and Frank J. Taylor, and one sister, Mrs. George A. Wade.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

NEW TRAIN MONDAY.

Commencing next Monday morning Winchester will have an additional train from Boston. The train will leave Boston at 9.00, arriving at Winchester at 9.28.

In placing this train on the schedule the inward train which now leaves at 11.02 will be discontinued, the new train going in at 11.09.

The new outward train will fill a wait of one hour and twenty minutes which now prevails between the 8.44 and 10.05.

LADIES' FRIENDLY NOTES.

The next meeting is on Tuesday, January 26th, at 2.30, a sewing meeting. The work is for the Visiting Nurse Association and a large attendance is desired. Tea will be served.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Course of Study.

The revision of the course of study noted in last year's report is proceeding. The teachers of grades one to six are organized with a chairman for each group. At regular meetings they are discussing their problems and outlining the work which can be regarded as standard for each grade. This study is immediately helpful to the teachers concerned and will unify the work in the grades.

Incidental Instruction.

In addition to the regular class work some lasting impressions have been made on pupils' minds by instruction on various matters of general interest, the material being contained in leaflets, bulletins, and posters furnished by the agencies noted below: "How Children May Avoid Accidents," Boston Chamber of Commerce; "Safety First, Directions for Emergencies," Ginn & Company; "Help Prevent Fires, Save the Forests," Boston & Maine Railroad; "Fire Prevention Questions for School Children," Fire Prevention Commissioner of Boston; "A Plea for the Wild Flowers," Boston Society of Natural History; "Temperance Lessons," Winchester branch of the Womens Christian Temperance Union; "Civic Welfare Mottoes," Civics Committee of the Fortnightly.

Patriotic Lessons.

Through the active intercession of Mrs. Anna T. O'Sullivan, of the Wadleigh Grammar School, six flags measuring two by three feet were presented to all grades by the Patriotic Department of the Women's Relief Corps. In order to emphasize lessons connected with significant dates in the history of Massachusetts and of the country a list of Flag Days has been compiled. On these days, as may seem suited to each grade, the flags are displayed and the reason for remembering the date is discussed.

Eight Elementary Grades.

Beginning with September, 1914, our elementary course has eight grades instead of nine. The change was the natural outcome of the plan in effect for the previous eight years whereby pupils might complete the high school preparation in eight years if they were so inclined, and the necessary adjustments have been easily made. The usual practice the country over is eight grades, a few places have seven and a small number still have nine. In changing from nine grades to eight, no omissions have been made in the course of study. Experience has shown that the work of grades six to nine can be readily done in three years with the gain of a year in time and with better results in other ways. It is inevitable, of course, that promotions in these grades will hereafter be made more stringently and that some of the pupils who formerly took nine years will be obliged to repeat the work of the sixth, seventh, or eighth grade. The average standing of the pupils in these grades will also be somewhat lower. These are unavoidable features which are offset by the benefits to nearly all the pupils.

The change has enabled the work of the seventh and eighth grades in the Wadleigh Grammar School to be organized on the departmental plan, each teacher having charge of the instruction in one subject, as arithmetic, geography, or history for pupils of the same grade in four rooms, together with the remaining subjects—spelling, writing, etc.—and the general responsibility for her own room. In this way the instruction in the fundamental subjects is made more effective for nearly all pupils and the work of the various rooms is brought to a higher average.

The Open Air Class.

In September, 1911, an open air class of seventh grade pupils was opened in the Prince School building. The advantages of such a class had been so well recognized that the School Committee welcomed the offer of the Civics Committee of The Fortnightly to furnish the clothing for an open air class if the School Department would provide a room and teacher. The clothing consists of a coat and bloomers made from heavy blankets and a pair of lined canvas boots, all to be worn over the ordinary clothing. The room was made open air by installing window fixtures enabling both sashes to be fully opened, or adjusted at any point to meet weather conditions. The temperature of the room has been kept at about forty-five degrees Fahrenheit. The work has been the same as in other seventh grades with minor modifications not affecting its general character.

The registration has been limited to twenty-five and admission has been at parents' request. The room is not intended for sickly children, but for those whose parents believe in fresh air. The results have been entirely satisfactory. It is too early to make any comparisons as to the class room work, but it is evident that the lassitude usually obvious at the close of the school day in most school rooms has been eliminated. These pupils are as alert at dismissal as when the the school opens and the interest does not flag in the meantime. Except for fresh air and outside clothing, no special provisions, as hot lunches, have been made for these pupils, yet the physical examination shows remarkable gains. Heights and weights and a hemoglobin (red blood corpuscle) test were taken for the pupils in this room and in another seventh grade in the same building in September and again in December, with the following average record:

	Gain in weight	Gain in height	Hemoglobin
Open air 7th	3.61 lbs.	.49 in.	4.55 pc gain
Other 7th	1.79 lbs.	.24 in.	3.07 pc loss
Cr. open air 7th	1.82 lbs.	.25 in.	7.62 pc.

The seventh grade pupils under usual conditions have probably increased in height and weight as much as might be expected as they are healthy, normal boys and girls of the same general character as those in the open air group. In both grades the gain in weight is partly due to the change from summer to winter underclothing. Inasmuch as this affected all pupils the conclusions are not affected. The hemoglobin test for the regular seventh shows the usual decrease in red blood corpuscles due to confinement indoors during the school year. The average gain in this respect by the pupils in the other class shows the effect of the fresh air and explains the mental alertness already noted. As to colds, no conclusion can be drawn since no case other than temporary has occurred in either room.

We should avoid being too enthusiastic about this venture until we have more data. This class has been in operation only four months and further tests may be less favorable. It is, however, safe to conclude, (1) that greater care should be taken to provide an ample supply of fresh air in all school rooms even if the temperature is kept at the regulation sixty-seven degrees Fahrenheit; (2) that for many pupils the open air regime is certain to increase bodily and mental vigor. Parents who are interested in having their children in this room in 1915-1916 would do well to apply at once, as it may not be possible in one room to accommodate all registered, and if another room is to be opened plans will need to be made some time in advance.

Industrial Class.

The Progress Class organized in September, 1913, for those pupils for whom the grade work is not well adapted, continues to solve a very difficult problem. The class work is the same as one year ago, about two-thirds of the time being given to various forms of manual work—cane seating, rush weaving, reed work, basketry, rug weaving, gardening, etc.—and one-third being spent in individual study along the usual school lines. This year the girls have also cooking and sewing lessons and the boys carpentry work. The results obtained in the regular school subjects have been very much better than would have been possible in the regular grades because progress is not required to be made according to a fixed schedule. There are now fifteen pupils enrolled and at least twice as many more in the grades should be given the same opportunity. In recognition of the fact that the work is largely industrial the name has been changed to the Industrial Class. These boys and girls are being given a training of practical monetary value in addition to the regular grade instruction. The manual work done is exceptionally fine. It requires capacity, intelligence, and skillful teaching.

Summer School.

Another group of pupils for whom special provision should be made is composed of pupils in grades five to eight who for various reasons, some good and some poor, are not quite up to the passing standard at the end of each school year. These pupils, particularly when over age, have usually been promoted on trial. In most cases they do sufficiently well to remain in the next grade or the conditions are such that it seems advisable to permit them to do so. With eight grades instead of nine, promotions must be more stringent and many who have heretofore been advanced on trial must be failed unless they can be given more attention than is possible through the school year. This can best be done in a summer session of six or eight weeks devoted to review in the subjects in which each is lacking. Admission to those classes should be limited to those recommended by the grade teachers as of the conditional type. The experience of our neighboring city, Medford, has shown that a summer school of this kind is a decided advantage to the pupils enrolled and to the grades.

Equipment in the Grades.

Except for the fact that other needs seem more immediately imperative, it would at this time be worth while to plan to place a phonograph in every school building and to install a moving picture machine in the High School. The former would greatly assist the work in physical training, would render possible effective instruction in musical appreciation, and the latter would enable us to visualize the work in history, English, and other subjects in the grammar grades and the High School. Both these things have proved of the greatest utility in many school systems. They should be found in ours at no distant date.

General.

Further comment on the work of our grades is probably unnecessary. From year to year its average quality seems to improve, as indeed it should. Without neglecting what may be called the traditional education, which must be made as effective as possible for all our pupils, the particular problem for some years should be the children whose needs have not heretofore been met. To this problem there will be many different solutions. We have made a good beginning.

High School Registration.

The numbers, 353, are slightly in excess of the forecast, 342, made one year ago. In September, 1915, there will be not far from 370 and in September, 1916, nearly 400. Under a literal interpretation of the present state law the study rooms available—one being required for typewriting classes—should have 330 desks, seven with 42 each and one with the larger bookkeeping desks, 36. We have 48 desks in the seven rooms and corresponding accommodations for 372, sufficient for the expected numbers in September, 1915, so far as study desks are concerned. As has already been pointed out, the High School has not an adequate proportion of recitation rooms, but the ingenuity of the Principal in arranging the schedule of recitations may safely be relied upon to arrange a program which will be reasonably satisfactory even with the additional teacher necessitated by the increased numbers. In 1916, however, the situation will be serious. It is possible, although not probable, that by that time it may have been decided to organize a junior high school so that the present building will be used only by the second, third, and fourth year high school pupils, or that vocational courses located in another building may have been authorized. Assuming in either or both cases that the registration in the grades will have decreased to release for either or both purposes the requisite number of rooms, our present fears would be unfounded. On the other hand the town is growing, and the high school registration is certain to increase. Also, if a junior high school is organized, or if vocational courses are offered, the numbers continuing school beyond the grammar school period will be even larger than at present. In any event, in other words, we are likely to face in September, 1916, and thereafter until additional space is provided for high school purposes, a situation that will be prejudicial to the best interests of the young men and women for whose education we are laboring.

High School Work.

The high school work is of high quality, the discipline is well maintained, and the school spirit seems more real and vital than in previous years. Favorable comment might be made of various school activities, such as the orchestra, glee club, chorus, athletic associations, and the Recorder. With the possible exception of the football team of the boys' athletic association, these are helpful factors in the school life. In basketball, baseball, and other sports there is no occasion for serious criticism, but in football the weakness for the last two or three years has been evident. This may be temporary and due to accident or it may reflect a changing attitude of our high school pupils.

High School Courses.

The figures given in exhibit VII show that forty-two percent of the present membership (the college preparatory and technical courses) are preparing for college, thirty percent (the commercial course) are preparing for clerical positions, twenty-two percent (the general course) have except for those girls who may be going to normal school, no definite plans, and five percent (the Household Arts course) are inspired by a practical and sensible aim. These figures may be somewhat misleading for the last course, as 81 of the 159 high school girls are enrolled in the classes in cooking and sewing, but in other respects they may be taken as a basis for careful study.

College Preparation.

In exhibit V will be found a list of those entering college in September, 1914. Of those from the class of 1912, one was hindered by illness and the other by personal reasons; those from the class of 1913 had in some instances changed their courses so that a fifth year was necessary; in other cases the delay was not connected with their preparation. During the last five years pupils have entered college directly from our high school—none are included who went to any other school first—as follows:

Amherst	1
Boston College	1
Boston University	3
Colorado	[illegible]
Dartmouth	6
x Harvard	[illegible]

x Examinations only

In this period the high school graduates numbered 217, thus giving an average of one-third to whom the High School gave their college preparation and who entered either on certificate or examination. It may farther be stated that the percentage of subjects in which certificates could not be granted was 3.7, a commendably low figure. In these subjects pupils entering college were either conditioned or were obliged to try the college examinations. Failure to be certified usually means a lack of application, occasionally due to misfortune. There is no doubt about this part of our work being well done.

Household Arts Course.

The Household Arts Course is well established and will steadily gain in prestige and numbers. Its influence, as already stated, is much broader than the number taking all the work of the course might seem to indicate, since it has been in operation for two years only. For girls not wishing to do clerical work or to go to a normal school, other than Framingham, or to college, it affords the best training for their future lives that the High School can give.

Incidentally, mention should be made of the extension of the privileges of the high school lunch counter conducted under the direction of this department, to the pupils in the Wadleigh Grammar School and, beginning with January, 1915, to the pupils in the Prince School. The former go to the High School at their recess period; for the latter the food will be served in their building. Provision has been made to keep it hot when this is necessary. The high school lunch counter has been carefully managed to furnish appetizing and nutritious food at cost. It has in all respects deserved commendation.

Commercial Course.

This course has always been the point in the High School about which we could be least enthusiastic. Our conditions have not been different from those in most high schools, the reason being partly that the course has generally been regarded easy and partly that the teaching force and equipment are often inadequate. As to standards required for passing grade, our High School in common with high schools in other places, requires the same degree of excellence of the students in the Commercial Course as it does in other courses. As to teaching force, ours has been sufficient in that department for the last two years. In equipment we now have typewriters and filing cases. To give to the graduates of the Commercial Course the training which will fit them so far as we are able for the better class of office positions, we may well add other articles found in well equipped business establishments, such as the duplicating machine, the dictaphone, typewriters with the adding attachment, the statement machine, and the non-lister adding machine. Of these, the statement machine and the non-lister seem of greatest immediate consequence.

The reasons for providing equipment frequently found in business offices is (1) to give our pupils specific training which may assist them in obtaining positions other than to do typewriting or bookkeeping; (2) to give a better general acquaintance with business methods; (3) to make the work of the Commercial Course more real. The work in high school or college does not usually seem so closely connected as does that of the technical school with the actual lives which pupils may lead. We should, therefore, do all that we can to vitalize it. This principle is universally recognized by the men in charge of commercial departments in good high schools and is followed in many schools no larger than our own and not so good. We should do as well by our commercial pupils as we do for those who are preparing for college.

Spanish.

In this same connection the desirability of introducing the study of Spanish deserves careful consideration. We have a teacher competent to give instruction and a sufficient number of pupils anxious to be enrolled in a class to justify its authorization.

Credit for Outside Work.

The movements to allow credit toward graduation from the High School for serious study in any line pursued during the high school period is steadily gaining ground. The idea is especially applicable to music. If a girl applies herself to the study of music to an extent that can be measured in the credits allowed for the usual high school work, it seems reasonable to give her credit for proven attainment.

Vocational Work.

The Commercial and Household Arts Courses in the High School may properly be termed vocational, possibly also the Industrial Class in the grades. It cannot be said that we are altogether neglecting to provide for the vocational need of our pupils, but much more can and ought to be done.

Assuming that the time has not yet fully arrived to introduce other vocational courses into our schools, but that we shall wish to do so in two or three years, at least, it may be pertinent to state the problem and to suggest possible solutions.

The fact is that although our boys and girls are unquestionably better taught than those of any former generation, the education given is not calculated to be of the greatest service in the lives that the very great majority of them will lead as wage earners. High schools in general have acted on the theory that no distinction should be made between the boys and girls who will go to a higher institution after leaving the High School and those who will go to work. We have offered instruction to all pupils in the same subjects largely college preparatory, in which language training has held the chief place. It is not depreciation of the value or significance of Latin in a scheme of liberal education to say that for the boy who must go to work as soon as he leaves the High School or earlier, Latin might well be replaced by a study which would mean more earning capacity. This is the thought underlying the commercial work, which is better suited to girls than to boys as is also the Household Arts Course. Something of an equivalent character should be provided for the boys. In Newton, Somerville, and other places such courses are in operation. In Newton, the boys in the vocational school may take a four year course in cabinet work, carpentry, electricity, machinery, or printing. The trade instruction is combined with text book work with the result that these boys, graduating with a fair general education, are qualified to accept positions at good wages and have no difficulty in finding such positions. If at this point it occurs to any one reading this report to think that this sounds too good to be true, it may be remarked that Newton is not far away.

This is a real education for these boys, much more vital to them than anything that we are doing for our boys who will be wage earners, certainly more in number than those who are going to college or technical schools and deserving fully as much consideration. Furthermore, it may be noted that courses of this character keep in school a considerable percentage of the boys who now drop out of school to take "blind alley" jobs, hence a larger number would be given more extended general education while they were being made skilled workmen.

The importance of vocational work is recognized by the statute providing that the state will pay one-half the cost of maintaining vocational courses and requiring towns to pay the tuition of pupils who wish to pursue such courses in school systems offering them. We are now paying tuition as follows:

	Boston	Cambridge	Somerville
Boys	1 Carpentry		3 Carpentry & Machinery
Girls	3 Dressm'g	1 Dressm'g

The total bill for the year will be not far from $1250, of which the State pays one-half. It may appear that this arrangement answers all reasonable demands. Scarcely, since the cost of transportation, amounting to from twenty to forty dollars a year, must be borne by pupils and since the number taking these courses would be greatly increased if the opportunity were in Winchester instead of in Boston or Somerville.

Obviously, not all the things done in Newton would wisely be attempted at once and it is difficult to say what might best be undertaken first. As a suggestion, electricity seems to have decided advantages. The cost of equipment and of instruction would be less than for machinery, and a course in electricity would meet a definite demand by a considerable number of boys as shown by the class in the evening school. If this course were introduced it could be followed by other courses as investigation and experience should warrant. In the meantime, it would be well to extend the slight opportunity already open to high school boys in carpentry, and to extend the work in cooking down to grades seven and eight for special groups of pupils.

Employment of High School Pupils.

Principal Wixom of the High School has for several years interested himself in obtaining positions for high school pupils and graduates. The advantages of this procedure have been so obvious that he plans to have available at his office data which will enable him to recommend pupils without delay for positions which may be brought to his attention. This statement applies particularly to the young men and women in the Commercial Course. Our townspeople who are in business will do well to remember this for the sake of the young people and for the sake of the High School.

Evening Schools.

The registration in the evening schools is as follows:

Chapin—77 Italians in five classes with six teachers; 8 Swedes in one class with one teacher; 27 Americans in two classes with three teachers.

The Italians and Swedes are taking the elementary branches, reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, and geography. Part of the American students are preparing for the civil service examinations and are showing decided promise.

High School—14 in electricity with one teacher; 23 in bookkeeping, typewriting, stenography, and penmanship with three teachers; 5 women in elementary subjects with one teacher. The teachers, as will be seen by reference to exhibit I, are largely from our own force. This work is being well done and will assist in making better citizens.

Medical Inspection.

The scope of medical inspection has developed beyond what could have been foreseen when it was begun. At that time we felt chiefly concerned about contagious diseases. These are given as much attention as ever, but it has become apparent that the largest benefits of this work are to be found in conserving the health of pupils by improving the hygienic conditions in buildings, by making careful studies of individuals, by home visitations, and by measures designed to remove cause of future physical disability.

One of the particular steps that have characterized the past year is an arrangement with the Forsyth Dental Infirmary in Boston by which the School Nurse takes twenty children in for treatment every Tuesday afternoon. This is done practically without cost to parents save for transportation and is limited to those whose means would not enable them to go to a regular dentist. The service so generously contributed by our local dentists will continue as heretofore, except that it will probably deal more largely with emergency cases.

Teachers' Salaries and Pensions.

The special general addition of fifty dollars to teachers' salaries in effect for this school year brings our maxima to about the sums paid in neighboring towns. This is not the best basis for determining salaries, but it at least shows good intentions. The present maxima are as follows: Women—Kindergarten, $[illegible]; grades one to six, $750; grades seven and eight, $800; grade principals, twenty-five dollars additional for every two rooms; High School—women, $950; men, $1650.

In making the general increase some weight was given to the requirements of the law providing for state teachers' pensions at the age of sixty. Under this law each teacher now in service who wishes to be eligible to a pension from the state must annually pay through the Town Treasurer an assessment of five percent of the salary received, not less, however, than $25 nor more than $100. The accumulated payments will be used to purchase an annuity to which the state will contribute an amount not less than $150. The minimum pension is $300, the maximum is determined by the total payments made by the teacher.

Notwithstanding the fact that Winchester had adopted the act of 1906 providing for the payment of pensions by the Town at the age of sixty, only eighteen of our teachers decided not to enter the State Retirement Association. Of these eighteen, so nearly as may be judged, nine do not plan to teach very much longer, six prefer to provide for themselves, and three prefer the Town Act. This is obviously a question which must be determined by the individuals concerned.

In Conclusion.

Those who have the immediate responsibility for the education of the youth of a community need to be endowed with vision and wisdom. It is not given to any of us to be omniscent or infallible. If the foregoing report seems dogmatic in places, the reader is prayed to remember that it is written by one on whom a burden, pleasant and welcome but engrossing, particularly falls. He has entire confidence in the general excellence of our teaching force and of the work which is being done under the direction of the School Committee. While we have improved the instruction in the traditional subjects, we have appreciably broadened and vitalized the educational opportunities for our pupils. Nevertheless, we have only begun. The possibilities are so great that we should not at any time be content with what has been accomplished, because there will always be many other things which may wisely be done. Our particular obligation is to determine the order in which these should be undertaken, and to provide for them without delay.

Respectfully submitted,
Schuyler F. Herron,
Superintendent of Schools.

Taylor, "I Asked the New Year for a Motto Sweet." A poem was read by Mrs. Edward Comfort which was written by Mrs. Mary S. Larrabee, author of "The Child in the Midst."

The subject for the afternoon was the chapter from "The Child in the Midst" entitled "The Child at Work and at Play." This was conducted by Miss Emma B. Freeman, who gave a most interesting resume of the chapter and at the close left this thought with the meeting, "O Lord, make us fair to the children."

Mrs. Louis Claflin repeated lines from Whittier's poem, "The Light That is Felt." Mrs. Justin L. Parker had notes from the field and gave some of the most important current events in the missionary fields. Mrs. R. S. Taylor read an article entitled "It must not, it must not, suffer loss," setting forth the necessity of giving more rather than less to missions, even in this time of war, when so much must be given elsewhere.

The meeting closed with the missionary benediction, "God be merciful unto us and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us; that Thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

Vanity of Life.

It would be difficult to rival the epitaph of Cardinal Onuphrio which, in half a dozen words sums up the vanity of life—"Here lies a shadow—ashes—nothing!" and that of Cardinal Mazarin's beautiful niece, Marie Mancini, who, after draining the cup of worldly pleasure to the dregs, wrote, as she lay dying, her own epitaph, "Marie Mancini, Dust and Ashes."

How Indians Sleep Warm.

The Indian, according to a writer about camp life, resorts to two methods to keep warm while asleep. If it is not unduly cold, he lights a rather large fire and warms the earth then rakes away the coals, lies down and pulls his blanket over him. In colder weather, besides this, he heats a big boulder, covers it lightly with earth, and curls himself around it. He never wraps himself in the blanket but uses it exclusively as a covering.

Worth Knowing.

The laurel was much in favor in olden days, as it meant "love triumphs." The Greek bride wore a wreath of myrtle. A bride of today may choose her own flower if she wishes, stamping it with her individuality. Some girls take the flower allotted to the month, especially if the time happens to be June, with its wealth of roses. Widows usually wear violets, either white or purple, or a combination of both.

Another Chance for Hubby.

Advertisement in a paper—not in the Billville district: "This is to notify my husband, who got mad and ran away without sayin' so much as a word, that if he returns home and signs a paper to quit his meanness and act sensible, like he ought to have been raised to, which he wasn't, about all that I can think of now will be forgiven, provided, as said before, that he is a changed man an' will quit raisin' Cain an' a-doin' of nothin'.—Atlanta Constitution.

Possible of Application.

An old woodsman was walking through a forest when he saw a large bear approaching him. Realizing his predicament, he exclaimed: "Oh Lord, be with me!" Still the bear came on, when the man again prayed: "Oh Lord, be on my side." Seeing the bear continue to approach, the woodsman, whipping out his knife, exclaimed: "Oh Lord, if you won't be on my side, just declare neutrality, an' I'll show you the goll-darndest bear fight you ever saw in your life."

TOWN MEETING.

One Session Disposes of Eleven Articles in Warrant.

The special town meeting held on Monday evening disposed of all the articles in the Warrant at one sitting, and by the appropriations made ratified the contracts of the town in finishing the bridge construction and portions of the river improvement. There was a good attendance and the meeting was united on all of the subjects discussed with the possible exception of labor, which received more attention than has been given at any previous meeting.

Mr. Frederick M. Ives was selected to fill his usual place as moderator after the meeting had been called to order by Town Clerk Carter.

Upon opening, John H. Carter requested that the recommendations of the Finance Committee on the articles to be considered be read. Chairman Robert B. Metcalf of the Committee stated that the Moderator would read the recommendation of the Committee as each article was taken up, as had been the previous custom. Mr. Metcalf stated that owing to lack of time the Committee had found it impossible to publish its report. Mr. Carter desired the report read in full in addition to reading the report as each article was taken up, and his motion to that effect was carried. The Moderator read the report of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Farnsworth made a motion to take up the articles in numerical order, which was objected to by Mr. Tuck, who felt that Articles 9 and 10 were endangered thereby. Mr. Farnsworth's motion was carried.

Article 2. This article was the customary vote to allow the Treasurer to borrow in anticipation of taxes and a motion to that effect was voted.

Article 3. This article called for the appropriation of a sum of money for the construction and care of surface drainage. Chairman Davidson of the Selectmen offered a motion calling for the raising of $14,000 for this work. In speaking to his motion he explained that it was felt that the appropriation should be made at this time rather than later for several reasons. The bond market was better at this time than in April and the work could be started earlier in the spring.

He outlined in a general way the intended work, which included a drain commencing on Main street in the vicinity of Salem and Lake streets and running to the pond. This would eliminate the present open drain in this vicinity which had already been declared a nuisance. As it was the intention to rebuild North Main street this summer the time seemed opportune for the work before that was done. Another projected drain ran from the new Fire and Police Building on Winchester place, taking care of the water there, on Mt. Vernon street and Converse place. This drain would run to the Waterfield road bridge, where a settling basin would be constructed at the rear of the Town Hall and one at the Parkway and the river. These are badly needed to keep the pond and river from filling up, and in the construction of the last basin the State Metropolitan Park Commission would share half of the cost. Another drain projected was at Westley and Nelson streets, it entering the old Washington street drain, with a new settling basin at the pond. A settling basin at Wedgemere pond was included, too.

At this point the first discussion of the labor question opened. There was considerable debating. Amendments were made for the benefit of "citizens" and "inhabitants" as regards their employment on the work. It was finally settled by the statement that the work would be done under the direction of the Highway Department, and that preference would thus be given Winchester men on the work. The following vote was then passed 229 to 1, Messrs. George C. Coit, Ralph E. Joslin, Harry K. Clark and Schuyler F. Herron being appointed tellers:

MRS. BALCH WILL SPEAK.

At the anti-suffrage meeting of February 3 (see coming events), Mrs. John Balch of Milton is to speak. Mrs. Balch is one of the most active and efficient members of the Mass. Anti-Suffrage Association. At the hearing before the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington, a year ago last December, Mrs. Balch was one of a group of women representing the anti-suffrage cause—a group which a prominent man who attended the hearing called "remarkable." He had never before, he said, heard so many women talk so intelligently and so ably as these women talked.

Mrs. Balch is chairman of the Milton Branch of the anti-suffragists, and also president of the Public Interests League—a league devoted to a kind of work essentially womanly, the kind of work men cannot do as well. She will tell the meeting many things about the League, and it is hoped every member of the Winchester Branch that can come that day, will be present, and will bring some friend who would like to learn more about anti-suffragists, their convictions, and their work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Western Missionary Society will be held in the Congregational vestries on Thursday, February 4, at 10 o'clock. Lunch and business meeting as usual.

BIRTHS.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Doucette are the parents of a daughter, born Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Crampton of Salem street are the parents of a daughter, born last week.

UNEMPLOYED MEN.

Selectmen Ask That They Register at Town Hall.

The Selectmen have placed notices about town asking that all unemployed inhabitants of Winchester desirous of obtaining work, must register their names and addresses at the office of the Superintendent of Streets in basement of Town Hall on or before Saturday, January 30, at five o'clock. The office will be open daily from eight to five o'clock.

135 Registered.

Up to five o'clock last night, during the first day and a half allowed unemployed inhabitants to register at the Town Hall, 135 had availed themselves of the opportunity. The registration blanks provide information regarding the age of the applicant, married or single, whether he had worked for the town at any time, nationality, etc. With this registration it looks as though the town work would be put through in short order.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

January 26, 1915.

The Board met at 7.30 p. m., all present.

A letter was received from Rep. Prime in regard to House Bill No. 6, relating to the construction of a Metropolitan Sewer to run from the Melrose Line to Main street in Wakefield which the committee had recommended to the Legislature for reference to the next General Court.

Perley H. Randall was licensed to be a common victualler at 11-13 Mt. Vernon street.

A letter was received from George H. Gray, Supt. Bay State St. Ry. Co., in response to a complaint sent by this Board stating that the operation of flat wheeled cars was directly against their instructions, and the matter would again be taken up with those directly responsible.

A memorandum of agreement was received from James W. Baston to construct a model in plaster of the town plan for abolishing the grade crossing, and accepted by vote.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Interesting Talk on Life Saving Service.

Although the weather was threatening and the walking bad, there was a goodly number present at the meeting of The Fortnightly Monday afternoon. During the business hour several notices were given.

The President, Miss Folts, read an appeal from Mrs. Royal Whiton, chairman of the Massachusetts Federation Committee, that a committee be appointed to collect old sheets, old linen, old underwear, handkerchiefs, and cotton for the hospitals in Northern France. After listening to a most interesting and enthusiastic talk by Mrs. George T. Rice of Westwood, Mass., in behalf of the National Civic Federation League, its special effort of work being at the present time for unemployed women, it was voted by the club to have this committee appointed to work under the direction of the Massachusetts Federation Committee, Mrs. Royal Whiton, chairman, and with the Emergency Relief Committee of the National Civic Federation League.

Mrs. H. E. Hodge, Mrs. E. O. Punchard, Mrs. C. A. Dodge, Mrs. Laura Hallett, Mrs. C. F. A. Currier, Mrs. William Fryling, Mrs. Edward Russell and Mrs. H. T. Bond were appointed.

After a brief intermission the club had the pleasure of listening to one of its talented members, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, in a group of piano solos. She gave an artistic rendering of the "Lento" by Cyril Scott and a "Ballade" of Chopin, and responded to appreciative applause with "Drifting" by Danforth Comins of our own town.

A lecture on The United States Life Saving Service interestingly given by Maude Burbank Harding was thoroughly enjoyed. Possibly the atmospheric conditions of the day helped the hearers to realize more forcibly that the Service stands as one of the powerful arms of government. Life saving stations are dotted all along the United States coast but the speaker lingered mostly with those on the coast of Maine and Massachusetts, Cape Cod. A clear picture was given of the crew or family of men, ten or twelve in number, who live at these stations, which included also a detailed account of their duties from day to day, housework, cooking, keeping watch, patrolling their beat, two miles one way then back again, practising with life line and boat and the important drill of resuscitation. Then the hardships they have to endure, the great risk of life they run in trying to save other lives and the serious detriment to eye-sight was referred to.

The recompense these men receive for all their vigilance and anxiety is very small. The captain of the crew receiving only one thousand dollars a year, the next officer in line receives seven hundred and fifty dollars a year and the remaining men only six hundred or possibly six hundred and fifty dollars a year. Their uniforms have to be purchased out of their meagre salary.

The number of lives rescued from death and the amount of property saved from utter loss within a comparatively few years is quite astounding. The speaker spoke also of the Coast Guard Bill which at that time was slated to come before Congress on the twenty-seventh of this month. It is one of the most important and humanitarian acts of legislation which has come before Congress for many years. At the close of the meeting a model of the Corley Life Saving Float was on exhibition.

The ladies are reminded of the Gentlemen's Night, Monday, February 8, at 8 p. m. A lecture will be given by Mr. Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly, on the "Real Meaning of the War," after which an informal reception will be held, giving those who wish, a chance to meet Mr. Hapgood. This will be followed by supper and dancing.

In order to assist the Social Committee to satisfactorily provide for the members and their guests, the Club voted to issue special free tickets for members only, and notification has been sent, stating that membership tickets will not admit on that occasion, but that these special tickets can be procured from any member of the Social Committee between January 25 and February 6. An attractive supper will be furnished by Page, caterer, of Lowell.

Members of the Committee having tickets for distribution are, Mrs. George W. Apsey, 19 Symmes road; Mrs. George Goddu, 16 Chestnut street; Miss Anna P. Clark, 17 Vine street; Mrs. Rufus Clark, 39 Wildwood street; Mrs. Frank Howe, 21 Bacon street; Mrs. Fred B. Jordan, 36 Glen road; Mrs. E. Hawes Kelley, 38 Fletcher street; Mrs. Walter L. King, 140 Highland avenue; Mrs. Charles A. Lane, 37 Glen road; Mrs. Howard C. Mason, 11 Lloyd street; Mrs. Charles H. Symmes, 230 Main street; also, Miss Cora Quimby, 185 Parkway; Mrs. T. E. Thompson, 270 Washington street; Mrs. W. A. Bradley, 422 Main street; Mrs. Arthur H. Richardson, 7 Ravenscroft road.

Members of The Fortnightly may procure tickets for gentlemen or other guests for Gentlemen's Night, by payment of one dollar. Apply to members of the Social Committee. All applications by mail must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope.

At the meeting of the Literature Class Friday afternoon, January 22, Mrs. Alfred Wallace read a most interesting and comprehensive paper on the life of George Eliot. The next meeting will be devoted to a review of her most important novels and readings from her letters. The date is February 12, at 3 o'clock, in the High School Library.

Mrs. Ella Gleason, State Vice-President, Woman Christian Temperance Union, will address the Friendship Class Sunday, January thirty-first.

Sunday School at 12 m.

The collection of the Sunday School for the Belgian children amounted to $2. Through the kindness of Mr. Arthur Williams we were able to send 8 cases of condensed milk, each containing 48 cans, to Mr. Firth of Boston, who will send it to Europe.

The competition for the first half of the Sunday School year being over on January 31st, recognition cards will be given on the following Sunday. The contest of the second half begins on that day. The young men of the Metcalf Union will entertain the young ladies some time during the month, the girls having beaten the boys in average attendance from October to February.

During the week Mr. Metcalf will speak before the Alliance in Lynn, Mass., and at the parish supper in Medford.

On Saturday, February 6, Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf will entertain the Camp Fire girls at their home. If the night is clear an opportunity will be given to look at the stars.

The officers of the Ladies' Friendly Society are most anxious to have all the ladies of the parish join their Alliance. By joining the Ladies' Friendly you strengthen it and so help the church and the cause of liberal religion. Mr. Schroeder had a large and appreciative congregation at last Sunday's Vesper Service.

BAPTIST NEWS.

Chinese curios illustrating customs and manners of the people were exhibited and explained in a most entertaining way by Miss Lydia Jennie Crawford of Hanyang at a recent meeting. Beautiful medals also were shown, one of which was presented to her by the Vice-President of China in behalf of the government, and the other by the Red Cross Society of China. These medals show that Miss Crawford has rendered very efficient service in that great Republic.

Miss Rose E. Nicolet, of Capiz, Panay Island, Philippine Islands, who conducts the training class for nurses in the hospital there, will tell her story of experiences in the Philippines at the six o'clock meeting, Sunday evening.

"Following the Sunrise," by Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, the mission study book, is proving to be charming and fascinating. A large number is expected for the consideration of its second chapter next Tuesday evening.

A number of the Brotherhood Men's Class will go in to the Merrimac Mission tonight to assist in the conduct of the meeting. About one hundred hungry men will be fed.

MEN'S CLUB MEETING.

A meeting of the Men's Club of the First Congregationl Church was held in the vestries on Tuesday evening, about 60 members being present. The chief attraction of the evening was an address by Rev. Allen Hudson of Brockton, who spoke on the life of Henry Ward Beecher.

Following the address a collation was served and a social hour spent by those present. The evening was in charge of a committee composed of Dr. Clarence J. Allen, chairman, Mr. Gordon Parker, Mr. Kenneth Pond, Mr. Frank E. Rowe, Mr. Charles N. Harris and Mr. William Adriance.

HOME TALENT NIGHT.

Banner Event of Year at Calumet Club Tuesday Evening.

The January ladies' night at the Calumet Club was held on Tuesday evening, the affair proving the banner event of the many social features held at the Club this winter. The big attendance at the Club taxed its generous capacity to the limit, over 300 persons being present.

The evening was announced as "Home Talent Night," the artists contributing the excellent and very entertaining program all being members. In general the program consisted of an old fashioned concert, individual numbers with singing by the audience, providing an exceptional diversion which gave much pleasure to all.

The club house was decorated for the evening in a manner which called forth praise on all sides. On entering the reception room, which was very attractive in national colors, with large flags and bunting draped about the walls and doorways, the guests were confronted with a huge home-made sign informing them that the grand singing meeting would be held in the hall above.

The decorations in the hall were a masterpiece. Labels and signs of every conceivable size, color and nature completely filled all the available wall space. From the rafters and beams hung long rows of hay and straw, which with numerous farm implements, harnesses, etc., gave a truly country atmosphere. In fact the hall itself was such as to furnish a diverting half hour in analyzing the varied and interesting decorations. At the west end the stage was erected, which was used by the artists and orchestra. This was draped with flags and bunting and made a handsome setting.

The programs for the evening were in keeping with the scheme and were equally interesting to the audience. Big type and little type, and all kinds of type, was used in their composition, and the names of the artists, as spelt and given, created much mirth.

The guests were met upon their entrance by a group of ushers in truly rural costume, and it was with difficulty that their identity was discovered. These gentlemen included Messrs. W. D. Eaton, Dr. I. T. Cutter, Vincent Farnsworth, George A. Woods and Wallace Flanders. Some of their make-ups will doubtless never be duplicated. The guests were received by President and Mrs. Charles S. Tenney, who were appropriately costumed.

Among the most noticeable costumes were those of President Tenney, who assumed a most effective disguise under flowing white whiskers [illegible] garments; Mr. Willey, who as John Philips Sousa, was [illegible] coming and going; Mr. George E. [illegible]avis, who made an excellent parson; Dr. Farnsworth, as the village constable, found much to occupy his abundant energy, and his objection to a native taking a real goat onto the stage was a whole show in itself. Dr. Hindes made a good country squire and Dr. Murphy filled the part of the country bumpkin. Mr. Wallace Flanders, as the Calumet fireman, provided efficient and abundant protection during the evening. The ladies were charming, and many matrons were mistaken for misses.

The program included primarily singing by the chorus. This group included the following: Samanthy Hindes, Thankful Comins, Jerusha Randlett, Blissful Deane, Deborah Eaton, Patience Parker, Sofiah Fitch, Mariah Tompkins, Lucindy Hunnewell, Susannah Bowe, Huldah Jewett, Arabella Marshall, Melindy Barr, Extraction Hindes, Obadiah White, Jedediah Avery, Jonathan Gerlach, Goodman Rogers, Silas Fitch, Goliah Hunnewell, Josiah Bowe, John Brown Russell, Ephriam Kelley, Joshua Davis, George Washington Olmstead, Zeke Murphy.

At the opening of the program the artists formed in the reception room and entered the hall in a procession.

The chorus was all in costume, which it would be folly to try to describe. The effects were both ludicrous and startling, and in the case of the ladies, most satisfying. A violin solo was given by Mr. Harold Bugbee and a song by Dr. Hindes, Mrs. Hindes accompanying him. One of the hits of the evening was the performance by "ye large tyme beater," (who somewhat resembled Mr. George E. Willey) assisted by the choir chorus. A solo by Mrs. Robert Barr was also one of the most satisfying numbers offered, and the cowbell solo by Dr. Murphy was also a good novelty number. Mr. Benjamin F. Miner and Mr. Willey contributed solos.

The special orchestra, with its golden instruments, was an important part of the program, and what it lacked in music it more than made up in other directions. This was creative of much fun.

The orchestra came in for much applause. It included Mr. George E. Willey, leader; Mrs. Fred L. Avery, piano; Miss Gladys Blaikie, Miss Louise Giles and Mr. George A. Sharpe, violins; Mr. Harold Bugbee, 'cello; F. S. Treadway, cornet; Roland Murphy, flute; Terrance Cullen, drums and Harold Muller, bass viola.

Following the program a collation was served in the billiard room. The decorations here were all in yellow and the effect was very pleasing. The serving was in charge of a group of ladies who were under the direction of Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders, and included Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, Mrs. Harry J. Olmsted, Mrs. Danforth W. Comins, Mrs. William R. Marshall, Mrs. Walter S. Wadsworth, Mrs. Sewall E. Newman, Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, Mrs. A. Miles Holbrook, Mrs. Benjamin F. Miner and Mrs. Robert Barr.

Dancing followed for the remainder of the evening with music by the orchestra.

The success of the evening, an event in the history of the Club, is largely due to the efforts of Mr. George E. Willey and the generou assistance of all who participated, and in this connection the Club has made expression of its thanks, both to the members and its outside friends for their hearty co-operation.

ARRESTED FOR FISHING AT THE RESERVOIRS.

A [illegible] citizen of Winchester, [illegible] out of employment at this season of the year with a family of nine to his credit, was arrested by the Metropolitan Park Police for fishing through the ice at the Winchester Reservoirs. At the Woburn court on Thursday, Judge Johnson placed the case on file as it was represented to him by two prominent citizens that the defendant was respectable and law-abiding, never was in a court before and did not know he was breaking the law.

As no arrests have been made heretofore for fishing through the ice and the defendant was fishing through old holes cut by some former fisherman who was not arrested, the judge decided that the ends of justice would be answered by placing the case on file and not imposing a fine in this instance, but he gave notice that the next offender would not get off so easy as fishing through the ice was certainly prohibited by the town of Winchester.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding among the citizens of Winchester regarding fishing through the ice in the Reservoir, this notice is put in the paper to inform the public that the Town of Winchester voted at the Town Meeting not to allow fishing through the ice in the Winchester Reservoirs and anyone who does this is subject to arrest by the Metropolitan Police.

CHORAL CLASS CONCERT.

The concert by the Choral Class of The Fortnightly was given in the Town Hall last evening before a large and appreciative audience. The program included numbers by the class, violin solos by Mr. Leon Van Vliet, violoncellist; pianoforte selections by Mr. J. Albert Baumgartner, and the cantata, "The Legend of Miana," in which Miss Jean MacLellan, soprano, and Mr. John B. Wills, flute, assisted. Mrs. Faye Hoyt Lefavour was the accompanist and Mr. Baumgartner conductor.

The program was the most pretentious that has been given at any time previous by the Club. The members of the Class and the assisting artists were much congratulated upon the results attained and the fine quality of their work.

On Tuesday, the regular sewing meeting was held and work was done for the Visiting Nurse Association. Pratt told of the meeting at Hartford. About forty members were present. Mrs. R. D. A. Thompson has cook books and directories and would be glad to dispose of them.

The usual lunch will be served at the close of the program.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

What suffers when one frets? Certainly one's good humor suffers, certainly one's peace of mind is destroyed, certainly one's balance of judgment is impaired, certainly one's ability to rise to occasions becomes dulled. Ambition is deadened; buoyancy, there is none. Sleep fails, wrinkles come upon the features, the eye loses its geniality and the dead light of care obscures the soul's rays, or else the flashlight of resentment is quick to rise. Home is made unhappy, friendships less valued, the world wrapped in gloom.

The reason fretting is so disorganizing is because it is a process of fraying the nerves. One takes wool or flax, and to use the term of the laboratory, tears it out until the minutest strands are separated, the one from the other. There is no longer organization, simply organic matter that has lost its function. It is so with the nerves when one habitually frets. Worry wears and tears the tender nerves that do the tremendous work of carrying sensations to and from the brain and that surpass any registry ever devised in their registration of emotional values.

As fretting lacks harmony it is not fit for transmission along a system devised for accord; as it lacks logic it has no place in a system whose purpose is primarily to bring the sensations that enter the brain into right forms of thought or impulse. So fretting is only a wearing and fraying process. It is the delicate nerve system that suffers in the process. One feels that he has a brain as heavy as lead, a mind that simply will not respond to the ordinary process of quickening because it has become sodden, leaden and lifeless.

Why do people here in Winchester and elsewhere fret? It is not pleasant to portray the evils of fretting. It is much more pleasant to portray the delights of peace and placidity. But at times it becomes necessary to awaken the fretters to the peril they invite in order to make them desist from the most needless and the most cruel self-punishment that they can suffer. Fretting is altogether a habit. It is often much more disastrous than any of the habits that society organizes to combat. Why then do people fret? When they feel the dull sense of fret, without being able to ascribe it to any particular fact, why do they not resolutely turn the mind to other channels? It can be done. The Spectator has done it. The habitual fretter should practice painstakingly day by day the art of self-control and secure the development of positive force. It is not the work of a moment, but the moment one resolves not to fret and registers that resolution deeply in the brain cells that moment has he marked his emancipation.

When the Winchesterite determines no longer to fret he seeks something as a foil to the inducement, and in so doing he finds sup[illegible]nd, he finds some companionship, he finds [illegible] consolatory books, he finds sol[illegible]ts and helpful cult. Every one the anti-fretting helps that will enable him to overcome the debilitating habit of worry.

The Spectator has seen many serious misunderstandings follow from the failure of parents to recognize the individuality of their children. They assume that the children are exactly like themselves, when the fact is that they are often totally unlike. If they would recognize this unlikeness and make allowance for it, the path to understanding would often be smoother. The many successes achieved in bringing up adopted children—children, usually, with a very poor start, from unknown and undesirable antecedents—show what can be done when parents study their child intelligently.

Parents are often mortified when their children give more heed to the advice of others. Other people look at the children as individuals and study them without assuming to know all about them, and often discover traits entirely unsuspected by the parents. Children know and appreciate when they are being justly estimated. Herman J. Ridgeway, under the caption "Give your children a chance," very sensibly says:—

"Among the families of your acquaintance how many—or rather how few—fathers and mothers really know their own children!

"Often parent and child are so different that they could not be expected to understand each other. But they ought at least to understand that they are different and make allowances.

"It is sad to see a brilliant child in a commonplace home trying to keep its soul from overflowing the narrow limits prescribed by its parents—torn between duty and dreams.

"It is sadder to see a commonplace child in a brilliant home driven and badgered, coaxed and threatened, forever forced to attempt impossibilities and always falling back hurt and humiliated.

"Why can't people learn to let their children alone? Why won't parents study their children? Why won't they ask their friends to help them understand their own? And if the child is commonplace, in mercy's name let him be commonplace! He won't rise to such heights of happiness, neither will he fall to such depths of misery. If the child is a genius, in mercy's name give him a double chance! Don't get in his way and block him just because you can't understand him! Clear the track!"

The problem of democracy is the problem of leadership. Under other forms of government the leaders are self appointed or determined by heredity. Under a democracy they are chosen by the people. How to induce the people to exercise this power of choice and exercise it wisely is the problem which every democratic community, Winchester included, must solve.

In selecting our public officials the first thing for us to consider is that the town is a business corporation. It is run for profit, only this profit is not estimated in dollars and cents, but in terms of life and health and well-being of the community. Why should the fact that a man is a "good mixer" and has a host of friends who know that, if he is elected, they will be rewared according to their work, be accepted as a reason for elevating him to office. The only questions we need to ask concerning any candidate are: "Is his character such that he may be depended on to serve the interests of all the people all the time?" and "Is his ability such that he can discharge the duties of his office with credit to himself and with advantage to the town?" If we can make this the sole test of office our choice of leaders will be greatly simplified.

ICE BOAT CRYSTAL TIES WITH VENTURE.

Pigeon Pilots Craft to Victory in 20-Mile Race on the Upper Mystic.

By winning Sunday's race, the Crystal, owned and sailed by Ray Pigeon of East Boston, is now tied with the Venture, Carroll Fiske's ice boat of the Medford Boat Club, in the series of races being held this winter on the upper Mystic. The Crystal's time for the course, approximately 20 miles, was 38 minutes. The Venture finished second and behind her, in order, came the Rambler (Win Karshick of the Hingham Yacht Club), the Marion (Frank G. Trott, Medford Boat Club), the Simplex (Edward Fraser, Winchester Boat Club), the Pretzel (Frank Gerlach, Winchester Boat Club). The Thelma, sailed by Edward Trott of the Winchester Boat Club, was disqualified for cutting a buoy; while the H. & S., the entry of James Newman, Winchester Boat Club, was disabled and did not finish, losing a spar in the course of the race.

The Medford Boat Club, under the auspices of which the race was held, announces that the skate sail race, planned for last Saturday, but postponed at that time on account of weather conditions, will take place next Saturday afternoon.

OBSERVATIONS.

The Selectmen and Park Commissioners did what they did and tried to do what they didn't, and in the ways they did, because they believed it to be for the best interests of the town, and nobody doubted that, but they blundered sadly in proceeding contrary to law instead of calling a town meeting to get authority first. If they had any defence they evidently thought silence was more politic and they took the wisest course.

We should establish now a board of public works, as we have outgrown our present system. Consolidation of the water and sewer boards has worked well and further consolidation with highways, parks, and possibly some others, will much improve the workings of all. We are a city in all but our form of government and have a larger valuation and spend more money than several cities, and we are not getting the full value of our expenditures because of our inadequate system, and the sooner we change it the better. Such a bill was petitioned for by Mr. Parkhurst and others in 1908 when he was our representative, but on account of pressure of work he put it over to the next session, for which unfortunately he decided not to be a candidate later on and the matter was dropped.

The article which was the cause for calling the town meeting, because money had been borrowed in anticipation of taxes on a six months note in August, got by without comment before the meeting waked up. The Selectmen not only paid six per cent but blundered in making the time so short that the note fell due before the annual meeting, necessitating a special one.

A baker's dozen of prominent citizens agreed to stand behind a contract that wasn't worth the paper it was written on as nobody had any authority to make it. The Park Board could have made it if it had had the money, but it didn't have it and nobody but the town could give that necessary authority.

It looks as if the question "Why was not a town meeting called," must be included in the "Who struck Billy Patterson" class.

Winchester's tax rate for the past ten years averages $17.30, but if we don't go above $19.00 this year we will be lucky. It would not be a very good ad for this town to have its tax rate jump two dollars in a year, but we are well on the way to it and it will be almost impossible to get it down again. Our expenses have increased, per capita, out of all reason, and no department appears to be willing even to try to help out, but instead tries to get all the money to spend it can and extravagant and reckless citizens back them up and add to it. Now has come a time when with the most stupendous war in history raging, business depressed and nobody knowing what the future for many years ahead will be, it would seem as if the time had certainly come to call a halt on extravagance and the Finance Committee should at least put it up to the town as strongly as possible and try to hold it down to necessities for the present and keep the tax rate within reason.

The efficiency of a planning board depends entirely upon its personnel, so see if we cannot induce such men to serve. One citizen has written a very good book on this question.

Nobody who knows Winchester would believe anybody's statement that its needy were neglected by the town. We always have an ample regular fund and also a special fund with a substantial available income balance, and nobody can name a town or city that takes better care of its needy, and before citizens make wild and loud talk in town meeting regarding this they should post themselves up. Undoubtedly in any town of ten thousand inhabitants individual cases may be found at times of people who need assistance, and if the cases are made known they will get it in this town.

Cushing couldn't wait, but he will have to.

The war looks no nearer the end than it did several months ago, but of course it must be. The plan appears to be to wear Germany out.

The shipping bill is one of Wilson's few blunders.

The legislature is moving the fastest ever and the betting is it will be out before Memorial Day.

THE FEDERAL CHILD LABOR BILL. WHY?

An active campaign for the passage of the Palmer-Owen federal child labor bill by the present Congress has been inaugurated by the National Child Labor Committee. "Leading senators and representatives told us at the National Child Labor Conference, recently held in Washington," said Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, "that the only thing needed for the passage of this bill was insistent public demand. We were so much encouraged by this news that we are redoubling our efforts to bring the bill before the public in the short time that is left before the adjournment of Congress on March 4th.

"If the bill does not pass, it means that the thousands of children under 14 who are still at work in factories, and the 50,000 or more children under 16 who may legally be employed at night, and the still more appalling number of over 100,000 under 16 who may legally work 9, 10, and 11 hours a day, will continue to labor under these conditions. State regulation would reach them some time as it has already reached thousands of children in the past, but the National Child Labor Committee has been trying for 10 years to bring the states throughout the country up to the standards attained in the Palmer-Owen bill. Today all the states but two have adopted one or more of its provisions, but only nine have adopted them all.

"State regulation has its place," continued Mr. Lovejoy, "but this question of child labor in the factories and mines that ship goods in interstate commerce is another matter. The regulation of child labor in stores, hotels, laundries and street trades, for instance, must be left to the states, but Congress can and should protect the thousands of children who manufacture goods for interstate commerce. It is the quickest way to free them from premature employment, and it is the only way in which the manufacturer in states where the employment of children is carefully regulated, can be protected from the unfair competition of states with lower standards. We believe in "state's rights" and we believe that they include the right of the manufacturer to equal competition, the right of the consumer to protection from child-made goods, and the right of the future citizens to a normal childhood and a chance for education."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A STIFF PROPOSITION is What Buyers of Laundry Starch are up against in These Days of Many Deceptions.
The market is full of cheap, poor starches, adulterated with potato flour, chalk, pipe-clay, ground alabaster and other substances.
The housewife and the little hole-in-the-wall laundry are often victimized by these cheats.
The progressive laundryowner, buying on a large scale and dealing only with the most reliable houses, gets a genuine starch that gives real quality to his work.

Another "Hopeless Case"
He Astonished the Doctors—Recovers Without Operation—Used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Mr. James Lettice, of Canajoharie, N.Y., writes:
"Some years ago I was attacked with fearful pains in my back and side. I could not control my kidneys at all, and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered intensely. A prominent physician of Albany, N.Y., decided that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded this and commenced to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I felt better almost immediately. When I had taken about two bottles, the flow from the bladder was much easier, the pain stopped, I was saved from the surgeon's knife and am now well."
The above letter was written in 1900, to prove that the benefit he obtained from Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was permanent, read what he says in a recent letter (in 1912):
"I am enjoying the best of health. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me as you know. I have answered many letters asking about it. I send it out on praising it."
Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had nearly 40 years of great success in Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Not a "patent" medicine, but a physician's prescription, prepared for universal use. Write today to Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N.Y., for a free trial bottle and booklet of valuable medical advice. Large bottles sold by 50,000 druggists.

The Winchester Star

At the neighborhood meeting held in the Chapin schoolhouse last week, a strong sentiment was manifested in favor of shower baths in the basement of the school building, where their is plenty of room for them. There are many families with large numbers of children in this neighborhood that have not the facilities in the homes for bathing and where these baths would prove of great convenience and also promotors of good health. At this meeting a vote was passed to request the School Board to make provision in their appropriation to install six baths, and it is to be hoped that the citizens will see their way clear to grant the small sum that may be needed.

Hon. Samuel W. McCall has announced that he will be a candidate for Governor next year. Mr. McCall made a splendid fight last election. He says: "Having accepted the responsibilities of leadership at a time when defeat seemed certain, I have a natural ambition to lead the fight when victory seems assured."

A GRADE CROSSING SUGGESTION

Editor of the Star:—

Sir:—In the present financial condition of the Boston & Maine railroad, it is doubtful if any elaborate arrangements for safety at the stations, or at the centre, can be put through for a long time to come.

May I suggest a simple arrangement that would safeguard passengers at Wedgemere station and at Winchester station, and that possibly might be applied to the Crossing. At the Winchester station, it would permit doing away with the fence and unsightly bridge.

Move the outer track away from the inner track so as to leave an open space of about 15 feet between.

This would create a safety "island," between the tracks, of sufficient width so that anyone crossing behind one train would not immediately walk in front of another train going in the opposite direction. There would be space enough so that the person would see any approaching train before reaching the further track, and, therefore, even if caught between the two tracks would have ample room to stand in safety.

This arrangement would safeguard in still another way,—in that passengers getting off the train on the wrong side at Wedgemere or at Winchester, (as all, for obvious reasons, prefer to do) would have plenty of opportunity to look up the track and escape danger from any other train.

Chas. E. L. Wingate.

MR. PARKHURST'S ACTION MUCH APPRECIATED.

Editor of the Star:—

At the late town meeting it was plainly evident that all present deeply appreciated the patriotic and disinterested efforts made by Mr. Parkhurst to bring about the cleaning out of the old mill pond during the present season without waiting for a town appropriation to pay for the work. There seemed no way at the time to express this feeling except by the hastily written resolution presented by Mr. Whitney and put by the moderator by unanimous consent and which was unanimously voted. It is to be hoped that at some future time some more effective action may be taken to express the feeling of the town toward Mr. Parkhurst in this matter.

From Mr. Parkhurst's explanation it seems that twelve other citizens agreed in writing to join in protecting Mr. Parkhurst from loss provided the town did not appropriate the money required after it was spent and the pond dug out. In a lesser degree these gentlemen, whoever they are, should be also credited with public spirit of high order. Their names should be given to the public as Mr. Parkhurst's backers, and not be hidden under a bushel. Certainly a town with such citizens is to be envied and it speaks well for Winchester that it has many such.

Appreciative Citizen.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

Practically no work of note was done at the bridges during the past week, the snow and frozen ground interfering with any excavating.

At the Fire and Police Building the plastering has been commenced in the police portion and the fireproof partitions are well up in the fire part.

The Star Building has the interior partitions up and ready for lathing. The L. A. Laraway Co. has the heater set up and a considerable portion of the piping in place. It has the wiring installed and George T. Davidson has completed the plumbing, the water test being held yesterday. The Rockwood Sprinkler Co. is hanging its pipes, the basement being already finished. All the wire glass was set the first of the week and it is expected that the remaining glass, except for the Church and Park street fronts, will be in place by tomorrow.

The contract for the steel shelving at the Star office has been awarded the Manufacturing Equipment & Engineering Co. of South Framingham, of which Mr. S. D. Leland, formerly a resident and Selectman of Winchester, is president. This firm supplied the steel lockers in use at the High School and steel shelving at the Winchester Trust Co., and is figuring on the equipment at the Fire and Police Building.

The Central Hardware Co. has received the hardware contract for the Star Building and also for the Fire and Police Building.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The Inspector of Buildings has issued the following permits for the week ending Jan. 28:

Jennie V. Walleston of Roxbury; wood frame dwelling on Chisholm road, 24x24x8S.

George B. Whitehorne of Eaton street, wood frame dwelling at No. 49 Wedgemere avenue.

John C. Kerrison; permit to construct piazza at his residence, No. 15 Lakeview road.

WINTER TOURNAMENT.

Teams Still Fighting Neck and Neck for Honors.

The ex-presidents defeated the presidents in an exciting match by four points in the week-end games in the Calumet bowling tournament, and the defeat was so decisive that the losers did not even record it. MARRIAGE INTENTIONS.

The following marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk:

Joseph V. Sullivan of Woburn and Margaret Callahan of this town.

WINCHESTER GENTLEMEN OFFICERS.

Five Million Dollar Stock Company Incorporated Last Week.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts last Friday, for the incorporation of Everlastik, incorporated, with an authorized capital stock divided into Preferred "A" $1,000,000, Preferred "B" $2,000,000, Common $1,900,000.

The incorporators named in the articles are: Herbert S. Blake of Herbert S. Blake & Company, William Leslie of Leslie, Banks & Company, Chartered Accountants, and Harry E. Hanes, President of Standard Appraisal Company, all of New York.

John Abbott, Esq., of Winchester and 53 State street, Boston, filed the articles as counsel for the incorporators.

The following statement of Everlastik, incorporated, has been made by Mr. John Abbott: Everlastik, incorporated, has purchased the going business and property of the following concerns,—T. Martin & Bro. Mfg. Co. of Chelsea and Lowell, Mass., Hub Gore Makers, Boston and Brockton, Mass., Bridgeport Elastic Fabric Co., Bridgeport, Conn., Leolastic, Bayonne, N. J.

The purchase of these properties will enable Everlastik, incorporated, to furnish practically a complete line, and the business will be continued at the several plants as now conducted.

The permanent officers of the corporation will be as follows: President, Bertram T. Martin; Vice President and General Manager, William B. Spencer; Vice President and Counsel, John Abbott; Treasurer, John E. Page; Clerk and Secretary, Walter L. Martin; Assistant General Manager, Charles B. Stretch; Assistant Clerk and Assistant Treasurer, Wilwyn Herbert; Chairman of the Board of Directors, Herbert S. Blake.

The foregoing officers and Mr. Samuel Lowndes, of Bridgeport, Conn., will constitute the Board of nine Directors.

Three Winchester men are officers: Bertram T. Martin of Sheffield road, President; John E. Page of Everett avenue, Treasurer; John Abbott of Arlington street, Vice President and Counsel.

APPOINTMENT OF MODERATOR.

Representative James D. Bailey has introduced a bill in the Legislature to provide for the appointment of moderators pro tempore to serve at elections of town officers. The act reads:

Section 1. In any town which a moderator who has been elected for the term of one year is a candidate for re-election, or in a town in which a moderator is to be chosen for the first time for the term of one year, the selectmen or a majority thereof, shall before the annual town election at which a moderator is to be a candidate for re-election as aforesaid, or at which a moderator for the term of one year is first to be chosen as aforesaid, appoint a moderator pro tempore who shall be some person other than a candidate at such town election. Such moderator pro tempore shall have all the powers of a moderator, and shall serve as a presiding election officer at the polls for the election of town officers and at the counting of the ballots, and shall preside at the town meeting until a permanent moderator shall have been chosen and qualified. He shall receive the same compensation as other election officers.

Section 2. So much of section three hundred and ninety-seven of chapter eight hundred and thirty-five of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, and the acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto as is inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed.

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Representative W. F. Prime has called attention to the case of Wheeler v. Carter reported in 180 Mass. 585, where it was decided that a moderator in a town not divided into voting precincts was not disqualified from serving at an election in which he was a candidate for selectman.

This case would seem to be authority for the proposition that a moderator should not be disqualified from presiding at an election in which he is a candidate for re-election, and hence it is doubted if the legislation is needed to enable a moderator at the annual meeting to also be a candidate on the ballot.

But however that may be, it would not be a pleasant position for a moderator to act as presiding election officer at an election in which he was a candidate for re-election when his candidacy is contested. It certainly does not seem right that a moderator should be judge of his own election in a contested case, and that is practically the result of the law since the moderator decides how questionable ballots shall be counted, and for whom they shall be counted, and helps blind and infirm persons to vote.

POLISH DAY.

As more news is received from the eastern theatre of war, the pitiable condition of the victims of the war in Poland is becoming better known. Henryk Sienkiewicz, the novelist, and Ignace Paderewski, the pianist, have written of the devastation and misery in their country, and Mme. Szumowska Adamowski has said in Boston that three fourths of Poland has been changed into a desert.

Now comes official testimony from Dr. Wickliffe Rose and Ernest Bicknell, who, after making investigation among the war sufferers in Belgium on behalf of the Rockefeller Foundation, went to Russian Poland for the American Red Cross. Their trip took them through the parts of Russian Poland now under German control, and was taken with the idea of organizing in that territory relief work similar to that in Belgium. They reported that the conditions in Poland were most distressing; if anything, worse than in Belgium.

It is hoped that it will be possible to raise a considerable sum in Winchester on Polish Day, Saturday, February 6, the day on which Polish flags and eagles will be sold throughout the State for the relief of the war sufferers in Poland.

WINCHESTER WON TWO FROM READING.

The Winchester High first and second teams won from Reading High in basketball at the High School gymnasium Wednesday evening. It was an easy victory for the first team but the game was roughly played, Cullen being ruled from the floor in the second period. The final score was 34 to 14 and is the sixth victory for the Winchester five. Warner scored eight baskets from the floor, and Locke threw six. The summary:

WINCHESTER H.		READING H.
W. Locke, rf		lb, Nichols
W. Warner, lf		rb, Symonds
Cullen, c		c, Jenkins
P. Cole, g
F. Smith, rb		lf, McKenzie
Watt, lb		rf, McLeod

Score, Winchester High School 34, Reading High School 14. Goals from floor, Warner 8, Locke 6, Watt, Jenkins 2, McLeod. Goals from free tries, Locke 2, Jenkins 8. Referee, Davis. Scorer, Ronsdell. Timer, Mathews. Time, 15-minute and 20-minute periods. Attendance 160.

Again the second team game furnished the excitement of the evening. Reading scored first, but the home five soon got busy and at the end of the first period the score board showed six to four in favor of Winchester. After a few minutes of play in the second period a tie, eight to eight, resulted, and it looked as if the contest would go extra time. However, the home team finally won out 11 to 9. Each player did well in his respective position.

INITIATED NINE CANDIDATES.

Large Attendance at Winchester Grange Tuesday Evening.

Winchester Grange entertained a large number of other grangers on Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall, the occasion being the installation of officers and the conferring of the third degree on nine cadidates. Visitors were present from the granges in Stoneham, Woburn, Millis, Everett, Melrose, Bedford, Hollis and Haverhill, N. H.

The third degree was worked by the degree team from Stoneham Grange, consisting of Mrs. Maude S. Hibbs, M; Mrs. Mary E. Linscott, O; Mrs. Grace Fuller, L; Mrs. Emily Palmer, chaplain; Mrs. Ethel Norton, Ceres; Miss Beatrice Balmer, Pomona; Miss Hilla Herberg, Flora; Miss Edna Green, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Nason, secretary; Mrs. Eva Barnstead, steward; Mrs. Mabel Munro, assistant steward; Mrs. Adelaide Lister, lady assistant steward; Mrs. Mary Parker, gatekeeper; Merle Farr, Albert Aldrick and James Munro, harvesters; Mrs. Mildred Wardwell, Mrs. Zoe Wiggin and Miss Mary Carmichael, gleaners.

The installation ceremony was conducted by Ivan Richardson of Millis, past State lecturer, assisted by Mrs. Richardson. Following the installation addresses were made by Mr. Richardson, Deputy John R. Conley of Bedford, Albert Kohr, master of Everett Grange, and by Deputy Frank T. Marston of Melrose, who presented a past master's jewel to the retiring master, Frederick M. Symmes, in behalf of the grange.

Announcement was made that at the next meeting, February 9, there will be a display of labor saving conveniences and an address by Miss Agnes Dorhan, instructor in the Garland School of Homemaking. This will be an open meeting in conjunction with the Mothers' Association and The Fortnightly.

LADY REDMOND BRANCH OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The installation of officers of Lady Redmond Branch No. 916, I. N. F., took place in Lyceum Hall, Wednesday evening. The installing officer was General Organizer Charles F. McCarthy of Boston, assisted by John Shinnick of Winchester as Marshal.

The following officers were installed: C. R., Elizabeth Ryan; S. C. R., Sarah Rogers; P. C. R., C. M. Kennedy; Fin. Sec., Mary E. Connelly; Rec. Sec., Mary Cogan; Treasurer, Elizabeth Cummings; Sr. W., Mary Mooney; Jr. W., Barbara Connelly; Sr. B., Mary Ryan; Jr. B., Rose Ryan; Trustees, Mary O'Neil, Laura Bond, Nellie Hackerty.

After the installation the following numbers were rendered while refreshments were served:

Piano Solo	Charlotte Mooney
Duet	Helen Brownell and Mary Cummings
Song (Shanden Bells)	Mildred Kennedy
Piano Solo	John Hennessey
Medley	Kathleen Kennedy
Song (Rosary)	Charlotte Mooney
Fancy Dancing	K. Kennedy
Piano Solo	Mildred Harrold
Song (Acushla Machree)	John Shannix

After the concert whist and dancing was enjoyed by members and their guests.

MISS BILLIE BURKE IN "JERRY" AT THE HOLLIS.

Miss Billie Burke, one of America's favorite actresses, will be the attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, for a few weeks beginning Monday, February 1, when she will appear in "Jerry," the comedy that Catherine Chisholm Cushing wrote for her and in which she scored one of her biggest successes at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, last spring. This, by the way, is the play in which Miss Burke wears the pink pajamas that set all New York talking.

It is a very amusing play and it enables Miss Burke to wear a lot of pretty frocks as well as the aforementioned pink pajamas and to display her charming personality to the very best possible advantage.

As usual, Charles Frohman has given his popular star a fine supporting company, which includes Shelley Hull, Selene Johnson, Alice John, H. Lawrence Leyton, Thomas Reynolds and Edwin Burch. He has given the play some very beautiful stage settings, too.

Matinees will be given at the Hollis during Miss Burke's engagement on Wednesday and Saturday.

TREMONT THEATRE.

George M. Cohan's farce "Seven Keys to Baldpate" will begin next Monday the last week of its engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston. The play has been thoroughly enjoyed by those who have seen it. It is well for those who are on their way to see the play during the final week, that there are no more than seven keys to the inn. Another key with the same power for provoking mirth as the others, would cause the audience to die of exhaustion.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" starts out almost as a rural comedy. From then on, for a way, it is melodrama. The play is funny because it isn't intended to be real melodrama and it isn't. The lines are screamingly funny.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

With each successive performance of "Common Clay," which began its third week Monday, Mr. Kinkead's thrilling drama of modern life seems to be drawing its audience from wider and wider public. Quite a feature of the production are the big box parties which come in nightly, not only from greater Boston but from towns and cities outside the New England metropolis, to see the play, and discuss it together between the acts.

It was left for a lady member of one on these parties the other night to find the fitting and inevitable word for Ellen Neal, the wayward but big-hearted little heroine. "I like your play," she wrote to the management after witnessing "Common Clay," "not only because it is a big drama, but because Ellen is such a brave example of the girl who is not afraid to 'hit back.'" It looks as if "Common Clay" were fated to go down in dramatic history with the subtitle of "The Girl Who Hit Back."

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT.

Police Auto Beat Electric Car to Arlington.

The Winchester police, after a quick trip from this town in the department automobile following information of the theft of goods from Miss Mae Richardson's store in the Lane Building and from the Winchester Exchange on Main street, arrested a woman giving the name of Charlotte F. Deihl on Friday afternoon just as she stepped off an electric car in Arlington.

It appears that the woman visited Miss Richardson's store and made several selections of Miss Abby Curry at that place. During her purchases she asked to see a lace collar which was displayed in the window. Upon paying for the goods she said that she had nothing with her except a check for $65, and offered to leave her purchases while she went to the Winchester Trust Co. to cash it.

Meanwhile, instead of going to the Trust Company she visited the Winchester Exchange, where she purchased goods to the value of $12. Here she also tendered the check and again offered to go out and cash it. When she left, however, she took her purchases with her.

Shortly after her departure Mrs. F. F. Carpenter of the Exchange became suspicious, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Carpenter, went over Church street in the vicinity of the Trust Company to look for the woman. Not finding any trace of her the police were notified.

Officer McCauley took Miss Carpenter with him in the police auto and at once drove to Arlington, he believing that the woman had taken a car for that place from some point on Church street. His suspicions were correct, and she was found in Arlington centre just after she left the car, waiting to take another car for Boston. When arrested she was highly indignant, but she had the bundles with her of the goods purchased, and was brought back to Winchester.

By this time it was reported from Miss Richardson's store that the lace collar which had been taken from the window was missing and she was further implicated with this theft. In presenting the check she had in both instances stated that her name was Mrs. Dix and that she resided on Wildwood street.

She was arraigned in the Woburn Court Saturday morning and fined $20, ten on each count. It is reported that she resided in this town about nine years ago and at that time was wanted by the police for defrauding her boarding house and abandoning her child.

MR. McCALL A CANDIDATE.

Hon. Samuel W. McCall announces that he will again be a candidate for Governor. Last year when he ran it was supposed that any man running for this office would be snowed under. But this was not so with Mr. McCall, as he came very near being elected, and he and his friends look for an easy win out next fall. He is entitled to the nomination, as the large vote that he polled proves that he is a strong man. In announcing his candidacy he says:

"I have refrained until now from saying anything about the governorship, because I have believed that the Republicans of Massachusetts were not in a mood to discuss candidates so soon after the close of the last campaign, and because I have felt that we were all entitled to a rest. But I have been asked so many times lately whether I expected to run for Governor again, and the newspapers of the State have taken the question up in such a way, that, in order to stop conjecture, I have decided to make my attitude public sooner than I should otherwise have done.

"I was nominated with no opposition last year at a time when the prospect for the election of a Republican Governor was most discouraging. At the close of the campaign the party had resumed its place as a coherent militant political organization. In accepting the responsibilities of leadership at a time when defeat seemed certain, I have a natural ambition to lead the fight when victory seems assured. I will therefore say, as I said last summer, that if the Republicans of Massachusetts shall see fit to nominate me for Governor, I shall deem it an honor to serve them again as their candidate.

Samuel W. McCall."

BRITISH IMPERIAL RELIEF FUND

The Executive Committee of The British Imperial Relief Fund of New England has made arrangements for an entertainment, in aid of the Fund, in Tremont Temple, Boston, on Thursday evening, February 25. The Committee has been fortunate in securing, as principal speakers, Sir George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Canadian Cabinet, and Dr. W. Peterson, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill University, Montreal. Sir George Foster has an international reputation as a speaker at once forcible and attractive;—and the scholarly attainments of Principal Peterson are universally recognized. These and other well known gentlemen may be expected to present the merits of the Allies' cause and the need of an effective organization supporting, in New England, the charitable work called for by the families or other dependents of members of the British Imperial forces engaged in the war. Patriotic songs and instrumental music will be among the special features of the occasion.

The Executive Committee voted, on January 22, to forward $5,000 to the Prince of Wales' National Relief Fund, London, this being the second contribution of that amount. Contributions of $2,500 each have been made to the Officers' Families Fund, London, and to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, Ottawa.

LADY DUNBAR AND MR. KING.

Society experienced the most surprising and brilliant sensation of the season recently when the H. F. Club announced, to a distinguished gathering of relatives and friends, the engagement of the Lady Anne Dunbar, daughter of the Duke and Duchess Douglass Dunbar of Devonshire, to the Honorable Bertram King, a well known young American and a graduate of Oxford.

Except for a few tears on the part of Duchess Louise, the bride's mother, the news was received with all enthusiasm and many congratulations were extended to the groom. Mr. King prepared for college while in America, then coming to England he distinguished himself in the academic line at Oxford, being graduated in the year 1911. Since then he has been in America for a space of two years and it was was at this time that he was dignified with the title of Honorable, having accomplished certain law work in Boston. The fall of 1913 witnessed his return to England, and up to date he has been living at London and in Devon County.

Lady Anne Dunbar herself is a graduate of one of the most select boarding-schools about Devonshire and is at present the acknowledged leader of her group of young people at home.

The young couple have known each other for several years, in fact they met during the first year of Mr. King's career; and apparently the engagement is only the climax of a long romance, the story of which was unknown even to their intimate families.

The bridal party will without doubt be the most eminent group in attendance to any bride since the famous Lancaster marriage in 1910. It seems that the Lady Juliette Napple will act as maid of honor and that the bride's two sisters, little Lady Beatrice, as flower girl, and Lady Victoria, as ring-bearer, will come next in the bridal train. There are to be only four bride's maids, but these include the cream of all England, socially. First comes the Countess Elaine Bolenbroke, with Miss Rosalin King, the groom's sister, who is now on her way from America, headed for Devonshire. And last are the Ladies Avangelin Pembroke and Lucille Duff Gordan. The celebrated Earl Malcolm of Sussex, a class-mate of the groom at Oxford, will attend as best man. Above all other features in the wedding is the fact that the young people are to be married by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The whole social world is already astir in preparation for this great event which is to take place on the evening of February the twenty-seventh in the chapel of one of the elders near the Dunbar estate. Then the brilliant company will drive to the bride's home where a large reception is planned.

In fact the excitement of arrangements and plans is so excessive and society is looking forward to the affair with such zeal, that it forebodes to be the most illustrious occasion of the previous five years.

The parts will be taken as follows:

The Bride, Lady Anne..... Anna Heflon
The Groom, Mr. King..... Bertha Kelley
Douglass Dunbar, Duke of Devon.. Ruth Elder
Lady Louise, Duchess of Devon. Dorothy Farrow
Lady Juliette Napple..... Julia Shey
Earl Malcolm of Sussex..... Marian Kendall
Lady Beatrice Dunbar..... Kathleen Sheridan
Lady Victoria Dunbar..... Margaret Saltmarsh
Countess Elaine Bolenbroke..... Doris Bowman
Miss Rosalin King..... Edith Dewer
Lady Evangelin Pembroke..... Maude Gowen
Lady Lucille Duff Gordan..... Selena Cohaen

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by the Winchester League.

"There is only one fault to be found with suffrage meetings, which is, that they should never have to be," says the editor of Notes and Comment in the Fall River News, in the strongest anti-suffrage community in the State. Continuing the editor states: "And the same fault may be found with suffrage societies. There never ought to have been any need for them. In all history it seems the most churlish, selfish, poor sport thing that man has ever done to refuse women the vote when women decided that they wanted it. And when I have been to a suffrage meeting and seen the decent, logical, patient and determined way the women deal with the stuffy egotism of man's stubbornness in this matter, I wish that nature had so endowed a man that he could kick himself for being a man. I note that a certain Wendell Phillips, who was well known in Boston and elsewhere half a century since, said 64 years ago that 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' are the inalienable rights of all, not of half the human race. By which he referred to the right of women to vote."

Mrs. John L. Gardner, of the Venetian Palace in Boston's Fenway, patroness of art and music, and a conspicuous leader in Boston society, is the latest prominent addition to the ranks of Massachusetts woman suffragists. Two weeks ago the Masachusetts Woman Suffrage Association were able to say that John Kendrick Bangs, the noted humorist, had joined their ranks; last week Irvin S. Cobb, the war correspondent, offered his services to the Massachusetts Association having become convinced through his observations abroad that woman suffrage was needed. Now the name of Mrs. Gardner is added to the list of distinguished persons desirous of associating themselves actively in the suffrage campaign in Massachusetts. Up to a few weeks ago Mrs. Gardner was neutral; then she met some of the leading workers of the Massachusetts Association; they interested her and she investigated their claims for votes for women. As a result, Mrs. Gardner is now a pronounced suffragist and her first expression of support has been in buying two boxes for the performance of Delibes' ballet of "Sylvia" which the Ways and Means Committee of the Massachusetts Association is to give in the Boston Opera House next Tuesday afternoon.

"Come, O thou Traveler unknown,
Whom still I hold, but cannot see;
My company before is gone,
And I am left alone with thee:
With thee all night I mean to stay,
And wrestle till the break of day."

What memories this old hymn brings back to us Epworthians. Memories which to us are sacred. Let us renew the old time spirit by coming out on next Sunday evening. Miss Mina Hartley will have charge of this meeting of beautiful thought.

"O Love that wilt not let me go,
I rest my weary soul on thee;
I give thee back the life I owe,
That in Thine ocean depths its flow
May richer, fuller be."

This will be the first of "Evenings with Grat Hymns." A most cordial welcome awaits all.

THIS busy, progressive nation is today at the dawn of a new era of commercial and social development. The means by which the human voice, with its slightest inflections and indications of personality, can be carried across the continent instantly, have been provided. Talking by telephone from the Atlantic to the Pacific is now an accomplished fact.

The celebration of this latest and greatest triumph in the art of telephony has just taken place. Within a short time the public will have, ready for its use, the product of American brains, American initiative and American scientific and technical skill, a transcontinental telephone service, the equal of which is not even approached in all the other nations of the world.

It is a splendid scientific achievement of the very highest character. The power that sends the human voice out over the telephone is scarcely greater than that of a breath, yet the means have been provided by which this tiny, almost imaginary impulse, made up of as many as 2,000 separate vibrations a second, can be picked up by a delicate instrument, conserved over a distance of 3,400 miles, and reproduced perfectly and instantly across the continent. The human voice has been made to travel as fast as light, faster than sound unaided by technical apparatus; indeed, it rivals THOUGHT even, in the swiftness of its flight.

The imagination can but feebly grasp, much less attempt to measure, the far-reaching significance of such a tremendous accomplishment. One hundred million people will have for their daily use a system of communication that knows no East, no West, no North, no South. Dialects, provincialisms, sectional prejudices, must eventually yield to the closer union, the better understanding, the more intimate comradeship that the human voice establishes. The neighborliness of a whole nation is advanced by the brushing away of the physical restraints of centuries.

This contribution to the future happiness and prosperity of a more closely united people has not been brought about, however, by the overcoming of a few isolated, concrete difficulties. Its success has depended upon the exercise of the highest engineering and technical skill and the solution was found only in the cumulative effect of improvements great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

In this work the experimental and research department of the Bell System of which this Company is a part, has been engaged ever since the telephone became a commercial possibility, less than 40 years ago. With no traditions to follow and no experience to guide, this department, which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post graduate students, scientific investigators—the graduates of 140 universities—has created an entirely new art—the art of telephony, and has given to the people of this country a telephone service that has no equal.

It has required vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort, but these have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. The transcontinental telephone line, 3,400 miles long, joining the Atlantic and Pacific, is part of the Bell System of 21,000,000 miles of wire connecting 9,000,000 telephone stations, located everywhere throughout the United States. Composing this system are the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Associated Companies and connecting companies, giving universal service to 100,000,000 people.

TOWN MEETING.

Voted, That the Town Treasurer be and hereby is authorized and instructed under the direction of the Selectmen to issue and sell fourteen (14) coupon bonds of the town in sums of one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, payable as follows: $3,000 March 1, 1916; $3,000 March 1, 1917; $3,000 March 1, 1918; $3,000 March 1, 1919; $2,000 March 1, 1920. Said bonds to be denominated on their face, "Town of Winchester, Surface Drainage Bonds," shall state upon their face that they are exempt from taxation in Massachusetts, shall be signed by the Town Treasurer, and countersigned by the Selectmen, and shall have the impress of the town seal thereon and bear interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, payable semi-annually in each year upon the presentation of the coupons attached and payable to the bearer. Any premium received on said bonds when sold except so much thereof as may be required to pay the cost of preparing, issuing and marketing them, shall be applied to the payment of the principal of the first bond or bonds to mature.

Article 4. This article called for the appropriation of $2,500 for placing wires of the fire department underground. Selectman Davidson in offering the motion explained that this money would place the wires in the conduits of the telephone company which were now completed and ready. It was desired that the work be done now, that it might be ready when the new Fire and Police Building was finished. The town could also carry out this work now better than later, as the cable had to be made up, and with the increase in the cost of rubber a saving of 10 per cent could be effected. The motion was passed to appropriate the money.

Article 5. This article, providing for the raising and appropriating of $22,100 for the ratifying of contracts made by the town in carrying out the work on the new bridges and river improvements, was productive of most of the discussion of the evening.

Selectman Davidson offered the following motion:

Voted, that the sum of twenty-two thousand, one hundred dollars ($22,100) be raised by revenue and that thirteen thousand five hundred dollars ($13,500) part thereof, be appropriated to pay for the building and completion of the bridges over the Aberjona River at Main street and Waterfield road, to be expended under the direction of the Selectmen; and that the balance thereof, namely eight thousand six hundred dollars ($8,600) be appropriated to pay for the building and completion of the dam, for the excavation of the river between the bridges, and for the improvement of the Whitney mill site, so called, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners.

Selectman Brown spoke on the motion and there followed a general discussion. Mr. A. E. Whitney desired to know what plans the town intended carrying out in doing this work, and felt that they should be submitted to the voters. Mr. E. K. Jewett requested information as to how much of the appropriation would be spent for new work and how much for work already contracted for. John H. Carter desired to know if the Kellaway plan was to be carried out. Selectman Brown replied to both questions by saying that practically all the money would be required to pay for contracts already made, and that the plans adopted were substantially those of Mr. Kellaway, as shown at the meeting of last June.

The labor discussion then opened again, this time being extended. Amendments of various nature were made to provide that the work should be done by citizens and residents, the labor side being championed by Messrs. W. L. Tuck and T. E. Barrett. In reply to the statement that local men, out of employment, could not get work on the Town improvements, Selectman Davidson stated that Contractor Bryne, who is building the bridges, had been requested to employ town men so far as possible and had been willing to do so. Mr. Davidson cited an instance where town men had been sent to this job and given work, and also where town men had been sent there and had refused work because they could not receive $2.50 a day and did not like the work they would have to do. A larger part of the discussion appeared to be by the labor men, and it did not seem to be thoroughly in accord amongst its own ranks. The general impression received was that town men are given a preference over any and all others, but they did not all want the work at a wage less than they had been receiving from other departments and further that some did not like the work they were called on to do anyway. This discussion occupied the longest period on any article in the warrant, but appeared to be settled in a manner satisfactory to all factions. The above vote was passed.

Article 6. This article in substance ratified the vote of the town made at the June meeting for the purchase of the Highlands Playground. It was explained by Town Counsel Dutch that the previous vote could not be carried out owing to the wording of the article in the warrant and the vote passed. In ratifying the previous action the vote was made to include the strip of land from Washington street to the river, it being felt, both by the Park Board and many others that this was necessary to the proper development of the site. This being a bond issue a rising vote was taken, the motion to purchase being again carried unanimously by a vote of 207 to 0.

Article 7. This article provided an unexpected surprise to almost every voter present and left a feeling of mingled regret and dissatisfaction with the meeting. The article called for an appropriation to ratify a certain agreement made between the Park Commissioners and Mr. Lewis Parkhurst.

In substance the matter was as follows: It appeared that it was very desirable during the low water in the mill pond necessitated by the bridge construction that the same be dredged. This will have to be done at some time, and last fall appeared to be the most opportune time. No money being available for the work, Mr. Parkhurst stepped forward and with the co-operation of ten other citizens offered to supply the money necessary that the opportunity might not be lost, it being understood that the matter would be put before the town and the gentlemen reimbursed. A contract was drawn and signed, Mr. Parkhurst appearing as the responsible party. Later developments made it apparent that the transaction could not, under the conditions, be legally carried through. The contract was then cancelled.

Mr. Parkhurst moved that the article be dismissed from the warrant, explaining the circumstances and stating that its insertion in the warrant was unknown to him.

There was some discussion and universal regret over the incident. Mr. Parkhurst was warmly applauded at the conclusion of his remarks.

Article 8, regarding the paving of the centre, was indefinitely postponed.

Article 9. Under this article the following vote was passed.

Voted, It is the sense of this meeting that the Selectmen or Park Board proceed immediately with the surface drainage or any other work in which to give work to the inhabitants of the town.

This vote again brought up the labor question, with a considerable discussion, much of the ground previously gone over again being covered.

Article 6 was then reconsidered, the vote on the bond issue being transposed, it being necessary to provide a portion of over one-third of the issue in the bonds first maturing. This changed the bond issue so that $3000 matured first instead of last.

At this point Mr. Tuck had a tilt with Mr. Farnsworth over taking up the next article, the latter gentleman moving to take up article 11 before considering article 10. Article 10 received the next consideration.

Article 10. Mr. Tuck offered a motion that a committee of three be appointed to confer with President Hustis of the Boston & Maine Railroad to secure an escalator for the overhead bridge at the station. Although Mr. Tuck had the sympathy of the meeting, his motion was lost.

Mr. P. E. Fitzgerald of the Finance Committee offered a motion that a committee of five be appointed to investigate and report at the March meeting on the consolidation of town offices. This was carried.

Mr. A. E. Whitney offered a vote of thanks to Mr. Parkhurst for his interest in town improvements and his action in the matter of dredging the mill pond. This vote was carried unanimously and was as follows:

Voted, that it is the sense of this meeting that the citizens of the town cordially appreciate and approve the spirit which inspired Mr. Lewis Parkhurst to attempt to provide for the excavation of the mill pond and that they regret that his plans could not be carried out.

Article 11. Under this article Mr. Ralph E. Joslin submitted the following report and motion, the latter being voted:

To the Citizens of Winchester:—

The committee appointed at the annual meeting held in the year nineteen hundred and fourteen under Article 37 of the Warrant and the committee appointed at a special meeting of the town held May 25, 1914, under Article 22 of the Warrant of that meeting, join in making the following report in reference to the creation of a planning board for the Town of Winchester.

1. The town ought to have a board and in accordance with the provisions of the Planning Board Act.

2. This board should consist of five members to be elected by the town, the term to be for five years and so arranged that the term of one member shall expire annually.

3. The town should pass a vote providing for the election of the members of the planning board by ballot at the annual meeting and the names of the candidates should appear upon the official ballot.

4. For the present, at least, there is no occasion to attempt to enlarge the terms of the Planning Board Act to apply particularly to the needs of Winchester. While there may be some reason for doubt as to whether a board appointed under the Planning Board Act will have as wide a field for its activities as may be desired, it is felt that the board, when elected, can very soon decide more accurately about this and act accordingly.

Respectfully submitted,
By Ralph E. Joslin
for the Committee.

Voted, that the town do create a Planning Board under and in accordance with the provisions of chapter 494 of the Acts of 1913, as amended by chapter 283 of the Acts of 1914; said board to consist of five members, whose terms shall be for five years and so arranged that one shall expire annually; that the members of said board shall be voted for upon the official ballot provided for the use of the voters at the annual town meeting, that upon the official ballot for use at the annual town meeting in the year nineteen hundred and fifteen there shall be printed the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of one year; the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of two years; the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of three years; the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of four years; the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of five years, and annually thereafter the names of candidates for the position of member of said planning board for the term of five years.

The meeting then dissolved.

CORT THEATRE.

John Cort, who controls a chain of theatres that reaches from Boston to San Francisco, finds time to make more or less presumptuous productions yearly. One of his new plays is a musical farce entitled "What's Going On," with an important cast of players, among whom are Walter Lawrence, Frances Cameron, Dorothy Webb, Roy Atwell, Knox Wilson, Doyle and Dixon, and a real singing and dancing chorus. The most successful of the season's entertainments appear to be made up from the three essentials, dance, song and speed, and it has been said that Mr. Cort has injected into his new farce enough of these elements to satisfy the most exacting.

Mr. Cort has equipped the play with every scenic "prop" and light effect that have always made his productions notable ones. On account of the rather unexpected closing of "Peg," which was necessitated by existing contracts and which could not be rearranged, the Cort Theatre will be dark this coming week, in order to give the new play time to arrive in Boston, and will positively open Monday evening, February 1st.

"BEN-HUR."

Ingenious devices of twentieth century stagecraft have made possible the wonderfully elaborate World's Fair production of "Ben-Hur" now running at the Boston Theatre, Boston, and which has drawn the biggest patronage that playhouse has enjoyed in many seasons. When one considers that "Ben-Hur," as now staged, is the biggest dramatic spectacle ever shown in the United States and that the best seat in the Boston Theatre can be secured for one dollar, it is small wonder that the public seeks this opportunity to enjoy General Wallace's masterpiece, which is unquestionably the strongest play ever based on a Biblical theme, and its extended runs in all the large cities during the fifteen successful seasons of its career, are most potent proofs of its popularity.

For the engagement of "Ben-Hur," William Wood, manager of the Boston Theatre is giving special attention to mail orders. Although seats can only be purchased at the box office for one week in advance, mail orders are taken care of for two weeks. Prices at the Boston Theatre are as follows: Entire lower floor and first balcony $1.00; dress circle 75 cents; family circle 50 cents; and gallery (unreserved) 25 cents. Mail orders should be addressed to Frank Ferguson, Treasurer, Boston Theatre.

A fire alarm from the private box at Beggs & Cobb's leather factory on [illegible] street called the department out last Saturday afternoon at 5.50. The blaze was insignificant, being on the top story of the beach house, evidently caused by an overheated pipe. It was extinguished by a hand chemical.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2.35 box 33 was rung in from the centre fire station in response to a telephone call. The fire was a brisk one, it being in the new double house at the lower end of Lebanon street. From reports it would appear that it started by a painter dropping a cigarette on some fresh varnish. In trying to extinguish the blaze which resulted he tipped over a can of varnish and had a real fire. The department extinguished the fire, but not until one room was considerably scorched and the rest of the house well smoked up. The owner is an out of town man.

It is in this way that State Forester Rain hopes eventually to create an obstacle too formidable for the development of the brown-tail and gypsy moths; that is, by restoring the forests to somewhere near their natural condition and proportion of kinds of trees.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The mid-winter convention of the Middlesex County Women's Christian Temperance Union was favored with fine weather in this month of fitfulness and an unusually large number of women took advantage of it to enjoy the very interesting program prepared.

The meeting was held in the Centre M. E. Church of Malden. The pastor, Rev. Lucius H. Bugbee in his speech of welcome, said among his earliest recollections were those of going to W. C. T. U. Conventions, where his mother took an active part, thus showing that the work is well along in its second generation. Rev. Charles H. Moss, of the Baptist Church, also spoke most cordially of the general interest in temperance reform in Malden.

Mrs. A. R. Brigham, County Secretary, is president of the hostess union, so had a dual part to perform. Mrs. Rolfe, so many years president of the County Union, was unable to stay through both sessions, and Mrs. Hamilton, of Winchester, vice president, took her place in the chair.

The convention was honored by the presence of the State President, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, and an unusual number of other state and national officers and superintendents of departments, many of whom, led by Mrs. Underhill and Dr. Rand, gave echoes of the convention in Atlanta. Another interesting feature was the exhibition of L. T. L. work by the Ernest S. Butler Legion of Malden.

As is the rule, only a portion of the departments report at any one convention. This time Sabbath Observance, Medal Contests, Flower Mission, Medical Temperance, Railroad Work, and "Our Papers" were represented, each superintendent giving a forcible report of what is being done.

In the afternoon Hon. William M. Blakely, mayor of Malden, spoke in behalf of the city and emphasized the fact that his administration stands for the enforcement of the laws and the upbuilding of civic conscience.

Mrs. Janet Hill Knox, former secretary of the State Union, led the quiet hour, and there was a number of songs to enliven the program for those who find mere speeches less interesting.

WINCHESTER BEAT SWAMPSCOTT.

High School Girls Putting Up Championship Basketball.

Following the victory over Oliver Ames of North Easton, the Winchester High girls' basketball team again distinguished itself on Wednesday afternoon by winning from the heretofore unbeaten Swampscott High girls' team in the local gymnasium. This win puts Winchester in the first line for the interscholastic girls' championship. Winchester won the match 44 to 30.

There has been more or less controversy during the past two years between Oliver Ames and Swampscott over the title, it having been impossible to match the two teams. Winchester, by defeating them both, now stands as the logical holder of the honor. Winchester's victory over Oliver Ames Saturday was its first defeat in three years, and now it has given Swampscott its first defeat in two years. The return game between Winchester and Swampscott will take place on March 27th.

Winchester won largely because its guards, Evelyn Murphy, Doris Bowman and Marjorie Wait, covered Irene Caproni, Amy Godfrey and Dorothy Hall, the Swampscott forwards, very closely. Marjorie Wait, at left back, was easily the most spectacular defensive player for Winchester, and it was through her clever guarding that Amy Godfrey failed to score more than two goals from the floor.

Irene Caproni was the Swampscott High headliner, as she scored 13 goals from the floor. Marion Kendall and Dorothy Reynolds scored 44 points for Winchester, the former caging 10 goals from the floor and the latter 12.

The home team led by 24 to 16 when the first period ended.

The interest in the game was intense, there being a large gallery of scholars and parents. Miss Dora I. Brown, the girls' coach, has worked hard for the success of the team this winter, and it looks as though her efforts will result in placing Winchester at the top of the list.

The summary:

An Urgent Appeal.

The hospitals of Northern France are in the direst need of all kinds of dressings, and "The Fortnightly" committee (Mmes. Laura Hallett, H. E. Hodge, C. A. Dodge, H. J. Winde, J. B. Boyce, William Fryling, Edward Russell and H. T. Bond) is co-operating with the "Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs" and the Emergency Committee of the "National Civic Committee" in supplying this lack.

Through the kindness of Mr. Franklin E. Barnes, the committee has placed in the back of his store on Main street, a packing case, where may be left this week up to February 14th, packages of old sheets, old slips, old underwear, old handkerchiefs, any old linen or old cotton. No piece is too small—the one requisite is that the material be clean.

It is hoped that everyone will take this as a personal appeal and do all she can to supply this pressing need.

LEGALITY NOT QUESTIONED

Editor of the Star:—

In your report of the proceedings of the special town meeting, under Article VII as to the contract with which Mr. Parkhurst was connected for the excavation of the Mill Pond, you say (page 7): "Later developments made it apparent that the transaction could not, under the conditions, be legally carried through. The contract was then cancelled." As one of those who knew most of the real facts and circumstances of this whole "transaction," I can say that the legality of the transaction as planned was not questioned and that the suggestions made to Mr. Parkhurst to drop the matter were based on entirely different grounds.

Yours truly,

Charles F. Dutch.

Winchester, Feb. 2, 1915.

WILLIAM H. FORBES.

Founder of the Famous Lithograph Company.

William H. Forbes, one of the best known business men of Boston, died at his home on Grove street, Wednesday, after an extended illness. He was 79 years of age.

Mr. Forbes came to this country from Liverpool, Eng., when he was 12 years of age, and for the first few years after his arrival in this country lived with the Quakers at Milton-on-the-Hudson, where he gained a very superior education.

Later on he became apprenticed to Strong, the lithographer, in New York city, and was with him for a few years.

He came to Boston in 1861 and started in business for himself and the Forbes Lithograph Company was established a little later.

He hired a room on the top floor of a building that was then where the Filene building is now located. His business increased as time went by and he established a larger plant on Devonshire street. The rapid strides of his business progress prompted him in the '80's to buy the plant of the Globe Engine Works, situated where his present plant in Chelsea is. From time to time Mr. Forbes enlarged his Chelsea plant till today it is one of the largest of its kind in the country.

He was a man of great intelligence, knew his business thoroughly and from small beginnings he built up the Forbes Lithograph Company to its present dimensions with its great plant in Revere. It is a splendid monument to his courage, industry and intelligence.

No employer was ever more popular with his employees than Mr. Forbes, and it hardly needed the splendid occasion in 1905 when they joined together and presented him with a loving cup to show their esteem and friendship.

He was a member of the Algonquin Club, the Beacon Society, and the Nyasett Club of Springfield.

Mr. Forbes was a great reader, had a marvellous memory, was an entertaining conversationalist and one of the most popular men of his day. His kindly disposition led him to do helpful and pleasant acts for his friends and contemporaries all through his life.

Mr. Forbes lived in Jamaica Plain from 1861 until 1905, when he moved to Winchester, where the family residence now is.

He married a sister of Louis Prang, the well known lithographer.

He leaves one son, William S. Forbes of Swan road, who has been conducting the business of the Forbes Lithographing Company for some time, and one daughter, Mrs. Cora Forbes Marsh, who now lives in California.

The funeral services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Unitarian Church and will be conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf.

220 APPLICATIONS.

Many Men Ask Work of Highway Department.

Up to the present time 220 men have asked for employment of the Town Highway Department in response to the notices posted last week announcing that the Town would endeavor to find employment for all needy residents. The heavy storm has furnished a regular amount of work for a large number, but on the other hand has stopped the commencement of any work on the surface drainage, which was estimated would take care of a large portion.

On Tuesday 12 men were taken on for two day's employment, on Wednesday 19 and yesterday 36. These men were taken in order from the list as the applications were made except in a few instances where circumstances were such that immediate employment was necessary. They will all be given two day's work, when others will be hired. This will continue until the weather permits the starting of some of the town improvements.

The Town Highway Department has on its roll 24 regular men, and so with the additional forces is using about 50 extra men.

ALLAN F. BOONE.

The sudden death yesterday morning of Allan Foster Boone at his home on Grove street came as a decided shock to his many friends of almost 60 years' standing. Mr. Boone died suddenly while sitting in his chair reading the paper. His death was due to heart failure. He was 75 years of age.

Mr. Boone was born in Meriden, Conn. His parents were W. C. and Louisa (Hanks) Boone. For many years he was connected with the firm of Wilde & Co., paper manufacturers, of Boston. He retired from active business about 15 years ago.

He married Miss Frances H. Chapman of this town, who survives him, together with two sons, Allan E. and Robert C., both of Winchester. The couple observed their golden wedding anniversary last October. He was a veteran of the Civil War, serving with the 44th Mass. Volunteers, and he had served on the School Committee of this town in 1864-5-6.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Allan E. Boone, who is in Florida, the arrangements for the funeral services have not yet been completed, but they will probably be private.

ORCHESTRAL ASSOCIATION'S CONCERT.

Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 6 Very Artistically Rendered.

The Winchester Orchestral Association gave the second concert of the season last Tuesday night. The programme was as follows:—

Tschaikowsky . . Symphony No. 6, ("Pathetic")
Songs with Piano.

Nell	Faure
Chanson Provencal	d'Ozanne
Adieu a la Foret	Bruneau
I Send My Heart Up To Thee	Mrs. Beach
Blackbird's Song	Cyril Scott
Life and Death	S. Coleridge-Taylor
Mendelssohn

Music to "Midsummer Night's Dream
Assisting Artist, Miss Mary Fay.
Accompanist, Mrs. Dudley Fitts.

The Sixth Symphony, though not technically superior to the other symphonies of Tschaikowsky's, is the greatest because he has concentrated not only his deep emotions, his intellectual knowledge of life, his great technical skill in harmony and orchestral color, and his intensity of expression; but because he sings with the warm, human intimacy of intense feeling that forgets self. The symphony literally is Tschaikowsky. Mrs. von Meck called Tschaikowsky's compositions "music which carries us away to that world of ideal feelings, aspirations, and desires, which cannot be satisfied in life."

Yet always Tschaikowsky strove to satisfy them, and to attain his ideal. Though very sensitive and often melancholy, and thus suffering terribly from the petty worries and irritating concerns of daily life, often failing, or losing the path to his ideal, he still played the man, and as best he could advanced bravely towards it, in spite of "chaos and dark." The man was no Titan, yet the effort was titanic, and the Sixth Symphony embodies his effort and his life.

Tschaikowsky said that the unwritten "programme" of this symphony was "penetrated by subjective sentiment," and surely the vague groping of a new-born soul and the daily waking to a new world, as in infancy and childhood could have no better objective expression than in the slow shifting of opposed chords and keys in the opening Adagio, and the bird-like flitting hither and yon, ever occasi stopping, and returning, of [illegible] melodies and soft-breathing, expectant chords of the Allegro which follows, merry, but darting, pausing, changing ever. In the Allegro con grazia, Tschaikowsky has translated Youth into music, whether he meant to or not, for in the flowing rhythm of its dance-like syncopations is the grace and freshness of Youth itself, laughing, loving, hoping; treading not common earth, but lithe and free, roaming ever in the "dew-fresh fields of joy." Not always gay though; sometimes pensive in wondering thought; grieved that not every flower holds its golden draft of honey; and sometimes in the fervor of exalted love pouring out heart and soul in its call for understanding, and the fulfilment of the answering, but unknown, touch and voice.

Also, in this second movement are none of the abrupt dissonances and solid octaves that, like an impassable wall, so often block the way of the melodic theme in the third movement, (Allegro molto vivace), and which are so strikingly typical of the opposing difficulties that Manhood knows, and Youth does not. For in the marching swing of this third movement is the purpose and vigor of Manhood, marching with steady feet towards its goal, its shining, clear-seen ideal. It grasps us with its courage; stimulates our minds, takes our emotions by storm; and we swing along exultantly on its unswerving melody, when suddenly it is shattered to pieces against a wall of stiffly opposing dissonances, and lost.

Again it struggles up and advances, or a new melody takes its place, as the man sees more clearly the shining beauty of his ideal. Again it is halted, but never for long; and at last, after the failures, obstacles, and long-striving of the dauntless heart, the man and melody, with one upward rush, see the goal clear, beckoning and almost won. "Life hath more awe than death," said Bailey, and that truth Tschaikowsky sings in the Adagio lamentoso. As a traveller, looking back at sunset from a hill-top over the country he has traversed, is amazed to see how easily he might have come, and did not, so Age looks back, with yearning wonder, at the mistakes and wasted energy of its life. And Life, once seen and understood, is revelation. With the vision comes clear sight; hope, and joy. It is a great symphony, full of thought, as well as strength, passion, and beautiful song, and into it Tschaikowsky seems to have poured the richness of his life.

It is a long, but pleasant step, from Tschaikowsky to Miss Fay and her group of songs. Long, because a song is not a symphony, but a short-story in tones; pleasant, because of Miss Fay's graciousness of presence, her youth, her art, and the tender tones of her light soprano voice. Deftly she brought out the tenderness of Faure's "Nell"; the merriment of d'Ozanne's "Chanson Provencal"; and the pathos of Bruneau's "Farewell to the Forest"; all songs requiring the deft modulations, smooth tone, and emotional sympathy, which Miss Fay so fully gave them. In Mrs. Beach's exquisite and expressive song, "I Send My Heart Up to Thee," Miss Fay touched more truly the heart of the song—and of her audience—than in the others, but all were fine songs, and sung with equal art and tonal beauty. It is worth noting that Scott, in his "Blackbird" song, has caught two of the rising and falling notes of the real blackbird's love-song. It is a delight to listen to a singer so poised and graceful, who aspires to "bel canto," that subtly simple voice of the throbbing, emotional human heart, and really touches its note of freshness.

Then came Mendelssohn's music to Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." Surely no one has written such lovely, dainty Fairy music as this lad of seventeen did. We must be seventeen (or ten) at heart anyway, to feel and express the airy grace and freedom, the laughter, clear vision, and light-heartedness of the Fairy world, or the irridescent wings do not gleam and glisten and the laughter does not ring true. But Mendelssohn's does, and not only do his Fairies trip, light as moonbeams among the forest glades, but his Puck is really merrily mischievous, and Bottom is really a dull boor. Best of all, the fairy music fell from the orchestra in a spray of flashing tones, clear as the liquid drops of a fountain. To praise the orchestra for its really fine performance of Tschaikowsky's symphony, seems rather like flattery in the light of their accomplishment during the past two years. This was once an "amateur," though never a dilettanti orchestra. Now, though unpaid, it is a professional orchestra, trained and competent. It does not need our praise, and indeed, has never asked it; but it deserves our sincere admiration. And, if we love music, the few men who have made the orchestra the success it now is, as well as its able and devoted conductor, Mr. Spaulheim, and last, but not least, the players themselves, deserve our heartiest thanks.

MME. EVELYN SCOTNEY AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.

One of the finest of the series of Musical Vesper Services at the Unitarian Church will be next Sunday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. Mme. Evelyn Scotney will be the soloist. Since the founding of the Boston Opera Company Mme. Scotney has been one of the most noted colortura sopranos.

She is in the class with Melba and Sembrich and her audiences give her all the excitement Tetrazzini might expect. Madam Scotney will bring with her Mr. Eric Hayne of the Scotney Opera Co., who will play violin obligatos for her and also render two violin selections.

HELP FOR POLAND.

Until recently few people have realized the extremely pitiable condition of Poland, where six million people are without shelter, and thousands of others living in holes in the ground, with nothing to eat but roots and bark, three quarters of the country being devastated. At the request of Mme. Szumouska-Adanowski, head of the Polish Relief Committee there is to be a Polish Day on Saturday, February 6th, when throughout the state, everyone is to be asked to buy a Polish flag for ten cents, or a Polish eagle for twenty-five cents, or any larger sum that generosity dictates. It is hoped that the necessity for this appeal will be recognized by the people of Winchester, and that everyone who can will buy a flag or eagle.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

Work on the two bridges at the centre was entirely suspended this week, the heavy snow and extreme cold completely closing things up.

The Fire and Police Building is ready for plastering, which has been commenced, the first work being done in the boiler rooms. The steam is now on in the building. Until the plastering is finished little other work can be done.

Plastering was commenced at the Star Building yesterday. The wiring and plumbing is finished here and the heating is well along towards completion. Work will be commenced at once on laying the finished floors in the Park street end. The Rockwood Company have all the sprinkler mains hung and are now putting up the heads, and contractor Thomas Quigley, Jr., is concreting the basement floor.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

The suggestion made by a gentleman interested in the public schools that more men should be teaching in the primary grades in the public schools and that those grades should not be left entirely to women, will not command the assent of the people of Winchester. It is presumed, of course, that the gentleman included the lowest, as well as the higher grades in the primary department in his statement. The gentleman further gave it as his opinion that "men are better teachers and are usually better trained. They take it up as a profession and prepare themselves with that end in view."

The Spectator believes it likely that when women take to teaching they are taking to it as a profession more entirely than most of the men teachers. Many of the latter, especially those who teach in the lower grades, engage in teaching merely to support themselves while studying for another profession. Women who engage as teachers, on the other hand, usually have nothing else in view and continue in their work. In dealing with and teaching little children women are regarded as far better qualified than men. They understand them better, are gentler, more patient and can establish more confidential relations with them than men can.

Not only is it best for the children to employ women exclusively as teachers in the primary grades, but the public schools are also a refuge for many good women who would be in a sad plight if this means of livelihood were denied them. Our women teachers should receive adequate pay, for the teacher, like the candle, while giving light to others, is herself being consumed and liberal provision should be made for her. Of course, where the public revenues do not afford a sufficient sum, the only thing that can be done is to make the pay as large as practicable.

There is a certain man who hates babies. He told The Spectator so himself the other day. Babies squall, true enough, and their squalling is not music, but the man who sees them only as makers of disagreeable noises is a man so lacking in imagination, so devoid of the elemental feeling of human kinship, so steeped in shallow sophomoric pessimism, that his room is obviously of more value to his fellowmen than his presence. To the rest of us a baby is the greatest of all the world's delights, and never more so than when it makes noises—[illegible] daughter, of hunger or of mere sound and fury. We see the light of the future in its eyes; we know that its chubby fists may one day strike valiant blows for freedom and human progress, that the germs of epochmaking ideas may lie dormant in its mind; that its life may be worth a million such as ours; we understand its look of wonder, its loud demand that its appetites be satisfied, its hearty laugh and wholesouled protestations, its grossness, innocence and gusto, for to us, too, the world is full of lures and mysteries, all compact, and life is a great adventure. If babies were noiseless and perfect we might lay them away in conservatories to grow up like lilies. But they have all the human faults and frailties, virtues and vices, joys and sorrows; and so we take them to our hearts and cherish them as of our kind, knowing them for editions de luxe of our own imperfect selves.

Pity the poor man who hates babies! What a very dull thing life must be to him! What a hollow sound he hears in laughter! What a vanity he sees in tears!

Like Silas Wegg, a good friend of The Spectator's "drops to poetry" to observe that—

There was a man in our town who though he was wondrous wise;
He swore by all the fabled gods that he'd never advertise.
But, alas! He advertised, and thereby hangs a tale,
His ad was set in nonpariel and headed
"Sheriff's Sale."

Of course, not all business men here in Winchester and elsewhere who disbelieve in advertising are forced into it by the Sheriff's sale route; but all of them are severly handicapped by their shortsightedness. It is not mere chance that a list of newspaper advertisers in any given city is identical with a list of that town's most prosperous and successful men.

A certain gentleman learned a few things about the law the other day, or rather about the law as laid down by one of Boston's "finest." The man was in the front vestibule of an electric car which was packed to the doors. He happened to stand directly behind the motorman and firmly wedged in front of the policeman. The guardian of the law was decidedly obese, and as a result occupied considerable space.

The motorman on several occasions was forced to swing his brake around and, of course, the gentleman was forced to get out of the way, and the only way was by a backward movement which brought him into contact with the officer. The first time this backward movement took place the officer merely grunted. It happened again and "cut it out!" was hissed into the ear of the innocent offender. Once more the same thing occurred and this time the policeman lost his temper and delivered himself of the following: "You lean on me again and I'll pull you in! You're assaulting me every time you do that!"

The Winchester man thought the officer was joking, but a glance at his face convinced him otherwise. Then he began to consider if his involuntary movement to escape the brake which brought him into contact with his neighbor could by any process of law be construed into a case of assault and battery. He was just preparing to make himself the central figure of a test case when the arm of the law alighted, leaving an amused crowd of fellow-passengers behind him.

TOWN LABORERS.

Non-Citizens Who Are Good Workers to be Naturalized.

Editor of the Star:—

At the town meeting that was held January 25 there seemed to be a lot of discussion in regard to the labor question by these self appointed leaders of labor. With all due respect to these gentlemen, I think they were misinformed, as the facts are these: There was a gang of men who worked from April to December; all the available money for the kind of work that they were doing was expended and naturally the men were discharged. There were a few men who had never worked for the town before who commenced to shout that they were not used just right and tried to get the work that these non-citizens who are working on a so-called permanent basis were doing. These non-citizens are all desirable residents and competent workmen, as their superiors will tell you. They are law-abiding, have never been arrested and give the police no trouble whatsoever.

They are industrious and trying to pay for their little homes. We should not discharge them. They have availed themselves of the opportunity to attend night school; they have taken out their intention papers, so that in two years hence they will be able to read the Constitution of the United States and become American citizens. We encourage immigration to our shores; why then should we deprive them of earning an honest living?

These men who are doing [illegible] talking about non-[illegible] should bear in mind that the Town of Winchester is now paying a pension to two men who unfortunately could neither read nor write. Wouldn't it have been a pity to discharge these men a year or two ago after all their hard work and have them lose their pension. There is not a town or city in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that treats its laborers any better than the Town of Winchester does.

They have raised our wages twice within three years, given us a half holiday Saturday during June, July and August, gave us a pension system, and last November voted to give us two weeks' vacation, for which we are very grateful, for we don't believe in strikes or McNamaraism. We believe that all labor disputes should be settled by honest legislation or arbitration, or in other words by the voters who always gave us what we asked for.

Just a word about consolidation. Observations says that the Water and Sewer Boards have worked well. In what way have they saved the town any money? We still have the two superintendents, which I think is proper. He says further consolidation of Highways and Parks will much improve the workings of all. I for one cannot agree with him. The Park Board serves without any compensation and takes great interest in the work. Assuming that we combine these two departments, that would mean more work for the Superintendent of Streets who, as everybody knows, has all the work he can handle. He would be justified in asking for a larger salary. Therefore you would not save any money for the town.

In 1907, if you remember, we consolidated the Highway and Sewer Departments, and as you know it proved to be inadequate. We were fortunate in getting the present Superintendent of Streets to come back and straighten matters out, which he has done in an efficient manner. I believe in letting well enough alone.

Now from a labor point of view, assuming that we had one head of the various departments and a laborer had some difficulty with him and was discharged, he would be through for good; as it is now, if he gets through with one department he can work for some of the others, and I sincerely hope that this committee that was appointed by the moderator at the last town meeting will report unfavorable action and refer the subject matter to our new planning board when they are elected next month.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Miss Celina Cox and Mr. Eldrich Cox leave this week with their mother, Mrs. Harry Cox of Washington street, for a two months' trip to California and the West.

The work of placing the new trolley guard over the railroad crossing at the centre was completed last week. The wire netting is spread just over the electric trolley wire and is designed to catch the pole should it slip off the wire, thus preventing the car from becoming stalled on the crossing. The guard extends for a number of feet beyond the crossing on each car line.

The trolley wire at the corner of Forest and Washington streets fell on Saturday evening about five o'clock, somewhat delaying travel on the electrics.

The fire department was called out at about nine o'clock Saturday night for a fire in Lyceum Building in the centre. The blaze was insignificant, but it was caught just in time. Had it had a little more chance to eat into the partitions a serious fire would have resulted. The blaze was in a corner at the head of the rear stairs near the A. O. H. and K. of C. rooms. It was extinguished with hand chemicals.

A card received this week from Marcello Bonino, a former merchant of this town, from Genova Tasso, Italy, reports him in good health. Since his departure to Italy a number of years ago he has been a constant reader of the Star, and he says he does not know what he would do without it.

Miss Dorothy Parkhurst, the little daughter of Mr and Mrs. Laurence H. Parkhurst of Eaton street, received a bad bruise on her ankle while coasting the first of the week. She was struck by a sled and at first it was thought that the ankle was broken, the sled cutting through her shoe and stocking. It is expected that no serious developments will result.

COASTING ACCIDENT.

Three Injured at Country Club Saturday Evening.

A coasting accident occurred at the Winchester Country Club on Saturday evening which resulted in injuries to three well known residents. Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer of Cabot street received a dislocated hip and a compound fracture of one leg, Mrs. Joseph L. S. Barton of Laurel street received a badly sprained knee and ankle and Dr. Arthur V. Rogers of Swan road had his shoulder and ankle sprained.

The accident occurred when the double runner ran into the brook near the road in front of the club house. The party had been enjoying the fine coasting and had made several trips, always stopping on the grass plot near the tennis courts. About nine o'clock they came down the slide and when the grass plot was reached were unable to stop, the double runner evidently striking a piece of icy ground and the brake not taking hold.

The double runner ran over the edge of the slope and towards the street with gathering speed. Dr. Rogers realized that he could not stop it and endeavored to run to the best point possible. He soon saw he must run into the brook and endeavored to take the plunge head on, but the icy ground allowed the double runner to slew just before striking it.

Mrs. Sawyer was wedged between the double runner and the stone wall of the brook and the others were thrown violently to the side, as it overturned. Dr. Rogers did what he could to assist the ladies and summoned aid from the Club House.

Doctors Cummings, Dennett and Ordway were called and Mrs. Sawyer was taken to the Winchester Hospital. The other members of the party were taken to their homes. Late reports are that all are resting as comfortably as possible under the conditions.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Master George Richards Corey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Corey of the Parkway, gave a birthday party to eleven of his young friends at his home on Saturday afternoon. The event was in observance of his sixth birthday. The young folks enjoyed an afternoon of games and entertainment with refreshments as the close.

The affair was a "pink" party, with table decorations, ices and cakes all of that color. Valentine place cards carried out the idea of the season and the bon bon caps, individual cakes with each guest's initial in pink frosting made a decided hit, as did the Jack Horner pie with a gift on the end of each ribbon for all.

Master Richard received many attractive gifts, and his list of guests included Alice and Henry Mitchell, Margaret and Henry Newman, Joseph and Jean Ryan, Jeanette and Thad Smith, Margaret Smart, Flavel Shurtleff and Gordon Hindes.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

In following out the vote of the special town meeting, Moderator Ives has appointed five men as a committee to consider the advisability of consolidating one or more of the town departments. Messrs. Patrick Fitzgerald, Addison R. Pike, James P. Boutwell, William D. Richards and Charles E. Kendall are the gentlemen who will serve the town in the matter.

Editor Hoag Confesses
"For many years, as Editor and Proprietor of the Pine Plains, N. Y., Herald, I have advertised Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. While I enjoyed not only the business relationship but the personal friendship of Dr. Kennedy, I have never, until now, paid him a long standing obligation. For many years, as my friends so well know, I suffered excruciating pains from rheumatism. Many were the nights when it was impossible to sleep. Without much faith, I admit, I tried as a sort of last resort, a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, just as thousands of others had done before, and like them I found permanent relief. Favorite Remedy has stood the test of time and I believe it is the best medicine in existence for effectually expelling the cause of rheumatism—uric acid. My regret is that I have neglected to make this frank confession long ago. It makes my Kidneys do their work properly, tones up the liver and makes one feel that life is worth living. I publicly and earnestly advise all my friends who are suffering from troubles that arise from unhealthy Kidneys or Liver, to get a bottle of Favorite Remedy at once. There is no use in putting it off as I did." S. T. HOAG, Editor.

THE PUBLIC INTERESTS LEAGUE

In spite of the cold and the difficulties of travel Wednesday, a goodly company of women met in the house of Mr. Harrison Parker, to hear from Mrs. John Balch about the Public Interests League. Mrs. Balch told them of the origin of the League which was organized last spring by the members of the Anti-Suffrage Association. Its object was two-fold. One object was to provide comfortable resting and meeting rooms, where members, tired with shopping, perhaps, or with other work, could come, and, while resting, could confer with other members as to the especially woman's work most needed at any time, and the best ways of doing such work. The other and more important object was to have a place where such work could be done. Whenever a need came, these women would be ready to respond.

The League was hardly more than formed, when a pressing need came in the form of the Salem fire. The response was eager and immediate and the many packages of clothing and other articles collected, assorted, put into good order, packed and quickly forwarded from these rooms bore abundant testimony to the usefulness of the League

Following close upon the Salem fire came the terrible European war; and when Miss Boardman was looking for suitable headquarters for the Red Cross work, and these rooms were offered, they were most gratefully accepted. For five months, every day in the week (except Sunday) these rooms have been filled with busy women eager to help in this most humane work. Women of all classes and conditions, young and old, rich and poor, colored and white, of many nationalities and creeds, have joined in it. Mrs. Balch said it had been very interesting to see the good-comradeship that existed between these women. Side by side were German and French, English and Austrian; and one day a full-blooded Indian girl from Arizona sat by a young Japanese. Suffragists have also come into help, and one day a woman known to be a suffragist came to the secretary and said she should like to join the League. She was told that she would be welcome if she really wanted to join an anti-suffrage League, and her reply was that she should like to join any League doing such good work as this was doing. Housemaids have come, wanting to give up their "afternoons out" for this cause; and many busy women of means have paid poor women who needed work, to go there and work by the day.

Mrs. Balch told of one interesting case of goodfellowship. A young French woman, looking pale and sick, came in one day hoping she might be employed and earn some money to help her get back to her friends in France. She could speak but little English and could understand almost none. An Austrian woman who spoke French fluently, talked with her, and became so much interested that she took the young French woman out to lunch, went with her to consult a physician, and by introducing her to some agency, had enabled her to return to her friends in France.

Many contributions had been given to this work, and occasionally requests accompanied them asking that they might be sent to some one country; but generally no such discrimination had been made. "We are neither pro-English, pro-German, pro-French, nor for any one people," said Mrs. Balch, "we are only pro-humanity."

She warmly thanked the Winchester women for the fine contributions their Red Cross Branch had sent, and assured them their work was appreciated. We wish all women who are working so splendidly under Mrs. French's efficient leadership might have heard her.

Mrs. Balch's talk was most stimulating and encouraging. It all went to show what splendid results come when women devote their energies to purely "womanly" work, and do not try to add to it the work of men.

CHORAL CLASS CONCERT.

The Choral Class under the auspices of The Fortnightly Music Committee, Mrs. Arthur E. Whitney, chairman, closed its sixth season on Thursday, January 28th, with a successful concert. This was the first evening concert of the class and gave the public an opportunity to appreciate the excellent work accomplished under the direction of Mr. J. Albert Baumgartner who has been the leader for the past four years.

A stirring English hunting song opened the program and was followed by two contrasting numbers, unaccompanied, including a danty Minuet. A group of Russian Folk Songs, also unaccompanied, a Neapolitan air, and Greig's majestic "Land Sighting" made up a diversified and interesting program, which also included a short cantata, "The Legend of Miana."

Miss MacLellan's singing is always pleasing to her many Winchester friends, and she interpreted the solos of the cantata in a sympathetic manner. Mr. John B. Wills' flute obligato was given with the necessary delicacy of tone.

Mr. Leon Van Vliet's artistic work as a violoncellist is well known. His interpretations show fine feeling and his tone is full and vibrant. As encores he gave the "Fraumeri" of Schumann, and the "Barcarolle" from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman."

Mr. Baumgartner's accompaniments always were a fitting complement to the 'cello numbers and he was also heard in a group of piano solos, with an encore, which added to the pleasure of an appreciative audience.

The Class is justly proud of its accompanist, Mrs. Faye Hoyt Lefavour, and expressed the appreciation of her skill and loyalty by a gift of beautiful roses.

Complementary tickets were sent to the nurses of the Winchester Hospital and to the inmates of the Winchester Home for the Aged, all of whom expressed their appreciation of the courtesy.

The membership of the class is as follows: Mrs. A. H. Abbott, Mrs. H. L. Bennett, Mrs. H. T. Bond, Miss Cabot, Mrs. Eben Caldwell, Mrs. D. C. Dennett, Miss Enman, Mrs. G. R. Ferguson, Miss Folts, Miss Gladys Folts, Mrs. W. H. Gilpatric, Mrs. Herbert Goff, Miss Henderson, Mrs. R. F. Herrick, Miss Kneeland, Mrs. C. H. Mason, Mrs. J. H. Metcalf, Miss MacLellan, Mrs. W. E. Miller, Mrs. P. C. Simonds, Mrs. A. T. Smith, Miss Swett, Mrs. R. S. Taylor, Mrs. F. G. Trott, Mrs. J. L. Tufts, Mrs. A. E. Whitney, Mrs. A. G. Williams.

The members of the Music Committee who assisted Mrs. Whitney were Mrs. F. L. Avery, Mrs. H. T. Bond, Mrs. W. H. Gilpatriek, Mrs. R. F. Herrick.

WELLESLEY HIGH 20, WINCHESTER HIGH 18.

Winchester High was late in getting into its usual stride in basketball Tuesday, and Wellesley High took a game 20 to 18 on the Winchester floor. At the end of the first half the score was 14 to 5 in favor of the visitors but before the final whistle blew the visiting team were given a lot to worry about. Winchester played a much stronger game in the second period than in the first and with more care and skill in shooting from the floor and from fouls they would have taken the game easily. Each player on the home team showed much improvement in the second period and the team easily played the best game.

The summary:

WELLESLEY H.		WINCHESTER H.
Finnerty, lf		rb, Smith
Keefe, rf		lb, Watt
Stover, c		c, Cullen
Delaney, c
Kuhlewein, lb		rf, Warner
Curry, rb		lf, Locke

TEACHERS BOWL.

Special Cup Won by Miss Brown.

The teachers in the public school have been granted the use of the Calumet bowling alleys on Wednesday afternoons, their first match being held last week. This week the interest was stimulated through the offering of a special prize by Judge Littlefield for the best score made during the afternoon, the cup being won by Miss Dora I. Brown, with 75.

It was further announced that the bowling committee of the Club would award a prize for the best selected 10 strings rolled during this month. About ten of the teachers were present and enjoyed the sport.

Among the scores made in competition for the cup were the following:

Miss Mary A. Phillips	52	41	72	63

HOME MAKING LECTURES.

The second in this series given by the Fortnightly, Mothers' Association and the Grange, was held last Monday at the High School. In spite of the severe storm, forty ladies attended and were certainly repaid for the effort, for Miss Helen S. Greene's talk was most instructive as well as entertaining. She told of the many meat substitutes which may be employed by the housewife to reduce the bills and give variety to the menus. She was well able to tell what was popular and what wasn't, for she and her sister manage a large lunch room in Boston. At the close of her talk she answered questions and recommended some cook books that she had found useful.

Mrs. John Coakley entertained the Samoset Club of Woburn at her home yesterday afternoon.

E'WORTH LEAGUE.

Considering the storm of last Tuesday night the attendance at the monthly social was unusually large. We are indebted to Mr. William Allen for the unique entertainment which was given at this time. The League wishes to express their thanks to him for his kindly interest.

Our leader next Sunday night will be Mr. George Hodge. Here is where we will have a good live meeting led by a live leader. Come out and see.

Do not forget the Lynn District League Convention of the 22nd of this month at the First M. E. Church, Lynn, Mass. Let every member of the League boost.

"Boost and the world boosts with you,
Knock and you're on the shelf,
For the world gets sick of the one who'll kick,
And wishes he'd kick himself.
Boost when the sun is shining,
Boost when it starts to rain,
If you happen to fall, don't lie there and bawl,
But get up and boost again.
Boost for your own advancement,
Boost for the thing sublime—
For the chap that's found on the topmost round
Is the booster every time.

THE FEBRUARY STRAND MAGAZINE.

One of the most interesting articles in the February Strand is entitled "Culture and German Culture," by Sir Ray Lankester. In the course of his severe arraignment of the Kaiser the author says: "The civilized world has been shocked by the reiterated statement of German leading men, who undoubtedly represent the conviction of the large majority of those Germans capable of considering such a matter at all, that the war now raging in Europe has been deliberately planned and is now being carried on by them for the arrogant purpose of establishing 'German Culture' and imposing it upon all the nations of the earth for their good!" Other articles of interest are "The Sensations of a Boxer," by Freddie Welsh, the Light-weight Champion of the World; "Japanese Juggling Tricks," by M. Gintaro; The Chess-board of Europe" and an appreciative paper dealing with Ily Mayer, the well-known cartoonist, and his work. The fiction is good and generous in quantity.

PURE NEWS LAWS.

While we are amply protected against food adulteration we seem to have no protection against news adulteration. I read in one red-lettered evening paper headline that 200 people had lost their lives in the New York subway disaster, while in a less sensational paper the loss was given as probably one. If the legislature must do the usual amount of tinkering this winter the newspaper world would appear a good field for practice, especially among those papers that shout the loudest against the "enemies" of the people and circulate the biggest lies in a fraudulent attempt to induce the public to buy their wares.

CONSIDERS HIMSELF CHOSEN LEADER.

The recent address delivered by President Wilson at Indianapolis, has been widely commented upon by the daily press and in many quarters not altogether flattering, even among papers that have been friendly to the President there has been sharp criticism. We think it will be generally agreed that President Wilson's address on the occasion referred to, was not up to his usual standard. It was strongly partisan, and rather flippant in tone. The President considers himself the chosen leader of his party in the game of politics and state-manship, and practically gives notice to the Democrats in Congress that unless they are willing to submit to his leadership without question, and play the game as he wants it played, they are likely to be put off the team. But the returns from the last Congressional election show that a goodly number of Democratic Congressmen have already been retired from the game, even though they were loyal to their leader in the White House. The President has been very successful thus far in holding the Democrats in Congress together and securing such legislation as he desired. But whether he will be able to maintain harmony in the ranks to the end of his term, remains to be seen. That President Wilson intends to be a candidate for a second term seems to be a foregone conclusion, in spite of the fact that the Baltimore convention at which he was nominated declared in favor of a constitutional amendment limiting the President to a single term.—[Athol Chronicle.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

A number of interesting articles are appearing in the current magazines relative to the conditions in Russia since the prohibition of vodka went into effect. People who had sneered at the idea of strict "temperance" have given their testimony to the radical improvement in the people and in their homes. Better fed, better clad, better behaved, the betterment after three months of the vodkaless regime is called little short of marvelous. As one writer says: "If Russia can show such results in so short a time, our reformers, once called fanatics, may be right in painting the millennium as following close upon national prohibition."

An amusing story comes from a southwestern town, formerly considered bad, but for several years "dry." The calaboose, as the jail was called, used to be full much of the time, but recently when it was desired to lock up a criminal, from another section, the lock was rusted and no one could remember where to find the key. At last it was found where the deputy sheriff's son had used it as a sinker for his fish line. The boy objected to its being taken from him as he had "always" had it. Another bad effect of prohibition.

A NOVELTY SHOWER.

A Novelty Shower was given to Miss Mary Murphy of Nelson street Thursday evening, by a large number of her young lady friends, who gathered at the home of Mrs. P. E. Fitzgerald. A large number of very beautiful gifts were received by Miss Murphy.

Cullen, Miss Nora Rogers, Miss Helen Rogers, Miss Margaret Healy, Miss Mary Butler, Miss Ella Foley, Mrs. Josephine Kane, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. Cassidy, Mrs. McGrath, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. McAuley, Mrs. Daniel Kelley, Mrs. Thomas Donnelly of Arlington, and Mrs. James Donnelly.

SCRIBNER—LOMBARD.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Boston playgoers are promised one of the most fascinating comedies produced, and one of the most original and striking dramatic novelties brought out by David Belasco, next Monday evening when Leo Ditrichstein will begin a limited engagement at the Colonial Theatre in "The Phantom Rival." This play proved one of the biggest hits of the current season in New York, and for five months enjoyed the absolute limit of popularity and prosperity at the Belasco Theatre.

Mr. Belasco is sending the entire original company and the complete New York production to Boston. The cast includes Laura Hope Crews, Malcolm Williams, Frank Westerton, Lee Millar, Louise Wolfe, Ethel Marie Sasse, Anna McNaughton, and others, composing a large company which in its entirety represents the highest standard of Belasco excellence.

"The Phantom Rival," in its original form, was written by Ferenc Molar. It was adapted for American presentation by Mr. Ditrichstein, and this actor-author's well known adaptability for making foreign atmosphere meet with the conditions of the American stage was never better illustrated in the work that he has shown in this play.

During the engagement of Mr. Ditrichstein at the Colonial the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will begin at 2; while the evening performance will commence at 8:15. There will be a special matinee on Washington's Birthday.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by the Winchester League.

The Winchester Equal Suffrage League invites all of the women of Winchester to attend a meeting for women only, which will be held in the High School Hall on February 16, at 3 p. m. The speakers will be Mrs. Myron B. Voree of Cleveland, and Miss Rose Livingstone of New York, the latter being known far and wide as "The Angel of Chinatown."

An unexpurgated edition of Congressman Bowdle's anti-suffrage speech, delivered in the House during the Mondell debate, in going to be circulated by the National Woman Suffrage Association; that is, if the postoffice places no obstacles in the way.

The New Republic says of Mr. Bowdle's remarks: "The significant thing about this speech is not, of course, Mr. Bowdle's cave-man idea of woman. There are thousands of other boors and cads with the same ignorance, insensitiveness and complacency. What is significant is that Congress enjoyed him, greeted him with applause and laughter and extended his time. Some, who knew better, took him in the mood in which men often take scurrility addressed to women as a class. A few voiced protest, but not one single representative of Southern chivalry (*) thought it worth his while to make good the assertions of refinement and delicacy in which, earlier in the debate, they had taken such comfort and pride."

Iceland has just adopted prohibition and has ordered all the liquor now within her boundaries to be exported promptly. "It may be merely a coincidence that Iceland enjoys the benefits of woman suffrage," says the New York Times.

OBSERVATIONS.

Chapter 719, Acts of 1913, Section 16. No department of any city or town shall incur liability in excess of the appropriation made for the use of such department, except in cases of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of persons or property, and then only by a vote in cites of two-thirds of the members of the city council, and in a commission form of government by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the commission, and in a town by a vote of two-thirds of the selectmen.

Many citizens know that Winchester has a town employees' union, but how many know we have an Italian town employees' union also?

Why doesn't the Star publish the figures on the joke grade crossing plan?

Nomination papers for the town election candidates must be filed with the Town Clerk not later than Thursday, February 18th, at five o'clock, and must have at least thirty-three signatures. The election comes on Monday, March 1st.

There is no need of spreading the rails for safety islands. Just dig a trench between the inner and outer tracks so that people may throw themselves into it when in danger from a train. Have the trench built with a drain to carry off the rain and with a heated pipe to melt the snow and ice. Next!

Why does "Appreciative Citizen" desire to rub it into the well intentioned unlucky thirteen club of would-be mud diggers? They meant well, so did the Park Board, but the law stood in the way. Of course a town meeting could have been called, but that would have cost almost thirty dollars, and in a town so economical as ours, such expense would have been considered wasteful. No monuments nor medals are called for.

Our two-fifty per day minimum wage means for able bodied men, and we cannot afford to furnish work to men not accustomed to out of door work, and not fully able to do it, on any other basis. Our town affairs are to be run on a business basis and town officials taking any other view will violate their oath of office, and it is beyond the power of a town meeting to fix it on any other than a business basis, and if this is not so understood it should be made clear at the annual town meeting, for this is a government of laws, even if they are sometimes disregarded.

The German-American Alliance has been working arduously since the war started to embroil this country with England, and will leave no stone unturned to bring that about, but this has become so apparent that a reaction has set in against its activities and they are being resented by people all over this country who have no feeling against Germany but who have no use for the Alliances brand of neutrality which it preaches but does not practice.

But three towns, Brookline, Milton and Wellesley, have a larger assessed valuation than Winchester, and six cities, Northampton, Melrose, North Adams, Newhuryport, Marlborough and Woburn have a smaller. Our valuation is fifty per cent greater than Woburn's, although her population is fifty per cent greater, more than three times larger than Stoneham's and nearly three millions more than Arlington's, although she has two thousand more population. Two large towns became cities last year, Attleboro and Revere.

It would be silly to have an annual town meeting before the report is out. It is bad enouch to make nominations for the ensuing year before we have reports of the doings of officials.

As the fire insurance on the town buildings expires this year why should we not consider doing away with it. Nobody who is posted will claim that fire insurance is a good business proposition for anybody who can afford to stand the loss, and if a town like ours is not in that class, who is? We now insure from five thousand dollar schoolhouses up. What sense is there in it? Why continue it?

Some citizens who might not care to remain on the Planning Board long ought to be willing to serve a while until it gets well under way, and it is extremely desirable it should start well. Such boards are nothing new, they have existed in Europe for more than half a century and in this country for several years. They should do deep and not superficial work and need to make very careful and extended study before reporting.

The "buy now" and "build now" campaign is as silly as the "boom Winchester" slogan that some poorly posted citizens started a while ago.

There was a large turn-out of members to hear and see Saldanha, the world renowned Hindu magician at the smoker at the Calumet Club on Saturday night, and one and all were well satisfied with the results of the entertainer's magic. WINCHESTER OFFICIALS SPOKE.

Town Employees Held Meeting and Entertainment Friday Evening.

A meeting and entertainment was held in the Irish National Foresters' Hall last Friday evening by the Winchester Town Employees' Union, at which a number of town officials were present and made addresses. In addition there was a large attendance from other labor unions, including representatives from the Arlington Union, the Painters' Local, Carpenters' Union, Teamsters' Union and Metropolitan Park Employees' Union.

President Frank M. Nowell of the Union presided and introduced the speakers. The principal address of the evening was made by Joseph Parks of the Industrial Accident Board, who gave a review of the Workingmen's Compensation Act. Martin J. O'Brien, National President of the State, City and Town Employees' Unions, also spoke, together with National Treasurer, James J. Burns, and several others. Remarks were made by Dr. Clarence J. Allen, chairman of the Board of Health, Charles A. Lane, chairman of the Park Board, Selectman Frederick N. Kerr, Supt. of Schools Schuyler F. Herron, Arthur E. Whitney of the Water and Sewer Board, James J. Fitzgerald, Whitfield L. Tuck and Nathaniel M. Nichols.

At the conclusion of the speaking an entertainment was given, consisting of songs by John Shinnick, songs and recitations by Frank Burns of Arlington, and several stories by Charles A. Lane.

Refreshments followed the entertainment. The evening was in charge of a committee composed of Thomas J. Kean, chairman, Frank M. Nowell, Patrick H. Craughwell, James Blackburn, James H. Noonan, James McCraven and Patrick Nelson.

ARE THEY INCONSISTENT?

Anti-suffragists are called by their opponents inconsistent, because, although they do not believe in woman's entering politics, they are now taking part in what may be called a political campaign — that is, they are speaking in public (much against their inclination) in opposition to woman-suffrage. This may seem inconsistent; but the explanation is very simple:— These women have been obliged to choose between two evils, and they have chosen the lesser. They could remain passive and have suffrage thrust upon them by a small but persistent minority; or they could assert themselves, so that the voice of the minority should not be mistaken for the voice of the majority. They have chosen to enter the political arena — as it were — temporarily, in order not to be forced into it permanently. They are working to save the coming generations.

Statements such as "Women Need the Vote!" "Women Want to Vote!" "Women Demand Suffrage!" and others similar that have been flung broadcast over the land, remind one of the nine tailors of London who once sent to Parliament as petition with the opening words, "We, the citizens of London."

To anti-suffragists it seems most presumptuous that a small minority of women should make such assertions, ignoring the ninety per cent who do not want to vote; who do not need the vote; and who do not demand suffrage.

MRS. EMILY C. SYMMES.

Mrs. Emily Carter Symmes, a former well known resident and member of the Overseers of the Poor, died at her home on Elm street last Friday afternoon after a long illness. The cause of her death was cancer. She was in her 83rd year.

Mrs. Symmes was born in Bridgeton, Maine. Her parents were Henry and Hannah (Cocking) Carter. Her length of residence in Winchester extended over a period of many years, her husband, the late John Symmes, being a well known organ manufacturer. He died in 1893. The couple had one son, Edward Symmes, who died some years ago.

Mrs. Symmes served the town as a member of the Overseers of the Poor for a period of twelve years, first taking office in 1900. She leaves no immediate relatives except two stepsons and two step-daughters.

The funeral services were held from the residence on Monday forenoon at eleven o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, pastor of the Unitarian Church. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

SECOND LECTURE GIVEN MONDAY.

The second of the five lectures in household economics, which are being given in Winchester under the patronage of The Fortnightly, the Mothers' Association and the Winchester Grange, was given on Monday afternoon in the High School Assembly Hall by Miss Helen S. WINCHESTER SOCIETY REPRESENTED.

Miss Kellogg's Opera "Sylvia" a Great Success.

Vincent Club girls and Harvard students, young Bay Bay matrons, social service workers and society dancers, all keenly interested in the cause of equal suffrage, and likewise desirous of doing something toward the relief of war sufferers, combined their energies to present at the Boston Opera House Tuesday afternoon, the splendid ballet of Leo Delibes, "Sylvia, La Nymphe de Diane."

The ballet was given under the auspices of the ways and means committee of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association. Half the proceeds go to the association and half to the Red Cross fund.

Miss Mary Kellogg of Winchester directed the performance and had charge of the training of the principals from the first. Miss Kellogg, well known in Paris and the United States as a dancer of exquisite grace, has also achieved distinction as the author and producer of the ballet, "Pandora's Box," given first in Winchester, later in Boston, and in New York last winter.

The same careful study which produced "Pandora's Box" was given to "Sylvia." Miss Kellogg studied the ballet for two years while abroad, and the score and libretto used at the Opera House Tuesday were her own interpretation and translation.

Prominent Vincent Club and other society girls took the principal parts in the ballet, not a few of whom have won distinction for their interpretative dancing and pantomime work in Boston and elsewhere.

The cast included from Winchester Miss Katherine McCall, Miss Helen Sanborn, Miss Mary Flinn, Mrs. F. H. Merrill, Miss Elinor Barta, Miss Mary Nickerson, Miss Emma Farnsworth, Miss Catherine Fiske, Miss Elizabeth Fiske, Mr Edwin Ginn, Mr. E. B. Badger 2nd, Mr. J. W. Russell, Jr., Mr. Robert Bean, and Mr. Dudley Murphy.

The story of the ballet is short, but interesting. Aminta, a beautiful youth, has chanced to see Sylvia, the nymph of Diana, sporting with her companions in the wood by moonlight. Becoming enamored of her, he haunts the spot in the hope of seeng her again, though he realizes the hopelessness of a mortal receiving any favor from a nymph protected by Diana.

He is finally discovered as he watches the dances of the nymphs from his hiding place. In anger Sylvia draws an arrow to shoot him, but realizing suddenly that a mortal is scarcely worthy of her ire, she sims instead toward a statue of the God of Love.

Aminta throws himself before her to prevent this sacrilege and receives the arrow in his breast at the same moment that a dart from the mischievous god penetrates her own heart.

Sylvia and her companions depart. When later she returns for another look at the beautiful boy she has wounded she is discovered by Orion, a black visaged hunter, seized by him and carried away to his rude abode. With the aid of Diana, she drugs him and his two slaves and escapes.

The God of Love, who appears in human form, reunites her and the unhappy Aminta and finally bears them off in his barge to the land of the Immortals, as the last notes of her ivory horn are wafted back from the depths of the wood.

FIRST DANCE OF ORCHID CLUB.

Largely Attended and Enjoyable Event in Lyceum Hall.

The Orchid Club of this town held its first dance on Friday evening in Lyceum Hall, the evening being successful from every point of view, there being a large attendance, both from Winchester and surrounding towns, good music and attractive decorations. Colored lights, palms and festoons of crepe transformed the hall and made a decorative effect which was very pleasing. During the evening refreshments were served. An attractive feature was the dance orders, they being of convenient size and dore in lavender with pencils and cord of the same color.

The evening was in charge of the members of the Club under Miss Margaret Foley, the president, and included Miss Frances Noonan, vice-president, Miss Mary Leahy, secretary-treasurer, Miss Alice Foley, Miss Loretta Hargrove, Miss Winifred Le Duc, Miss Helen McNally, Miss Anna Murphy, Miss Katherine Murphy and Miss Josephine Noonan.

POLISH DAY.

On Saturday, February 6th, everyone throughout the state is to be asked to buy a Polish flag for ten cents, or a Polish eagle for twenty-five cents, or any larger sum that generosity dictates. Polish destitution is terrible. An appeal has come by cable from Paderewski, the pianist, which reads as follows: "Cities and towns destroyed, hundreds of towns burned, three times the area of Belgium devastated. No corn or potatoes left and millions are homeless. Help needed!" It is hoped that this appeal will receive a generous response from the people of Winchester.

CHARIOT RACING BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Realistic and exciting as is the great chariot race in "Ben-Hur" with its twenty thoroughbred horses driven in quadruple teams by the five contestants for the blue ribbon of victory in the arena of the Antioch circus, as seen by the breathless audience in front of the footlights at the big Boston Theatre, Boston, one gets a new sensation by watching this wonderful spectacle from behind the scenes. All around, towers huge panoramas. At one's feet the stage is transformed from the boards trod by buskin and sock into a mechanical workshop. Four horses stand abreast before each chariot, resting upon the heavy treadmills, each chariot platform weighing, with its involved accessories, a grand total of 13,000 pounds. Yet each of these five chariots with shouting riders, plunging steeds and weighty cradles is shifted back and forth at will by invisible means and by a simple turn of the wrist. The subterranean region below stairs, with its constant passing through of supernumeraries, resembles a timbered dockyard, bearing as it does this Atlantean movable mass of thundering treadmills on its crouched shoulders.

The light has been kept a minute to encourage the horses in their start. Now darkness falls, and the sensitive auditor behind the scenes, hidden only a few feet from the roaring machinery and plunging steeds, feels a sort of uncanny sensation, even though it be not dread. Then, as suddenly, the light is on again, and he sees the now thoroughly aroused racers seemingly charging straight at him with flying leaps and nerves aquiver. The illusory dust rises in a cloud from their feet and the charioteers with their crackling whips appear to be about to dash upon the daring spectator. Especially is this true when one chariot after the other is shifted ahead, and the audience in front beholds the tragedy of Messala's overthrow.

When the scene is over and the scenic rabble is cheering the belaureled Ithamar, the smuggled in auditor feels that he has truly seen a fierce race.

MISS BILLIE BURKE IN "JERRY" AT HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Miss Billie Burke began her annual engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, on Monday night, and the big audience that greeted her voted her new comedy, "Jerry," the most delightful and the most "billieburkish" play that the popular actress has presented in Boston since she became a star.

The piece is by Catherine Chisholm, an American playwright and it is the first American play Miss Burke has ever done. It tells a very amusing story of how a mischievous Chicago girl plays havoc with the routine of a well-ordered household in a staid Philadelphia suburb. Her aunt has been engaged to a man for twenty years. "Jerry" — that is the girl's name — covets the man and by a clever ruse breaks off his engagement with her aunt and then, by another impish trick betrays him into a declaration of love for herself. The last act, the scene of which is laid in a picturesque mining camp in Arizona, shows what a really good wife the hoydenish "Jerry" has made.

The situations in the play are highly amusing and the dialogue is of the wittiest. And Miss Burke wears a large number of fetching frocks.

Miss Burke will stay at the Hollis two weeks more — until Saturday evening, February 20, and her matinees will be on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Mail orders will be given prompt attention. Anyone who enjoys a good laugh must be sure to see one of her performances.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The regular meeting of the Winchester Union will be held Friday, February 12, in the vestry of the First Congregational Church, at 3 o'clock. Business of importance is to come before the meeting in the consideration of certain plans for work recommended by the State President. It is hoped that every member will make an effort to be present. In addition there will be exercises in memory of Frances E. Willard, as the February meeting is always a memorial meeting for the lost leader. Members are reminded that the annual fees are now due and can be paid at the meeting.

In spite of the storm of Tuesday night there was a large party of Union members and assisting friends going to Boston to provide an entertainment at the Seaman's Friend Society's rooms on Hanover street. From 7.30 to 8 p. m., there was chorus singing and the popular songs made the place resound, the sailors rendering their assistance. After that the play, "Among the Breakers," was presented by a group of Winchester young folks, viz: Mrs. Frank H. Higgins, Mrs. James E. Gilman, Misses Eva and Maud B. Tracy, and Messrs. C. C. Bradbury, W. D. Gurney, George Ambler, Fred Dotten, Ernest Polley, Frank S. Noyes and O. A. Elder. Robert Hamilton was accompanist and Winslow Haynes of Brookline assisted with the violin, making the entertainment most enjoyable. That it was all appreciated was shown by the ready applause and the words of commendation during the third part of the programme. This consisted of refreshments provided by the Winchester Union, as is its custom on these occasions which have become an annual event.

Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck is credited with making a rather remarkable speech yesterday at the meeting at Faneuil Hall on the Wilson Ship Bill.

WILLIAM H. FORBES.

Many Prominent Men Attended Services of Well Known Lithographer.

The funeral services of the late William H. Forbes, founder and head of the Forbes Lithograph Company, who passed away at his home on Grove street last week Wednesday, were held at the Unitarian Church on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The services were largely attended, noted men in various positions of mercantile and business life mingling with employees and neighbors in paying a last tribute to the memory of one who was universally loved and respected by all who knew him. The church was filled to its capacity, and the tribute of floral offerings which banked the casket and rostrum gave abundant testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The mourners included many employees of the Forbes Lithograph Company at Chelsea, between 375 and 400 attending; representatives from the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the Beacon Society, the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association, the Boston Typotheta, the National Association of Employing Lithographers and a host of personal friends. In order to accommodate the large number of out of town mourners a special train was run from Boston, which carried 450 to the services and conveyed them to the city at the close.

The services were conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, pastor of the Church, who paid a personal tribute to Mr. Forbes in his remarks, and included a German lullaby, "Schlaf in Gute Ruh," a favorite song of Mr. Forbes, played on the organ by Mrs. George H. Lochman, singing by the Lotus Quartet, "Lead, Kindly Light," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Beauiiful Isle of Somewhere," Scripture reading, poem and benediction.

The honorary bearers were General Charles H. Taylor, George R. White, Arthur F. Estabrook and Charles Willis Jones of Boston, Lewis Parkhurst of this town, Samuel M. Conant of Pawtucket, R. I., S. C. Dobbs of Atlanta, Ga., and Hon. Selwyn Z. Bowman of Somerville.

The active bearers were Arthur W. Mudge of Jamaica Plain, Francis E. Getty of this town, Francis J. Blaney of Roxbury, W. B. Rogerson of Newton, Robert W. Milne of Allston and C. F. Shirley of Boston.

The ushers for the church were Harry K. Clarke, George L. Huntress Jr., Elbridge K. Jewett and Stanley H. G. Smith.

The body was taken to Forest Hills Cemetery for interment.

POLISH DAY RESULTS.

In spite of the many demands already made upon them this winter, the people of Winchester responded with their usual generosity to the appeal on Saturday for the relief of Poland's war sufferers through the sale of Polish flags and eagles. Although the weather in the morning was so unfavorable that it was impossible for the house canvassing to be as thorough as had been planned, the sum of $210 was collected, which was increased by contributions to $265.

There would have been additional collections but for the discovery early in the afternoon that the supply of flags and eagles in Boston had been exhausted and that pinks were to be substituted. It was then thought best to return the remaining stock of flags and eagles to headquarters, since their sale in Boston was assured.

Many thanks are due to the girls and boys who did the work of collecting so willingly, although the bad walking made their task anything but an easy one. School boys were on duty at the Winchester Station and centre, while boy scouts attended to the Wedgemere Station. The whole amount contributed was sent to the Public Interests' League in Boston, which arranged for Polish Day at the request of Mme. Szumoulska-Adamowski, head of the Polish Relief Committee. As it is said that ten cents will feed one person one day in Poland, twenty-five hundred persons will have food for one day through the generosity of the people of Winchester.

ORGAN RECITAL.

The regular monthly organ recital will be given at the Church of the Epiphany, Winchester, next Sunday, Feb. 14th at 4.15. Mr. J. Albert Wilson the organist will be assisted by Mr. Harold Child, baritone.

An interesting program has been arranged and will be as follows:

Fantasie in G Minor	Bach
At Evening	Buck
"Oh Lord Have Mercy"	Mendelssohn
Mr. Child
Meditation	Bairston
Allegro Vivace	Vierne
Life's Recompence	Del Riego
Mr. Child
Minuet	Beethoven
Festival Maret	Foote

A short musical service by the choir will follow the recital, with a soprano solo by Mrs. Lester Eric Colgrin and a bass solo by Mr. Daniel Linn. The choir will sing a Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis in E Flat by West, and "The Roseate Hues of Early Dawn" Steane and "Ho! Every One that Thirsteth," Martin.

MRS. WILLIAM I. COTY.

Mrs. Alice E. (Donovan) Coty, wife of William I. Coty, the well known singer, died at her home in Somerville on Monday after a short illness. She was 22 years of age, and leaves besides her husband a baby daughter.

Mrs. Coty was well known in Winchester where she resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Donovan, up to the time of her marriage last June. She leaves her parents, three sisters and two brothers, all residing in West Medford, where they recently moved.

The funeral services were held from the residence, No. 108 Heath street, Somerville, Wednesday morning. Requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Anne's Church at 9 o'clock. The burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

EXCITEMENT IN SQUARE.

Big Accident Narrowly Averted Wednesday Night.

The stage was set for Winchester's big grade crossing accident on Wednesday evening, and once more it was averted by a narrow margin. To state it briefly, an electric car became stalled on the railroad tracks in front on an express train, and only prompt work flagging the train, and vigilance on the part of the engineer saved the passengers.

According to reports the car, which was the 6.10 for Arlington, blew out a fuse as it was going over the crossing and stopped between the gates. The motorman got out to look things over and the conductor did likewise. Meanwhile the 6.11 inward express was coming down the track. Passengers in the car were suddenly aroused to their danger by someone making a rush for the door and shouting for them to get out. There was immediately a rush for both ends by everyone, the car being well filled.

Those at the rear succeeded in getting out fairly quickly, but the doors at the front end were locked, and a number of girls were in a jam trying to open them. One of the passengers who had escaped through the rear door entered the vestibule and unlocked the door, which allowed them to get out, although some had already turned and ran to the rear.

There was much excitement in the square, people running and shouting and while no one was injured in the rush from the car there was considerable of a crush.

The conductor is said to have taken one of the tail lights of the car and run up the track in an effort to flag the train, but his light is reported to have gone out before he had gone any distance. One of the gatemen flagged the train with a lantern taken from the gate-tenders' shanty, the train stopping just below the tower.

One passenger told of being in the car and it stopping on the crossing. He said he knew nothing of the trouble until he looked out of the window and saw the approaching headlight of a locomotive. He says he shouted for everyone to get out quick and made a dash for the door. When he got outside he saw the girls trying to get out of the locked front end and with another man entered the vestibule and slipped the catch.

Three trains were held up by the incident, the 6.11 inward, the 6.16 outward, and the 6.26 inward.

Credit is due to the motoring for their invaluable aid in flagging the train and rescuing the passengers: Patrolman Alexander J. Mullen, Frank Duffee of the Fire Department, William R. Richardson, gate-tender; the conductor of the car and others.

It appears to be but a question of time when an electric will be struck at the crossing. It is only hoped that there will be no loss of life, or at most it may be small.

ST. MARY'S REUNION.

The 40th anniversary of St. Mary's parish was celebrated Wednesday evening by the members of the parish and their friends at the annual reunion in the Town Hall, which was a pronounced success in every particular. Rev. Francis E. Rogers had charge of the arrangements, and he and Rev. John W. H. Corbett greeted the parishioners and visitors as they arrived.

The entertainment consisted of selections by an orchestra, soprano solos by Miss Katherine L. Mullen of Lowell, recitations by John E. Connell, piano solos by Miss Mabel Conley, Scannell, tenor solos by Charles E. McCarthy and fancy dancing by Andrew Farrell and Miss Bertha Field.

Supper was served in the lower hall after the entertainment, and dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. Dr. Richard W. Sheehy was floor director, with Howard S. Cosgrove and Frank E. Rogers as assistants, and the following aids: James W. Haggerty, James W. Blackham, Dr. James H. Connor, James H. Carr, Edward F. Boyle, George F. LeDuc, Frederick Donahue, Harry J. Shinnick, James H. Roach, William A. Richards, Richard Glendon, Neil Doherty, Edward Glendon, Edward Gendron, Mrs. Daniel Murphy, Mrs. John McNally and Mrs. Ernest Mullen.

McDonald and Mrs. John McDonald.

The music committee was Daniel Murphy and Mrs. Charles A. Farrar.

TWO LADIES' NIGHTS.

Two ladies' nights will be announced for this month by the Calumet Club this week. The first will be next Tuesday evening and will an auction bridge party. It will be given under the direction of Mr. George B. Davis, George W. Fitch and E. Arthur Tutein. There will be prizes and refreshments.

The second ladies' night will be held on Tuesday evening, February 23rd. It will be a concert, and considerable effort is being made to make the evening of a nature which will appeal to all lovers of good music. The artists will include Arthur Watson, player pianist, assisted by Arthur Hackett, tenor, and Miss Hazel Trueman, violinist.

TEACHERS BOWL.

Large Number Out for Ten Best Selected.

A number of teachers of the public schools visited the Calumet Club on Wednesday afternoon and enjoyed the bowling. The number who are now trying for the cup offered by the committee for the ten best selected strings has increased by many new-comers. On Wednesday afternoon a match was also rolled between teams captained by Miss Lyons and Miss Cullen, the latter four winning three of the four points. The match was close and exciting, the first string going by a margin of five and the total by one. Mr. Hannon rolled the best single with 92 and Mr. Grant the best total with 249.

The scores:

Miss Lyons, Capt.	60	78	62	200

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Monday evening was Gentlemen's Night at The Fortnightly. The Club members and their guests, about 400 in number, listened to a very interesting lecture on "The Real Meaning of the War" by Mr. Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly. At the close of the lecture an informal reception was held. In the receiving line were the Club president, Miss Maude Folts, Mr. Norman Hapgood, Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf and Mrs. George H. Root. The chairman of the hospitality committee, Mrs. Arthur H. Richardson, had charge of the ushers for this reception. The ushers were Mrs. F. A. Cutting, Mrs. F. N. Kerr, Mrs. A. T. Hunnewell, Mrs. S. F. Stevens, Mrs. H. S. Larrabee, Mrs. W. E. Clarke and Mrs. W. H. Foss.

At the close of the reception, a supper was served, and this was followed by dancing which ended a very delightful evening.

During the evening, and for the dancing, Mellett's Orchestra of Stoneham furnished splendid music.

Great credit is due to the social committee for their able management of the evening, which was in their charge. The members of the committee are Mrs. George W. Apsey, chairman, Mrs. George Goddu, sub-chairman, Miss Anna P. Clark, Mrs. Rufus L. Clark, Mrs. Frank C. Howe, Mrs. Fred B. Jordan, Mrs. E. Hayes Kellogg, Mrs. Walter I. King, Mrs. Charles A. Lane, Mrs. Howard C. Mason, Mrs. Charles H. Symmes.

As the natural date for the next meeting of the Fortnightly falls on Washington's Birthday, the Club voted to hold its second February meeting in Friday 15th, next Monday. Notice the change.

This meeting will be of unusual interest, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance at the business session at 2.30 when important business will be considered. Members are reminded to bring to this meeting their "Informal Ballots" sent to them by mail.

Program at 3.30. Lecture: "The Greatest Man of the Nineteenth Century," by Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown of Yale. Because of the many enthusiastic expressions of enjoyment of Dr. Brown last year, and requests that he speak again before The Fortnightly, the Program Committee arranged for this lecture which is one of his best—a masterpiece.

The Home Economics Committee wish to call attention to the four demonstrations by Mrs. Harriet L. B. Harling, to be given on Tuesdays in March. Tickets may be obtained from the committee.

Old Linen and Old Cotton.

If you have not sent your old linen and old cotton for use in the hospitals of Northern France to the store of Mr. Franklin E. Barnes, Main street, please do so today or tomorrow without fail.

LADIES' FRIENDLY LUNCHEON.

The regular monthly meeting luncheon of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church was held on Tuesday at the Church. There was an attendance of about 200 at the luncheon, which was in charge of a committee of about 40 ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. John C. Kerrison.

Rev. Dudley Hayes Ferrell of Brockton, who was to have addressed the meeting, was unable to be present, and his place was filled by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf, pastor of the church, who gave a talk upon religious matters. Several piano selections were most acceptably given by Mrs. A. H. Abbott.

The society voted to donate $200 in answer to twelve appeals made by the committee on Ways and Work for charities in the United States.

It was also voted to hold the usual May Party this spring, Mrs. Fred C. Alexander, president of the society, being appointed chairman to take charge of the matter and appoint the various assisting committees.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The Board of Health announce that no cases of contagious diseases have been reported for the week ending Feb. 10th.

TOWN WARRANT.

Some of the More Important Articles to be Passed Upon.

The warrant for the annual town meeting to held Monday, March 1st, contains 34 articles. A number of them are quite important, and will cause the usual discussion. Winchester is in the midst of the improvement of the town waterways and consequently there are articles on that question that call for the further expenditure of money. This is a wise improvement and the money expended will certainly be returned to the town many fold in a few years in drawing people here to make their homes where the surroundings will prove so attractive and where residential comforts are so great.

The article to hear and act upon the "reports of committees heretofore appointed by the town, and to appoint other committees," is among the first articles in the warrant. This is at times a much abused and elastic article which affords an opportunity for the introduction of a variety of motions that would not be entertained under any other heading.

Next comes that heretofore much discussed motor pump for the fire department over which there has been such a wide divergence of opinion during the past two years. The question will surely be fought to a finish again.

Then follow a number of routine articles such as appear from year to year in the warrant and which are quickly disposed of. And then comes the important matter of a permanent sheet or block pavement for the streets about the square in the centre of the town. Then comes along in procession three articles relative to streets—two for acceptance, and the third is a request for the widening and grading of Forest circle, so called, on Forest street not far from the Stoneham line. Some forty or more years ago, when Forest street was straightened, a shallow loop was left opposite the residence of the late A. B. Coffin. To all intents and purposes this discarded portion of the street was abandoned by the town at that time as a street. It is estimated that to do so will cost from $1,500 to $2,000. There are many thickly populated streets in town where this money could be spent more advantageously.

The Park Commissioners will ask for money to excavate and improve the mill pond, which is very essential to completing the work on Main Street Seats are asked for Manchester Field, and all who attend the ball games will be sure to approve of an appropriation for their installation. The town will be asked to buy the Cutting lot on Washington street at the rear of the Town Hall building and install a hydrant in the town building. Mr. Buck is going to ask that the School Committee be increased from three to nine members. The matter of installing a watering trough near Cambridge street is to come up again. The need of the trough is not questioned, but the objection arises from the fact that no one wants it in front on their estate—and a very good reason it is, too. But nevertheless some place should be provided for watering horses.

There are several articles from citizens asking for the repair of their streets. There is the familiar request of Mr. Alfred J. Edwards and others for water. Then years in succession the town has voted to give them town water, yet they are still asking for it. Shower baths for the Chapin School is the basis for an article, and they should be installed. The warrant closes with an article for Mr. W. L. Tuck for a tunnel at the station and the abolishing of the overhead bridge.

There is the usual long list of appropriations to be asked for, and times are hard. The members of the Warrant Committee are almost disheartened in trying to keep the appropriations down so that they will not exceed $19. A $20 rate now confronts them and unless they can devise some scheme to circumvent this great increase Winchester will certainly go into the high tax class.

JOHN B. FLOWERS.

Mr. John B. Flowers, aged 95 years, died after a short illness on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Florence A. Lowe on Lincoln street, with whom he made his home. He was a native of Halifax, N. S., and had been a resident of this town for the past eight years. For a period of 20 years he was in the employment of an insurance company, but had been retired for some time.

He leaves a son, Frank Flowers, formerly a resident of this town, a yoeman in the U. S. Navy and now with the comissary department at the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I. One brother residing in Halifax also survives him.

The funeral services were held from the First Congregational Church yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, conducted by Rev. Cyrus Richardson. The remains were taken to Bridgewater for interment in the East Bridgewater Cemetery.

MEETING FOR WOMEN ONLY.

The Winchester Equal Suffrage League invites the women of Winchester to attend a meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 3 p. m. at the High School Assembly Hall.

The speakers will be Mrs. Myron Vorce of Cleveland and Miss Rose Livingstone of New York. Miss Livingstone is known far and wide as the "Angel of Chinatown". She has been travelling all over Massachusetts, speaking to women, telling them of the terrible conditions she finds while doing the rescue work to which she gives her life.

Wherever she speaks, crowded houses are the rule, and no doubt Winchester will prove no exception. There are many women here who are keenly interested in this awful problem.

WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE.

Second Degree Given to Five Candidates.

There was an unusual amount of interest in the meeting of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M., last Tuesday evening. The attendance was especially large and the second degree was given to five candidates, after which all enjoyed the entertainment which had been provided for the members. An innovation in the line of supplementary entertainments to follow the regular meetings is one of the pleasant features of the new administration this season, and a number of genuine novelties were presented by H. V. Baril, who is one of the most mystifying illusionists who have given exhibitions in Winchester. His programme was all new and the tricks delighted all. Following the exhibition supper was served to all.

An unusually interesting announcement was made by Wilbur Sargent Locke, the new Master of William Parkman Lodge, to the effect that a ladies' night would be observed a little later in the spring. It is planned to make this an unusually elaborate occasion for the Masons of Winchester and their ladies, and preparations are now well under way. A committee consisting of George Bradford Hayward, chairman; William M. Little, Raymond Merrill, Percival B. Metcalf, Dr. Orion Kelley, Horatio C. Rohrman and Franklin Ellis Crawford has been appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the occasion and already they have made a number of elaborate plans, from which it is evident that this ladies' night will be one of the most interesting functions ever given by William Parkman Lodge. The Lodge celebrated its semi-centennial last summer and is now in the most prosperous condition that it has ever known.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

Mr. Metcalf's sermon Sunday morning will be on "The Psychology of the War," a subject appropriate for Peace Sunday.

Recognition Sunday for the Sunday School was a great success. Sixty-eight scholars received a special card certifying that they had had a perfect attendance from October 1st to February 1st.

The Vesper Service Sunday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock should be as popular as last Sunday when Madam Scotney was here. Mrs. Sundelius is a symphony soloist who is as famous in her way as Mme. Scotney. She will be assisted by Mrs. Cole, who is a contralto of great power.

In the death of Mr. W. H. Forbes Boston has lost one of its foremost and most successful business men, Winchester one of its most distinguished citizens, and our parish an earnest and faithful member.

It was a disappointment that the Rev. Dudley Ferrell of Brockton was not able to speak at the Ladies' Friendly Society last Tuesday. A funeral in his home parish prevented him keeping his engagement here. Mr. Metcalf filled in and read a paper on the "Relation of Modern Scientific Speculations to Religion."

At the business meeting it was voted to pay for the printing of the monthly calendar until the close of the season. The meeting decided to hold a May Party on the first Saturday in May as usual. Mrs. Frederic Alexander was appointed chairman of the committee.

The annual appeals were answered and $200 appropriated to be sent to the different objects in proportion to the amount raised. The sum of twenty-five dollars was appropriated for the Good Will Fund to be used by the minister.

The Alliance Branch has been invited by the Follen Branch of East Lexington to attend their guest day on February 25th. Rev. James Duncan will speak on Texas.

MADAM SUNDELIUS AND MISS COLE AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.

A Special Musical Vesper Service will be held at the Unitarian Church at 4.30 p. m. which should be as popular as last Sunday afternoon when Madam Scotney was in Winchester. It is the intention to hold these sometimes every other week, but as it was impossible to get these artists later in the season it was decided to hold them on consecutive Sundays.

Mrs Marie Sundelius is a Swede by birth and is a soprano whose great reputation has been connected with the Boston Symphony concerts, the Old South Church, and Miss Cole. Miss Cole began her career in Salem. She has a wonderfully pure low-toned contralto voice, and sings much with Mrs. Sundelius. Winchester is fortunate in having an opportunity to hear both of these first class artists.

The following is the musical program:

"Hear ye Israel"	Mendelssohn
Mrs. Sundelius
"Eye Hath Not Seen" from the Holy City	Gaul
Miss Cole
"I'm a Pilgrim"	Johnson
Mrs. Sundelius
Song of Ruth	Gounod
Miss Cole
Duet, "The Lord is My Shepherd"	Smart
Mrs. Sundelius and Miss Cole
Duet, "Evening Prayer"	Humperdinck
Mrs. Sundelius and Miss Cole

There will be a short devotional service. All music lovers of Winchester and surrounding towns are cordially invited.

EXPRESSES REGRET.

Editor of the Star:—

My dear Mr. Wilson:—The enclosed letter, rearding an announcement I made in your columns recently has just been received.

I am sorry that I thoughtlessly used a word which might be objectionable to any group of people in the community and hasten to express my regret.

The music of the colored people has recently created so much favorable comment and made such a fine impression all over the world that I was happy to think I might be able to bring a group of them here and regret that I made the announcement in a way which was not agreeable to the colored people of Winchester.

Yours very sincerely,
Mary Kellogg.

Miss Kellogg:—I regret very much to find the announcement of your third assembly in the Winchester Star, worded as it is. There are two-hundred (200) or more colored people in Winchester and quite a number of us read the Star. The words darkie, nigger, coon, dago, wop, spic and many others that are used to distinguish various races of people are the worst form of slang. All nationalities object to and protest against their use in the public press.

If there is a colored orchestra worth having it is worth being called by its proper name. We do not know whether you mean a real negro orchestra or an imitation; but we object to the use of the word darkie in the public press.

I do not think it is necessary for you to use such a headline for a drawing card. From what I have read of your work in the past your name alone is a wonderful headline.

Believing you were not conscious of what that mean when you sent it to the paper I thought I would remind you of it and pray that you may correct the statement and if you want a negro orchestra I hope you will say either negro or colored orchestra.

I not only voice the sentiment of the few people in Winchester, but more than twelve million people of America.

Very truly,
George Jackson, 47 Irving street, Winchester, Mass.

NOVELTY SHOWER.

Friends of Miss Mabel Sharon of Main street surprised her last Friday evening at her home by giving her a novelty shower in anticipation of her coming marriage to Mr. Wilbur T. Tucker of Belfast, Me.

The affair was a complete surprise to the bride-to-be, who was the recipient of many useful and handsome gifts. The evening was enjoyably spent with music, entertainment and refreshments.

Among those who were present were Mrs. and Miss Vienotte of Somerville, Mrs. Frost of Canton, Miss Macdowell of Malden, Miss Paasche of Chelmford, Misses Olga, Inga and Martha Everson, Charlotte and Harriet Dodge, Maude and Eva Tracy, Ellen Horne and Helen and Annie Thompson.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Winchester Mothers' Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in High School Assembly Hall on Wednesday, Feb. 17th, at 3 o'clock.

HONOR PUPILS.

List of Those Who Graded 90 Per Cent or Higher.

A study of the second quarter reports which were issued last week shows that there are 238 names on the honor roll. To be thus classified a pupil's standing must be 90 per cent, or over, for the quarter's work.

Of the large number of pupils who earned high rank the following deserve particular commendation for obtaining the honor standing in a majority of their subjects: Elsa Johnson, 7 subjects; Margaret Chase, 5 subjects; Rhoda Case, Anna Hefflon, Richard Higgins, Mary Ferrina, Marion Reynolds, Esther Russell, Avery Claflin, 4 subjects.

Nineteen pupils received an honor mark in three subjects.

WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED AND BENEFIT FOR ALL.

Editor of the Star:—

In view of the beautiful day last Sunday, a bit of summer overhead with the worst of spring underfoot, it occurred to me what a blessing it would be if every resident who was favored by a concrete or granolithic sidewalk in front of his residence would keep it shoveled. We demand improvements, but do we always appreciate them?

Why would it not be a good idea for every such resident to keep his walk cleared of snow and ice (and slush) why would it not be a boon to the army of unemployed also? Every citizen and every visitor to our town would benefit. A general sidewalk clearing movement would be a benefit to everyone.

We have, I believe, a by-law requiring our store-keepers to keep their sidewalks free of ice and snow. Why are others exempt? Why should the law apply to the storekeeper and not to his neighbor a few rods up the street?

I believe many residents are willing to keep their walks clear, and if I were among the unemployed I should take a shovel and visit the houses on the principal streets, and request work shovelling uncleared sidewalks. I think that such a man would receive employment.

If a move for clean sidewalks were started I believe it would become universal, for no person out of personal pride allows his own walk to stand uncleared while his neighbors kept theirs in a satisfactory condition.

Aid the Unemployed.

MISREPRESENTED LABORERS.

Editor of the Star:—

Kindly allow me the opportunity of correcting a few statements that I believe was misrepresented by a member of organized labor, who no doubt, appointed himself a Committee of one, to tell the country at large, the quality and qualifications that non-citizens possess as workers, in this intelligent age. He tries to leave the impression that a man who is a citizen has no right to demand an opportunity of making an honest living for himself and his family, but he does think, that a man who is not a voter or a naturalized citizen, should have the opportunity, and enjoy the privileges, in preference to a citizen, on the different works for the Town of Winchester. Now according to an Act passed by the last legislature and called the "Citizens Preference Act" gives to the citizens the opportunity and the preference, as far as work is concerned, in this Commonwealth. Now if this Act passed by the legislature means anything, then you must be mistaken. You are further trying to leave an impression that a non-citizen, in your estimation, is far ahead of the average abiding citizen, but I hardly think this a fair statement, coming from a voter. You know there are non-citizens working in these departments, and it would hardly be advisable to examine records, and you were well aware of this fact when you inserted and sent broadcast, this statement to the world. You, sir, would be one of the first men in this Town today, if you were asked to give your position to a un-naturalized citizen, to say "Never". Why should they have the opportunity of paying for their little homes, and depriving a citizen of the same privilege? Who is the man that goes into Town meetings and vote to give his fellow man an increase in pay, is it the citizen, or is it the non-citizen? Is it not a fact that the Town of Winchester has always gone to the expense of paying checkers, and furnishing a check list to keep the so called non-citizens from entering the Hall?

You further state that there are two men now receiving a pension. You know, or at least you ought to know, that these two gentlemen are naturalized citizens, one since 1872, and the other since 1882. They have worked for the Town of Winchester for over thirty years, possibly twelve hours a day. They never had the opportunity of keeping the seats warm, as is the custom with teamsters at the present time, possibly you may be included as a teamster, yourself. In regard to the number of times the wages have been raised and the half holidays, including a two weeks' vacation, it seems on your own statement, everybody working for the Town of Winchester, is used pretty well. They receive these privileges because they are citizens, in my estimation, and that the citizens of the Town of Winchester are the men to vote for this proposition, furthermore they will defend and uphold the rights of their fellow men in the f[illegible]s they have always done in [illegible]ast.

In regard to the question of consolidating departments, it seems that you have taken the new planning board for a plaining mill, meaning to consolidate sawdust and shavings, but if the gentlemen who were aspiring for this office thinks it is their duty, they will be as near right as some of the other officials, expressing their opinion on labor laws. In regard to the different Superintendents and the work they do, in exchange for the money they receive I would refer you to your own remarks about three weeks ago in the Chapin School. You were telling the meeting, and the large crowd that was present of the fabulous salaries that was paid to the different Superintendents of this Town. Which one of these statements do you want the public to understand?

I believe I am a member of the same labor organization as you are, and I hardly think it was fair on your part to voice the opinion of others by your remarks in Town meeting, and through the Public press. You would simply be insulting the intelligence of the average American citizen, by inviting him to step one side and make room for a non-citizen.

My father is receiving a pension from the Town of Winchester. Would it have been possible for my father or others to obtain their pension if it were not for the fact that the citizens of Massachusetts, by their vote, made this law? I would like to have explained what part these non-citizens played to have this become a law? There is no doubt at the present time, there is one labor organization in this country, that takes the same stand and advocates the same principles that you and others are trying to imitate. It is called the I. W. W. or the Industrial Workers of the World.

John F. Kennedy.

VESPERS LARGELY ATTENDED.

The vesper service in the Unitarian Church on Sunday afternoon drew the largest gathering that the edifice has held at any time yet. The attendance was estimated at over 600 and it was impossible to seat everyone, many being obliged to stand.

The soloist for the vespers was Mme. Evelyn Scotney. In addition violin solos were given by Eric Hayne, who also accompanied her. The program was very gratifying to the large audience, and in addition to the above artists was included a short address by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf on "The practice of the presence of God," singing by the church quartet accompanying Mme. Scotney, and organ selections by Mrs. Anna Winn Lochman.

The fire department was called out Friday noon in answer to an alarm from box 31. The fire was in the new house being erected by George C. Ogden at the corner of Park avenue and Washington street. It appears that some of the lathes had gotten wet and were banked in front of a fire place to dry them, the fire catching them. No great damage was done although the fire got into one partition. In responding to the call the ladder tractor became stalled on Washington street for a few minutes. The going was extremely bad, the worst of the winter. The apparatus took the electric car track up Washington street, and in attempting to turn out the tractor engine stalled.

LETTER TO SELECTMEN.

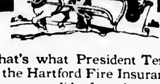

February 8, 1915.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Selectmen:—

Gentlemen:—Appreciating as I do the promptness of your acts as to the unemployed, I wish to suggest to you that you see to it that no one is discriminated against by any ill feeling that any town official may have toward any one who asks for work. I have the best of reasons for asking this and would appear before you tonight if it were possible for me to do so. I ask that this letter be given to the Star to be printed in your next weekly, ie, this week.

Courteously,
Whitfield Tuck.

How would you like to travel 108 miles by sleigh in zero weather?

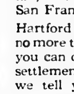

That's what President Terry of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company did after the great New York fire of December 16, 1835, in order to make immediate payment of the Hartford losses.

In the same staunch spirit the Hartford promptly paid out $1,900,000 after the Chicago fire, and $10,000,000 after the San Francisco disaster.

Hartford protection costs you no more than other kinds—and you can depend upon prompt settlement in case of fire. May we tell you more about it?

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

Close Race Continues Among a Number of Teams.

Team D went into third place in the tournament on Friday evening at the Calumet Club by winning all four points from team C, which previous to the match held down second position honors in a tie with team L. Team C now drops well down in the list, the teams being so closely bunched that a win or loss of four points means considerable change in the standing. On the same evening team A won all four points from team B. This win will strengthen team A's standing, which is now about in fifth place. The two matches produced some good bowling. Team D carried off the honors for the best string, rolling 565, although this was with its handicap. Team A rolled for its best string 557, and for its total 1637, which was three pins better than team D's total. Mr. Gerlach rolled the best individual single and total for the gentlemen with 119 and 332. Wilson rolled 115 for a single and 314 for total, Newman 113 and 300, and Weed 113 and 311. Miss Giles rolled the best lady's single with 110 and Mrs. White the best total with 261. Her high single was 95.

Team F, the leaders in the tournament, which up to Monday evening had progressed with 100 per cent lost its first match to team E. This ties it with team L with 12 points won and 4 lost. Team E also profited by the match, going into a tie with team A for fourth place. Mrs. Tompkins rolled the best single for the ladies with 86, and Mrs. Hindes the best total with 231. Mr. Tompkins rolled 118 for the highest single and Mr. Davy won the appreciation of all by a string of 111. His total of 296 was also the best. The match between teams G and J was not rolled, as neither team appeared, the points counting as four lost for each.

Sullivan and Lake were appointed to serve as tellers at the evening sessions of the Town Meeting, and the Clerk was instructed to arrange for lunch for the election officers as usual.

A communication was received from Benjamin F. Haines, Mayor of Medford, stating that he had been notified that some action should be taken in regard to the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital in that city; that he had also been informed that no such hospital existed in Winchester, and that this town might join with them or they with us and other adjacent towns in the construction and maintenance of such a hospital. A letter was received from Dr. Allen, Secretary Board of Health, to whom the matter had been referred, stating that he believed such a hospital with a nearby building for the care of diphtheria and scarlet fever cases should be erected and maintained by Medford, Melrose, Wakefield, Reading, Stoneham, Woburn and Winchester; that he had given the matter a great deal of thought and had arrived at some pretty definite conclusion, and would be glad to confer with the Selectmen at any time. The matter was referred to the Chairman and Dr. Allen to confer with the Mayor of Medford.

A letter was received from Hon. W. F. Prime, Representative, stating that the matter of dredging Wedgemere Pond and the Aberjona River would be heard by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs Monday, February 15th, at 10.30 a. m., being the first matter on the list for that day, and suggested that a few words from the town officials of Winchester emphasizing the fact that the present condition of affairs is a menace to the health of the neighborhood would be all the would be necessary for the purpose of the hearing, and also suggested that a plan be presented at the hearing showing the location of the pond and stream.

A circular letter was received from Victor A. Friend, President Melrose Board of Trade, stating that Winchester would bear more than her reasonable proportion of the cost of rebuilding the Wellington Bridge unless some action were taken immediately; that last year a bill authorizing this work assessed 42½ per cent of the cost, of $48,875, on cities and towns in Middlesex County which used the bridge most, while the shore cities of Lynn, Revere, Swampscott, Beverly, etc., of Essex County were practically exempt; that the bridge had come to be an automobile route largely for the North Shore in summer, and that therefore Essex ought to bear their share of the cost; that accordingly two bills had been introduced known as House Bills 725 and 726, either of which would be satisfactory to them, both having in view the idea of remedying the above conditions, and asking that this town co-operate with Malden, Melrose and other cities in influencing the legisature to pass one of the bills. A hearing is to be held February 17, at 10.30 a. m., Room 240. The Clerk reported having taken the matter up with Rep. Prime, and the Town Counsel was also asked to attend the hearing.

The Town Treasurer reported having received from the Attorney-General a notice in the matter of the petition of the Metropolitan Park Commissioners for appointment of commissioners to determine payments to cities and towns under Acts of 1899, Chapter 419, with copy of the same and order to send it to the cities and towns interested; that a hearing would be held Tuesday, March 2, at 9.30 a. m., to appear and show cause why the prayer should not be granted, and that he had forwarded it to the Town Counsel.

A hearing having been held on the ground and adjourned to this meeting, it was Voted, That in the opinion of the Selectmen, public convenience and necessity require that a town way be laid out from Wedgemere avenue over the land now known as and called Foxcroft road to Cambridge street; that accordingly a town way is laid out from the southwesterly side of Wedgemere avenue to Cambridge street over said land.

A declaration recommending this street to the town for acceptance was signed and ordered filed with the Town Clerk with the plan as required by statute.

A letter was received from the Town Engineer giving the facts of an interview with Mr. George M. Bryne held February 4 in the Engineer's office and filed; also a copy of a letter addressed to Mr. Byrne by Herbert J. Kellaway, architect, in regard to core wall in the dam, and also asking whether the contractor was casting the balustrade of the Waterfield road bridge so as to finish that work in the spring as soon as possible.

A petition was received from the Bay State Street Railway Co. for location of 26 poles on the easterly side of Main street from Symmes road to Washington street and assigned for hearing March 2, 1915, at 8 p. m. The Town Engineer and the Inspector of Wires recommended that the permit be granted with certain restrictions. The locations asked for were those now occupied by the New England Tel. & Tel. Co., who intended to abandon their locations.

A letter was received from Mr. Whitfield Tuck urging that no one be discriminated against on account of any feeling that any town official might have toward anyone asking for work. No evidence of such discrimination was submitted and as it therefore appeared that no action could be taken the letter was filed.

Patrick Hayes appeared before the Board and asked for work. It appeared that the petitioner was residing in Woburn, and the matter was referred to the Committee on Ways and Bridges.

Mr. John F. Holland appeared before the Board and asked that better attention be given to the sidewalks in clearing off snow and ice. Referred to Committee on Ways and Bridges.

Adjourned at 9.35 p. m.

Frank R. Miller,
Clerk of Selectmen.

No Restful Sleep for Seventeen Months!
Dangerous, distressing Kidney and Bladder Trouble removed by Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Mr. C. H. Smith, 320 Washington St., Providence, R. I., writes: "I thank you for the free sample bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy you sent me. Since taking this I have continued its use and have used three large bottles, with much relief. I had been troubled severely with constipation for years. My case was supposed to be chronic. Now my bowels are regular. I was also a great sufferer from Kidney and Bladder trouble and for seventeen months I had no rest at night, as it was necessary to get up so often, sometimes as often as twice an hour. I am pleased to say that now I do not have to get up more than twice during the night and sometimes only once. Your Favorite Remedy has proved a blessing to me. I feel better all over. The heavy "doggy" feeling has left me, as well as the bloated eyes. I sincerely thank you, for if I had not first tried the sample bottle I would to-day probably be in the same old condition, with aches and pains and all tired out."
Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y., for free sample and helpful booklet. A standard Kidney, Liver and Blood remedy. 40 years successful. All druggists.

The Winchester Star

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

A guardian angel evidently watches over the railroad crossing, but what if it should decide to take a vacation sometime during a storm or a heavy fog. A terrible accident was narrowly averted Wednesday evening when an electric car filled with passengers got stalled on the tracks with a swiftly moving train approaching. Only an act of Providence prevented a sad result. That it will come sometime goes without saying. The crossing will always be a menace to life, no matter how careful pedestrians, drivers of electric cars, autos and other vehicles may be.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

New Candidates for Officers Appearing Daily.

As the Town Election approaches new candidates are appearing in the field for several of the various offices. It had been anticipated that there would be no contests this year, the only new candidates being those who ran to fill the vacancies caused by expired terms of present officers. It now appears, however, that there will be several candidates in the field.

Mr. William E. Moreland of Manchester road is said to be a candidate for the Board of Selectmen to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Maurice F. Brown.

Mr. William M. Belcher will run for Town Treasurer against Mr. George H. Eustis, the present holder of the office.

Messrs. Henry A. Emerson and Fritz E. H. Heath are reported to be candidates for the office of Collector of Taxes, running against the present holder of the position, Mr. A. William Rooney.

For the new Planning Board the following list of five members has been presented for election: Lewis Parkhurst for five years, Charles F. A. Currier for four years, Preston Pond for three years, Frank E. Rowe for two years and Flavel Shurtleff for one year.

Mr. Frederic C. Alexander of Lakeview road will be a candidate at the coming March election for the vacancy on the board of Park Commissioners created through the retirement of Mr. Harry A. Wheeler.

Mr. Alexander will doubtless receive the warm support of the citizens. As a contractor and builder on a large scale, with the experience of years behind him, he is particularly well fitted for the office, especially so in view of the present contemplated work to be undertaken by this important board. He has been a resident of Winchester for a number of years, and is a member of the Calumet and Winchester Boat Clubs, and enjoys the friendship of a large circle of townspeople.

It is reported that Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck has also decided to enter the contest for Treasurer, and will run against Messrs. Eustis and Belcher.

Papers have been filed for Frederick M. Ives for Moderator.

It is said that the committee appointed in accordance with the vote of the special Town Meeting to consider the subject of consolidating one or more of the Town Departments will recommend the appointment of a committee of fifteen at the March meeting. The subject was fonnd to cover such a general field, of such a broad nature, that it is felt that such a committee should carefully consider the question of a change in our form of government as well as all matters relating to the administration of the prudential affairs of the Town.

It is said that Mr. George B. Hayward of Crescent road has been urged by his friends to allow his name to be used as a candidate for Selectman, and that he may consent to run.

TIE AT WALPOLE.

Score 11 to 11, But Winchester Claims Game.

The Winchester High School basketball team visited Walpole on Friday night, playing a tie game with Walpole High. Under the circumstances the game will go down as a tie. The summary:

TEAMS CLOSELY BUNCHED.

Leaders' Drop of Four Points Creates Exciting Race.

The drop of four points in the winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club by the leaders, team 2, in the week-end games has created an interesting situation. Team 7 now has a chance to take the lead, which it holds at present by having won four more games than 2, while teams 1 and 13 are close seconds. For any team to win it now means straight wins. Team 2 never had a look-in in its match with team 1 except for the last string, which it lost by four pins. Dr. Olmsted was honor man, he rolling a single of 144 and a total of 343. His average for the tournament is now over 104. Kinsley did a few stunts with a single of 133 and 320 for total, and Bradlee also put up a good string with 126. For team 2 Newman was the only man who was up to regular form. He rolled three good ones, with 320 for total. In the other match between teams 3 and 4 there was an even break, the fourth point for total pin-fall going to 4 by one pin. Dr. Murphy was the bright star in this match. He rolled three singles over one hundred with 115 for high and got 325 for total. George Purrington was on deck and rolled a total of 315. Dr. Hindes got after Murphy and equalled his high single of 115, and rolled a total of 302, while Marshall Berry was well up as usual with 301. Taken altogether the bowling was about as spirited as any matches rolled thus far in the tournment.

Two low scored games were rolled on Wednesday evening, teams 5 and 9 winning over teams 6 and 15. The only team affected was team 9, which continues in fifth place with a possible chance, by defeating team 13, of taking fourth prize.

TO CORRECT ANY POSSIBLE MISUNDERSTANDING.

Editor of the Star:—

Several have asked me in the past week, since it became known that I had made a small investment in real estate out of town, if I intended to move from Winchester.

I do not either at present, or in the near future; possibly not for several years—perhaps never permanently.

I am a candidate again this year for Collector of Taxes and probably shall be for a few years longer, unless something more congenial or remunerative presents itself.

Very truly,
A. William Rooney.

SURPRISE PARTY.

PLANNING BOARD.

The duties of this board, members of which are to be chosen for the first time in Winchester at the March town meeting, are set forth in the following provisions of the statutes:

"Every city of the commonwealth, and every town having a population of more than ten thousand at the last preceding national or state census, is hereby authorized and directed to create a board, and towns having a population of less than ten thousand may create a board, to be known as the planning board, whose duty it shall be to make careful studies of the resources, possibilities and needs of the city or town, particularly with respect to conditions which may be injurious to the public health or otherwise injurious in and about rented dwellings, and to make plans for the development of the municipality with special reference to the proper housing of its people. In cities, the said board shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the council, and in cities under a commission form of government, so-called, the members of the board shall be appointed by the governing body of the city. In towns, the members of the board shall be elected by the voter at the annual town meeting."

Nomination papers have been taken out for Lewis Parkhurst for the term of five years, Charles F. A. Currier four years, Preston Pond three years, Frank E. Rowe two years, and Flavel Shurtleff one year. Hereafter as vacancies occur, elections will be for a term of five years.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ENTERTAINED.

Rev. and Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf entertained the members of the Winchester Camp Fire Girls at their home on Lawson road last Saturday evening. About fifteen were present, including Mrs. King, guardian of the camp fire group, and Mr. King.

The evening was spent with games, entertainment and refreshments. Mr. Metcalf gave the girls a short talk on astronomy, it being intended that they use his telescope, but owing to the cloudy evening this was not possible.

Among those who attended were the Misses Helen Bowe, Georgianna Watters, Constance Dow, Ethelyn Winn, Charlotte Hodges, Pauline Folger, Phyllis Rivett, Eleanor Schubarth, Esther Lombard, Clarice Barnard and Beulah Foss.

OBSERVATIONS.

Still we keep at it. The law says preference shall be given to citizens of the Commonwealth on public work and if enough of them are not available then to citizens of the United States. Some of our voters seem to think that a town meeting can add to or take from the law by passing fool votes, and voters who know better seem perfectly willing to let them instead of trying to set them right, as they should do.

The eight hour law has these words: "In cases where a Saturday half holiday is given the hours of labor upon the other working days of the week may be increased sufficiently to make a total of forty-eight hours for the week's work." This is what the Finance Committee should report and the town meeting vote in fairness to all.

Mr. Caughwell mixes up "citizen," "inhabitant" and "voter," as most people do, but he evidently tries to be fair in discussing public affairs although his statements regarding the working of the past and the probable working of future consolidations of town offices are not in accordance with the views of many others. A Planning Board should have nothing to do with such questions.

Fool bills are getting short shifts in this year's legislature and with five hundred fewer bills than last year should result in adjournment in May, which hasn't happened but once in a quarter of a century.

The town counsel says there was "another reason" why the mud digging contract could not be carried out; You know the captain of the boat said he could give seventeen different reasons for his failure to salute the fort, the first one was, he had no powder, and they excused him from giving the other sixteen. The "transaction" would have been illegal or worse.

There should be at least five men candidates for Selectmen and I wish the Park Commissioners' terms expired this year too. It takes a good deal of nerve for officials who deliberately and wilfully violated the law on an important matter to be candidates for re-election. It is possible however, that many voters of Winchester take the same view of the law that the New York alderman did of the constitution. We shall see.

We can stand no water nor sewer construction by taxation this year, if money is needed it must be raised by bond issues. Our bonded debt ten years ago was six and one-half per cent on our valuation, now it is less than half of that.

When this war is over, I wonder if "Made in Germany" will continue to be stamped on their goods.

John H. Carter.

A WOMAN FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Editor of the Star:—

I wish to urge through your valuable paper the importance, for the best interest of the town and its schools, that a woman be elected a member of the School Committee at the coming March election. Now, without doubt, that the question of "Votes for Women" is to be on the ballot at our State election in November, and I hope the State votes "yes," the women should see to it that they vote in large numbers for a woman to be on the School Committee.

Courteously,
Whitfield Tuck.

A Few Bargains in Second Hand Cars

MRS. EMILY C. SYMMES.

A familiar face will be seen no more: That of Mrs. Emily C. Symmes who died January 28th, at the age of 82 years, 4 months and 15 days.

She was the wife of the late John Symmes, who for forty-four years was superintendent for Hallett & Cumston, manufacturers of pianos, Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Symmes was the daughter of Henry and Hannah (Conglin) Carter, and was born at the old homestead in the "Frisbee Neighborhood" a few miles north of North Bridgton, Me. She was one of a large family.

She had one son, Edwin A. Symmes, who died in 1906. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. N. A. Holt of South Lawrence, Mass., and Mrs. Austin Brigham of Bridgton, Me. She leaves two step-sons and daughters — Mr. William F. Symmes of East Billerica, Mass., Charles K. Symmes, Mrs. Frank O. Fosgate of Shrewsbury, Mass., and Mrs. Edwin A. Colby of Gardner, Mass.

Mrs. Symmes came to Winchester fifty years ago and has always been interested in the good work of the town, serving for several years as Director of the Old People's Home; and was also many years one of the Overseers of the Poor until her health failed.

In denominational matters she was a loyal Unitarian, being one of the pioneers of the society.

Funeral services were held at the family home, No. 2 Elm street, Monday, February 1st, at 11 a. m. Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church conducted the services which included selections by Mrs. Asunta Michelini Winship and Miss Eva F. Wessels.

Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

MIDDLESEX CENTRAL C. E. CONGRESS.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Second Congregational Church entertained the officers and delegates from all societies in the Middlesex Central C. E. Union last Tuesday evening, providing supper for about sixty guests. The business meeting was presided over by President Erle S. Bacon of Medford in his usual able manner. Prayer was offered by Rev. Wm. Fryling of the entertaining society. Reports of committees show the great amount of work the Union is carrying on.

After the business a very interesting and inspiring program was presented, including a dialogue by "Mr. Grump" and "Sunny Jim" on the Efficiency Chart, showing how these charts will arouse interest in the most discouraged Christian Endeavorers. Rev. S. A. Hunt and Rev. S. D. Norton spoke a few words of greeting and the Rev. Salem D. Towne of So. Medford gave a most interesting and inspiring word picture of the subject assigned to him, "What is Christian Endeavor."

Miss Florence Barksdale spoke at the High School Assembly hall Tuesday morning on "How the War Affects the Americans," and Mr. Harold Bugbee spoke on "The Life and Education of an Egyptian Boy."

BOSTON CALLS SAN FRANCISCO

Direct Telephone Line Open Across the Continent

SPEECH CARRIED 3500 MILES

Bell Telephone Engineers Extend Long Distance Line to the Pacific Coast---Science and Inventive Genius Finally Overcome Great Obstacles

WHAT IT MEANS TO TELEPHONE FROM BOSTON TO SAN FRANCISCO

Distance—3505 miles.
Twelve States Covered.
Miles of Copper Wire—14,020.
Weight of Wire—Over 3000 tons.
Poles on Line—Over 140,000.
Speed—One-fifteenth of second.

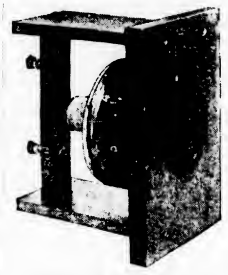

Crossing the continent—from Boston to San Francisco—in one-fifteenth of a second is an actual accomplishment. Direct conversation between the two cities so far apart was established for the first time, the other day, over the longest telephone line in the world—more than 3500 miles.

The successful consummation of this great work is an epoch in history—the acme of telephone attainment. It is an achievement made possible only by the scientific study and persistent effort of the engineers of the great Bell system.

Think for a moment what the opening of the Boston-San Francisco circuit line means. It has made Massachusetts and California neighbors. It will carry the business message from the Atlantic to the Pacific quicker than a man can write a letter and it gives him an answer at once. It has annihilated distance. Its commercial value is priceless.

Boston Men Built the Line

Across twelve states! Do you realize what that means? Have you ever traveled to the far west? On the fastest trains it takes five days and five nights—120 hours—to go from Boston to San Francisco. And yet it will only be a little while before the business man can sit comfortably in his office and travel instantly by telephone between the two cities over tons of copper wire.

Professor Bell's First Telephone

The opening of this line has a peculiar significance to the people of Boston and New England, for it was in Boston that Professor Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876, less than forty years ago. A little later the longest toll line in the world stretched from Boston to Lowell and the service was poor and intermittent. How marvellous has been the progress.

And the men who were associated with Bell in those telephone pioneer days, and developed his great idea until one in every eight persons in the United States is connected by telephone, are Boston men. Many of them are living today.

Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, has been in the telephone business almost from the beginning. Today he is perhaps the greatest constructive business man in the world.

John J. Carty, chief engineer of the company, the master mind in scientific telephony, was a Cambridge boy who worked as an operator in the early days for $5 a week.

Thomas D. Lockwood, general patent attorney of the company, a telephone expert for nearly forty years, lives in Melrose.

Thomas A. Watson, the youthful mechanic who assisted Bell in his early experiments and who was the first person in the world to hear the human voice over a wire, lives in Braintree and in Boston.

Some Facts and Figures

At the present time there are two complete physical circuits, each 3500 miles long, between the two cities. Then, by means of a wonderful development of electrical study, in the transposition of these two circuits according to a certain scientific formula, a third circuit called a "phantom" circuit is created, making it possible for six people to talk at one time—three at each end—over these two pair of wires.

There are 14,020 miles of hard drawn copper wire in both of these circuits. Each circuit mile of wire weighs 870 pounds, so that the entire weight of both circuits—four wires—is over 3000 tons. This tremendous weight is supported by 140,000 poles.

Telephoning over such a great distance would have been absolutely impossible without another wonderful invention—the repeating, or loading coils. Without any technical description, it is sufficient to say that these loading coils are placed at various points along the line and give the electrical waves additional force and power.

The line from Boston to San Francisco runs direct to Buffalo, 465 miles; thence to Chicago, 605 miles, to Omaha 500 miles, to Denver 585 miles, to Salt Lake City 580 miles and to San Francisco 770 miles, a total of 3505 miles.

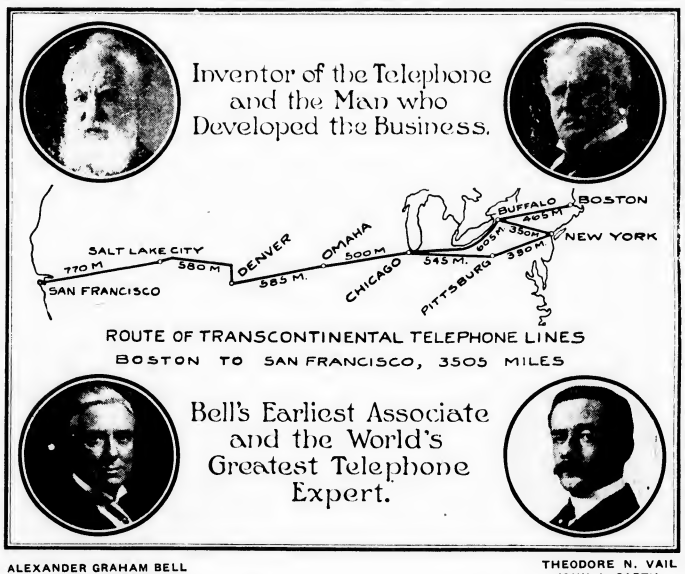

A spur line runs from Chicago to Pittsburg, 515 miles, and thence to New York, 390 miles. Another spur connects Buffalo and New York, 390 miles.

On the same day the line between Boston and San Francisco was opened telephone conversation was established between New York and San Francisco. Professor Bell talked from the New York end and his early associate, Thomas A. Watson, from San Francisco.

An interesting fact in connection with the opening of this line is that Professor Bell used at the New York end an exact reproduction of his first crude instrument. At first it could be used only a few feet. That that instrument could be used in talking between New York and San Francisco is due to the skill and inventions of those engineers who followed Bell after his retirement from the telephone business, in the perfection of the telephone and of switchboards, cables and the hundreds of other accessors to successful telephone transmission.

Looking Backward to the Beginning

On the evening of Oct. 9, 1876, the first long conversation over the telephone was made by Bell and Watson. They talked for three hours over a telegraph line between Boston and Cambridge. It was the wonder of the day. In May, 1877, a Charlestown man leased two telephones—the first money ever paid for telephone service. The same month the first tiny and crude telephone exchange was born with five telephones connected.

Four Telephone Pioneers Who Have Made It Possible to Talk From Boston to San Francisco, Over 3500 Miles, and to Whom the Opening of the Line Means More Than to Any Other Men in the World

As an event, it is on a parity with the opening of the Panama canal. It is another connecting link that physically binds the far east and the far west of America into one complete union.

Four Thousand Miles Instantly

One-fifteenth of a second! Like a flash of lightning goes the spoken word through storm and sunshine over thousands of miles. It starts in Boston at 4 p. m. and, paradoxically, reaches San Francisco three hours earlier. The time schedule has been turned topsy turvy. While you wink, your speech is been carried nearly half way around the world.

Imagine a giant with lungs powerful enough to carry his voice 3500 miles through the air. Picture him standing on the dome of the Massachusetts state house and yelling "Hello" as loud as he could. Four hours later it would be faintly heard at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Blow up a million pounds of dynamite on Boston common and the sound would travel but a few miles. And yet the telephone wizards with a tiny wire have outdistanced nature. Surely brains and energy have won a great victory.

In 1849 "Pike's peak or bust" was the slogan that dominated those hardy pioneers and urged them forward. In 1909, to paraphrase this the slogan of the telephone engineers was "the Golden Gate or bust." That was the goal upon which they set their eyes more than five years ago. The long distance lines had already been extended as far west as Omaha. Two years ago Denver became a reality by telephone, and now, in one long jump of over 1500 miles, the Pacific coast has been reached.

By August there were 778 telephones in use—all in Boston—and four men had an absolute monopoly of the telephone business. A little later Theodore N. Vail was prevailed upon to resign from the government mail service and become general manager of a little telephone company that was hardly organized and had no money. Month after month the little Bell company lived from hand to mouth. No salaries were paid in full. Often, for weeks, they were not paid at all. In 1880 John J. Carty timidly asked for a job as operator in the Boston exchange. He showed such an aptitude for the work that he was soon made one of the captains.

In 1893 Boston and New York were talking to Chicago, Milwaukee, Pittsburg and Washington, and one-half the people of the United States were within talking distance of each other. The thousand-mile talk had ceased to be a fairy tale.

Several years later the line was pushed over the plains to Omaha, and subsequently nearly 600 miles were added, enabling the spoken word in Boston to be heard in Denver.

The Boston-San Francisco line will probably not be offered for general commercial use until the early summer.

Telephone engineers have dreamed of the time when the wires would span the continent. That time has come. For the moment it seems as though there is no other great thing for which to strive. And yet progress in telephony in the United States is making such tremendous strides that no man can prophesy the wonderful things that may be done in the future.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Great occasions of serving God present themselves but seldom, but little ones frequently. Now he that is faithful in that which is least, is also faithful in much.

One of those great occasions of serving God will be at six p. m. next Sunday night at the Methodist Church, where under the direction of the Dept. of World Evangelism, a special leader has been engaged. This will be one of the most interesting meetings of the year, so let every Leaguer plan to be there. On last Monday night we were most agreeably surprised by fifty-five of our friends from Melrose who journeyed over in two large pungs.

The program for the Lynn district E. L. convention on Feb. 22nd should be carefully noted. Those intending to go should secure their supper tickets of Mr. Herbert B. Sellers before the 15th of this month, they are 25c. Let's surprise everyone by bringing home the district banner.

MRS. MACKESY DEAD.

Mrs. Ellen Mackesy, widow of the late John Mackesy, 75 years, died at her home on Nelson street last Friday morning. Her death was unexpected, she passing away peacefully in bed during the night. She was a native of Ireland and had been a resident of this town for many years.

Mrs. Mackesy is survived by one son, Thomas J. Mackesy, superintendent of Wildwood Cemetery, and by two daughters, Miss Mary and Miss Hannah, with whom she made her home.

High mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Francis E. Rogers at St. Mary's Church on Monday morning at 9 o'clock. The pall bearers were Michael Donovan, Timothy Sullivan, John Lynch, John F. Holland, Patrick Foley and James F. Butler. The burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

FIREMEN'S BALL.

Largest Attended Event Ever Held in Winchester Town Hall.

With the possible exception of the graduation exercises, the Winchester Town Hall has never yet approached holding such an event as the concert and ball given by the members of the Winchester Fire Department on Friday night. The attendance was so large that shortly after nine o'clock, Chief David H. DeCourcy was obliged to order the doors closed and to deny admission to many late comers. For this same reason the concert program and entertainment was curtailed. The hall is limited to 1000 persons. Fully that number were in attendance. Following the entertainment newcomers were allowed to enter as fast as others departed.

The Department members made extensive preparations for the event, individual solicitors covering the town in the sale of tickets and securing advertisements for a handsome thirty-six page program, but the attendance and success of the affair was beyond their most sanguine expectations. The proceeds of the evening will be given to the relief fund.

Long before the doors were opened the crowd began to arrive and as soon as the hall was thrown open there was a steady rush until the doors were ordered closed in compliance with the law.

The entertainment consisted of opera selections by E. Crawford Adams, costumed songs by C. B. Pettes, stories by G. L. Waterman, violin selection by F. Crawford Adams, and a musical novelty sketch and stories by Herbert A. Clark. The entertainment was considered one of the best of the winter. All of the artists were headliners in their various departments and kept the big audience thoroughly interested. It was with regret that the circumstances did not permit a more extended program, but the artists realized themselves the fairness of the ruling and the abundant applause which each received left no doubt of the appreciation of the audience in their efforts.

Among the guests who attended were the Selectmen and other town officials and the fire chiefs of practically all of the surrounding towns. In addition to those who were specially invited by the department were firemen and friends from many outside towns. Special cars were run to all points at the conclusion of the dancing, each taking a big load of well satisfied visitors.

The dance orders for the evening were in keeping with the event, being eight page folders attractively embossed with a fireman's hat used to impart. In connection with the affair a hard-some thirty-six page souvenir program, containing the location of the fire alarm boxes, members of the department, pictures of the apparatus and officers of the department, was issued and presented to each guest.

The committee in charge of the dancing was as follows: Floor marshal, Chief D. H. DeCourcy; Asst. Floor Marshal, Asst. Chief John McCarthy; Floor Director, Lieut. E. M. Polley; Asst. Floor Director, Capt. M. C. Ambrose; Chief of Aids, Capt. E. G. Beaton; Aids, Capt. Geo. Osborne, H. Skerry, A. Donlan, W. G. Hurlburt, Stoker, J. Hanlon, E. Fitzgerald, J. McCarron, F. The work of preparing and soliciting for the souvenir program, which added greatly to the financial success of the event, was in charge of Mr. Albert R. Libby, to whom great credit should be given for his successful carrying out of this laborious undertaking. Mr. Libby was ably assisted in his work by Messrs. John Richardson, Frank Duffee, John McCarron and Edward Fitzgerald.

The general committee included Messrs. Ernest M. Polley, chairman; Ernest G. Beaton, secretary; John Gorman, treasurer, and John H. McCarthy, Eugene S. Flaherty, John McCarron, Albert R. Libby, Edward Fitzgerald, George Osborne, Hugh J. Skerry and Harry Kempton.

Features that were lacking in the dance numbers were the good old-time square dances. There were no quadrilles nor contra dances—everything was the new fangled (more properly tangled) steps. The grand march at the opening of the ball was missed. What a stately procession that used to be in the days gone by! Fire chiefs and captains with shining brass trumpets with bouquets of bright flowers protruding from them, and all the firemen present in red shirts and different colored belts, was a sight to be remembered in the long ago. But times have changed for the present, but the good old dances will come back a-gin. An old time fire fighter would have viewed the scene with sorrow. And yet but a few years ago when the department had one of their balls, the new generation absolutely refused to participate in the square dance.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The fiftieth performance of "Common Clay" will take place on Friday next, an event heralded by the public enthusiasm for Mr. Kinkead's vivid study of modern life, will only be a stage toward the coveted "hundredth." News of the remarkable public reception accorded to this unknown play by an obscure writer has reached far beyond Boston and theatrical managers from "Broadway" who have been to spy out the land, are bidding for the rights of Mr. Kinkead's play.

Common Clay it will be recalled, concerns the story of a young girl who is led astray early in life, and whose character suddenly develops under the stress of a great wrong, until she finds her enemies in her power. The part of this girl, victim and victor at the same time, is a great creation in the hands of Miss Mary Young, and the support given by the company is doing much to carry Common Clay on to its triumphant course.

CORT THEATRE.

It has been well said that the public is tired of the salacious themes and problem plays that have recently encumbered the drama; that the present is an era when the play that is wholesome, bright and appealing is the play that is bound to receive the greatest amount of attention. This being true, then no theatrical merchandise could be more popular than the musical farce "What's Going on?" now playing at the Cort Theatre. It contains all the essentials of popular demand, song, dance and a cleverness of lines and an obscurity of situations that provoke hearty laughter.

No pretense is made at offering a plot of serious intent though the producer asserts that it is unusual in the treatment of musical farce. Many dances and eighteen musical numbers have been interpolated. Walter Lawrence, Frances Cameron, Roy Atwell, Dorothy Webb, Knox Wilson, Boyle, Dixon and Maude Beatty are the principal players with a real singing and dancing chorus assisting those past masters of comedy and farce.

This is the last week of "What's Going On?" and will be followed by "Nearly Married," Selwyn and Co.'s successful farce that ran for a full year in New York and six months in Chicago.

The attractive scale of prices that have prevailed at the Cort for the last several months will prevail—nights and Saturday matinee 50c to one dollar and a half, and Wednesday matinee 25c to one dollar.

WHIST PARTY MONDAY.

A whist party and forty-fives party, in aid of the reunion of St. Mary's parish, was held on Monday evening in the new parochial schoolhouse under the auspices of Winchester Court, M. C. O. F. Souvenirs for the whist were awarded to Mrs. Henry C. Blake, Miss Ellen McNamara, Miss Katherine Thorne, Miss Margaret Cahill, Thomas Fallon, Patrick Lydon, Edward Donnelly and John Melauchlin. At forty-fives Edward Boyle was the winner. The committee in charge consisted of Albert Thorne, P. J. Kennedy, David Meskell, Hugh McDonnell, Miss Mary McHale, Mrs. Nora O'Melia, Miss Donnelly, William O'Connor, Miss May O'Leary, Daniel Carney and Thomas J. Kean.

MRS. ELIZA S. SAVORY.

Mrs. Eliza S. Savory, aged 81 years, died at the home of her neice, Mrs. Daniel B. Badger on Prospect street, Monday night. She was a native of Concord, N. H. For the past few years she had made her home with Mrs. Badger.

The funeral services were held from the residence on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from the residence on Prospect street and were conducted by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church. The burial was at Concord, N. H.

BOSTON THEATRE.

The staging of "Ben-Hur" in Boston at the Boston Theatre is always an event of more than usual significance to thoughtful observers of the theatre and its products. This wonderful story of Nazarene has been uniquely effective as a creator of popular and critical attention.

The real, vital spark and sustaining vigor of this play is the religious theme and reverential treatment of the Messiah. At the opening of one scene, there are heard sounds of celestial music and hundreds of men and women fall on their knees and the stage is darkened when suddenly a ray of the purest and brightest light indicating The person of the Saviour falls upon the heads of the vast multitude. It lingers lovingly as if in benediction and then softly steals away like the slowly fading notes of distant convent bells, fascinating every beholder. Only at one other time during the play is the Nazarene brought closer to the minds of the auditors and that is when Ben-Hur tells of the young boy who gave him a cup of water as he passed wearily on his way to the galleys, shunned by all else as a slave and a branded criminal. The deepest currents of the human soul are stirred by these touching spiritual suggestions.

The "Ben-Hur" season at the Boston Theatre is limited. Offering this big production at popular prices ranging from 25c to $1.00 is the biggest bargain ever offered the New England public in the amusement line.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Abraham Lincoln, the Great Emancipator.

The [illegible] of the month occurring on Monday, the meeting of The Fortnightly was held on the afternoon of Monday, the fifteenth, one week earlier than usual. Attention is called to the date of the next meeting, which is Monday, March 8th, three weeks from this last meeting. The business of the club completely filled the business hour.

After a brief intermission, the President, Miss Maude Folts, introduced as the speaker of the afternoon Rev. Dr. Charles R. Brown, Dean of the Divinity School at Yale University. The subject of Dr. Brown's eloquent address was Abraham Lincoln, "The Greatest Man of the Nineteenth Century." This lecture well deserves the high praise it has received by large audiences which have heard it in almost every section of our land.

Public men come and go. Some of them, called great in their day, pass from public view and are remembered no more. Here and there a man stands out with marked distinctness as the years bring his memory into sharper relief. One such man is Abraham Lincoln, one of the most unique and remarkable public men that this country has ever produced.

Born in a log cabin, nurtured in the wilderness of the far west of that day, he rose out of the deepest obscurity till he became President of the nation at the most momentous period of its history. He fought a great war, though always loving peace, doing his tragic duty though it broke his sympathetic heart. Even his best and closest friends distrusted his ability to cope with the tremendous problems. His duties were beyond precedent. The obstacles were beyond the ability of any man to measure. He faced the gigantic problems of his day with patience, fortitude, sagacity, shrewd common sense, and a simple faith in Almighty God. He crowned his work with the sacrifice of his own life.

The story of Abraham Lincoln presents a few simple elements that appeal to the wonder and admiration of men who love their country, and to the faith of those who believe in the fundamental righteousness of democracy. First and foremost was his honesty and integrity. From the first, he gained and kept the confidence of the plain people of the country. His name has been woven into American speech and stands for all that is just and honest in man. The great men with whom he was associated did not look above or beyond the immense affairs in which

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT.

On Tuesday evening, March 2, in Lyceum Hall, Santa Maria Court 150, Daughters of Isabella, will hold a Gentlemen's Night and Social, under the auspices of the Charitable Committee. This year the Court hopes to become actively engaged in social service work in addition to its usual activity along charitable lines.

With this end in view the first part of the March meeting is to be given over to a social service discussion, with Mrs. George H. Root of this town the principal speaker; other people also who are prominent in social service work will be present.

The second period of the meeting will consist of a Current Events Resume, during which two papers on the present European situation and its causes will be read by two of the Court members, one by Mrs. Frances Sullivan, a former Lecturer of the Court, and well known for her bright and clever readings, and one by Miss Elizabeth T. Cullen, of the Prince School staff.

The third feature of the evening will consist of a light farce entitled "Was Susan Justified?" which will be enacted by five young Winchester men. Each Court member may invite a friend, lady or gentleman. Refreshments will be served and there is no admission fee.

SELECTMAN DAVIDSON TO SPEAK.

At the meeting of the Deliberative Assembly to be held at the High School on Tuesday evening, February 23, Chairman George T. Davidson of the Board of Selectmen will give a talk on "Should Selectmen Be Paid," and Mr. Flavel Shurtleff will speak on "Town Planning."

The meeting should be of much interest, especially in view of the much talked of Town Planning Board for Winchester. Mr. Shurtleff is thoroughly familiar with his subject, having made town and city planning a study.

WINCHESTER'S GROWTH.

Appropriations Increasing Rapidly With Valuation.

The wonderful growth of the Town of Winchester during the past ten years has been such as to attract the attention of practically every statistician in the vicinity of the Hub, and not only those of our immediate vicinity, but all persons interested in the work and growth of suburban localities have at some time during that period had the town brought to their attention. The growth in figures, as compiled by the assessors, show an increase during the ten years of practically 81 per cent.

While the growth has been going forward wonderfully during this period, the expenditures of the town have kept equal pace with it, and have increased a like percentage.

It has been pointed out by a prominent resident who is in close touch with the financial conditions that Winchester is probably at this time on the top crest of the wave on wonderful prosperity which has been carrying it forward so rapidly to a first place among the towns and cities of Greater Boston. By this statement, he explains, it is not meant that Winchester will stop and commence to go backward. Quite the reverse. But he does predict that its growth for the next year or so will not show the enormous increase recently experienced.

In this prophecy he issues a note of warning with regard to the appropriations at the coming March meeting. It has been felt by some that the increase in expense has not in all ways been justified, and if the usual amount of money is spent this spring, without the increased valuations to meet it, Winchester may see a decided raise in its tax rate, a state which would do more harm, in the opinion of many, to its future development than anything which could come to it.

A comparison of figures of the years 1904 to 1914 are interesting:

	1901	1914	Increase
Tax rate	$16.80	$17.40	$ .60
Valuation
Land	$3,999,100	$5,171,925	$1,172,825	29 pc
Bldgs.	4,798,100	8,056,800	3,258,700	68 pc
Pers'l	1,196,150	5,402,775	3,906,325	261 pc
T'l Val.	10,293,650	18,631,500	8,337,850	81 pc

In regard to the increased expenditures it is interesting to note the State Tax alone, which shows the following enormous advance:

	1901	1911	Increase
State Tax	$7,922	$30,625	$22,703	287 pc

It appears that the majority of the expenses have increased along this line, although of course not in the proportion to this one item. A considerable portion of revenue which was available for use last year by the town will be cut off this year. Although in the case of the Ginn estate there may be a small amount received, in other cases there will be none. The gentlemen's note of warning may well be heeded by the majority of the voters.

In regard to the growth of the town during the ten years past it is of interest to note that practically all of the building has been south of a line drawn through the town from east to west as represented by Mt. Vernon street. It is said that the conditions to the north of this line, with the possible exception of a small section along Washington street, are almost identical with those of ten years ago. The biggest growth has been in the vicinity of the Wedgemere district and along Oxford street.

BOLLING—MURPHY.

Miss Mary J. Murphy of Nelson street, a popular young lady of this town, and Mr. Robert Bolling of Washington street were united in marriage on Tuesday afternoon by Rev. John W. H. Corbett of St. Mary's Church. The ceremony was performed at the parochial residence at three o'clock, the couple being attended by Miss Frances Fitzgerald, maid of honor, and Mr. Jeremiah J. Murphy, brother of the bride, groomsman. The bride wore a travelling suit of blue broadcloth and carried bride's roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Virginia, and upon their return will reside on Nelson street.

VALENTINE SALE.

A most successful fair for the benefit of the building fund of the Winchester Hospital was held at the residence of Mr. Henry A. Goddard, 12 Wolcott road on Saturday afternoon. All the articles, every one of which was sold, were made or solicited by eight little girls of ten and under who have been working for the past month with great interest. They deserve much credit and are to be congratulated on turning in to the fund $36.05.

A musical program of several solos and duets was given.

The fancy work table was in charge of Beatrice Livor, and Miriam De Lorica. Marjorie Parkhurst and Gail Baker presided over the Valentine table, Betty and Dorothy Bird were at the cake table and Dorothy Cummings and Barbara Goddard were very busy at the candy table.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Editor of the Star:—

Dear Sir: I noticed in last week's issue of the Winchester Star that my name was mentioned as a candidate for Collector of Taxes. I desire to say that I am not a candidate for any office.

Very truly,
Henry A. Emerson.

MR. GEORGE B. HAYWARD

29 Crescent road, Winchester. Candidate for Election to the Board of Selectmen.

Mr. Hayward has at last consented to run for the office of Selectman and has filed with the Town Clerk a long list of supporters to his nomination.

Though not a long resident of the town, Mr. Hayward has lived here several years and during that time has formed a large acquaintance and has become thoroughly familiar with the needs of the town.

He is a young man and a practising attorney in Boston, one who has always been a close student of political problems. At this time when so many problems for development confront the citizens of the Town he should prove eminently fitted and of great value as a member of the Board of Selectmen.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

Conducted by the Winchester League.

The Winchester Equal Suffrage League held a meeting for women only on Tuesday at the High School Hall, which brought out a very good number of Winchester women, suffragists and anti-suffragists, a special invitation having been sent by the Suffrage league to the anti-suffrage organization. Mrs. Myron B. Vorce of Cleveland, a social worker and president of the Municipal School League which broke up the political ring which controlled the schools, gave a very interesting talk on the need of the ballot if women are to do their duty to the State. She has had ample experience of direct and indirect political influence and, like practically all women who are actively engaged in reform, has no delusions as to the extent of "woman's indirect influence." Mrs. Vorce was followed by Miss Rose Livingston, who told in the most graphic manner of her rescue work and of the horrible social condition which we call white slavery. Miss Livingston was not always a suffragist but became converted because she was convinced that commercialized vice can never be exterminated until women are given the vote. She reminded her hearers of the determined opposition to woman suffrage on the part of all those who profit from the vicious interests and of the source of the huge sums these men spend in trying to prevent women from exercising direct political power. A collection taken for the benefit of Miss Livingston's work amounted to $39.30. Mrs. George Root presided and introduced the speakers.

AUCTION BRIDGE.

There was a large attendance at the ladies' night at the Calumet Club on Tuesday evening, the attraction being auction bridge. The winners included Mrs. Phillips C. Simonds, Mr. E. Arthur Tetein, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Lampee, Mrs. George W. Fitch and Mr. Alfred D. Radley. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the cards and dancing was enjoyed. The evening was in charge of a committee composed of Messrs. George B. Davis, George W. Fitch and E. Arthur Tutein.

The regular February ladies' night will be held at the Club next Tuesday evening and will be a concert.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular meeting of the Mothers' Association was held in the High School Assembly Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was placed in charge of Mrs. Hamilton, president of the W. C. T. U., who introduced Mrs. Ella J. Luce, State Superintendent of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Luce gave a very interesting talk on the "Scientific Teaching of Temperance in the Schools." This was followed by an informal discussion on the subject, "Simpler Dress of School Girls."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in the Library by the members of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Fryling and Mrs. W. O. Blaisdell served.

TAX RATES, 1914.

The following table is similar to one that has been printed annually in the Star for several years. The places in the first zone are those immediately adjacent to Winchester; those in the second zone adjoin the towns and cities of the first zone; the two together comprise the nearest and next-to-nearest neighbors of Winchester.

It will be noticed that the only places in the list having a lower tax rate in 1914 than Winchester were Lincoln and Burlington, two small towns whose combined population is less than one fifth that of Winchester, and which are free from many of the expenditures of larger communities.

TWO HURT ON TRACKS.

Man and Woman Injured Yesterday North of Centre.

Considerable excitement was occasioned in the square yesterday forenoon when a woman was reported killed by the 9.45 express just at the second culvert by the pond north of the crossing. She was seen by several, who thought the train struck her, and was found partly unconscious by of the embankment.

Edward Fitzgerald laying at the foot Fitzgerald laying at the foot of the embankment.

She appeared to be suffering from broken bones and Dr. Sheehy was called, who found that her shoulder blade was broken, several severe scalp wounds and numerous bruises. The woman was Camilla Luongo, 22 years of age, married and living at 22 Spruce street.

She was taken to her home, where she regained consciousness. She was unable to give a clear account of the accident, but it was not thought that she was hit by the train, which goes through Winchester at 40 miles an hour.

It appeared that she was taking the usual short cut to her home across the pond. The new road is now constructed to a point about midway between the two culverts, and all persons using the route have to go up onto the tracks to cross it. The woman evidently got caught by the train as she was crossing, she stumbling just as the locomotive reached her and falling down the bank. This made several who saw her think that she was struck.

The second accident occurred some time during the night near the gelatine factory. The victim was John Kerrigan of Woburn. He was found at 2.30 a. m. by the night watchman of the gelatine factory laying along side the tracks with a bad cut on his head.

The police were notified and officers Mullen and Dineen went at once to the scene. Dr. Sheehy was notified and he found it necessary to take eight stitches in the wound on Kerrigan's head and found that he had numerous bruises. Kerrigan was removed to the Winchester Hospital.

NEW CANDIDATES.

Board of Selectmen Has Four Brand New Candidates.

The time for filing nomination papers with the Registrars of Voters expired last evening. As usual the Selectmen show the largest number of candidates—eight—four of whom are now members of the Board. The new candidates are: William E. Moreland, George B. Hayward, James E. Johnson and John T. Donaghey. Horatio C. Rohrman had sent in nomination papers, but these were withdrawn this morning after they had been filed.

Papers for Treasurer were received from Mr. Eustis, the present Treasurer, William M. Belcher and Whitfield L. Tuck.

Frederick C. Alexander sent in papers for the Park Board to succeed H. A. Wheeler, who will not be a candidate.

For the new Planning Board, the names on the ballot will be Lewis Parkhurst for five years, Charles F. A. Currier for four years, Preston Pond for three years, Frank E. Rowe, for two years, and Flavel Shurtleff for one year.

Papers were sent in for Frederick M. Ives for Moderator.

The rest of the ballot will contain the names of candidates for re-election on the various boards, and there will be no opposition.

The interest on election day will be over Selectmen and Town Treasurer. There will be no opposition to the election of Collector Rooney, as was intimated there would be last week.

ABERJONA RIVER.

Committee Votes in Favor of the Bill

February 16, 1915.

Editor of the Star:—

Dear Mr. Wilson:—It may be of interest to note that the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs has voted favorably on the Aberjona River bill, authorizing the Metropolitan Park Commission to expend $15,000 in dredging the pond and river, and I shall report the bill in the House today. The bill is still a long way from an actual statute, but I have strong hopes that it will go through.

At the hearing yesterday before our committee, the town was further represented by the town counsel, selectmen and board of health, and the local park board.

Very truly yours,
W. F. Prime.

The act reads as follows:

An Act to authorize the Metropolitan Park Commission to improve the sanitary condition of the Aberjona River in the Town of Winchester.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. The metropolitan park commission is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars in improving the sanitary condition of the Aberjona River in the Mystic Valley Parkway from Upper Mystic Lake to Walnut street in the Town of Winchester, by dredging and other work thereon, the amount so expended to be paid out of the Metropolitan Park's Maintenance Fund.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

At the service Sunday morning Mr. Metcalf will preach on the "Faith of Faithfulness."

The meeting of the Social Service Committee which was to have been held Thursday evening was postponed to Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock. There are some important things to discuss at this meeting. A full attendance is desired.

Tonight the young men of Metcalf Union pay the penalty of falling behind in their average attendance at Sunday School by entertaining the young ladies. Mr. Bruce Reinie will bring several young men from Harvard to furnish an entertainment. There will be a quartette, a magician, and a story teller. After the entertainment there will be dancing.

The Sunday School service will be held in Metcalf Hall, when Mr. Ernest Kavanaugh, financial secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, will give an illustrated talk on the work of his society. All older people of the parish are invited to join in the service, which should be of great interest.

The Ladies' Friendly Supper on Thursday, February 25th, promises to be very interesting. The entertainment is to be a play called "Dr. Baxter's Great Invention," and is in charge of the Dramatic Committee of the Ladies' Friendly Society, of which Mrs. Oscar C. Lane is chairman. This supper is one of the finest social occasions of the year and everybody in the parish of high school age and over is cordially invited. We are especially anxious that all recent comers to our parish should make it a point to attend.

The Alliance Branch has been invited by the Follen Branch of East Lexington to attend their guest day on February 25th. Rev. Joel H. Metcalf will speak.

THE BAPTIST ROLL CALL.

Nearly two hundred and fifty people attended the 16th annual roll call and supper on Tuesday evening. After a reception in the auditorium where the guests were greeted, all repaired to the Chapel for the supper. The invocation was offered by Rev. Arthur L. Winn. The Philathea and Baraca classes served as waiters. The turkey supper was most delicious, and the service very prompt.

Following the supper, the clerk of the Church, Mr. Howard S. Palmer, called the roll of members, and nearly all of them responded with a verse of Scripture whose first letter was the initial letter of the given name. The selections of the verses were delightful and inspiring. Vocal selections by Mr. Thomas N. Shafelt and violin selections by Miss Doris Powers were admirably rendered and greatly enjoyed.

Attention was called to the fact that four had been members with us for over fifty years, and eleven over forty years, and that two had entered rest during the year, Mrs. Henry S. Brookings and Mr. James H. McEwen. Miss Lydia Jennie Crawford, of China, spoke a few words of greeting, and was given a most hearty welcome. She said that it seemed good to be back once more at the roll call gatherings after five years of absence.

The Rev. Orrin P. Gifford and Mrs. Gifford were the guests, and Dr. Gifford gave a remarkably brilliant and forceful address upon two principles of life, "Be sure you are right," and "Establish points of contact." His address was a masterpiece of eloquence and practical wisdom, and he held the very closest attention throughout.

The Social Committee having the roll call in charge were Mrs. Frank W. McLean, Miss Persis A. Richardson, Miss Ethel E. Jewett, Miss Clara E. Macdonald, Mrs. Mary Emma Smith, Mrs. Mott A. Cummings, Mrs. Charles M. DeLorica, and Mrs. William S. McLean.

SOCIAL REUNION FOR ITALIANS IN HIGH SCHOOL HALL.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a meeting in the High School Hall for Italians, which will take the form of a conference, with an illustrated talk on Rome by Mr. Francis Malgeri of the North End Union. The pictures are the work of an artistic American taken at a recent visit and are very fine.

As the meetings are intended to help bridge the chasm separating our new citizens of Italian birth from the older or native born Americans an invitation is given to all Winchester people to attend.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

A gentleman laments the decline of neighborliness. He recalls the time when the fact that people lived near each other was regarded as sufficient cause to feel a mutual and kindly interest. Sometimes, this gentleman grants, this used to lead to gossip and "jug handle" borrowing, but he thinks that even that was better than the blank ignorance today of even the names of those who live across the way in a modern city.

The Spectator wonders if his readers are ever oppressed by the thought of the innumerable people in the world who are worth knowing and whom one would like to know but whom limitations of space or conventionalities or some other barrier keep strangers. When The Spectator was a youngster he used to dream of all the interesting folk that must be in foreign countries, and almost come to tears, lamenting that he never could get acquainted with them. But not merely in foreign countries; one encounters travelling in his own hand, even on the streets of his own community, people who look promising, as if they would be worth while to have in one's acquaintance. And that is all. Is it not a pity? Ships that meet in mid-ocean hang out signals and communicate in that way to mutual advantage. Who will devise a similar code of signals for human use, that they may be read, and if need be, ignored or heeded? It would be a great addition to life, and we would not have to wait for the usually meaningless formula of an introduction.

The Spectator doesn't know of anything that pleased him more than when recently, two pleasant people stopped him and said: "We want to know you; for you know our little daughter, and the acquaintance ought to take in the whole family." Could anything be more sensible and unaffected?

Of course The Spectator would not have found favor with Emerson, who says in his essay on Friendship, "Why insist on rash personal relations with your friend? Why go to his house or know his mother and brothers and sisters? Why be visited by him at your own? Are these things material to our covenant? Leave this touching and chaving. Let him be to me a spirit. A message, a thought, a sincerity, a glance from him I want, but not news, nor pottage. I can get politics and chat and neighborly conveniences from cheaper companions." The Spectator does not understand that Emerson was churlish. In fact, he was far from being so; and so it is a little difficult to understand just what were the ramifications of his great and gentle mind when he wrote this. It would appear that he counted solitude because it gave opportunity for thought, rather than that he were in any sense inimical to his neighbor. But the pernicious neighborliness advocated by the Winchester gentleman and The Spectator [illegible] so, would have been abhorrent to Emerson.

[illegible] days may not understand all [illegible] the greatest of earthly [illegible] nevertheless the desire for [illegible] is a universal instinct of the normal human mind. True there are oft recurring instances of voluntary self ending of life and sometimes without apparent reason, but it has been averred by metaphysicians that no sane person ever committed suicide and it may assuredly be asserted that self destruction is resorted to under the excitement of a morbid mental condition. "I would not live always. I ask not to stay where storm after storm rather rises over the sky," is the sentiment of a hymn familiar to all good Winchesterites, but it is observable that even the most devout Christian will exhaust every resource of medical skill before resigning himself to a transition to "that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler ever returns."

With the advance of civilization and the development of the science of biology the span of human life has been materially extended, its average having increased in this country at least five years. Improved sanitation, more general and intelligent attention to hygienic principles, the repression or extirpation of constitutional diseases, the ammunition of food adulteration and the gradual decadence of exhausting habits are the factors which doubtless have chiefly operated to this prolongation of longevity. It is a recognized physiological truth that intemperance powerfully tends to the shortening of life, and despite the contention of the radical antagonists of the liquor traffic it is a patent and indisputable fact that drunkenness is a vice now far less prevalent than was the case a generation or two ago.

Shorter hours of labor, better facilities of living, increased opportunities for rational recreation, all distinguishing features of latter-day social environment, each has its potency in the extension of the span of human life, and as these agencies extend and multiply the chances and the measure of longevity may be expected to keep pace with the causes of its promotion. The deficiency of vital stamina handed down to us through the vices, negligencies and ignorances of centuries of ancestors doubtless precludes the hope of ultimate attainment of the ages of the patriarchs of Scriptural times, but to posterity three-score years and ten may become the prime of life instead of the accepted maximum of longevity.

How many men here in Winchester can "make good?" "His word is as good as his bond," is a testimonial worth having, but how many men can boast of such a testimonial? It takes something more than honesty of intention to acquire it. Conservatism in promise is essential. Promise little. Do more. Make performance exceed promise. Do not borrow too much credit from the world on the strength of your promises to "make good." Let performance earn its reward, and instead of being in debt to the world for promises unfulfilled you will have a deposit of recognition and gratitude to your credit on which you can draw in time of need.

The truth applies to every individual in his relations with society. The person who "makes good," whose word, if it be but a single vow, is vowed true, is regarded as dependable and strong, and counts for something among his fellows. Therefore, make good. That way lies success.

OBSERVATIONS.

How many citizens know that our town tax last year was 40 per cent greater per capita that it was five year ago. In 1909 it was $157,000.00, in 1911 it was $251,000.00. Going some. How much longer will you let it exceed the speed limit before waking up? Extravagance and wastefulness, brought about by indifference, carelessness and boiled macaroni backbones are responsible for it. Like children in a toy shop, we want everything in sight. My fad, anyway. Give us the luxuries, the necessities we are sure of. If you don't see what you want, ask for it, then vote for it.

But, says argumentative citizen, see how our valuation has increased. True, but per capita should be a much larger factor as affecting many expenditures than we have kept in mind. We should spend liberally, but we have not used our judgment as we should have in the last few years, but have set back and let extravagant and incompetent citizens decide things for us. We have ability enough, no town more, but vociferousness, special pleading and buncombe have held the floor too much. What are you going to do about it at the town meeting? The first thing is to be at it. See if you can remember that.

The most disgusting man is the one who is afraid to fight for what he believes to be right for fear of being on the losing side. What fine soldiers such men would make, they would not go into battle unless the opposing side would agree to let them win.

As we have got wages to a point where laborers are ready to fight for the work, perhaps a little healthful competition would cool them off.

The German Alliance humorists take the prize because they are such unconscious ones. It is to laugh. The only times they don't put their foot in it is when they put both feet in, which is most always.

Let the committee on consolidation take warning from the fate of our last special committee of fifteen and recommend a good working one of three or five members. Let the town meeting be the committee of the whole and not have one of fifteen in the hole.

The candidates for the Planning Board look good. I wonder how they will look after the town acts on their first report. They must get the Aberjona into the national "pork barrel" sure.

Is more fire insurance and more fire apparatus to be the program? Is the fire department to be a business proposition or a show? Give us a rest on more fire machines for a year.

The town has enough things to buy without having citizens hunt around for property to have it purchased. We own some land now we should sell. Part of the Eaton street lot for instance. The water department shop lot on Vine street is another.

The best thing to do with Forest circle is to abandon it to the abutters.

Some wild people want a referendum on the purchase and operation of the street railway lines by the Commonwealth. They call the purchase price of two hundred millions a detail. Well, I guess it is detail enough to hold them for a while. One humorist said he thought the Commonwealth should not try to make any profit. I wonder if the employees would have Saturday half holidays.

Nine school committeemen or committeewomen? Nein!

Squire Tuck want the S. P. C. A. to stop the export of horses for war purposes. Why, they make good food, much better than autos.

It's an even bet which we will get first, the post-office or the grade crossing abolition.

One of our badly handled assets is two and a half acres of valuable land on Eaton street, with one small puny schoolhouse upon it. This lot for forty years has been an elephant on our hands. It's a case of original sin.

Which will get the most votes next Fall: Woman Suffrage or Prohibition? There is as much sense in one as in the other.

The Germans in America are making, many of them, a woeful exhibition of themselves and the Americans are just sitting back and letting them do it, but keeping an eye on them.

A GOOD REGULATION.

Pending automobile legislation includes measures requiring all motor vehicles approaching street cars, which are discharging or taking on passengers, to stop, unless in passing the street car there is eight feet clearance; to dim or direct headlights while in the thickly settled districts, so as not to dazzle other travellers on the highway; to place amateur operators on the same basis as professional chauffeurs with respect to their obtaining a license—that is, every applicant must give a practical demonstration of his ability to operate—and finally to limit the speed of autos to 25 miles an hour.

How would you like to travel 108 miles by sleigh in zero weather?

That's what President Terry of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company did after the great New York fire of December 16, 1835, in order to make immediate payment of the Hartford losses.

In the same staunch spirit the Hartford promptly paid out $1,900,000 after the Chicago fire, and $10,000,000 after the San Francisco disaster.

Hartford protection costs you no more than other kinds—and you can depend upon prompt settlement in case of fire. May we tell you more about it?

Leaders Drop Out of Tie and Others Go Up.

Team L lost three points on Friday night, thereby dropping out of the tie with team F. The match was interesting and once again Mrs. Goddu raised two of the individual records, the average with handicap from 95 to 97 10-15, and the three string total with handicap from 316 to 325. Both records were previously held by her. Her high single was 99. High strings were rolled by Mrs. Jones, who got one of 95, and Mrs. Kerrison, who rolled 99. The latter lady's total of 255 was one pin below Mrs. Goddu's 256. Team N won its first string by one pin. Team K, by winning all four points from team H, maintains its standing.

Two interesting matches were rolled on Monday night when team F continued its lead by a straight win and practically every individual record was raised, not only once but several times. Team F won its four points from team H, a number of the latter team being absent. Team D, by winning all four from team G, held its position in second place, one win behind F. In the individual work by the ladies Mrs. F. Clark captured two records and Mrs. Hindes one. Mrs. Clark raised the average with handicap from 97 10-15, held by Mrs. Goddu, to 101 3-9, and the high three string total with handicap, also held by Mrs. Goddu, from 316 to 346. Mrs. Hindes raised the three string total flat, held by Mrs. Wilson, from 276 to 290. There were also several other good scores.

THAT WALK ON MANCHESTER FIELD.

For some time the walk leading on to Manchester Field from Waterfield road has been in bad condition and the local Park Board has been trying to have it put in fair condition for walking over. The local board offered to put cinders on it, but did not care to do so without the consent of the Metropolitan Park Board. A letter addressed to the latter board brought the following reply:

Board of Park Commissioners,
Winchester, Mass.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of February 9, signed by Mr. Charles A. Lane, regarding the walk leading from Walnut street to Manchester Field, was duly received. The Superintendent of the Division has been instructed to look into the matter and carry out your suggestions if those seem to him feasible; otherwise to do what seems to him most likely to be of use in the locality referred to.

Very truly yours,
W. B. De Las Casas,
Chairman.

FINAL ASSEMBLY.

The third and final assembly of the series given by Miss Mary Kellogg was held in the Town Hall on Friday evening with a large attendance, about 140 being present, including many from surrounding places in addition to Winchester's younger set. The competition for the assembly was in the one-step and waltz, the winners being Mr. Russell Steinert of Boston and Miss Katherine Jerger of New York. The orchestra for the evening was under the direction of Mr. Wonslow of the Boston Castle House.

The matrons for the affair were Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn, Mrs. Samuel W. McCall and Mrs. Louis Barta.

LEONARD RESCUED KINSLEY'S DOG.

Saturday afternoon the dog of Mr. Charles E. Kinsley of Cambridge street attempted to swim the channel at Mystic Lake to join its master who was on the opposite side of the opening. The animal could not get out of the water and was in danger of drowning when John Leonard went to its assistance. Leonard broke through the ice himself and had his hands full getting out, being assisted by a portion of a chicken coop which skaters pulled from a nearby estate. He was finally extracated, together with the dog, and is none the worse for the experience except for a bad cold.

HIGH SCHOOL VAUDEVILLE.

Excellent Show Given For Benefit of Recorder.

Pupils of the High School gave an excellent vaudeville show in the Assembly Hall on Friday night before a large audience for the benefit of the Recorder, the school paper. The program was well varied with songs, dances and two sketches.

The High School orchestra gave selections for the overture and finale. Miss Marjorie Braddock contributed two fancy dances which were well received, and the firefly dance by Miss Irene Lord, accompanying a solo by Miss Anna Heffion, was a feature. The Girls' Glee Club contributed three tableaux songs, "Kathleen Mavourneen," with Miss Irene Lord and Mr. George Apsey in the tableaux, "Spinning Song," with Miss Rachel Metcalf, and "Its a Long Way to Tipperary," with Miss Marjorie Wait and Mr. John Caldwell.

The two sketches were "Wanted—A Confidential Clerk," and "The Wrong Mrs. Mather."

Messrs. John Caldwell, Ralph Joslin, Francis Locke, Paul Bean and Whitelaw Wright took part in "Wanted—A Confidential Clerk" and Misses Rachel Metcalf, Esther Cutting, Rhoda Case, Helen Ayer, Elizabeth Garland and Marian Kendall were the actresses in "The Wrong Miss Mather."

Dancing followed until a late hour.

MR. ELDER SPOKE AT PEACE MEETINGS.

Hon. Samuel J. Elder addressed peace meetings at two churches on Sunday. He spoke at the First Congregational Church of this town at the morning service and at the Unitarian Church at Woburn during the evening. There was a large attendance at both churches.

Mr. Elder, in his address, claimed that the lesson of the European war taught that the peace of the world was not assured by armament. He urged the adoption of compulsory arbitration as a world policy, and prophesied its coming if not a United States of Europe, there might be a Supreme Court of Europe. He asserted that trade was king of the world, more powerful that chancelleries of armies.

Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading, formerly of this town, offered the prayer at Woburn.

Suffered Awful Pains From Stomach Trouble
Sick Three Months—Could Eat Nothing—Only Relief Was Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Read what Mrs. May T. Bartlett, of Salem, Mass., says in a recent letter: "I shall never be without Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy again. When I wrote for a sample bottle I was suffering badly with my stomach and from constipation. I could eat hardly anything and I would have awful pains. I was down sick for three months that summer and could take nothing but gruel and beef tea. I am now on my second bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. My stomach is better, my bowels move freely. I used to have severe headaches but do not now. Not only has it helped me, but four of my friends who have been troubled with constipation are using it and have been benefited."
Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had 40 years of wonderful success in Kidney, Liver and Blood troubles. A physician's prescription, formerly used in his large private practise, and now prepared for general use. Write to-day for free sample and booklet of valuable information. A WOMAN FOR THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Editor of the Star:—

In your issue of last week Mr. Whitfield Tuck has a communication under the above heading. As he has in recent years written numerous other letters of a similar tenor, it occurred to me that it might be worth while to find out how his practice squares with his preaching.

Ordinarily there is one vacancy a year on the school committee, but in the eight years from 1907 to 1914 inclusive, there were six additional vacancies, due to resignations and removals from town, making fourteen places to be filled during that time. Formerly we had citizens' caucuses; but even then it was always an easy matter to place a name on the ballot by means of a nomination paper, while nowadays it is only nomination papers that are used.

I was a pretty constant attendant at the citizens' caucuses, and I do not recall ever having heard Mr. Tuck propose the nomination of a woman, whereas I have a very distinct recollection of his frequent attempts to secure the nomination of various men for the school committee. Be that as it may, however, he has, at all events, never in all these years taken advantage of the other alternative, namely, to circulate and file the nomination papers of a woman, certainly not a difficult task for one so anxious to have a woman elected. On the contrary, he has in the last few years himself been twice a candidate for the school board and in addition has circulated nomination papers for other men, in spite of the exceptional opportunities to present a woman candidate.

I have no quarrel whatever with those who honestly believe there should be a woman on the school committee; but for a person to write and speak in behalf of such a selection, and then do nothing to bring it about, but on the other hand to be repeatedly a candidate himself and to work for the election of other men, and not women, this to my mind is an exhibition of rank hypocrisy and inconsistency. His words are one thing, his acts are quite another.

THE BABY CLINIC.

The newcomer to Winchester, who has chosen this town for his future home on account of the high health rating, does not realize often how much is due to those who are working earnestly and conscientiously to preserve the fine record for healthfulness which the town has held for so many years.

The Board of Health is closely following the tuberculosis work, teaching the patients to care for themselves in the most intelligent manner, and preventing further spread of the disease. The school nurse by closely observing the children detects cases of contagious diseases, and by removing the children at once to their homes stops all danger of extensive epidemics.

A work that is perhaps less known about, but which is of great importance is that being done at the Baby Clinic of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association by Dr. Harold Gale. The work which the Association began some years ago by visits of the district nurse to the babies in their homes has grown so steadily it has been necessary to hold regular clinics under the care of a physician.

For some time past Dr. Gale has given his services as the physician in charge, and enough cannot be said of his successful work with the little ones who come under his observation.

From the baby's first visit to the clinic, when he is weighed and a thorough physical examination given, until he has outgrown the need of this care, his history is closely kept, his weight each week and all matters pertaining to his health is put on record, and his individual case closely followed.

If symptoms of illness are detected the mother is advised to call at once her regular physician.

As opportunity offers, short talks to the mothers on helpful subjects in regard to feeding and care of children are given by Dr. Gale, and the improved conditions of the little people is good proof of the value of these suggestions. The "ounce of prevention" and "pound of cure" adage is surely being well followed in these progressive days and Winchester is doing the very best to maintain a health record of which the town may well feel proud.

WHY WAS THE REPORT CHANGED?

Editor of the Star:—

I was a little surprised to find on page 16, the report of the Finance Committee, that the above Committee as it appears in print were trying to offer an excuse why they voted unfavorable action on Articles 18, 27, 28 and 29.

Now as far as I could learn, and I am sure that I attended every meeting of this Committee, it was far from their opinion, as a whole, on these matters. It was openly said in the meeting that the Selectmen, with the help of the Town Counsel, were going to try and have these Articles come up under the Highway appropriation. It really made no difference to the members of the Finance Committee what the Board of Selectmen proposed to do, any more than any other Board pertaining to these matters.

It hardly seems fair that a recommendation like this would be printed and go before the people. It might have been in the opinion of a few, but far from the opinion of many. The citizens as a whole have the opportunity of meeting the different boards in a public meeting, possibly once or twice a year. The citizens have in return, the same opportunity of presenting to the citizens and the different boards their wants, as far as their sections are concerned. What common sense would there be in holding a town meeting if the people were to be deprived of inserting Articles to be considered?

The majority of these streets were recommended to the Selectmen the last part of 1914, and they voted that the subject matter should be referred to the 1915 Board of Selectmen. Now, how could the 1915 Board do any work on these streets if there was not some provision and money appropriated to carry on the work.

I believe that the town form of government is right and proper, and the people should not allow any of the different boards to dictate to them, and tell them what they have to do. The men who pay the bills should at least have a say where money should be spent, and it would be far better for the majority of men who are trying to fill some of these offices to carefully take this under consideration, and better results may be obtained from the money spent.

P. E. Fitzgerald.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending February 17th: Chicken pox 1.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The Inspector of Buildings has issued the following building permits for the week ending February 18th:

William J. [illegible] 7 Winter street, Boston; wood frame dwelling on Russell road, 23 x 22½ x 26 feet.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

The Board met at 7.30 p. m., all present.

A copy of a letter addressed to the Chairman of the Finance Committee by the Town Counsel in regard to the bearing of the proposed permanent pavement in the centre of the town on the grade crossing question was received and filed.

A letter was received from the Town Counsel stating that he would give his attention to the matter of proposed legislation in regard to assessing the cost of rebuilding Wellington Bridge as requested by this Board.

A letter was received from the Town Counsel stating that a notice received from the Attorney-General and referred to him by the Treasurer as recorded February 8, referred to the matter of the usual periodical petition to the Supreme Court for the appointment of commissioners to determine contributions by cities and towns for expense of the Metropolitan Park system, that there was nothing to be done by this Board at present except to authorize the Town Counsel to represent the town in the litigation, and he was so authorized.

A report was received from the Chief of the District Police concerning the condition of the Town Hall, by which it appeared that no changes were required.

The Selectmen signed the plan of Foxcroft road to be filed with the Town Clerk as required by statute.

The architect in charge of the Waterfield road bridge filed a copy of his letter of February 13 to the Town Engineer stating that he had authorized certain changes in the balusters for the bridge so that the contractor could go ahead with making up the balusters.

Adjourned at 9.30 p. m.

Frank R. Miller,
Clerk of Selectmen.

PUPILS' RECITAL.

A very interesting and entertaining musicale was given at the home of Mrs. Wm. A. Lefavour, 4 Herrick street, on Saturday morning last by the pupils of Miss M. Grace Jones of Boston, who has had a class in town for the past two years.

Much progress was shown in the work of the various pupils and all acquitted themselves most creditably. They were assisted by Mr. Howard Stearns, violinist, who gave much pleasure in the rendition of three numbers on the program.

The pupils who participated in the recital were Mary Louise Davis, Dorothy Shaw, Rosamond Lefavour, Joel Whitney, Benjamin Drisko, Hobard Davis, Otto Weissner and Richard Grover.

After the musicale a valentine luncheon was served.

CUMMINGS WON ROGERS CUP AT THE CALUMET CLUB.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The regular February meeting of the Winchester Union was held Friday, the twelfth, in the vestry of the Congregational Church, with a good attendance in spite of the bad walking. A portion of the meeting was devoted to reminiscences of Frances E. Willard, whose life story is still a constant inspiration to all members of the organization she so loved. A sum of money was appropriated, as usual, for the Willard Memorial Fund.

The recommendations in the letter of the State president, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, were then taken up for consideration, and it was decided to undertake the work of at least one more department. After that the "quiz" prepared by the National W. C. T. U. was given, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Gleason taking the questions and answers respectively. The object of the quiz is to state in a concrete form the arguments, pro and con, for national prohibition. Those present were very much interested and enlightened by the clear and forceful presentation.

The Loyal Temperance Legion held a very pleasant social in the Civic room at the Prince School, Tuesday of last week. Besides the games and refreshments, a half hour was spent in practising the rally cries and songs which are used at the conventions. These socials are now an established feature of the work and are very enjoyable.

There is to be an institute for Middlesex County early in March. The members are asked to reserve Thursday, March 4, for that event, full particulars of which will be given next week.

At the State Headquarters, 541 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, Saturday, February 20, there is to be held a Seven Cent Social, in celebration of the Home anniversary. Everything will be sold at prices based on seven cents, one or more, and there will be a variety of attractions to tempt people to spend their seven "centses." The hours will be from 4.30 to 10 p. m. and everyone is invited to come and have a good time.

Mrs. Bertha Hellon took charge of the L. T. L. service last Sunday, owing to the absence of Mrs. Hamilton. The meeting was well attended and full of interest, showing that Sunday afternoon is a good time for the Legion meetings, in Winchester, at least. Visitors are always welcome and the Union members ought to go to give encouragement.

COUNTRY CLUB WON.

Last Sunday the Winchester Country Club defeated the Woodlawn Country Club in a fast played hockey game on Mystic Lake, 2 to 1.

Francis Ouimet, the star golfer, was in the Woodlawn line-up. For a time it looked as if neither side would score, but in a scrimmage T. Tewksbury took the rubber at Winchester goal and shot it in for the first tally. In the second period after four "Wardie" Goddu carried the puck the length of the rink and scored, tieing the score. Later Paul Goddu slid the puck between the goals from in front, making 2 to 1 for Winchester. Hunt, Farnsworth and W. Goddu skated well and Hurd had several good stops to his credit. Hunnewell was strong in carrying the puck out from his territory. The summary:

WINTER BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Teams Fighting Closely for First Place.

With the end rapidly nearing in the winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club the leading teams are fighting harder each match for first place honors. An interesting and exciting match was that between team 1 and team 3, the former winning three points. Its loss of one string, however, may cost it first place. The scores were good throughout, W. S. Olmstead rolling 130 for high single and Marshall Berry 357 for high total. Berry's high single was 129. Dr. Harry Olmstead increased his average to 105 flat by a total of 526, and he leads in individual work over one of the best fields in years at the club. Gendron was steady as usual and rolled 306, while Dr. Kelley rolled 301. On the same evening teams 11 and 14 rolled their match. These scores were not particularly high and the standing of the leaders was not affected by the match.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Business Management of Local Affairs and Town Taxation.

Editor of the Star:—

If there is one thing hereabouts that we are generally agreed upon, it is that people in this part of the country are not as prosperous as they were at this time last year. Business has been bad, as a general proposition, and incomes are less. It would seem, therefore, that this is not a time for extravagance, nor is it a time to undertake new things; and, of course, this is not a time to impose additional burdens upon people through taxation in order to add new public improvements, which are not absolutely essential now. There are a great many things in this world that we all want, but without which we can manage to get along. Conducting a town's affairs is a great deal like conducting a business. There are times when town improvements have to wait; an I in business just now, as a general proposition, this is one of those times. "Build now" appeals to our sympathies but not always to our reason. It is easy to contract for a larger plant than the present condition of a business warrants, and acquire a reputation for such reckless management as to impair our credit with those whose good opinion is necessary for our desirable progress. In other words, it is easy to be over-optimistic and increase our plant faster than is prudent and come to grief in consequence. It is also easy to honestly make costly mistakes in the way of so-called improvements by doing things without sufficient knowledge. We can spend the town's money by filling up river beds with tin cans and concrete through the best of intentions only to find later that we have to spend more money to dig up considerable of this filling to make a channel in harmony with bridges that we may construct. We can easily have a deficient perspective and vote in favor of constructing expensive bridges without having a correct idea in advance as to what they may cost and as to our real ability to meet this cost, with due regard to other things for which we are likely to be called upon to pay. And while good highways are desirable, we can go faster in that direction than circumstances warrant.

In a town like Winchester a greater effort should be made to get men who have been successful in business on their own account to perform public service, men who have not merely had the spending of the money of other people of large resources, but men of all around executive ability, who have had considerable experience in adjusting expenditures to income. Unfortunately general efficiency and popularity bear no necessarily friendly relationship; and efficiency to do some one thing ought not to carry with it the presumption of ability to do quite a different thing well. Qualification for the particular service should be the main consideration rather than mere availability. Because a man wants a certain public office and appeals to men's prejudices to get it is no reason why he should have it. Men, who have had only small responsibility in their private affairs, should not be given large responsibility in public affairs. To pick such men for positions of considerable responsibility is speculating on character with the presumption against the chance of success in the speculation. The prudent trustee would hardly place trust funds on deposit with a banker known to be identified with doubtful speculative promotions. Then, as a public officer is a trustee for the people, we should look well to his responsibility and business connections before entrusting him with the power of disposing of public funds. It is not merely a question of integrity, for that is presumed to be beyond question; but it is a question of reasonable prudence under all the circumstances in the light of every day experience. Of course, it is true that it is difficult to get men of large affairs to perform local public service for a town; but it ought not to be impossible. However, if we are re luce I to a choice between a little inefficiency on the one hand an I speculative uncertainty on the other, we ought to take the chance that the slightly inefficient learns something by experience. Of course, when it appears to have been suddenly discovered that some one is inefficient, notwithstanding years of previous satisfactory service, it is only fair to be quite certain that the accused is not being made "a goat" of to cover up, not only the responsibility of others, but to further the ambitions and desires of the accusers.

Then again, looking at other aspects of public service, there are some who believe that where a man gives his services gratuitously to the town, he should, nevertheless, be grateful, on the principle that "we should not look a gift horse in the mouth," even if there is something the matter with his jaw, and even though that jaw may cost us a great deal more than his services are worth.

But to return to the matter of taxation, I understand that requests for large appropriations are likely to be made at the next town meeting, which, if voted as proposed, will considerably augment the tax rate and put Winchester in a class not calculated to draw people of means here as residents. It ought to be borne clearly in mind that a high tax rate does not draw men of wealth to a town, but a low tax rate does, and therefore adds to the taxable wealth of a town. I also understand that there can be little or no addition to valuation of taxable property this year. The people of Winchester are generally taxed now about up to the limit, so far as valuation is concerned. As was pointed out last week in "The Star" by Mr. Carter, Winchester is only exceeded in assessed valuation by three towns within the whole Commonwealth; viz: Brookline, Milton, and Wellesley, and exceeds in assessed valuation six cities, North ampton, Melrose, North Adams, Newburyport, Marlboro and Woburn.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the towns of Brookline, Milton and Wellesley have many very rich residents. The tax rate for 1911 in Milton, with a population of over 7,000, was $11.80; in Brookline, with a population of over 27,000, $11.50, and in Wellesley, with a population of 5,400, $12.00. The tax rate in these towns, taken in connection with the number of wealthy residents, is significant. It is a well known fact that men of wealth seek homes where the tax rate is low, and that very fact tends to keep the tax rate low and the standard of public improvements high. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the various recommendations to be submitted to the town will be dealt with with due regard to these conditions. Cleaning out ponds, building bridges, and improving highways, etc., are all incidental to development, but in all these cases, to use a slang phrase, we should not try to "bite off more than we can chew."

ERNST MAKECHNIE PRESIDED.

Large Meeting of Mass. Teachers' Federation.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of delegates of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation was held at Riverbank Court, Cambridge, Saturday afternoon, Feb. 13. President Ernst Makechnie, of 238 Elm street, West Somerville, well known in Winchester, presided. Some 34 cities and towns were represented by delegates, according to a roll called by Secretary Howard W. Peere, of the Somerville High School.

Over a question of state certification of public school teachers considerable difference of opinion arose. Some opposed the scheme as undemocratic while others asserted that the establishment of a minimum requirement of scholarship for all candidates for the teaching profession would increase efficiency and help raise salaries. A vote stood 33 to 16 in favor of committing the federation to this policy. It was also voted to be represented at the statehouse, Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, at a hearing on House Bill 508 through which the state board of educaton hopes to secure uniform certification in all towns whose schools receive state aid.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the taking of stenographic notes on a newly invented machine called the stenograph. This was manipulated by two young ladies from a Somerville commercial college.

Much of the sentiment favoring state certification was directly stirred by an eloquent address from Dr. David P. Snodden, state commissioner of education. The federation voted to oppose House Bill 916 which seeks to make membership in the retirement fund voluntary instead of, as now, compulsory. It will also support House Bill 670, the so-called "mill tax bill."

INTERCLASS GIRLS' BASKETBALL.

The Junior girls in the High school won their first game at basketball Friday when they beat the Freshmen girls 15 to 12. The Juniors led at the end of the first period by 9 to 5 but in the second half 1915 crept up until the 1916 lead was reduced to one point with the score 13 to 12. Margaret Adriance scored the additional basket for 1916 making a total of ten points in her column and Miss Mobbs played hard for the winners. For 1915 Elizabeth Armstrong was the star. Each of the other players put up a hard game for victory. The summary:

S. J. ELDER'S AUTO DAMAGED.

In Collision With Electric Car Monday Morning.

Hon. Samuel J. Elder's Buick runabout, driven by William Donegan, his chauffeur, was slightly damaged on Monday morning shortly after 8 o'clock by being struck by a Winchester bound electric on Cambridge street. In the car with chauffeur Donegan was Mr. Elder's daughter, Miss Ruth Elder.

The accident was largely due to the slippery condition of the road. The auto was coming out of the drive-way to the Elder estate just as the car was approaching. Neither the chauffeur nor the motorman saw each other until the two were close together. The auto slid on the ice in front of the car, which hit it fairly on the side, smashing the running board and throwing it into the street, but not overturning it. Neither the car nor auto were travelling very fast and the motorman, William Murphy, made a good stop of his car, it being said that it was brought to a standstill in six feet.

The auto was not badly damaged and returned to the garage under its own power. Neither Donegan nor Miss Elder suffered any injury.

RAISE THE DOUGH!

They have fixed the bridge at Main street,
Aberjona's bed is clean,
And a Park they're contemplating—
Just to beautify the scene.

No man dares use the Common
For a quiet lounging spot:
He would alter the "perspective"—
On the land-cape leave a blot.

Years they've studied o'er the problem
Of the Cross-ing in the Square,
Whether we shall have a tunnel
Or a bridge up in the air.

By the time they have decided
Which plan stand-s the "beauty test,"
Most of us may be trans-planted
To an outcast bourne of rest.

They have worried o'er the getting
Of a new Post-office site:—
Will other buildings harmonize
And make the setting right?

There are picture-sque "productions"
In our foreground and our back;
Even B. & M. has built us
A cute "gallow's" over the track.

They have juggled with our landmarks
'Til we gas-p and wonder why
They allow the hand of Nature
Liberty to tint the sky.

Yet, regardless of improvements,
Discontented one lament
They've no time to view the scenery
Raising "dough" to pay the rent.

BUSINESS OVER-REGULATED.

In a recent address before the New York State Bankers' Association Eugene L. Richards, State superintendant of banks, claimed that too much Governmental interferance with business is the main cause of unemployment.

"Is the main cause of the lack of work hard to seek?" he asked. "It is not that business has had too much interference from the State, too much tinkering with tariffs, railroad rates and business methods, too many everlasting commissions, first prying into every man's affairs, and then telling him how to run them."

"Trade commissions, labor commissions, factory commissions and investigations, commissions on every subject in the business directory, have chilled capital, and when capital catches cold, labor freezes to death.

"What, then is the true remedy? Naturally, to undo the things that have stopped factory wheels and closed warehouses; to moderate paternalistic legislation and the over regulation of business.

"Cease the useless endeavor to level all men to the same prosperity and, above all, put in administrative office men with practical business experience, instead of parlor or university theorists—to put it baldly, hard heads, not soft hearts in public places."

Supt. Richards argued for the necessity of cooperation between Government and business. He urged public officers and financiers, "working shoulder to shoulder along the middle way between Governmental supervision and the policy of live and let live," with particular care to keep away from socialistic tendencies, which he declared dangerous.

SAFETY FIRST.

The Safety First committee for the Boston & Maine railroad has just issued a pamphlet for 1914, showing the result of a year's crusade on that system. Two years ago schools have been visited and nine thousand children instructed in safety first by the committee, especially in regard to trespassing and throwing stones at trains. The records evidence the fact that it is the little accidents which make the big death and injury record. The list of accidents show that among the different classes of employes the work done by trainmen is the most hazardous; they lead the list by about 50 per cent. in number of accidents over those of the next hazardous class, which comprise the enginemen, firemen and round house men. The total number of personal injury accidents among all the different classes of employes during the year 1913, before the safety first campaign was inaugurated was twenty-nine; during 1914, while the campaign was in effect, the accidents numbered nineteen. There was a decrease of 38 per cent. in fatal accidents and a decrease of 55 per cent. in serious accidents. Safety first is only a phrase standing for a principle. The phrase of itself is useless. Adopt the principal and great results are bound to follow. Safety afterwards avails little when the ambulance has been called and is entirely useless when the undertaker is at the door.

FEEBLEMINDEDNESS CRIME PROPAGATOR.

Prof. M. L. Guyer of the University of Wisconsin, in an address on eugenics and the relation of state to defectives, made these statements:

Twenty-five per cent of the victims of white slavery are feebleminded.

Forty to sixty per cent of women in inmoral lives are feebleminded.

Thirty-three to sixty per cent of delinquent girls under detention are feebleminded.

Twenty-five per cent of inmates of penal institutions are feebleminded.

Forty-three per cent of the insane are of foreign birth.

More immigrants arrived at New York in 1912 than the birth rate of the entire state of New York.

Sixteen per cent of the inmates of penal and charitable institutions of Wisconsin are feebleminded.

The number of inmates of hospitals for the insane in the United States exceeds the number of students in all colleges and universities.

The number of inmates of asylums for the insane of this country exceeds the number of officers and enlisted men in the navy, army and militia.

MR. CRAUGHWELL REPLIES.

Editor of the Star:—

The owl won a reputation for wisdom by keeping silent, but I feel it my duty on an occasion like this to make a reply to the article that appeared in your last issue. Far be it from me to criticize any man or men. With all due respect to the writer of that article and his assistants, I don't think they treated me fair, and it seems to me that they have assailed my character, when they say that I stand for the same principles that the Industrial Workers of the World stand for. I believe if they will stop and think they will agree with me that they are in error.

When Abraham Lincoln, that martyred President of these United States, issued orders for volunteers, my father, who came from a foreign country and was not a citizen, responded and went to the front and fought for the country, under Generals Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. He was laid low by a bullet from the guns of General Lee's sharp shooters, and laid on the battlefield for 24 hours under a terrific rain storm. After the battle had ceased he was picked up and sent to a hospital in Philadelphia, Penn., where for 12 long months he lingered between life and death. Thanks to the good nursing that he received from the good sisters of charity, he recovered.

He then got married and went to Wakefield, Mass., where I was born. He came to Winchester when I was only six days old. As the records will show, I have been here ever since.

Now then, that makes me a son of a veteran, does it not, and a native born American. I was taught to believe in a supreme being, and to respect Old Glory, or in other words, the stars and stripes, and not the red flag of anarchy. Now then, how could I stand for the I. W. W. method of doing things.

Now be fair, don't you think I am just as good an American as you are? It is to be regretted that I have to indulge in personalities. You further said I would be the last man to give up my job to a non-citizen. Why should I give my job up when I am doing the work to the satisfaction of my superiors. I am a married man with a family to support. You are a single man, are you not?

You had the same opportunity to keep the seats warm. Why did you leave them? To my mind you had cold feet. I would like to ask you now to be fair. Could you do the work that some of these men are capable of doing, such as laying pipe, putting in edge stones, paving gutters, putting in grandolithic walks, or the handling of dangerous explosives for blasting purposes?

It seems to me that you tried to poison the minds of many against me. You say that you belong to the same labor organization that I do. I don't see how you can. You are not a town employee, but I am. In most every union you will find a Judas.

In regard to the aged gentlemen who are getting a pension, they were honest, hard working men, for whom I have the greatest respect, for I for one certainly voted to give them a pension. As for the Planning Board, I will admit that I don't know what their duties are, but then none of us are infallible. Try and remember that these non-citizens, if they never become citizens, their children I hope will be an asset to this nation.

Now for the Chapin School incident. These are the remarks I made: We are now paying the different superintendents fabulous salaries; we furnish them with automobiles to ride around in, but to my mind the health department is the most important department in any town or city. The present incumbent of the health department furnishes his own machine and does more work in my estimation for the compensation that he receives than any other town officer. I think every one of them are practical men and an asset to the town.

Are you aware of the fact that certain men approached us and told us that if we voted to give a cent towards the completion of those bridges or the work that is laid out there, our Union would go to smash? Do you know that one of our men was told that if he didn't vote for a certain party that he would do all in his power to have him lose his job?

Now let us go to town meeting and vote for what we think is for the best interest of the town, not as a union, but as voters, and not be led by these men who are lurking in our midst, ready to devour the weak. Now I am willing to shake hands, bury the hammer and call it a draw, or in other words, retire with honors even, and consider the incident closed. Do you realize that the two richest men in this country believe in labor unions such as the one that I am a member of.

Thanking you, Mr. Wilson, for the above space, I remain,

Very truly yours,

Patrick H. Craughwell.

THE ROAD ACROSS THE POND.

From the center to the plains,
With pride and care and pains
They are making, slow but sure, a solid road.
The water is not deep
And the filling is so cheap
That its cost for nothing daily, load by load.

'Twill run quite close the track
And up and down and back,
The reason is I'm sure you all know why.
The people's lives to save
Who work and toil and slave
And often by the trains were forced to die.

For years it was propounded
And it oft they were expounded
'Till at last a leader from the ranks arose.
He called a special setting
And at Chapin S'hoolhouse meeting
He brought victory to the cause and without foes.

On each side there'll be a fence
Your safety to clinch
And reward you for your efforts and your pain.
If you're caught upon the track
And fall or get a crack
You'll have no grounds to grumble or complain.

You may think of wondrous sights,
You may read of wars and fights,
But it's only like a vision in your dreams.
But this road you'll see and feel,
To your heart great joy will steal
When you'll see the autos speeding by the teams.

There's a fine road now in town
That won honor and renown,
On a hill he lives where famous oak trees grow.
With a spirit brave and true
He said make this road go through
And the people's wants relieve from grief and woe.

You will see there teams galore
And autos by the score,
The breeze from off the pond your nerves will cool.
So now join the volunteers
And shout and give three cheers
For Fitzgerald, who won the battle at the School.

When these few lines you see
Now don't think wrong of me,
Because I have no high school education.
But the facts I told are true
And the town this job will do,
Without a doubt to cause imagination.

Anon.

From his practical idealism and shrewd common sense came his singular gift of humor. CORT THEATRE.

With Richard Bennett as the star in an excellent company of players, "Nearly Married," a wholesome farce with a reputation behind it, has begun its Boston run at the Cort Theatre. This play, by Edgar Selwyn, comes to Boston after achieving success in a run of a year in New York and one of six months in Chicago.

The story of "Nearly Married" is based upon an original twist of the divorce question; unusual in that the hero of the farce elopes with his own wife, thereby causing complications that supply the fun.

Harry Lindsay, played by Mr. Bennett, has agreed to allow his young wife, Betty, to obtain a divorce after a middle-some and officious young brother of the wife has succeeded in convincing her that it must be done. A professional co-respondent is hired and the case heard when Harry and Betty meet, but they are just as much in love as ever, are reconciled and run away from their friends on a second honeymoon. As they leave the theatre, an embryo lawyer arrives with the decree of divorce just granted by the court. Discovering the elopement, he and his friends follow the young couple, catching up with them at a way-side inn where they had been forced to put up for the night because of a tire blow-out. Soon after the professional co-respondent arrives seeking payment of her fee and then begins the successive complications that keep the characters of the play in hot water and the audience in constant laughter throughout the three acts.

With Mr. Bennett the company is the original New York cast, including Miss Adrienne Morrison, Miss Isabel Cooper, Miss Francis Savage, Miss Vera DeCordova, Miss Josie Claflin, Ralph Delmore, Joseph Ellerson, Everett Butterfield, Edgar Nelson, George Vallely, Guy Bragdon, Harry Loraine and Arthur Moore.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Common Clay," the stirring, startling drama of big moments by Cleves Kinkead, enters its sixth record-breaking week Monday at the Castle Square. The throngs that have been pouring into the theatre testify that there is no diminution of interest in the Harvard prize play. John Craig surely picked a winner and it seems that the piece is destined for a longer run than "Believe Me Xantippe."

Miss Mary Young in the part of Ellen Neal has made the little tenement girl who succumbed to temptation a living, sentient creature with a big soul. Her revolt against the men who conspire to keep her a woman of the streets and her subsequent triumph over them and over her condition, arouses her audience to the highest emotional tension.

BEN-HUR.

The "Ben-Hur" season in Boston will end on Saturday night, February 27. Bookings made for the Chicago Auditorium prior to the Boston Theatre engagement compel Klaw and Erlanger to transfer the stupendous World's Fair production to Chicago's great playhouse. Seats can now be secured for all the remaining performances at the Boston Theatre including the extra matinee announced for next Monday Washington's Birthday.

With all its theatricalism, "Ben-Hur," the play is an adequate visualization of what many persons regard as the greatest book of fiction written in the nineteenth century. Its spiritual and imaginative flights leave most of the plays of the time far behind. The musician and the musically inclined find in the Edgar Stillman Kelley music which accompanies it great cause for rejoicing in the way that only the music lover can rejoice, and for those whose souls incline to the solemn beauties of religion, "Ben-Hur" is miles in the lead of any secular drama of which there is present knowledge.

"THE PHANTOM RIVAL" AT THE COLONIAL THEATRE, BOSTON.

Boston playgoers have been quick to appreciate the many attractive qualities embodied in the current attraction at the Colonial, which is Leo Ditrichstein in David Belasco's wonderful production of "The Phantom Rival," which proved one of the big, substantial successes of the present season in New York, and which is duplicating its record of prosperity in this city.

In this fantastic comedy Mr. Ditrichstein is delightfully cast. He has never been seen to better advantage than in the role of the Russian, and in his portrayal of the five characters which figure in the dream, providing the central idea of the play. His is as finished a bit of acting as has ever graced the contemporaneous stage.

The comedy has been staged with the usual careful attention to detail which marks everything Mr. Belasco does. The entire cast is excellent, Laura Hope Crews and Malcolm Williams being particularly good. There are but two more weeks of this splendid success, with the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees and a special afternoon performance on next Monday, Washington's Birthday, February 22nd.

A MENACE TO THE TOWN.

The Estimated Tax Rate of $19.22 An Injury to Future Prosperity.

I have read with great interest the very carefully prepared report of the Finance Committee and feel under great obligations to its members for the vast amount of painstaking work it required of them to present such a report. For many years similar committees working under various titles have rendered invaluable service to the town by shaping a financial policy which has made our credit second to none in the state and which, with the faithful work of many unpaid boards, has brought us to our present most enviable position among the larger towns and smaller cities of the state. But while the members of this committee have apparently most faithfully considered every proposed expenditure for the next year, they seem to me not to have given quite study enough to the question of general management of our finances, which would seem to be their first and most important duty.

At the risk of seeming presumptuous and again interfering with the duties of duly elected officers of the town, I am going to venture a few recommendations so that we may have something to think about before the annual town meeting, which is near at hand, and if my recommendations commend themselves in any degree to the voters of the town, I hope there may be a full attendance and positive action taken to change somewhat the general policy recommended by this committee.

In the case of a town as well as any other corporation credit is the most important asset; once that is lost, it takes years to regain it. Now the credit of our town with such splendid material assets as we possess, depends very largely upon two conditions: First, its debt and, second, its annual rate of taxation. If either of these is out of proportion the town is looked upon with distrust and strangers looking for new homes are not attracted to it. The following table shows the record of our town in respect to these conditions for the last twenty-five years:

	Tax Rate	Percentage of Debt to Valuation
1891	$16.00	7.1
1899	16.30	7.2
1904	16.80	5.8
1909	16.20	3.8
1914	17.30	3

It will be seen at a glance that during this time we have materially reduced the percentage of our debt to valuation and at the same time have kept our tax rate within reasonable limits and constantly improved the physical condition of the town. This shows good business management.

At this late day, when we are in such a splendid financial condition compared with former times, to jump our tax rate to $19.22, or possibly more, as is estimated, would seem to be almost suicidal. How can we help it, is a fair question and one that no doubt troubled the Finance Committee.

As we study the expenditures recommended for the next year, most of them seem to be wise, but an unusual number of permanent or Plant improvements seem to be necessary at this time, just as was the case some twenty or twenty-five years ago. If we had tried then to pay for those necessary additions to our working plant all in one or two years, we should have had a tax rate so large that our town would have remained to this day as it then was, a country village. I think we should continue the policy which has heretofore been so successful, namely, pay as we go for all ordinary expenses and as much new work as we can without too large a tax rate, and issue bonds for a long term of years for such improvements as will benefit the future, asking those who come after us to help pay for these, just as we are glad this year to pay $44,000 for the work done a long time ago which adds so much to our comfort and convenience at the present time.

Now our town debt is a large sum, but relative to our valuation it is small and we want to keep it so by inviting others to come in and share our privileges with us; but if we put our tax rate to nineteen or twenty dollars, we will find our growth, which has been so constant, suddenly stopped and our reputation as a conservatively managed town seriously impaired.

On page 35 of the report of the Finance Committee is a very useful table. Let us look carefully at the proposed expenditures and see if several of them should not equitably be paid for during a term of years rather than in a single year.

The two bridges will cost substantially $25,000—a splendid investment for the town, but they ought to last a hundred years or more. Is it asking too much of future citizens that they be paid for in twenty years instead of two? Last year was a short financial year and with an unexpected increase in our revenue it seemed wise to pay one-half of this sum by taxation; the other half, I think, could fairly be paid for by bonds.

Now if there is any town expense that ought not to be paid for by annual taxation, it is permanent sewer and water construction. These two items call for $23,000, and the bridge item added makes a total of $35,000. As each $1000 adds about six cents to the tax rate, these three items call for $2.10 if paid for in a single year. Deduct this from $19.22 and you have $17.12 as our estimated rate. I believe with careful planning we can keep our tax rate at about $17 for many years to come and under no consideration would I vote to have it go above $18.

Very unfortunately we have already at a special meeting voted to raise part of this money by taxation and there is no article in the warrant for the annual meeting which will permit raising the rest of it in any other way. This seems to have been an oversight. But when one gets started on a wrong course it is best to stop, return to the place of beginning, and start again. So now I hope the town officials will call a special meeting to be held at about the time of the last session of the annual meeting, with only financial articles in it.

If the voters approve, this permanent work can be paid for in a series of years and our tax rate remain at a reasonable figure without increasing our debt in such a way as to impair our credit in the slightest degree. It is possible that we cannot now raise by bonds the $13,500 for bridges and Main street construction voted at the special meeting. If that is so, then I would favor putting off to another year substantially as much of the new work mentioned on page 18 of the report as would equal this amount, unless someone can suggest something better to be done.

I am not at all in sympathy with the idea that because times are hard all public work should cease but, on the other hand, with labor idle and money very cheap, it is just the time to do work that all can agree is wise to do and there never could be a better time to issue bonds of the town than in the present condition of the money market. But I can think of nothing outside of the ordinary running expenses of the town important enough to warrant a tax rate such as has been suggested.

MR. AND MRS. R. CHARLES THOMPSON.

THOMPSON—YOUNG.

Winchester Man Weds Former Schoolmate at Brookline.

A wedding of much interest to Winchester's younger set was that of Roland Charles Thompson of Black Horse terrace and Miss Hester Emily Young of Brookline, which occurred on Wednesday evening at the Second Unitarian Church in the Back Bay. Both are widely known in Winchester. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland D. A. Thompson and a graduate of Technology '13. His bride, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Young, well known residents of Brookline, is a graduate of Wellesley '12. Both were graduates of the Winchester High School in the class of '08.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William I. Lawrance, President of the Unitarian National Sunday School Association, a former pastor of the Winchester Unitarian Church, and took place at eight o'clock. The church was handsomely decorated for the ceremony with cut flowers, palms, and potted plants.

The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweet peas. She was attended by Mrs. Philip H. Jones (Miss Jean Newell) of Shelton, Conn., who was gowned in white and carried pink roses. Miss Margaret Spaulding of Brookline, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a dress of white trimmed with pink rosebuds. She carried a basket of rose petals which she strewed in the path of the bride and groom on their way to the altar.

The bride maids were Miss Hope Aldrich and Miss Anna Itzer of Brookline, Miss Alice T. Able, Wellesley '12, of Fall River, and Miss Louise Thiery, Wellesley '09, of Somerville. They were all gowned in pink and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Dwight P. Thompson of New Haven, Conn., brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and the double ring ceremony was followed.

A reception followed the ceremony in the parlors of the church, the couple being assisted in receiving by their parents, Mrs. Young wearing a dress of duchess lace over lavender and carrying sweet peas, and Mrs. Thompson wearing black jet net over white satin and carrying American beauty roses. The ushers for both the ceremony and reception were Messrs. Jean Place, M. I. T. '15, of Woburn; Clarence Hale, M. I. T. '15, of Springfield; Leonard Marion, M. I. T. '15, of Woburn, and H. Brooks Young, brother of the bride.

Over 500 invitations were issued for the ceremony and reception and there was a large attendance at both, including many from Winchester and surrounding places, together with school and college friends of the young couple.

For a number of years the bride resided in this town, her father being a well known druggist here, and the wedding was the culmination of a friendship which started when the bride and groom were classmates at the Winchester High School. Mr. Thompson is chemical engineer with the Avon Rubber Sole Co. of Brockton, and after an extended wedding trip the couple will make their future home in that city at 87 Glenwood avenue.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

Thomas H. Barrett Shared Honors With George Washington.

Washington's Birthday was a most enjoyable event at the home of Mr. Thomas H. Barrett of 19 Stevens street, as it was also his birthday, and many friends and relatives from Boston, Stoneham, Lynn and Brockton came to help him observe the occasion. During the dinner a poem written by his brother and sister was read, and during the evening another, composed by Mrs. Barrett, was recited by his son, Francis.

A very pleasant time was spent with vocal and piano selections, recitations and dancing. He was the recipient of many gifts.

The Fiftieth Birthday.

All o'er this glorious country,
The flags are flying gay,
To honor great George Washington
On this, his natal day.
But in this town of Winchester,
The lovliest in the state,
Tom Barrett's friends come here today
To help him celebrate.

He's just fifty years old,
Half a century gone,
You'd hardly think it though,
His step is as light,
His voice is as strong
As 'twas thirty years ago.

It matters not if heroes brave,
For fame and glory strive,
George Washington's dead these hundred years,
But Tom Barrett's still alive.

So his friends and kindred have come from afar,
With hosts of good wishes and cheer
To wish him long life, with his children and wife,
In this, his fiftieth year.

Best Wishes for a Happy Birthday.

What means this gathering here today
In Winchester, fifteen miles away?
Fifteen miles from the homes in Lynn
Of those who bring kind wishes in.

To brother Tom, who ends today,
The first half of a century
Of worthy living and good works done,
Who was born on the birthday of Washington.

May the second half of the century bring Him health and wealth and everything
That goes to make a life renowned,
Beloved by kin and friends around,
With love of wife and children dear,
To make him happy many a year.

HIGH TAX RATE.

The Star, through communications and otherwise, has already called attention to the high tax rate confronting the town. As supplementary to what has heretofore been published, it may be desirable to quote a sentence from the report of the Finance Committee: "Estimating the valuation at $19,131,500, an increase of $500,000 over 1914, the tax rate would be $19.22." Most persons are likely to assume that if the appropriations are voted as recommended, this will be the tax rate for 1915. But is the valuation estimate of the Finance Committee a reasonable one?

The following table may throw some light on the question:

	Real	Personal	Total
1909	$10,084,950	$2,386,775	$12,471,725
1910	10,521,900	2,236,850	12,758,750
1911	11,215,275	2,931,700	14,146,975
1912	11,787,125	3,379,300	15,166,425
1913	12,781,525	3,642,304	16,426,829
1914	13,228,725	5,402,775	18,631,500

An examination of the Assessors' list in the recently issued town reports discloses, what many must have known before, that a large part of the increase of $2,200,000 in 1914 was due to a very few estates; and it is quite probable that in the case of these particular estates the year 1915 will witness considerable losses of taxable property by reason of the partial or total distribution of the estates. So far as can be estimated now, it is hardly likely that these losses can be offset by any adequate gains in real and personal property.

The town will be fortunate if the valuations for 1915 hold up to those for 1914; in that event, the recommended appropriations will mean a tax rate of $19.74. If, however—and this is far from impossible or even unlikely—there is a drop in valuations, then the tax rate will be $20.00 or more.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

If any of the parish fail to receive the Monthly Calendar will they please notify Mr. Metcalf that the mistake may be corrected.

Mr. Metcalf has a number of pamphlets showing the excursions to the Unitarian General Conference in connection with the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. These he would be glad to send to anybody interested in them.

It is Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, not Mr. Vincent Farnsworth who was reappointed on the Hospitality Committee.

The Committee on the Fiftieth Anniversary of the church has held one meeting. All the former ministers have been heard from and say they intend to be present. The Rev. Samuel Calthrop, who preached before the organization of the Society, has been heard from also. He says his 86 years will prevent his being present.

The Men's Dinner on March 15th promises to be most interesting. The Rev. Peter MacQueen, the noted lecturer, will give his illustrated lecture on "The World's Great War of 1914." Mr. McQueen has just returned from the battle front in Belgium and his large collection of stereopticon slides, together with his great ability as a lecturer, make this easily the freshest and most interesting lecture on the subject. The public press states that not only did he join the Allies in Belgium, but he has taken an ally since returning to the United States. The famous lecturer is now a benedict.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

It is said that one of the positive signs of decay, of a relinquishing grip upon life, is the relating of incidents in one's past career; but The Spectator has made a special study of all people who take delight in talking about themselves and their experiences are not old. They do not seem to be aware of the fact that everybody has a past, that it is one of the commonest of possessions, and the one thing a lot of people here in Winchester and elsewhere have no particular reason for being proud of. The past is not regarded as a first class advertisement. A few people live to have such a horror of the past they would like to forget their parents and all their relations, not because they were criminal, but because they were such poor and simply folks. This is when ambition has changed pride into a hair shirt and made of it a constant cause of irritation. The past is a good thing to improve upon. As a concrete picture it may be nettling but inspiring. If we keep our todays a little improvement on our yesterdays life is certain not to be a failure. The past is strewn with good intentions—of vows that are blank. Do it now is the slogan of progress.

Just praise comes to him who builds a hospital or who makes a generous donation to a poor fund, but are there not two worthy citizens who merit quite as many compliments as Dickens lavished on the Cherryble Brothers? Their names can be found in the Winchester directory and in the directories of other towns. There is a man who owns houses, and derives a pleasant or even a necessary revenue from the rents thereof. If he finds that a tenant is an idler, or an undesirable of any kind he gets rid of him, and is not to be fooled by promises. This man, however, knows the facts in many cases; if sickness, lack of employment or death in the family may chance to fall so as to hamper a tenant he is forebearing. A Winchesterite now dead who was not looked on as a philanthropist allowed a sick employee to occupy a house rent free for more than a year—in fact, till his death. Few knew it, but the widow's story of the landlord's consideration was eloquent in its pathos. The Spectator might cite man there is who has an in- is way of finding little jobs— ost him two, five, or ten dollars. imes he might postpone them week or a month, but he likes ave out these jobs at the time nen they may save a fellow being from utter despair. He believes that an unfortunate is likely to get a position next week, and he finds employment which keeps the man from hunger until next week comes. Actions of this kind are not always published, still it is said that they are all recorded. The man who has a house to be painted, or wants some improvement in his barn, or has a new plan in gardening, is possibly known to his inner circle as one who puts out money for wages just when it is most needed. It is often the case that the benevolent tendencies of these two citizens are shared by their families. No confidence is violated by again saying that in Winchester and other places the names are in the directories.

The Spectator wonders what will become of the people who pray for the poor and let it go at that! It looks as if they might get the same recognition hereafter as those who prey upon them until they have got their last penny. There does not appear to be anything that promises to endure longer than poverty. We have divine assurance it is here to stay. We live to learn he is not the poorest man who has the least of material things, for he who has the least spiritual development faces a greater need. Bulwer has declared, "poverty is the wicked man's tempter, the proud man's curse, and the melancholy man's halter." The man of millions is very poor when he becomes conscious of a lack of sympathy or happiness. Divine revelation declares love to be the greatest asset of life—the source of greatest power.

Environment makes or mars most of the world and in the search for ideal conditions for child life an atmosphere of cheerfulness goes a long long way toward healthful, happy growth. It is the moral sunshine that we cannot dispense will and be happy. And in business or the professional world, cheery optimism removes half the difficulties and makes things freer, easier and far happier. A bright facial expression, a handgrip that denotes friendliness and a word that carries good cheer are assets that cannot be overestimated, and from a purely selfish, even a financial standpoint, it pays to woo them with all the vigor of determination.

The other day The Spectator heard a woman agent say, "Well, I'm glad to see someone who looks pleasant," and the message it bore was an eloquent, rather than a happy tribute to humanity. It seems a small enough thing to extend the courtesy of a smile if further help is withheld; and it does help to be pleasantly treated when one travels about town all day with only an occasional sale. One cannot be too prodigal with cheeriness; it grows as it is dispensed, and it is so heartening and delightful to be a beneficiary of human sunshine! And to be able and willing to send out the rays to a tired world is something to live for.

Save the Star. Several townsmen have complete files of this newspaper. Others who do not care to save the papers in their entirety have scrap books in which the most important matter may be pasted for future reference. It is a good scheme and The Spectator endorses it.

OBSERVATIONS.

In the last twenty-five years Winchester has had a tax rate as high as eighteen dollars just once, and it has been as low as fifteen. This year we have a Finance Committee, not a single member of which has ever held any town office, and it offers us a rate of nineteen and a quarter dollars. What can we do about it? Well, we can cut down on appropriations. What ones? Let us see. Reserve fund $2,000.00; abolish this account. It has worked exactly as many citizens predicted and it always will. Cemetery $3,500.00; only a few years ago when the appropriation was $1000.00, the Commissioners said they would not ask the town for any appropriation but a few years longer as it would soon take care of itself. Many of our citizens never have or will use this cemetery, and the appropriation should be merely nominal, if any. Fire apparatus; some want a tractor, others a motor pump. Let it wait, at least, until they agree. Street lighting $11,400.00; why should this item be increased 20 per cent in a single year? Highways, $13,500 for bridge work, $14,000.00 for surface drainage, $6,000.00 for stable, etc., $5,000.00 for snow and ice, $50,000.00 for other work, total $87,100.00. Last year the Selectmen say they spent nearly $100,000.00. After two successive years of such great expenditure and with such a tax rate staring us in the face, should not the appropriation for street work be cut ten thousand dollars. It would be very liberal then. Sewer and water construction; why should not this money be raised by bond issues? Of course, that costs more, but we must consider the tax rate. Fire insurance; if we are to insure anything why should it be more than the High School and perhaps the Town Hall? What business sense is there in fire insurance for a town like Winchester? All town employees, clerks, superintendents, engineers and laborers should be on a forty-eight hour week basis, and if half holidays are wanted let them make up the time on other days as they did for years. If they don't like the conditions let them find a better job, if they can.

The appropriations recommended for 1915 total just one hundred per cent more than 1911, five years ago. Our population has increased just about ten per cent in the same time. This is startling.

The Selectmen wisely say nothing about the bridges contracts. The Park Board say, in effect, it did not dare to violate the law beyond certain limits. It went far enough, surely. Luckily the "sky was not its limit."

It was not intended to have the minimum wage of two dollars and a half a day apply to those employed permanently the year around, but only to the out of door men, because they have work only about nine months in the year. I am told that the permanent men not only demand this minimum wage but also Saturday half holidays, although they have two weeks vacation now. If this is so it is wrong.

Some very airy and illuminating letters in last week's Star, also some good and some awful verse. But wait for the town meeting for real fireworks. The voters will tax the full capacity of both halls, and gallery seats will be at a premium. The north gallery should be reserved for men and not have them shut out by boys. I would like to see a verbatim report of an annual town meeting for once. Why shouldn't the Star show that enterprise?

If Friar Tuck could confine his activities to fewer things and not try to cover so much ground he would satisfy everybody, including himself, better. He is as short on discretion as he is long on courage.

I wonder if Chairman Davidson has the nerve to take the affirmative side when he speaks before the Deliberative Assembly Tuesday night on "Should Selectmen be paid." The way to relieve the Selectmen is to put highways into a board of public works. The Selectmen would have all you can fairly ask them to do then, and I think they will admit it.

Votes of town meetings on hours and wages are not worth the paper they are written on as the questions are settled by statute laws, and it is about time town officials knew and recognized it and acted accordingly.

Young, Jr., of Brighton, all four thinking it would be lots of fun to take a coast down one of the steep icy hills, boarded a large, heavy double runner. They had gone but a short distance before they realized that they were losing control, and when going at a terrific speed it overturned, each of the occupants striking the smooth ice and continuing to slide, unable to control themselves, while the double runner continued on. Fortunately no one was injured beyond a good shaking up, several lacerations and many blue spots.

LOVING CUPS IN ACCIDENT.

A load of silver loving cups to the value of over $200, constituting the prizes for the two bowling tournaments at the Calumet Club, was among the merchandise scattered about the square last Friday forenoon when an auto truck struck an American Express Company's wagon driven by Alexander W. McKenzie. None of the good were injured. The accident occurred at the railroad crossing in front of Hatch's candy store. The express wagon was crossing to the west side and the auto truck, owned by Taylor's Woburn Express, had just crossed from Woburn. It was driven by Michael Winn, who was being instructed in its operation by Daniel McGilvrey, who was in charge. The express wagon was overturned and its contents scattered about the square and the horse was knocked down. McKenzie was thrown out, but not injured beyond receiving a cut on his head. There was no serious damage.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Safety First Presented to School Children by Mr. Watkins.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. Etta G. Luce, chairman of the Department of Scientific Temperance Instruction of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, talked to the pupils in grades six, seven, eight, and the High School about the evils attending the use of intoxicating liquors and tobacco. Mrs. Luce is a charming and interesting speaker and made an excellent impression on our young people. The arrangements for her visit were made by Mrs. George H. Hamilton, of the local W. C. T. U. Mrs. Hamilton is particularly interested in temperance work with boys and girls and has charge of the Loyal Temperance Legion in Winchester. This organization holds its regular meetings on Sunday afternoons in the Baptist Church and a social gathering once a month on a week day afternoon in the Prince School Building.

On Friday morning Mr. S. G. Watkins, of Wakefield, presented to the pupils in the High School and in grades six, seven, and eight the dangers arising from trespassing on railroad property. Mr. Watkins is General Secretary of the Safety First bureau of the Boston and Maine Railroad. For twenty years he has been in the claim department and has exhaustive knowledge of the accidents that are much too frequent on our railroads. The Boston and Maine Railroad was the first eastern system to take up the problem of educating its employees and the public to a realization of the dangers arising from trespassing upon railroad property, and during the year 1914 the results of its efforts were a very considerable reduction in the number of accidents.

In Mr. Watkins' office is a map on which every accident is noted by a red dot. For 1914 Winchester had a record worse than most places, it being marked for three serious accidents. None of these was in school, but the talk given will undoubtedly influence the older as well as the younger portion of our people.

In addition to the address, leaflets were distributed to all grades with the following suggestions which all may well keep in mind:

Save the Children. During the last twenty-four years thirty-one thousand and forty-nine—31,049—children under eighteen years of age have been killed or injured in the United States while trespassing on Railroad property. Prevent your child from being added to this number.

Teach the Children. Not to walk on railroad tracks. Not to play in railroad yards or about stations. Not to cross a railroad track without first looking in both directions. Not to throw stones at trains. This thoughtlessness frequently results in life long injury to innocent people.

Last Thursday evening Superintendent Herron addressed the Teachers' and Parents' Association of Newburyport on the topic "Are our public schools a failure?"

Parents' day in the Rumford School last Friday afternoon was very successful. The rooms were full of visitors who expressed themselves as delighted with the work done by the pupils.

On Wednesday morning of last week Mr. Edward S. Foster took Mr. William E. Orr, Deputy Commissioner of Education, Mr. Charles E. Barrett and Superintendent Herron on a general tour of inspection of our schools. In the forenoon they saw classes in every building except the Gifford and Highland. Visits of this kind are instructive for the visitors and stimulating to teachers and pupils. The example set by Mr. Foster may well be followed. Superintendent Herron will be glad to arrange trips as desired.

Washington's Birthday exercises in the Washington School on Friday afternoon were somewhat more elaborate than usual and were attended by a large number of parents.

The sixth grade room at the Prince taught by Miss Elizabeth Cullen, has been fitted by the Civics Committee of the Fortnightly as a semi-open air room. Each window has been provided with a screen covered with thin muslin. This can be placed at the top or bottom of the window and with the regular sash lowered or raised permits a liberal supply of fresh air without drafts, and without greatly lowering the temperature of the room. The results obtained in this room, the open air room and the room with the ordinary ventilation in the Prince Building will be carefully studied. The pupils in all three rooms will be given the same physical tests two or three times a year.

1940 ON VOTING LIST.

The corrected voting list for the coming March election, including the new registrations and names dropped for various reasons, contains 1940 names.

The women's list has 213 names. Of this number about 25 usually turn out to vote.

All kinds of fountain pens repaired at Wilson the Stationer's.

WAS A NECESSITY.

Why a Town Meeting Had to be Called in February.

As some criticism has been made regarding the calling of a town meeting prior to the annual one in March, a few words of explanation may not be amiss

The 15th of last July, rumors regarding a possible war were afloat and after August first war became a reality. Then, estimates of its probable duration ranging from three weeks to three years were prevalent. The Treasurer, with the approval of the Selectmen, at that time considered the necessity of a loan from its various angles, namely: the payment of taxes, whether payments would be made less promptly or more promptly than usual, and all other sources of town income. As the ruling rate for money was much higher at that time than usual, the shortest maturity was taken to lessen the interest and allow loans on the 1915 taxes. The possible calling of an earlier town meeting was also considered. As it has proved, the war is still on, taxes were paid in the same proportion as in previous years, but as the levy was larger, larger amounts were due on December 31st. The Treasurer has to have the approval of the Selectmen on the issuance of notes and bonds, and they have in all cases given the matter careful consideration.

George H. Eustis,
Town Treasurer.

"AIR-O-PLAYERS."

Pleasing Concert at Calumet Club Tuesday Evening.

The regular February ladies' night at the Calumet Club was supplemented this month by a concert last Tuesday evening by the "Air-o-Players," a musical organization of three artists presented by the National Piano Company. The artists included Miss Hazel Trueman, violin; Mr. Arthur Hackett, tenor, and Mr. Arthur Watson, piano-pianist.

A program of twelve selections was rendered by the artists which gave much pleasure to the large and appreciative audience. The Briggs Air-o-player was used for several numbers and for the accompaniment to the several solos.

The hall was attractively decorated for the affair, and refreshments followed the conclusion of the program.

ACCEPTS WITH GREAT PLEASURE.

Editor of the Star:—

I accept with great pleasure Mr. Craughwell's proposition, and call the honors even, but I do not think it is quite fair for him to make such a sacrifice on his part to me. I feel quite sure if this was a question between Mr. Craughwell and myself, I would gladly retire at once, leaving the fields and crops to him, but this is simply a question of law. The statutes distinctly state who should derive the benefits. The Owl still holds his reputation for his silence, but we should never forget that national bird of prey, called the "American Eagle."

J. F. Kennedy.

TUCKER—SHARON.

Miss Mabel Eleanor Sharon, daughter of Mrs. John S. Sharon, and Mr. Wilbur True Tucker of Belfast, Me., were quietly united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother on Main street last Friday afternoon at 2.30 by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church. The ceremony was private and attended only by the immediate families. The couple were unattended.

The bride is well known through her connection with the Star office, where she has been bookkeeper for the past seven years. The couple will make their home in Belfast, Me., where Mr. Tucker is in charge of a large printing plant.

Editor of the Star:—

I desire to thank Prof. Currier for his extremely courteous letter in your last issue as to a woman on the School Committee. I shall soon advocate in town meeting this question. If Mr. Currier would tell the people about his taking nomination papers from the Town Clerk, an illegal act after said papers were filed, instead of what I have not done, of which he is so fond of doing and knows so little about, but this is too much to expect from him. "He needs Billy Sunday."

Whitfield Tuck.

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE TOWN TREASURER.

Editor of the Star:—

There are three candidates for town treasurer. The responsibility of the town treasurer is greater than that of any other town officer. He is pre-eminently the town's trustee. He has under his control at certain periods of the year several hundred thousand dollars of the town's money at one time. I understand he has at the present time on deposit something over one hundred and forty thousand dollars. His bond to the town is only twenty thousand dollars.

None of the candidates for this office are men of considerable financial responsibility; so that the paramount consideration is that the successful candidate shall be above suspicion. His business history and affiliations should not be doubted so far as integrity is concerned. The clerical side of the office is of secondary importance; the fiduciary side is of primary importance.

I have no personal acquaintance with any of the candidates; and so far as I know at this time all three of the candidates may satisfy the foregoing conditions. But it is the duty of the voter, if he does not already know, to inquire before casting his ballot; for in the relatively small number of voters in this town it is quite possible if a light vote should be cast and the contest keen between any two of the candidates that the least responsible might find a sufficient number of thoughtless voters to elect him; and that would be serious indeed.

Lionel Norman.

METCALF'S COMET BACK AGAIN, SAYS HARVARD.

Miss Leavitt Locates It on Photographs Made With 16-inch Telescope.

The reappearance of Metcalf's comet, discovered in 1906 by Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of the Unitarian Church, was announced at the Harvard College observatory. The comet was found by Miss H. S. Leavitt on photographs made at the observatory with the 16-inch Metcalf telescope. Miss Leavitt was aided in her search by the ephemeris of the comet's probable course around the sun computed by Bianchi, an Italian astronomer.

The observatory bulletin gives the exact positions (Epoch 1875) of the comet as follows:

Feb. 9.683 Greenwich Mean Time: Right Ascension, 8 hours 28 minutes 36.2 seconds. Declination, minus 1 degree, 30 minutes, 41 seconds.

Feb. 9.759 Greenwich Mean Time: Right Ascension, 8 hours, 28 minutes, 33.5 seconds. Declination, minus 1 degree, 30 minutes, 19 seconds.

the Character of Laundry Service—Unless It is Watchful and Thorough the Quality of the Output Cannot be Maintained

Every collar, shirt, sheet or towel sent to this laundry is returned to you only after an expert inspector is satisfied with its appearance. Otherwise it "goes back," as the phrase for re-laundering is.

In some mechanical industries inspection is carried down to variations of one ten-thousandth of an inch. We aim to be just as accurate as that in our way, which is the smooth, uniform quality way.

Another "Hopeless Case"
He Astonished the Doctors—Recovers Without Operation—Used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Mr. James Lettice, of Canajoharie, N.Y., writes:

"Some years ago I was attacked with fearful pains in my back and side. I could not control my kidneys at all, and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered intensely. A prominent physician of Albany, N.Y., decided that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded that and commenced to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I felt better almost immediately. When I had taken about two bottles, the flow from the bladder was much cleaner, the pain stopped, I was saved from the surgeon's knife and am now well."

The above letter was written in 1900. To prove that the benefit he obtained from Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was permanent, read what he says in a recent letter (in 1912):

"I am enjoying the best of health. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me permanently. I have answered many letters asking about it. I shall keep on praising it."

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had nearly 40 years of great success in Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Not a "patent" medicine, but a physician's prescription, prepared for universal use. Write to-day to Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N.Y., for a free trial bottle and booklet of valuable medical advice. Large bottles sold by 40,000 druggists.

DELIBERATIVE ASSEMBLY

The regular meeting of the Deliberative Assembly was held on Tuesday evening in the Assembly Hall at the High School. There was a fair attendance. The meeting held considerable interest for its two discussions, one by Chairman George T. Davidson of the Board of Selectmen and the other by Mr. Flavel Shurtleff.

Selectman Davidson spoke on the matter of extending pay to members of the Board, a subject which has received consideration from the citizens at various times. His opinion was in favor of paying the members a salary, and he supported his views by illustrating the cost to the individual during his term of office. His talk was interesting as showing many lights now thoroughly understood by the average citizen. In the discussion which followed Town Counsel Charles F. Dutch expressed an opinion on the advisability of paying an expense salary. The meeting voted that president Edward S. Foster appoint a committee of three to investigate regarding the advisability of advocating a salary for the board and also regarding the size of the board.

Mr. Flavel Shurtleff gave a very interesting talk upon the matter of town planning. Mr Shurtleff is a candidate as a member of the new planning board to be elected at the March meeting. He has made the subject a study and his talk was remarkably interesting. Without going into any exhaustive details he outlined the purpose of such a board, its duties and limitations, and illustrated some of his points by possible local instances. His talk received much attention from his hearers.

The organization will probably hold its next meeting in March.

TEACHERS' SOCIAL.

On Wednesday evening the members of the Winchester Teachers' Club met in the High School Assembly Hall for a social evening. The affair was in the nature of a "white elephant" party, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The first number on the evening's program was "Miss Prim's Kindergarten," in which the following teachers took part: Mrs. Brown, Misses Louise Taylor, Mary Barr, Dora Brown, Ruth Hill, Violetta Dodge, Zana Prescott, Dorothy Ayer, Elizabeth ..., Edna Hayes, May Phillips, ... Ipson, ... Cullen, Messrs. ... Horne, E. E. Thompson, R. ... and W. B. Hanson. The parts were all well taken and the various songs and games were repeatedly encored.

The second part of the entertainment consisted of readings by Mrs. E. E. Thompson and vocal selections by Miss Edna M. Hubley. Both of the numbers were given with excellent effect.

An exchange of "white elephants" followed. As each "white elephant" was well wrapped in paper, great merriment was caused when the contents of the packages were disclosed.

Dainty ices and cakes were served by the following members of the February Committee, to whom much credit is due for the success of the evening's entertainment: Miss Mercy Davis, chairman, Louise Taylor, Zana Prescott, Dorothy Ayer, Gertrude Howard and Ralph DeLano.

BAPTIST NEWS.

The Swedish service in the Chapel last Sunday afternoon was well attended and most helpful. A similar service will be held next Sunday at 4 p. m., conducted by Rev. A. Manuel of Boston.

The large and enthusiastic Student Volunteer Band of the Gordon Bible Institute of Boston will be present and speak at the six o'clock service next Sunday. This will be an exceptionally interesting event.

The pastor was one of the Boston company who went down to Philadelphia to invite Billy Sunday to come to Boston. Thus the subject on Sunday morning will be, "Impressions of Billy Sunday, or The Twentieth Century John the Baptist."

A large company of ladies from the various churches met in the Chapel on Friday afternoon and did a great amount of work for the hospitals of Northern France. They meet again this afternoon to complete the work. The fellowship of the gathering was also most delightful.

DAUGHTERS OF ISABELLA.

Next Tuesday evening, on their regular meeting night, the Daughters of Isabella will conduct a joint Social Circle and Current Events meeting in Lyceum Hall. The principal speaker on Social Service work will be Mrs. George H. Root of this town who is prominently identified with the North End Union Settlement House, Boston. Other people who are interested in this question will be present. The Daughters of Isabella hope to correlate, in the near future, with the splendid work in Social Service which is already being carried on here in Winchester and it is with this end in view that they have arranged this meeting. Admission is limited to members of the Court, each of whom may invite a guest. Refreshments will be served.

The Charitable Committee, which has charge of this meeting, consists of Mrs. Eugenie Davidson, Miss Minnie Noonan, Mrs. Sara Barrett, Mrs. Anna McNally, Miss Elizabeth T. Cullen.

Mr. Alexander McKenzie, driver of the American Express wagon which overturned in the square last Friday, has been confined to the house since the accident. Mr. McKenzie pluckily picked himself up after being thrown out when his wagon was overturned by Taylor's auto truck and took care of the scattered contents of his team, but after reaching his home and having his head cut on his head attended to he found that he was badly bruised also, having a sprained back.

MOTOR PUMP vs. TRACTOR.

The Former More Efficient and Requires Fewer Men.

Editor of the Star:—

Under Article 7, of the warrant for the annual town meeting, there is recommended the appropriation of $1500 for the purchase of a tractor to be attached to the present steam engine.

Last March a committee, of which the present fire department committee of the Board of Selectmen were members, was appointed to consider the question of a tractor for the engine. At a June meeting this Committee reported 4 to 1 in favor of a tractor, the writer being the dissenting member and recommending a motor pump. The matter was referred to the next annual town meeting. Last month I telephoned the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, stating I wanted to be sure there would be an article in the warrant authorizing the purchase of a motor pump and that I would, if necessary, ask to have one inserted and advocate it before the Finance Committee. The Chairman replied that the Board of Selectmen intended to insert such an article and would recommend to the Finance Committee the purchase of a motor pump. My reply was, "Then there is no need of my doing anything. Is that right?" to which the Chairman answered "Yes." Since January the Fire Department Committee of the Board of Selectmen have apparently changed their mind, and as my knowledge of change came after the warrant was closed and the Finance Committee had made its finding, I was unable to present the case for the motor pump to the Finance Committee.

As it is absolutely necessary to motorize the apparatus for the new fire house, and as the Finance Committee had before it only the recommendation of the Board of Selectmen for a tractor, the Finance Committee could only endorse that recommendation.

In January the Board of Selectmen intended to recommend a motor pump and I understand the recent change was caused not by a consideration of the question on its merits, but by a desire to reduce the appropriations to be asked for, fearing the tax rate would be excessive, and this contention is borne out by the town report in which the Selectmen (page 72) and the Chief of the fire department (page 123) recommend the purchase of a motor pump. Sympathizing with the desire to keep the tax rate about what it has been in recent years, it yet seems to me that the necessary saving could be made in some other department, where the result would not be so serious.

I think it is safe to say that all Committees which have considered the question of the proper equipment for the fire department are unanimous in agreeing that the department should contain a reserve piece of apparatus; a combination hose and chemical. Today there is no reserve. The purchase of a tractor for the engine will give no reserve; the purchase of a motor pump will give the desired reserve. To obtain the reserve after equipping the engine with a tractor would call for the purchase of a motor hose wagon at a cost of about $5000, or $1500 more than the difference between the cost of a motor pump and a tractor.

It requires three men, one of whom could be used elsewhere part of the time, to run the tractor-equipped engine; the motor pump can be run by one man, and in addition, with the motor pump you save the man required under the tractor plan to drive the third hose wagon. The tractor plan calls for three power plants, while the motor pump does the same work with one. It is inevitable that the proper equipment for the department under the tractor plan is more expensive in the first cost, more expensive to maintain, and more expensive in the required personnel, for with a given number of men the efficiency is impaired by reason of the greater number of men required to look after apparatus who might otherwise be used in actual contact with the fire. The saving of a small amount this year, at the sacrifice of efficiency and maintenance charges, is poor economy.

Horse-drawn steam engines are constructed for a moderate speed. When motors are attached, the increased speed tends to a rapid depreciation of the steam pump machinery, with a resulting short life. Those advocating a tractor admit that the arrangement would be only temporary and that in a few years it would be necessary to purchase a motor pump, at which time there would be a tractor to dispose of at a probable loss. In the meantime, the department would be either without reserve or run at unnecessary cost. One can readily realize that if the desire for a moderate tax rate is obtained at the expense of the fire department equipment, the result will be detrimental to the department, not only this year but for several years, while the amount proposed to be saved can be taken from some other department where the detriment will be less or loss will be only temporary.

The question of efficiency at a fire as between the tractor-drawn engine and the motor pump does not call for any lengthy argument. Both types are sufficiently efficient. In my opinion, the motor pump is fully the equal as regards reliability while it has the advantage in speed, quickness in obtaining the maximum pressure and maintaining same, length of life and cost of upkeep. The reliability and efficiency of the motor pump has been thoroughly tested at large fires in Weymouth, Salem, Chelsea, Malden and other nearby places.

I would call the voters' attention to the report of the Committee appointed last March which is printed in the town report (pages 48 to 50) of this year. In May, 1914, I sent a letter to various fire chiefs in nearby cities and towns, describing Plan 1, the tractor, and Plan 2, the motor pump, as outlined in the above mentioned report, and asked their opinion. Of 11 answers, 11 advocated Plan 2 and 3 Plan 1, but of these last three, one admitted no experience with motor apparatus, one would advocate a motor pump if we had no engine, and one only was unqualifiedly in favor of a tractor. Former Commissioner Cole and Chief Mullen of the Boston Department have expressed themselves as in favor of a motor pump for this town.

In my opinion, and apparently in the opinion of the Board of Selectmen, the equipping of the engine with a tractor is in the nature of a makeshift to overcome difficulties arising from conditions not caused by the fire department. In equipping the department which is now on a solid basis, the town should follow a plan which takes into consideration the future and should not be diverted from that plan by any temporary saving at the expense of efficiency and future maintenance charges.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

The various town improvements have been at their lowest stage since their commencement during the past two weeks. The cold of last week and the wet weather following caused a complete cessation of the work on the bridges, although the warm weather has done much towards affording an opportunity for an early resumption, and as soon as the frost permits this work will be taken up again.

The Fire and Police Building is plastered and has its roof slated and coppered. The work of washing down the outside preparatory to removing the staging was commenced this week, and the work of installing the new cells in the jail room is well along, it being anticipated that they will be ready for the plumbing this week.

The Star Building is ready for the inside finish, which will be started on Monday. The plastering is completed and the lass in place, and the second flooring all down ready for the top floors of maple, which will be laid at once.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

February 22, 1915.

The Board met at 7.30 p. m., all present.

The Town Treasurer reported having received papers relating to claim of the City of Boston against the Town of Winchester which he had at once forwarded to the Town Counsel. Referred to Mr. Sanborn for report.

A letter was received from Dr. William Buckley, Inspector of Animals, stating that he had heard that there was to be a decided effort made at the coming town meeting to have the watering troughs of the town reopened; that it was not a hobby of his to oppose such action, but as in the past he had done so and given his reasons for so doing he wished to state that he was still of the same mind; that with his knowledge of the contagiousness of glanders he deemed it a great evil to re-open the watering troughs, as he considered they constituted one of the greatest sources of contagion; that within the past year there had been very few cases of glanders come under his observation, and it was in his opinion due to the fact that there had been so many watering troughs closed and that the very little good that might come of re-opening the troughs would be as nothing compared with the harm that would ensue.

A petition was received for granolithic sidewalks to be laid on Everett avenue abutting the premises of Mrs. Irving Palmer, Charles A. Burnham, Douglas N. Graves, Henry C. Metcalf and A. A. Kidder and referred to the 1915 Board.

Adjourned at 8.35 p. m.

Frank R. Miller,
Clerk of Selectmen.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Mrs. Etta G. Luce, the state superintendent of scientific temperance instruction in the Women's Christian Temperance Union, spoke at the Mothers' Association meeting last week. The local union was well represented, and after the talk ice cream and cake were served by the members of the union, while the members of the two societies had an opportunity to meet Mrs. Luce.

The following morning, thanks to the courtesy of Superintendent Herron, Mrs. Luce had the opportunity of speaking to the members of the High School in the Assembly Hall, and later in the same hall the pupils of the grammar school above the sixth grade were entertained by Mrs. Luce. Still later she spoke at the Prince School and also at the Chapin and Washington schools.

The union is greatly indebted to Mr. N. M. Nichols, who kindly transported Mrs. Luce and Mrs. Hamilton from one school to another. The young folks seemed to enjoy the talks given by Mrs. Luce, who spoke especially on the evils of cigarette smoking during school years. Certainly all who heard her were inspired and impressed by her vivid presentation of the subject. Winchester is fortunate in having school officials who are alive to the moral needs of the pupils.

There is to be an institute of methods held at the State Headquarters, 541 Massachusetts avenue, Wednesday, March 1, under the direction of the Middlesex County Union. There are to be two sessions, the first at 10.00 a. m. and the other at 2 p. m. Basket lunch, with some drinkable—non-alcoholic—served by the union.

MILL POND MATERIAL.

Analysis Pronounces it Good Dressing for Lawns.

It may be of interest to the citizens to know of the result of the analysis obtained on the different samples of material as taken from the Mill Pond such as is intended to be used for loam and placed 1 foot deep on the Whitney lot, shores of the Mill Pond, island back of Town Hall, banks of the path from Mt. Vernon street to Main street, on Manchester Field, and other town plots as required.

The first sample was taken from material excavated near the new dam in September, 1914. The analysis follows:

Sept. 29th, 1914.

Mr. Joseph Hinds, Town Engineer, Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—The sample of mud from the pond which you are attempting to clean and renovate has the following composition:

Moisture	55.82
Total phosphoric acid	.16
Potassium oxide	.03
Nitrogen	.15
Organic matter	4.57

Approximate commercial value of the plant food contained in a ton of this material would be 40 cents. In placing the commercial value on this material I have simply figured the value of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash without any special reference to the organic matter which the product carries.

In my opinion the material would have more value as a product to be used in making new lawns than as a source of plant food or as a fertilizer. If there is a demand for the material in resurfacing lawns the material would no doubt prove an excellent product for this purpose and should bring as large a price as the best loam. The material is fine in texture, would hold moisture in good shape and I believe would be admirably adapted for resurfacing old lawns or the making of new lawns.

Very truly yours,
H. D. Haskins.

The Park Commissioners wishing to be doubly sure that this material would answer the purpose for which it was intended to be used, caused two samples to be taken in February, 1915, from as near the centre of the pond as was possible, one pail full of the material being taken three inches below the surface while the second pail full was taken three feet below the surface. The analysis follows:

February 15, 1915.

Mr. Charles A. Lane, care of Board of Park Commissioners, Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—We have finished the analysis of the two samples of muck deposit taken from the mill pond in your town and have the following report to make on the same.

	No. 1 3 in. below surface	No. 2 3 ft. below surface
Moisture	62.40	74.03
Organic matter	5.56	4.96
Nitrogen	.17	.19

You will note from this analysis that there is only a small amount of organic matter and nitrogen in the product, most of it being composed of moisture and earthy material. It, however, should make a splendid material for surfacing lawns. It may be used to a depth of a foot or a foot and one-half. I should think that the best way to handle the product would be to have it excavated and thrown in heaps on the lake shore until the greater part of the water has a chance to drain away. This will very much reduce the cost of handling the product when later used for resurfacing.

The product, of course, shows a strong acid condition and after it has been placed in position for lawn purposes, it should have an application of $1\frac{1}{2}$ pounds of fine ground limestone per square yard of surface. It would also be well to use a mixture of potash, phosphoric acid and perhaps a little nitrogen, having it worked into the soil just a day or two before seeding the lawn. If you prefer to use a mixed fertilizer for this purpose you can probably do no better than to buy a food product called Lawn Dressing sold by the Beach Soap Company of Lawrence, Mass., as this fertilizer has the plant food present in about the form that I usually recommend for this purpose. This fertilizer should be used at the rate of 1500 to 1700 pounds per acre.

If I can aid you any further in regard to the handling of this product I should be glad to do so upon further application.

Very truly yours,
H. D. Haskins.

The analysis of the sample taken in September, 1914, had been exposed to the air for some time, while the sample of February, 1915, was taken out of the pond after it had been flooded.

The suggestion of the chemist to place the material in heaps leach out was the one already decided upon by the Park Board, and as the analysis shows the material to be of much value for the purposes intended, thereby saving the town in the purchase of the quantity of loam required to finish the work in and about the pond and Whitney lot, credit should be given for material utilized, and if this is done the net cost for the completion of this work will be only slight.

Park Commissioners.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

An event of theatrical importance will be the presentation by Charles Frohman of his new star, Ann Murdock, in a pretentious American comedy, "A Girl of To-Day," at the Hollis Street Theatre on March 1st. It is a significant fact that Miss Murdock is to follow Maude Adams at the Hollis.

The author of Miss Murdock's new play is Porter Emerson Browne, who wrote "A Fool There Was" and "The Spendthrift." The heroine of "A Girl of To-Day" is a young woman who has been reared in luxury by her guardian. The latter dies suddenly; he has left no will. The girl is thus thrown on the mercy of her late guardian's kinsfolk, who are grasping and coveteous. The interest in the girl becomes cumulative for the plot is absolutely plausible and the play well written. Its love interest is sweet without being mawkishly so. "A Girl of To-Day" is a work that through the cleverness of its story reaches straight for the heart strings and takes a strong hold on them.

Mr. Frohman has surrounded Miss Murdock with a company of competent players, among whom are Eugene O'Brien, Frank Mills, Edwin Nicander, William Holden, William Eville, Eleanor Gordon, Belle Daube and Pauline Duffield.

During the stay of Miss Murdock at the Hollis the usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

AUTO TRUCK AND TROLLEY CRASH.

One man was painfully injured and nearly a score of men and women were shaken up when an electric car bound from Winchester to Arlington, was in collision with a heavy automobile truck, owned by the Asphalt Tar Company of Boston, and operated by H. Canfield of 14 Greenmount street, Dorchester on Mystic street, near Old Mystic street, Arlington, Monday afternoon.

James M. McGill, foreman for the asphalt company, was riding in the front seat of the automobile when the crash came. He was thrown heavily to the ground, and sustained a bad cut back of his left ear, besides numerous bruises. He was removed to the office of Dr. Edwin P. Stickney, where it required three stitches to close the wound. Later he went to his home. Canfield was able to stick to his seat and escaped with a bad shaking up. None of the passengers in the car, including a number of women and children, were injured, although there was considerable glass broken by the collision.

COULDN'T SEE THE JOKE.

Charles Sumner's Woeful Lack of a Sense of Humor.

It was a rainy afternoon, and Mr. Longfellow was obliged to go out, leaving Sumner stretched on the sofa reading Lowell's volume. When he returned he asked Sumner how he liked the poems, and Sumner replied, "They are admirable, very good indeed. But why does he spell his words so badly?" Longfellow said that he attempted to explain that the poems were purposely written in the New England dialect but Sumner could not understand.

One summer at Nahant I dined at Mr. Longfellow's with Mr. Sumner and some others. Sumner was a collector of china, about which he knew a great deal, as he did about many other things. He told us a story about going to see Lord Exmouth's collection and how fine it was. When he was taking his leave Lord Exmouth gave him two rare plates and offered to send them to his lodgings, but Sumner would not be parted from his prize and insisted on taking them home with him in his cab. When he had concluded his story, which was interesting, but long in narration, Tom Appleton, Mr. Longfellow's brother-in-law, who was present, said, "A pleasing tale, illustrated with two plates." Everybody laughed, and Sumner, looking about most good naturedly, said "What are you all laughing at? I suppose Appleton is up to some mischief, but my story is quite true." From "Some Early Memories," by Senator H. C. Lodge, in Scribner's Magazine.

Removing Paint Stains.

Paint is one of the most usual of the unavoidable stains which afflict the skirt worn out of doors. "Fresh paint" signs are all very well if they are seen in time, but they have an inconvenient way of appearing boldly before the eyes after damage has been done. The sooner a paint stain is removed the easier the task of removal will be. Spread a little dry [illegible] or corn starch around the spot to keep the paint when moistened from spreading. Then wet the stain with turpentine. After a few minutes moisten again. Scrape the paint up with a dull knife or a spoon handle and wet again with turpentine. When there is no trace left of the paint rub the spot dry with a clean cloth and brush off the starch. —Washington Star.

THE GAME OF WAR.

Some of the Things That Are Forbidden by Civilized Nations.

It is not generally [illegible] the game of war is [illegible] as many restrictions as a boxing contest under Queensberry rules. These regulations, which are under the [illegible] of all the civilized countries of the world, are designed to insure fair play for the combatants.

When it is intended to bombard a place due notice should be given, so that all women and children may be removed to a place of safety, and every care must be taken to spare churches and hospitals, as well as all charitable or educational buildings.

All chaplains, doctors and nurses are protected in every possible way and are not to be taken prisoners or in any way injured.

Any soldier robbing or mutilating an enemy is liable to be shot without trial, and death is the penalty for wounding or killing a disabled man.

The bodies of the enemy are to be carefully searched before burial, and any articles found on them which might lead to their identification are to be sent to the proper quarters.

Explosive bullets must not be used and quarter must be given to the enemy whether he asks for it or not. In an attack on the enemy there must be no concealment of the distinctive signs of the regiments, and the use of poisons for polluting drinking water is strictly forbidden.—London Answers.

THE "CITY OF HOMER."

Reminders of the Ancient Architectural Glory of Smyrna.

Architecturally Smyrna must have degenerated since the ancient days, for we are told that then the streets were broad and handsome, well paved and running at right angles with each other. There were a number of squares and porticoes and public libraries, a museum, a stadium in which Olympic games were celebrated with great enthusiasm, a grand music hall or Odeon, a Homerion and many temples of which the most famous was that of the Olympian Jupiter, in which the reigning emperor was practically the god worshiped.

The ancient Smyrniotes were inordinately proud of their city. They called it the "First of Asia," though the Ephesians violently disputed this claim. The inhabitants also called their city the "City of Homer," who they claimed had been born and brought up beside their sacred river Meles.

They put his image upon a coin, which they called a homerion, a name given to one of their temples. Enormous fragments yet remain showing what tremendous buildings once occupied the broad plateau on the summit of the acropolis, and as one rebuilds in imagination these wonderful piles he can easily forgive the Smyrniotes of old for their grandiloquent praise of their city and its beautiful crown.—Christian Herald.

The Only Safe Course.

There is a supreme court justice in New York city who is locally noted for his severity. If he can prevent it no guilty man shall escape, and in his court very few of them do.

Last fall a man was on trial before him for forgery. The prosecution, so it seemed to most of the spectators, failed to make out a very good case. Nevertheless the jury came in with a verdict of guilty.

Later the foreman of the jury was talking about the case with a friend who had heard some of the testimony.

"We weren't certain that we ought to convict either," said the foreman, in explanation, "but after listening to his honor's charge, all of us realized that if we acquitted that fellow we'd be guilty of contempt of court."—Saturday Evening Post.

Dangerous Dust.

Dust is more dangerous than draft. The dust of the house is more dangerous than the dust of the street. It is in dry, windy weather that colds, influenza, bronchitis, tonsilitis and consumption are caught. For every speck of dust is an aeroplane with an army of disease germs as passengers. Sunlight destroys them; they thrive in darkness. The broom and duster of the housewife stir them up from their breeding places in dark recesses, and the open windows of the dusting hour blow them all about the house.—New York World.

Testing.

"Why do you put your finger on that paint? Don't you see the sign 'Fresh Paint'?"

"Yes," replied the man with eccentric ideas. "But I can't keep from testing it and thinking what a convenience it would be if fresh eggs could be tested the same way."—Washington Star.

MAKIN' AN EDITOR OUT OF HIM.

"Good mornin', sir' Mr. Printer, how is your body today?
I'm glad you're to home, for you fellers is al'ays a runnin' away.
Your paper last week wa'n't so spicy nor sharp as the one week before;
But I s'pose when the campaign is opened you'll be whoopin' it up to 'em more.
That feller that's printin' The Smasher is goin' for you perty smart,
And our folks said this mornin' at breakfast they thought he was getting the start;
But I hushed 'em right up in a minute and said a good word for you,
I told 'em I b'lieved you was tryin' to do just as well as you knew,
And I told 'em that some one was sayin', and whoever 'twas it is so,
That you can't expect much of no one man, nor blame him for what he don't know.
But, layin' aside pleasure for business, I've brought you my little boy Jim,
And I thought I would see if you couldn't make an editor out o' him.

"My family stock is increasin', while other folks seem to run short,
I've got a right smart of a family—it's one of the old-fashioned sort.
There's Ichabod, Isaac and Israel, a workin' away on the farm,
They do about as much as one good boy and make things go off like a charm.
There's Moses and Aaron are sly ones, and slip like a couple of eels,
But they're tol'able steady in one thing—they al'ays get 'round to their meals.
There's Peter is busy inventin' (though what he invents I can't see),
And Joseph is studyin' medicine—and both of 'em boardin' with me.
There's Abram and Albert is married, each workin' my farm for himself.
And Sam smashed his nose at a shootin', and so he is laid on the shelf.
The rest of the boys are all growin' 'cept this little runt, which is Jim,
And I thought that perhaps I'd be makin' an editor out o' him.

"He ain't no great shakes for to labor, though I've labored with him a good deal,
And give him some strappin' good arguments I know he couldn't help but to feel;
But he's built out of second growth timber, and nothin' about him is big,
Exceptin' his appetite only, and there he's as good as a pig.
I keep him carryin' luncheons and fillin' and bringin' the jugs,
And take him among the potatoes and set him to pickin' the bugs;
And then there's things to be doin' a helpin' the women indoors,
There's churnin' and washin' of dishes, and other descriptions of chores;
But he don't take to nothin' but victuals, and he'll never be much, I'm afraid,
So I thought it would be a good notion to larn him the editor's trade.
His body's too small for a farmer, his judgment is rather too slim,
But I thought we perhaps could be makin' an editor out o' him.

"It ain't much to get up a paper; it wouldn't take him long for to learn;
He could feed the machine, I'm thinkin', with a good strappin' fellow to turn;
And things that was once hard in doin' is easy enough now to do;
Just keep your eyes on your machinery, and crack your arrangements right through.
I used for to wonder at readin', and where it was got up, and how;
But 'tis most of it made by machinery—I can see it all plain enough now.
And poetry, too, is constructed by machines of different designs,
Each one with gage and a chopper to see to the length of the lines;
And I hear a New York clairvoyant is runnin' one sleeker than grease,
And a rentin' her Heaven-born productions at a couple of dollars apiece;
An' since the whole trade has growed easy, 'twould be easy enough, I've a whim,
If you was agreed, to be makin' an editor out o' Jim."

The editor sat in his sanctum and looked the old man in the eye,
Then glanced at the grinning young hopeful and mournfully made his reply:
"Is your son a small unbound edition of Moses and Solomon both?
Can he compass his spirit with meekness, and strangle a natural oath?
Can he leave all his wrongs to the future, and carry his heart in his cheek?
Can he do an hour's work in a minute, and live on sixpence a week?
Can he courteously talk to an equal, and browbeat an impudent dunce?
Can he keep things in apple-pie order, and do half a dozen at once?
Can he press all the springs of knowledge with quick and reliable touch,
And be sure that he knows how much to know, and knows how to not know too much?
Does he know how to spur up his virtue, and put a checkrein on his pride?
Can he carry a gentleman's manners within a rhinoceros' hide?
Can he know all, and do all, and be all, with cheerfulness, courage and vim?
If so, we perhaps can be 'makin' an editor out o' him.'"

The farmer stood curiously listening, while wonder his visage o'erspread,
And he said: "Jim, I guess we'll be goin', he's probably out of his head."

R. K. H., Southbridge, Mass.

"THE LILAC DOMINO" AT THE MAJESTIC.

A musical and social event of the first magnitude, is the current limited engagement at the Majestic Theatre in Boston, of the Andreas Dippel Opera Company, composed of many of the foremost grand and light opera singers of this country, in an elaborate production of "The Lilac Domino" the famous opera by Charles Cuvillier and the English adaptation and lyrics by Harry B. Smith and Robert B. Smith, which has been acknowledged and recognized as a light opera masterpiece.

The Andreas Dippel Opera Company was brought into existence in order to revive the glories of opera comique and restore to the American stage a style of entertainment, which in these days of song and dance, had almost disappeared from view.

The remarkable cast of grand and light opera singers include Eleanor Painter, Wilfred Douthitt, Rene Detling, Jeanne Maubourg, Ethel Pettit, George Curzon, James Harrod, John E. Hazzard, Robert O'Connor, Harry Hermsen, Anita Andrews, Marie Hamilton, Christie D'Allott, Lyn Geraldson, Gertrude Crosberg, Jane E. Miller, Julia Cahill, Leicester Parker, Maxwell Olney, together with a symphony orchestra of thirty pieces and a chorus of fifty voices.

Orchestra seats $2.00 and $1.50, balcony $1.50, $1.00 and 75 cents, second balcony 50 cents. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given throughout the engagement.

CORT THEATRE.

It is seldom the dramatic critics of Boston agree unanimously in their verdict of the merits of a play, but, in the case of "Nearly Married," a farce by Edgar Selwyn, in which Richard Bennett comes to Boston as a star for an indefinite run at the Cort Theatre, there was not a dissenting voice—or pen—in publishing the enjoyment offered in this laugh-provoking series of complications that attend the elopement of a man with his own wife.

That's what the story of the play is about, and, while the characters in the play are extremely serious in their working out of the plot the audience is kept in constant roars of laughter throughout the three acts.

Here are a few of the things said about "Nearly Married" by the Boston critics: Edward H. Crosby wrote in the Post that it is a "roaring farce" and a "busy little scream"; Charles W Howard, in the Globe, called it a "quick-moving succession of hilarious complications"; E. F. Harkins, of the Journal, names it a "two-hour laugh-fest"; in the Herald Philip Hale declared the "spectators laughed constantly and heartily."

There are few young married couples who have not at some time found that they have become entangled in quarrels through the interference of relatives, and therein lies the interest in "Nearly Married." Edgar Selwyn, the author, has written bright lines and conceived funny situations, and Selwyn & Co., the producers, have given to Boston a worthy successor to the three former successes they sent here, "The Country Boy," "Within the Law" and "Under Cover."

PAVLOWA AT THE BOSTON THEATRE.

The former visits of Mlle. Anna Pavlowa and her Russian ballet organization to Boston have meet with such great success, and her following there has increased to such an extent that instead of remaining there for only one or two performances, as she has done in the past, she will tarry there for an entire week of eight performances, beginning Monday night, March 1st, at the Boston Theatre. This will be the longest ballet season Boston has ever had.

A most varied and attractive repertoire will be presented at the Boston Theatre, including ballets produced in America for the first time this season. Two of these, "Seven Daughters of the Ghost King" and "Flora's Awakening," are of the futuristic school now in great vogue in Russia and Germany, and both of a type new to this country. Two others, "Amarilla" and "Raymonda," are highly dramatic works, depicting well defined and romantic stories. "Walpurgis Night" is a part of Gounod's opera, "Faust," but is seldom given in performances of that opera, and is hence an attractive novelty. "Puppen-Fee" ("The Fairy Doll"), with its quaint toy shop, mechanical dolls and other ingenious conceptions, adds humor and vivacity to the list. "Chopiniana" is a pure example of classic ballet, arranged by Mlle. Pavlowa and her ballet master, M. Clustine, to music selected from Chopin. The Modern Ballroom Soiree displays the ballroom dances of today as standardized by these artists. Besides this list of ballets, a repertoire of sixty-five divertissements will be presented during the week. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday and the prices for all performances wil be 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The ticket sellers are still working in shifts in the box office of the Castle Square Theatre, where "Common Clay" began the seventh week of its phenomenal run last Monday night.

"Common Clay" has been a compound success. Mr. Kinkead's play has awakened a tremendous serious discussion, but the players have come in for their share of the praise. Miss Mary Young, indeed, is so far responsible for the success of the play that it is doubtful whether the role of Ellen Neal in less capable hands could have aroused the sympathy Mr. Kinkead demands for his heroine. "Common Clay" is proving a winner, but it has deserved every bit of the public approbation which it has received.

The Planet Mars.

As to the habitability of Mars, the planet popularly regarded as offering the nearest approach to a duplication of earthly conditions, E. Walter Maunder, F. R. A. S., in "Are the Planets Inhabited?" is uncompromisingly negative. A consideration of the Martian temperature and atmosphere leads him to this conclusion:

"What we know of Mars shows us a planet icebound every night, but with a day temperature somewhat above freezing point. As we see it, we look upon its warmest regions, and the rapidity with which it is cleared of ice, snow and cloud shows the atmosphere to be rare and the moisture little in amount and readily evaporated. These seas are probably shallow depressions filled with ice to the bottom, but melted as to their surfaces by day. From the variety of tints noted in the seas and the recurrent changes in their outlines, they are composed of congeries of shallow pools, fed by small, sluggish streams. Great ocean basins into which great rivers discharge themselves are quite unknown."

Had Planted a Quincunx.

The gardening season had opened, and in the train the usual boastful garden talk was in progress. "Have you got a quincunx in your garden?" asked the quiet man in the corner. There was a dead pause. "A quercus, you mean?" suggested the botanist, politely. "No, a quincunx." "Ah, they're no good here," said the next man, confidently; "won't bloom in this soil, you'll find."

"I'm surprised you haven't got one," said the quiet man. "It was the first thing I planted after I laid out my garden—been quite a success with me." "How do you spell the name?" asked a novice (only three months married), respectfully, determined to look up the catalogues at once. But it was the common, not garden, dictionary that enlightened him. There (says the Manchester Guardian) he learned that a quincunx is an arrangement of five trees or plants, one at each of four corners and one in the middle. Next morning all the talk was of golf handicaps.

"Thirteen" Pursued Him.

When the misfortunes of Gustaf Adolf IV. of Sweden were on him the king pointed out to the queen how the number thirteen had influenced his life.

"Even the name Gustaf Adolf IV. is thirteen letters. * * * I am the thirteenth king of Sweden from the time of Gustavus Wasa. At the age of thirteen I became king, and I reigned thirteen years after attaining my majority. I was made a prisoner on the 13th of March. It is now twenty-two times thirteen since Gustavus Wasa was elected king of Sweden in 1523, and seventeen times thirteen years since the death of Charles XII. in 1718; these added together produce the number 1809, the current year. * * * If you transpose the numbers one and three, which stand for thirteen, they make thirty one, which is precisely my age now."

Curiously enough, he died in room No. 13 at the Weisse Rossli, St. Gallen—the date, Feb. 7, 1836.—"An Exiled King."

High Price For Straightness.

One of the most difficult problems in practical mechanics is to make a straight edge. How difficult it is may be judged from an incident that occurred in the shop of a celebrated astronomical instrument maker.

A patron asked what would be the price of "a perfect straight edge of glass thirty-six inches long."

"It cannot be made perfect," said the instrument maker, "but it could probably be made with a limit of error amounting to only a fraction of a wave length of light."

"How much would that cost?"

"About $10,000."

It turned out that the customer wanted the straight edge for a scraper and that an error of one sixty-fourth of an inch would not bother him.—St. Louis Republic.

The Water Vine.

Containing a quart of clear, pure water to every foot, the water vine, a black, snake-like, leafless stem, dropping from the ceiba and mahogany trees to which it has climbed, is one of the wonders of the Guatemala jungle. When the stem is cut the water spurts forth in a refreshing stream. Moisture is drawn up from the soil and filtered through the pores of the plant.

Must Be High Class.

"You have a beautiful manor house, but you ought to have a little village for the peasantry as we do in England. It adds to the landscape."

"All right," said the multimillionaire, "but it must be a restricted affair. No peasant admitted earning less than $5,000 a year."—Kansas City Journal.

His Misfortune.

"You have no one to blame but yourself for your unlucky business ventures," said the stern parent. "I advised you to look before you leaped."

"I did look, dad," explained the repentant son, "and I didn't leap. I got dizzy and fell."—Buffalo Express.

An Awful Threat.

Father—You have no sense. I'm going to cut you off with a million. The Son—If you do I'll disgrace the family by riding around in a second hand auto.—New York Globe.

A Starter.

Jack Makett—How can we marry? I'm only worth $15,000, and that wouldn't buy your clothes. May Spendit—Oh, yes, it would, Jack, for nearly five years!—Puck.

Horse Sense.

When a collar hurts, the average horse winces upon being asked to throw his weight into the collar. Later he becomes what we foolishly call balky perhaps, and finally he fights like an army mule when some one tries to put a collar on him. That's knowing something!

I am personally acquainted with a horse which simply hates a certain blacksmith who once upon a time nailed a bad fitting pair of shoes to his feet and inflicted sore feet upon this horse for all time to come.

There are men in this world of ours cruel enough to fasten a horse with a heavy rope in a stall and then beat the horse with a chain. But such men have "bad luck," for forever afterward if the horse which has received this sort of discipline hears a chain rattle he will bolt in terror, whether hitched to a mowing machine, a carriage with children in it or a heavy wagon loaded with produce. This is either horse sense or horse revenge.—Farm and Fireside.

Place Names In Russia.

The Russian has not applied his names without reason. In 1858, when he founded the capital of the Amoor province, he named it Blagoveschchensk. This means "good news"—to all save the proofreaders in the newspaper offices. Three years later he founded the capital of Primorskaya and gave it a name that plainly showed what it was intended to be—Vladivostok, "ruler of the east." Near the end of his great transcontinental railway he made a brand new city and called it Dalny, "farthest," a very appropriate name for a place 5,800 miles from the starting point of the road. A petty clan of the Suchan family, springing from the narrow, beautiful, but savage glens southwest of Changbaishan, founded the Manchu dynasty, which for more than 200 years ruled China. They took the dynastic name of Manju, or Manchu, in their own language meaning "clear." To this the Europeans have added a termination, and we have Manchuria, the "country of the Manchus."—London Answers.

His Shaky Memory.

The lawyers got a tartar when, in a recent trial in a southern city, they summoned to the stand an aged darky who had been an eyewitness of a fight that had occurred between a number of persons.

"Tell us what you know about this fight," said counsel when old Mose had been placed upon the stand.

"Fight?" asked Mose, apparently greatly surprised. "What fight?"

"You know very well what fight is meant," said counsel. "Tell us about it."

"I don't know nothin' about no fight," insisted the witness. "When was it?"

"See here, Moses," exclaimed the lawyer; "no trifling—the fight day before yesterday. You know all about it. Tell us"—

"Oh, de fight day befo' yisterday," said Mose. "Well, suh, you see, I's slept since de day befo' yisterday, and I never kin rickollect anything after I's been asleep."

And that was all they could get from him.—Green Bag.

Blind Dogs and Rats.

Canines born blind or Towsers that become blind by accident are able to smell and paw their way into the most inaccessible and out of the way places. It is practically impossible to starve them, lose them or trap them. Furthermore, blind dogs learn stunts just as quickly as those that see. Loss of sight in no way interferes with their ability to learn tricks, acquire habits or find their bed.

Rats, as a matter of fact, if they use their eyes at all—a doubtful matter—can see little or nothing of the world. The retina of these creatures has no point of perfect vision such as is found in the higher animals and man; hence their noses, muscles, touch and hearing give them information about the world they live in.—New York Press.

Gave Himself Away.

A little girl was weeping bitterly in the street, and a benevolent old gentleman, patting her on the shoulder, inquired what was the matter. "I've lost a penny, sir," the child sobbed. The old gentleman promptly handed her a penny. She looked at him askance for a few seconds and then said in a tone more of sorrow than of anger: "Oh, you wicked old man! So 'ou had it all the time!"—London Tatler.

His Opinion of War.

"What is your opinion of war?"

"War," replied the old fellow, "is a bad investment.

"The poor man goes out to fight and then, if he doesn't get killed, he has to come home and help pay the debts."—Detroit Free Press.

Mighty Texas.

Texas is so big that if it swung around in a circle over the United States it would touch the great lakes to the northward, to the east would reach the Atlantic, westward the Pacific and southward the Caribbean sea.—Cassier's Magazine.

A Popular Recreation.

"Where are you going, Sandy?" said one Scotchman to another. "Doon to the club," said Sandy. "And wha foor?" "Just to contradeect a wee bit."

Executive Ability.

Little James—Father, what is executive ability? His Father—The faculty of earning your bread by the sweat of other people's brows, my son.

Philosophy is a good horse in the stable, but an arrant jade on a journey.—Goldsmith.

Where Do the Watches Go?

What becomes of the watches? The average man does not buy more than about two or three watches in the course of his whole life, and yet the manufacturers keep on making new watches by the hundred thousands. Who buys them all? No statistics can answer the question. What becomes of the old watches? What did you do with the one you discarded when you got your present watch? Where is it now? It was a silver watch and it kept good time for years that old watch, that predecessor of the gold one that you now possess. You had a strong affection for it. You called it "she," and sometimes in the solitude of your room you may have caught yourself saying a word or two to it aloud. The watch certainly talked to you in the middle of the night. Heine's watch conjugated Hebrew by the hour. The old watch had a kind of a ringing tick like a riveting machine, and you could hear it clear through the pillow. It has sung you to sleep more than once. But let's see what in heaven's name became of it?—New York Mail.

Helping a Brother.

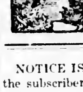

Suddenly the man with the chin beard, who was eating his luncheon in a restaurant, reached across the table, touched the button in the lapel of the coat worn by the man directly opposite him and gave him the grip of the secret order to which they both belonged.

"Brother," he said, "I see you're in need, and to live up to my sworn duty I am compelled to"—

"In need!" interrupted the other in wide eyed astonishment. "In need of what?"

"Of somebody to tell you that a knife is not the proper implement to use when you are eating corned beef hash."

By prompt action half a dozen waiters quelled the disturbance that began immediately, but they were too late to prevent the destruction of about $10 worth of tableware.—Cleveland News.

TOWN MEETING.

First Session Indicated Long Drawn Out Series.

The annual Town Meeting for 1915 opened on Monday night, the newly elected Moderator, Frederick M. Ives, who has so acceptably filled the position during recent years, in the chair. There was a big attendance, the meeting being the largest for several recent sessions, and it was necessary to place chairs in the small hall to accommodate all of the voters. The balconies were filled to their capacity with ladies and their escorts, besides numerous coming male voters.

The meeting was opened shortly after 7.45, Moderator Ives announcing that as the rules governing the meeting were now a law it would not be necessary to consider that question. He also read the chapter containing the provision requiring seven doubters for the questionable votes and stated that although voters addressed their remarks to the chair they could always face the meeting and by so doing would give clearness to their discussion.

The results of the town election were read under Article 2 and the newly elected officers were sworn in.

With the opening of the actual material for discussion, discussion began in earnest, and it was not until 9.15 that the first article under the appropriations, that of schools, was reached. In a general way this discussion was an attempt to devise some means to cut the appropriations or substitute bond issues in order that the estimated tax rate of from $19.22 to $19.75 might be reduced to a reasonable figure of $17 to $18.

From a general estimate of the meeting it would appear that the citizens are in a majority who desire to keep the estimated rate down, and it looks as though the appropriations will be cut all along the line, besides substituting bond issues for direct payment in such instances as are deemed advisable by the financial heads. That the majority of the voters are in favor of retrenchment was amply evident, and although there were some who believed that the higher rate was advisable, the meeting gave decided indications that the low rate was wanted, either by one method or another.

With the taking up of Article 3 the report of the Finance Committee came up for discussion, it being thought that a substitute report would be offered containing suggestions for a smaller total appropriation. There appeared to be some mistake in this supposition. Chairman Robert B. Metcalf of the Finance Committee, after the report had been received and laid on the table, and the move to raise a total of $44,000 for revenue under Article 4 was dropped, asked permission to make a statement before the meeting considered the appropriations. Mr. Metcalf in substance stated that his committee stood by its report and defended its action vigorously. He did, however, offer in behalf of the committee a substitute plan without cutting the appropriations which would reduce the rate this year by issuing bonds in place of direct taxation, citing such appropriations as could in its opinion be bonded. He requested that the meeting give its expression as to which method it desired before taking the appropriations up.

It appeared that there were many, if not the majority, who did not favor either plan presented. Mr. Lewis Parkhurst offered a substitute motion on the No. 2, or bond plan, which called for a tax rate of $17, not to exceed $18, and in speaking gave his opinion as favoring both a cut in appropriations and the bonding of some appropriations. When questioned how this scheme could be carried out, Mr. Parkhurst replied to Mr. Maurice F. Brown, that he thought he could and that he would give the information when the time came.

Mr. Alfred S. Hall did not favor a plan arrangement and offered a substitute motion to take up the appropriations in order. The discussion continued until 9.15, Messrs. John H.

CALUMET DINNER.

Judge Littlefield Given Handsome Testimonial by Fellow Members.

The Calumet Club held its annual dinner for 1915 on Saturday night, one hundred and fifty-five members sitting down to the repast in the club hall and enjoying one of the best yet of these memorable occasions held yearly by the organization. For many years the Calumet dinners have held first honors for the culinary festivities of any of Winchester's organizations, for its satisfying menu and its enjoyable and interesting entertainment.

JUDGE GEORGE S. LITTLEFIELD.
Presented with Handsome Gift by Fellow Members of Calumet Club.

The feature of the affair was the presentation to Judge Littlefield (George S. Littlefield, Esq.) of a handsome chime clock as a token of appreciation of his service, untiring devotion and genial attention to the Club and its members. The presentation, which was made by Mr. Charles A. Baldwin, himself one of the charter members of the club and a true sportsman, came at the conclusion of the menu, and although Judge Littlefield had a suspicion that he was to be prominent at the affair in some capacity, he was the most surprised man in the hall when the hand-some gift was presented him.

Judge Littlefield is well known throughout this section as the dean of bowling, having been associated with the game for many years, and is still fond of the sport as in his youth. He is a charter member of the Calumet Club and is a past president, serving when the organization went under the name of the Winchester Young Men's Association. He has held many important offices in the club, notably in connection with the bowling.

President Charles S. Tenney acted as toastmaster of the evening. During the dinner selections were given by a ladies' orchestra and solos sung by a soprano. The entertainment consisted of a vaudeville show which included some of the best numbers seen at the Club this winter.

The hall was attractively decorated for the affair with red, white and blue bunting, the stage being set at the north end with the tables forming a square in front. Mr. George E. Willey, chairman of the entertainment committee at the Club this winter, had full charge of the dinner, and to his efforts, seconded by President Tenney, the success of the evening was due.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

The next meeting of The Fortnightly will be on Monday afternoon, March 8. During the business meeting, which will begin at 2.30, action will be taken on the proposed change in the Constitution,—printed notice of which was sent to each member in January.

At 2.50, the club drama will be given. The play is "The Twig of Thorn" by Marie Josephine Warren. It is an Irish play supposed to be taking place in the year of the great famine (about 1840) and deals with the old legends and superstitions of the country people of Ireland.

The attention of those holding "Waiting List Tickets" is called to the fact that said tickets are good for only two more programs, those of March 8th and March 22nd.

The first of the series of demonstration lectures by Mrs. Harriet L. Darling, under the direction of the Home Economics Committee, will be held on Tuesday, March 16th, at two-thirty in the Small Town Hall.

On March 11 at 3 p. m. in High School Library. The Art Committee have arranged for a talk on household Art. "Making the Best of What We Have." Mrs. Henry M. Chamberlain will tell us how, and will bring illustrative material. A large attendance is desired. A good talk is assured, free to club members.

The first of the demonstration lectures given by Mrs. Harriet L. B. Darling will be held in the small Town Hall on Tuesday at 2.30 o'clock. Subject for the afternoon "A Simple Luncheon". Printed copies on sale at a small price. Tickets for the course of four lectures, one dollar, single admission, thirty-five cents. Members and non-members of the Fortnightly are invited to attend.

WINCHESTER GRANGE.

The Winchester Grange will hold its regular meeting at Lyceum Hall, March 9th at 8 o'clock. The Lecture hour will be open at 8.30 when "Pa's New Housekeeper" will be presented by the Everett Grange.

WINCHESTER QUARANTINED.

Hoof and Mouth Disease Found in This Section.

Notice received by the Selectmen yesterday places this town under a strict quarantine to prevent the spread of the much dreaded hoof and mouth disease among animals. The notice, which has been given prominence by the police and other departments, is as follows:—

DEPARTMENT OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY
State House, Boston.
Mar. 2, 1915.

To the Selectmen,
Town of Winchester, Mass.
Gentlemen:

Owing to the fact that several new outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease have occurred in the immediate vicinity of your town I deem it necessary, as a precautionary measure, to place your town under strict quarantine. No cattle, sheep or swine must be allowed on the highway without a permit issued from or by an agent of this department.

Very truly yours,
LESTER H. HOWARD,
Commissioner.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

Mr. Metcalf's sermon Sunday morning will be on the subject of "Wounds in the House of Friends."

Last Sunday when Mr. Metcalf visited his old parish in Taunton not only was he welcomed by a very large congregation but the Knights of King Arthur, an organization started by him, came to church in full regalia. Their flying banners, costumes and decorated shields of their own making made a most impressive sight.

The flowers at the church on the first of February were given by Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst in memory of her mother and those on February 28 in memory of her son. The flowers on February 14 were given by Mrs. W B. French in memory of her husband. This is a most beautiful and appropriate custom.

"The joys we had are but forcast
And we shall find them all once more
We look behind us in the past
But lo! They are before."

No gentleman of the parish should fail to attend the Annual Dinner on March 15th. Peter MacQueen, who was Leslies Weekly's war correspondent, will give a thrilling account of his experiences at the front in France and Belgium.

Tickets may be had of any of the Committee consisting of Mr. Herbert E. Stone, A. T. Hunnewell, Wallace F. Flanders and Fred E. Hollins.

The music committee has been so fortunate as to ' e able to engage the services of Bernice Fisher for a Musical Vesper Service on April 11th. Miss Fisher has been a soloist of the Boston Opera Company until last year and has sung once before in Winchester.

LADIES' FRIENDLY.

On Thursday evening, February 25, the Ladies' Friendly Society had a very successful supper in Metcalf Hall. Mrs. Irving L. Symmes was chairman of the committee which consisted of Mrs. George Goddu, Mrs. Fred A. Preston, Mrs. Charles E. Barrett, Mrs. Fred H. Farnum, Mrs. George Apsey, Mrs. J. T. Clark, Mrs. Arthur Dow, Mrs. H. E. Stone, Mrs. Frank Russell, Mrs. George Pasteline, Miss Elizabeth Stevens, Miss Anna Symmes, Mrs. M. E. Abbot, Mrs. A. L. Jewett, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth.

After the supper, "Dr. Baxter's Great Invention" received great applause for the clever way in which it was given. Those in the cast were Mrs. George H. Root, Mrs. O. C. Lane, Miss Alice Mason, Mr. G. Fred Wingate, Mr. D. Norris and Mr. Howard Snelling.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Friendly will be on Tuesday, March 9. Meeting of Executive Committee at 11.30 a. m. Luncheon at 1 p. m. Mrs. William R. Marshall, Chairman of Luncheon Committee. After the business meeting, Mrs. Roger S. Forbes of Dorchester will speak on "Those Inside and Those Outside of the Parish."

MORELAND CONTESTS ELECTION

Recount Asked Between Himself and Mr. Hayward.

A petition for a recount of the ballots for William E. Moreland and George B. Hayward cast at the recent election was filed with the Town Clerk yesterday by Mr. P. E. Fitzgerald. The contested office is for a member of the board of Selectmen.

March 3, 1915.

We, the undersigned voters of the Town of Winchester State of Massachusetts, petition for a recount of the votes cast at the Town Election on March 1, 1915, beween George B. Hayward and William E. Moreland for the office of Selectmen.

We have reasons to believe that there were certain votes counted for George B. Hayward that should have been counted for William E. Moreland and for the above reasons and others we respectively request a recount of said votes, for the office of Selectmen.

Signed:
Patrick E. Fitzgerald, Frederick C. Noonan, Thomas A. Kelley, John P. Leonard, John F. Holland, James H. O'Connor, Joseph O. Conlon, Martin McHugh, Henry P. McHugh, Thos. J. McGuinity, George P. Glendon, George F. Lynch, Edward J. McManus, John D. Sullivan, Luke P. Glendon, John F. Blackburn.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEETING.

Members of the Anti-suffrage Society met in large numbers with Mrs. Magd at her home on Church street, Wednesday afternoon, March 3. Report of the last meeting read and accepted. The chairman called attention to the Friday afternoon teas given at the rooms of the State Anti-suffrage Association, Kensington Building, 6 Beacon street, Boston. Next Friday, March 5, the tea will be in charge of Radcliffe students, and on Friday, March 12, Mrs. A. J. George will speak. The teas are at 4 p. m.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. B. L. Robinson of Cambridge. Mrs. Robinson said in part:

My reasons for opposing the forcing of suffrage upon a majority of women who do not consider it a duty nor regard it as a privilege are these:

1. It is demanded by a minority of women only.

2. Women without the ballot can appeal to a Governor, Committee or party in any matter of reform, education of charity because they stand for no political party and have no ulterior motive. To give them the ballot is to narrow their influence to one party.

3. Political Equality would deprive women of privileges at present accorded them by laws both written and unwritten.

4. Suffrage is not a question of right but of expediency.

5. The English suffragettes have shown that political struggle and excitement may degrade even educated and clever women.

6. I believe that woman is in no sense inferior to man, but that her powers are different and that they are best developed in a different kind of work and usefulness.

7. The claim that woman will uplift and purify politics has not been supported by facts.

Mrs. Robinson quoted a recent speech by Judge Lindsey of Denver in which he said: "Where is our adult probation law? We are in suffrage state, Massachusetts is not, but they have an adult probation law. Where is our home-finding society? We have suffrage, but our dependent children in this state are put in homes for dependent children instead of being given the right of family ties. We are twenty years behind Massachusetts in spite of suffrage." We in Massachusetts think it is because of suffrage.

SITE SELECTED.

Post Office on Laraway Property to Face Playground.

It is reported on excellent authority that a recommendation has been forwarded to Washington, which will be accepted, that the property at the corner of Thompson street and Waterfield road be taken by the Government for a Post Office Site for the new Federal building in Winchester.

The property is that owned by Mr. Jonas Laraway. It faces Waterfield road, running to the river, and extends down Thompson street for a distance of 125 feet, taking a portion as far as Purrington place. This property will be cleared of present buildings, those on the south side of Purrington place and that at the end of this place, being included.

It is reported that the Government has been disposed to favor in every way the Town's site, but owing to certain restrictions which could not be met, it was unable to approve the site. In the site recommended it is felt that the Town's request will be met in a manner to give satisfaction.

A verification of the acceptance of the site recommended is expected within a few days.

In placing the building on this site it is reported that it will face Manchester Field.

Smile Right.

When in doubt—smile. It is a safe play at almost any stage of life's game. But be sure it's the right kind of a smile—not the fawning smile, not the smile of fear which is better described as a grin, but the smile which says that the world is a pretty good sort of a place if you don't take it too seriously—the smile that says: "Come on in, the joke's a good one."—Pictorial Review

Easy Way Out of It.

"We know a stenographer," says the Peoria Journal, "who refuses to write letters on pale blue stationery because it doesn't agree with her complexion." In that case, if she is a valuable stenographer, it would be a simple matter for the firm to go to the drug store and buy her a complexion to match the paper.—Toledo Blade.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

What do you suppose causes a person to say he is doing the best he can when deep down in his heart he knows he is not; and the individual criticising him knows it, too? People here in Winchester and elsewhere are few who are bent upon doing the best they can. It would be hard for some of these best-I-can folks to do much worse. We ought all to be doing the best we can in thought and action—in play and prayer. There is depth and breadth to the best-we-can. It takes perception and resolution and persistance to come up to such a standard. The best we can spells purpose, and purpose knows no zig-zagging. Young says: "The purpose firm is equal to the deed—who does the best his circumstance allows does well, acts nobly; angels could do no more." Most people who think they are doing the best they can, feebly sense their own power. To do the best we can we must know what we design to do and apply to it all our skill of mind and hand.

Some time ago The Spectator had something to say regarding cultivation of the habit of cheerfulness. In one of the exchanges reaching his desk The Spectator finds a very excellent article from the pen of 'Owen Sweet Marden'. This article is so fine and bound to do so much good that The Spectator is going to reproduce here the following excerpts:—

"A woman in California, who, because of crushing sorrow, had fallen a victim to despondency, insomnia and kindred ills, determined to throw off the gloom which was making life so heavy a burden to her, and established a rule that she would laugh at least three times a day, whether occasion presented or not. Accordingly, she trained herself to laugh heartily at the least provocation, and would retire to her room and make merry by herself. She was soon in excellent health and buoyant spirits, and her home became a sunny, cheerful abode.

"To people who have lost the laughing habit I would say: Lock yourself in your room and practice smiling. Smile at your pictures, furniture, looking glass, anything, just so the stiff muscles are brought into play again.

"In order to become normal, the natural fun-loving forces within us must be released. Laughter is one form of exercise which sets them free, rescues men from the "blues."

"Somewhere I have read of a man whose "laughing muscles" were so paralyzed that his laughter sounded like a voice from the tombs. American life is so serious that many men lose their power to laugh. They can force a little sepulchral chuckle, but the genuine side-shaking aughter is almost a stranger to their experience. They are in such a serious chase after the dollar, their life is so strenuous, so given to scheming and planning, that they do not have much time to laugh. They do not know the medicinal value there is in the habit of laughter, how it clears the cobwebs out of the brain, disposes of the pangs of worry and anxiety and business pressure, takes the mind off the grind of things, removes friction, and helps to make life worth while.

"You may not be able to cultivate the optimistic temperament to any great extent, if you lack it, but cheerfulness can be cultivated. We all know that if we brood over our sorrows, and dwell upon our misfortunes, our physical being very quickly sympathizes with our moods.

"Talk happiness. The world is sad enough without your woe."

Libraries have come by inheritance, scholars have earned their's at the price of rigid economy, newspapers have received their miscellaneous assortment of books, but Winchester can boast of a most singular collection. A certain gentleman began about twenty years ago to attend the sales of deceased men's properties. He made and adhered to the following resolution, never to bid more than one cent on a volume. It would be a startling revelation to you to see what excellent volumes he got at that low figure. Even if he wanted a book the five or ten cent offer never provoked him to raise his bid. Many a time a volume was offered in vain, when the cry, "One cent" rang in the ear of the auctioneer, and the hammer fell.

Recently The Spectator had the pleasure of a trolley ride from Winchester to Lowell with a townsman who came from Denmark. "I wonder," said the Danish gentleman, "What is the charm of a language for this or that subject. When Tolstoi was the sensation I read his books in English, and could understand them, but they had not the force they revealed when I read them in Danish. Scott's novels strike me just the other way—I've tried them in Danish, but they have not the power they had as he wrote them. Carl Schurz observed as he grew old that philosophy always seemed to him at its best in German, narrative in English."

Too many people treat religion as if it were a treasure to be hid—to be kept in a jewel box and locked up in a safe. They do not seem to realize that it is a fine garment to clothe their spiritual selves with. It would be well if they sensed that any religion which is not made a part of every day life and that cannot be daily applied to business transactions is counterfeit. Religion is not filigree or froth, but assurance and security; its purpose is not to keep people from eternal punishment but to teach people the practical value and power of gentleness and love—to lessen misery and increase mirth on earth. The best expression of joy is laughter if laughter does give expression at times to decision. "Laugh and the world laughs with you—weep and you weep alone" shows gladness is after all something of a contagion. It has been said of the the Japanese that their religion is so practical that it is lost to strangers in their every-day life. The altar in the meeting house is not the real thing but the altar in the home. The value of religion lies in its effect upon the human heart not in its artistic symbology.

SPECIAL BOWLING.

Tournaments for Ladies and Gentlemen Close at Calumet.

Two special bowling tournaments closed at the Calumet Club on Saturday, one for the ladies, which has extended through the two months past, and one for the gentlemen, which has been running through February.

The ladies' tournament has been largely contested by most of the feminine bowlers during the two months it has been running and some very good scores were made. The first prize went to Mrs. Phillips C. Simonds. This was for the best selected single string total with handicap. Mrs. Simonds rolled 109 flat, which, with her handicap of 4 pins, gave her a total of 113.

The second prize was won by Mrs. Walter S. Wadsworth. This was for the best selected three strings with handicap. Mrs. Wadsworth rolled a total of 289 for her best three, and her handicap of 69 pins, this gave her a grand total of 358.

The gentlemen's bowling furnished four prizes, the first being for the best selected single string, flat rolling. This was won by Marshall K. Berry with 145.

The second prize was for the highest single with handicap. This was won by George F.Purrington with 141 and 8, making 149.

The third prize was for the best selected five strings, flat rolling. Dr. E. Russell Murphy was the winner with 568.

John W. Johnson took the fourth prize, which was for the best selected five strings with handicap. Mr. Johnson rolled 565, which with his handicap of 105, gave him 607.

BOY RAN INTO AUTO.

Allen McElhiney, the young son of Mr. Oscar B. McElhiney of Elmwood avenue, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Tuesday morning when he ran into a touring car passing along Mt. Vernon street. The boy was not injured by his experience. The accident occurred at the corner of Winchester place and Mt. Vernon street, the McElhiney boy, who was standing on the sidewalk with several companions, making a sudden run into the street. He ran directly into the side of the touring car of Mr. Sidney C. Blanchard of Washington street, who was passing. In the car with Mr. Blanchard were his father and mother, whom he was taking to the station on their way to Portland, Me.

The boy was thrown to the street and Mr. Blanchard, who was travelling slowly, stopped immediately. Several saw the accident, and officer McCauley, assisted by Charles A. Lane, picked the boy up and placed him in the car, Mr. Blanchard driving to Dr. Allen's office.

An examination failed to reveal any injuries to the lad other than a few bruises.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Last Tuesday night the monthly social and business meeting was held in the church vestry to a large and enthusiastic gathering. The social hour took the form of a conundrum party which caused much merriment.

Refreshments helped to round out a most enjoyable evening in League life. Our next one will be held on Tuesday evening, April 5th, 1915, do not miss it.

On next Sunday evening Mr. Milton F. Powers will have charge of our service of song and praise. "The Promises of Sonship to God" is the title of his talk and those who have heard him before know that a rare treat is in store for us. One hour with God infinitely exceeds all the pleasures and delights of this lower world.

Come out and spend an hour with Jesus. A cordial welcome awaits you.

TOWN ELECTION.

Close Race Between Hayward and Moreland for Selectman.

With two interesting contests on the town election Monday drew a small vote, but 1067 votes being cast, 83 of which were women. The two contests, one for Selectman and the other for Treasurer, furnished the only excitement. There were eight candidates for the five members on the Board of Selectmen. It was generally conceded that the four former members running for re-election would be returned, four candidates being in the race for the one vacancy. Mr. George B. Hayward was the selection of the voters, he winning over Mr. William E. Moreland by seven votes.

GEORGE B. HAYWARD.
New Member of the Board of Selectmen.

The contest for Treasurer was created by Messrs. William M. Belcher and Whitfield L. Tuck running against the former Treasurer, Mr. George H. Eustis. This contest appeared to provide a possible split whereby any one of the three might be elected, but the result was a complete victory for Mr. Eustis, who polled more votes than the other two candidates together.

The actual number of men who voted was 984 out of a total registration of 1910 and of the women 83 out of a registration of 213. About seven hundred odd votes were cast up to noon, the voting, although light, being fairly steady.

GEORGE T. DAVIDSON.
Chairman of Board of Selectmen.

The suffragettes were active throughout the day, being posted at all vantage points around the town hall from the opening to the closing of the polls. Every male voter was asked to sign a pledge agreeing to vote for equal suffrage next November and was given literature for the cause.

At noon the election officers and ballot clerks were served their usual dinner on the stage in the hall by a caterer.

The result of the election was as follows:

CAMERON BROKE ARM.

Arthur H. Cameron of Salem street, employed on the town Highway department, had the misfortune to fracture his right wrist last Saturday forenoon while cranking Supt. of Streets Spates' Ford. The accident occurred at the foot of Stone avenue, which is being rebuilt. An electric car was passing as the accident occurred and Cameron boarded it and went at once to the Winchester Hospital, where doctors were called and the break reset. He is convalescing rapidly.

DUNBAR—KING.

Devon chapel witnessed, last Saturday evening, the long heralded marriage of Lady Anne Dunbar, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, to Honorable Bertram King, son of Mrs. Lois Elizabeth King, a prominent American woman.

The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury and took place at eight o'clock. The wedding march was played by Lady Alice Lansdown. A sensation was created by Mr. Eric Watson, who interrupted the wedding, claiming to be the accepted suitor of the bride. He had been wounded in the war and in the first newspaper he saw after leaving the hospital he discovered an account of the engagement of Lady Anne and Mr. King. He arrived at the chapel just as the minister was pausing for objections to the marriage. Mr. Watson beseeched the bride to let him take Mr King's place, but she scornfully turned from him and the wedding continued.

The bride was gowned in white silk, Duchess lace, and diamonds, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Lady Julietta Napple, who wore rose satin and pearls and carried pink Kilarney roses. Lady Beatrice Dunbar, sister of the bride was the flower girl and strewed rose petals before the bride. Lord Victor Dunbar, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. The bridesmaids were Lady Evangeline Pembroke, Lady Lucile Duff-Gordon, Countess Elaine Bolenbroke and Miss Rosalind King, sister of the groom. They wore white lace with blue girdles and caps and carried crimson roses. Malcolm, Earl of Sussex, was the best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the double ring service was used.

A reception followed the ceremony at Devon Hall, the couple being assisted in receiving by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, the Earl of Sussex, and Lady Julietta Napple The Duchess was gowned in violet chiffon and wore lilacs. The drawing rooms were banked with yellow and lavendar flowers from the Devon conservatory and the library was draped in blue and red silver. The dining room, where ices and cakes were served, was decorated with pink ribbons and hearts. The ushers for the ceremony and reception were the Earl of Lincolnshire, Lord Douglas and Lord Dunbar, brother of the bride, and the Count de Paris.

1,200 invitations were issued for the ceremony and the reception. 800 announcements had been sent out.

The above is the account of the Mack Marriage given by the H. F. Club, on February 27. The characters were as follows:—

Lady Anne Dunbar—Anne Hefflon; Hon. Bertram King—Bertha Kelley; Duchess Louise of Devonshire—Dorothy Farrow; Duke Douglas of Devonshire—Ruth Elder; Lady Julietta Nanple—Julia Shea; Lady Evangeline Pembroke—HarrietMason; Lady Lucile Duff-Gordon—Selena Coburn; Countess Elaine Bolenbroke—Eleanor Hudson; Miss Rosalind King—Edith Downer; Lady Beatrice Dunbar—Kathleen Sheridan; Lord Victor Dunbar—Marguerite Saltmarsh; Archbishop of Canterbury—Martha Russell; Earl Malcolm of Sussex—Marian Kendall; Earl Richard of Lincolnshire—Christiana Hodgdon; Lord Douglas Dunbar—Marion Symmes; Lord Richard Dunbar—Ruth Phippen; Count de Paris—Maude Gurney; Lady Alice Lansdown—Lucile Thompson; Mr. Eric Watson—Rachel Metcalf.

Editor Hoag Confesses
"For many years, as Editor and Proprietor of the Pine Plains, N. Y., Herald, I have advertised Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. While I enjoyed not only the business relationship but the personal friendship of Dr. Kennedy, I have never, until now, paid him a long standing obligation. For many years, as my friends so well know, I suffered excruciating pains from rheumatism. Many were the nights when it was impossible to sleep. Without much faith, I admit, I tried as a sort of last resort, a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, just as thousands of others had done before, and like them I found permanent relief. Favorite Remedy has stood the test of time and I believe it is the best medicine in existence for effectually expelling the cause of rheumatism—uric acid. My regret is that I have neglected to make this frank confession long ago. It makes my Kidneys do their work properly, tones up the liver and makes one feel that life is worth living. I publicly and earnestly advise all my friends who are suffering from the ills that arise from unhealthy Kidneys or Liver, to get a bottle of Favorite Remedy at once. There is no use in putting it off as I did. S. T. HOAG, Editor."

Stoneham has ninety articles in its warrant for the annual meeting. Has this any connection with a high tax rate?

Norwood and Bridgewater are considering a Town Manager. Some citizens of Winchester are also considering the subject. Why not let these places try such a scheme out first.

Here are lines displayed in the electric cars:

"Suppose YOU buy out of town
And We trade out of town
What will become of
OUR TOWN"

In Massachusetts 77,246 motor-vehicles were registered last year and nearly 100,000 persons as drivers. The state treasury received nearly a million dollars in automobile fees and fines. In two years the revenue from this source has increased $320,000.

One person of every 271 in Massachusetts is insane, as is shown by the annual report of the State Board of Insanity. The insane being cared for in state institutions number 13,179, an increase for the year of 396. The board has under its care 17,286 persons, of whom 14,122 are insane, 2513 feeble-minded and 624 epileptic.

The Census Bureau estimates that the population of the United States will have reached and passed the hundred million mark by April 2nd next. The 1900 hundred census showed the population to be 75,994,575, while the 1910 figures were 91,972,266. And no doubt the hundred million mark will be materially swelled by a tide of immigration from the war torn European countries.

No work is more vital in the interests of woman suffrage than that urged by a correspondent in this paper, viz., that women exercise the mite of suffrage given them by registering, and then voting for School Committee. When any number approximating a considerable proportion of the whole do this the cause is won. It is not the men but the women who are to be won over.—[Reading Chronicle.

ARLINGTON THEATRE.

Tomorrow, Saturday afternoon at 2.30 the Arlington Theatre will give a program of motion pictures exclusively for the children. By courtesy of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, the pictures shown at Tremont Temple Saturday morning will be repeated here. The complete program is as follows:

1. Uncle Sam's Boys in Camp.
2. The Little Shepherd (2 reels). Long ago a King went riding and dropped a precious medal beside the road. A little shepherd boy found it and after a hard run, overtook the King and returned the medal to him. How this deed brought good fortune to the boy in later years—you will see.
3. The Flying Freight's Captive.
4. The Peace Council.
5. Sergeant Jim's Horse. He does all kinds of tricks.

Would Be Second Choice.

Little Helen had received a package through the mail from her Aunt Edith containing patterns for two dresses, one pink and one blue. One was intended for her and the other for her little sister, Dorothy. While examining the dresses, she exclaimed: "The little dear may have her choice, but I'll take the pink one."

Government Kept Going.

"I notice that the old man's quit cussin' the government?" "Yes; after tryin' it for 30 year the government kept a goin', jes' like it never heard tell of him—never so much as askin' him to please let up an' give it a chance to grow up with the country. That made him so mad he was too full fer utterance, he was struck speechless!"

Wise Precaution.

A certain politician desired a diplomatic appointment, says the Washington Star. A friend, in surprise, said to him: "But you don't even speak the language of the country!" "Well," replied the determined applicant, "a man isn't nearly so likely to make indiscreet remarks, if he has to get a lexicon and look up the meaning of every word he utters."

She Won't Believe It.

We don't suppose that it will ever be possible to convince a woman that a neat little round hole in the sitting room rug, where a small amount of ignited tobacco happened to fall, merely serves to make the place look homelike.—Ohio State Journal.

TOWN MEETING.

Carter, F. V. Wooster, Davidson and others speaking.

The first vote was on Mr. Hall's substitute, which was lost. Mr. Parkhurst's substitute was carried and voted, and the first appropriations, that of $88,600 for Schools recommended by the Finance Committee, was considered.

This single appropriation occupied the meeting until 10.30. The first opposition was from Mr. Wooster, chairman of the Board of Assessors, who offered a substitue to reduce the sum to the amount of last year, $84,500. This motion was opposed in a lengthy speech by Chairman Coit of the School Committee, who went over each item of the budget. Mr. Parkhurst stated that the schools was not a department which he anticipated reducing, although he had understood that if absolutely necessary this department would stand a reduction of $1000. The discussion was continued by Mr. Holland and others until Mr. Geo. A. Woods offered a compromise by substituting the sum of $86,000. The discussion was further continued by Mr. Wooster and Prof. C. F. A. Currier, the latter gentleman urging the original sum presented.

The question was finally put to vote, the largest sum being acted upon first, that of $88,600. This was lost on a rising vote. Prof. Currier then motioned for $87,600. This motion was productive of still further discussion, Messrs. F. E. Rowe, J. A. Laraway, W. F. Tuck and others advocating and opposing. When put to a rising vote it was lost.

Prof. Currier then offered a motion for $86,000. Mr. Coit said that if this sum was voted the repairs on the school buildings would be curtailed. The vote was put and carried almost unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned until Thursday night.

LAST NIGHT'S SESSION.

Monday night's meeting succeeded in disposing of one appropriation, that of schools. The meeting of last night after using up about one-half of the time in debating and discussing, succeeded in disposing of seven more of the 51 appropriations listed.

debating and discussing, succeeded in disposing of seven more of the 51 appropriations listed.

The final appropriations voted were as follows:

Ways and Bridges, including articles 27, 28 and 29, tabled.

Street Lights, calling for $11,400, got $11,000.

Maintenance of Town Stable, $6,600 as asked.

Care of Snow and Ice, $5,000 as asked.

Police, $14,185 as asked.

Insurance of Town Property, calling for $3,500, got $2,250, it being the intiton of the town to insure for 3 years instead of 5.

Interest, $28,187.50 as asked.

The meeting started out with the apparent intention of keeping the appropriations and the tax rate down, but as soon as any real appropriations were made the sums were as recommended with the $19 odd rate at the end. It appeared, however, that the majority of the voters still desire a lower rate. The muddle which the meeting got into at the start over the including of articles 27, 28 and 29, followed by the question whether the article (article 5) was sufficient to borrow money on a bond issue, took all the life out of the leaders of the low tax rate movement.

The meeting this year seems to be well divided between two factions; one desiring both to cut appropriations and to bond sufficient appropriations to keep the rate down, and the other to support the Finance Committee and vote the appropriations recommended. It appears that the general sentiment of both sides confused many of the voters. It is hoped that an understanding will be reached by Monday night's session.

As regards the departments it is the old story of "cut everyone but us."

At the opening of the meeting trouble started over including the three outside articles under appropriations, and although they were finally included, it is doubted if their supporters succeeded in accomplishing the desired object. When the first appropriation was offered by the Finance Committee to be raised by a bond issue, the legality of the proceeding was questioned, and it took a long time to thresh it out by having the matter on the table for further consideration.

After this the Finance Committee apparently let the meeting have its head, waking up a little towards the close when its recommendations began to go through. One speaker called the Town "economy mad," which may have had something to do with the following votes, although a large amount of economy is not yet very apparent.

The next session is Monday evening.

AN ISOLATED PENINSULA.

Lower California, Mexico's isolated peninsula, the coast of which the Pacific Fleet of the United States is now patrolling, is one of the least known territories in North America. The following facts concerning this arm of land, which projects about 800 miles southeasterly from the southern border of California, were given out by the National Geographic Society at Washington, D. C.

The width of the peninsula varies from about 30 to more than 100 miles, and its irregular coast line, over 2,000 miles long, is bordered by numerous islands. Being mainly a mountainous, desert region, it is thinly peopled and presents many sharply contrasting conditions. Low sun-scorched plains, where death by thirst awaits the traveller, lie close to the bases of towering granite peaks, belted by forests and capped in winter by snow; desolate plateaus of black lava look down on valleys seamed with green-bordered streams.

At the time of its discovery in 1533 by an expedition sent out by Cortez in search of a fabulously rich island, it is estimated to have been inhabited by 25,000 Indians, who vigorously resented the intrusion and prevented the newcomers from getting a foothold for more than a century. The Jesuites then came in and were wonderfully successful in exploring the peninsula and establishing missions. They established three main trails, one along each coast and the third down the middle, which serve as the regular routes of travel today. The Indians have vanished from all parts of their former territory, except a few in the extreme northern end.

During the last half century all parts of the territory have been visited, mainly by Americans, in search of mines and other natural resources, but little of the knowledge gained has become available to the public. Gold, silver, copper, iron and other minerals and much fertile land have been found, but the scarcity of water, fuel, forage, and the difficulties of transportation have united with other causes to bring about failure to develop the resources.

The climate of Lower California in general is hot and arid. Northern conditions are closely like those in adjoining parts of southern California; in the middle they are more arid, but the extreme southern end, though arid tropical, has more regular summer rains. The peninsula suffers long periods of draught, during which no rainfall sufficient to start vegetation occurs over large areas for periods of from three to five years. These dry periods may be succeeded by torrential rains, which sweep the country and roll great floods down to the sea. Surface water is scarce and limited mainly to isolated water-holes in the rocks or to springs from which small streams flow a short distance. The Rio Santo Domingo is the one living stream within the peninsula which flows on the surface from its source to the sea throughout the year. These conditions have resulted in the development of the richest and most extraordinary desert flora in the world. The bird and animal life, however, is closely related to that of southern California. The plains abound with small desert mammals, such as rabbits, pocket mice, kangaroo rats and others. A large number of the smaller desert mammals never drink water, it having been found impossible to teach some of them to take water in captivity. Antelope, mountain sheep, mule-deer and mountain lions are the only large game animals.

The peninsula is thinly peopled and enormous areas remain uninhabited. The most populous section is the region south of La Paz, where rains are more regular than further north. A few small towns and widely scattered communities along the coast, with a limited number of villages, ranches and miners' camps in the interior, cover the population. Lower California has a territorial form of government, and, owing to its great length, is divided near the middle into a northern and southern district. Ensenada and La Paz being the respective capitals.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons who are or may become interested in the estate hereinafter mentioned, held in trust under the will of James Newman, late of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, and to all persons whose issue not now in being may become so interested.

Whereas, James W. Newman, trustee under said will has presented to said Court his petition praying that he may be authorized to sell, either at public or private sale, certain real estate held by him as such trustee situated in Winchester in the County of Middlesex, and particularly described in said petition, for the reasons therein set forth.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-second day of March, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Winchester Star, a newspaper published in Winchester, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court this third day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE DEPARTMENT.

The third in the series of suffrage teas was held on Feb. 24, at the home of Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell. A number of new members joined the Winchester Equal Suffrage League on this afternoon.

Some of the most persistent arguments against woman suffrage were completely upset in the first municipal primaries in which women could vote held in Chicago last week. Mayor Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, who came out strongly and conspicuously for equal suffrage, and whose wife campaigned for him, was overwhelmingly defeated—by the women's votes. Further, the women threw their ballots to Judge Olsen, Republican, although the men voted strongly for Thompson, the rival Republican candidate. Notwithstanding many women refused to vote, because by so doing they would be compelled to align themselves with one party for the next two years, the women cast 154,750 votes for mayor, or 77 per cent of their registration. In comparison with this the men cast but 79 per cent. of their registration. Of the 154,750 women who voted, 95,905 were aligned with the Democrats, 59,731 with the Republicans, 824 with the Progressives and 237 with the Socialists, demonstrating the women voted independently. Furthermore, the vote cast by the women was larger than was polled by all the men at the February primaries in the years 1911, 1913 and 1912. The result is the most illuminating argument for woman suffrage in the history of the movement, demonstrating beyond question the fact that women will not be persuaded to vote for candidates who cojole them; that they are not blinded as to the real efficiency of candidates that they will not "vote as their husbands do"; that no party has any mortgage on the woman's vote and finally, that when the issue warrants it the women will come out to the polls in even larger proportion than the men themselves.

At the Peace Meeting of the Winchester Equal Suffrage League on Wednesday the following resolution was to-day endorsed and sent to Governor Walsh:

Believing that if this is to be a "war to end war," there must be action as well as talk, and believing that the time has now come for action, we, the members of the Winchester Equal Suffrage League, hereby petition you, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to ask our Legislature to request President Wilson to appoint a Council of Neutral Nations to draw up a Plan of Permanent, Constructive Peace to be presented after the war.

MRS. SCUDDER KLYCE, Pres.
Winchester Equal Suffrage League.

PROBATE AND OTHER COURT NEWS.

The will of Mrs. Ellen M. Mackesey who died February 5, has been filed in the Probate Court. The will is dated November 30, 1907 and names Fred Joy as executor. The estate is valued at $2150; $2000 in real estate and $150 in personal property. All of the bequests are private. The heirs-at-law are Thomas J. Mackesey, a son; Hannah Mackesey, a daughter and Mary Mackesey, a daughter; of all Winchester.

John G. Maguire of Woburn as administrator of the estate of Marie Connors of Winchester has been sued for $1000 in an action of contract by Katharine A Ray, a minor who sues through her husband, Louis Ray of Woburn. It is alleged that the defendant owes $511.

The Boston & Maine railroad has been sued for $10,000 in an action of tort by George O. Fogg of Winchester. The papers have been filed. It is alleged that on March 2, 1914, while the deceased was about to cross the tracks at the Winchester station her foot was caught between the planking of the crossing and one of the rails and while held there she was struck by an express train and killed.

An inventory of the estate of Joseph D. Decelle who died October 24, has been filed in the Probate Court. The estate is valued at $3021; $671 in personal property and $2350 in real estate.

A verdict for the defendant was ordered by Judge Brown in the third session of the superior civil court in the case of William C. Welch of Winchester against Arthur W. Barnham of Newton, for $10,000 in an action of tort. It was alleged that the defendant caused libelous statements to be printed in a Wakefield newspaper. The case is to be reported to the supreme court. If the court finds in favor of the plaintiff, a verdict of $200 is to be given Mr. Welch.

ARIZONA "DRY."

What the Feeling is in that Far Away State.

In these days of fresh agitation in our New England towns and cities over the question of whether they shall vote "wet" or "dry" is it not refreshing to hear a word from our sister State of Arizona as to the working of their new "dry" law.

The following is taken from a private letter of a citizen of Bisbee, Arizona, near the Mexico line, written to a cousin in Winchester, Mass., January 25, 1915 and referring to the Arizona Prohibition law. It says:

Bisbee, Ariz.,
Jan 24, '15.

Dear Cousin:—

Arizona has been voted dry; but it certainly did not affect the weather in that respect as we have not had a week without rain during the last six weeks. We had two light snow storms one of which laid on the ground for four or five days. The weather has been cold too, for this section of the country.

The Prohibition Law has been a great success here so far. Even a great many drinking men say they can see how they are better off without their daily. Men who never knew what it was to have a cent, now have money in their pockets and can have a hair cut and shave once in a while. Of course, I am a Prohibitionist and can't see the faults of the Law.

But there was one of the boys, who was a moderate drinker, with whom I had a good number of arguments on the subject. He told me just last night, "Ben, you know I voted wet, but I am sure glad it went dry, since I have seen the benefits derived."

We have passed two pay-days since the 1st. of the year and I have not seen a drunk man on either one and before you could hardly get through the streets on pay-days as there were so many drunk men.

The library is so full now that you can not get a seat at all and are lucky to get in at all.

There has been several arrests for selling liquor and the officers are keeping close watch and intend to do their duty.

The "Arizona Prohibition Law" gives them no loophole to crawl out of.

Well! I guess that's enough on that subject and I hope you will excuse me for taking up so much time on it, but I have been so wrapped up in it and worked so hard to help pass the Law that I have had little time for anything else. You see I never have used liquor of any kind and not even tobacco.

OBSERVATIONS.

Some things can be done as well as others.

The best thing, on the whole, the Finance Committee did was to "throw a scare" into the sleepy citizens on the prospective tax rate and it certainly did an effective job. That committee should not feel hurt, but should recognize that the whole is greater than any part, and it, in numbers, is less than one per cent of the whole.

While bonds should be used for water and sewer construction and steel and concrete bridges and other things in the same class, the time for which the bonds should be issued is another and important question. Starting with the proposition, which cannot be controverted, that the longer the time the greater the cost, several other things must be considered, debt payments ahead of us, all debts likely to be incurred, prospective growth of the town in population and valuation, and the tax rate. All of these have an important bearing upon the question. Mr. Metcalf was absolutely right in his statement that our water and sewer enterprises entailed very large interest charges, but if they had been worked out on any other basis than they were, it would have been an outrage on that generation and retarted the growth of the town incalculably, but the fact is they could not have been started on any other basis and we would have had to continue to pump and lug water and pour our sewage into the open air.

It certainly seems strange that our officials lost sight of the fact that we still have authority to issue $31,000 more water bonds under the act of 1902. The water and sewer board must have known about it of course.

Monday night's meeting was one of the best we have ever had, and the way it rose to the occasion was refreshing. It is high time we got our true bearings as we were running under full sails before the breeze, headed for the rocks, having ignored all warnings until we got into the surf, but as we have now put the ship about, let us try to steer a true course in the future and not get charmed again by the Syren's songs.

It is not our custom to change such officers as treasurer without mighty good reasons.

Norwood's Town Manager.

The experience of Norwood under its new town manager will be watched with great interest throughout the rural communities of New England. If the experiment succeeds we may look for its adoption in many small municipalities which feel the need of improvements in their local machinery but have not known just what to do. Certain it is that our vaunted system of New England town government is not today maintaining its old reputation for getting good results. In a generation when the towns were all small, when they required very little in the way of administrative services, and when every citizen had the leisure to take a part in neighborhood politics the system was able to command admiration. Now all this has changed. A town of eight or ten thousand inhabitants nowadays requires a police system, fire protection, a public water supply, parks and playgrounds, public lighting, and indeed all the administrative services that a city demands, even if on a smaller scale. These things cannot be efficiently handled by a board of selectmen, nor has the plan of putting each department in charge of an elective unpaid board of town citizens given general satisfaction. Everywhere in local government the drift is toward the concentration of administrative functions into skilled hands. Amateur management of a public works department is bound to bring similar results in city and town. It is wasteful and costly in both. The Norwood plan involves no impairment of the town meeting as the controlling organ in town government. It is merely an adaptation of the old machinery to modern needs.—(Boston Herald).

When we can reduce the schools appropriation the others should be easy. How they did fight for it, though, both the in's and the ex's, but the wave of economy was too strong even for their cause which is considered almost sacred. But the schools won't suffer. Let some of the fads be cut down or out.

A hundred thousand dollars addition to the high schoolhouse! Tut, tut! remember what we said in criticism of Governor Bates' veto of the bill of 1903, and the building has been in use only eleven years now. If this disturbing prediction is anywhere near true we did not get the Planning board any too soon.

Only about half the vote came out for election, which is a wretched showing, the worst we ever made. We will the worst we ever made. We will have to see to it that the west side has some candidates in the future. The town meeting in the evening was the largest ever and stayed through finely.

The board of Selectmen has but one new member, but it needs some new policies for 1915.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Common Clay" now in the eighth week of its run at the Castle Square Theatre, is like a ball of snow, which, as it rolls down hill, aggrandizes and gathers impetus. Since the play was produced the first week in January and word was passed about that an extraordinary novelty was to be seen at the Castle Square, the attendance grew daily to such proportions that hundreds of people were turned away. Even the coming of the Lenten season has made no appreciable difference in the size of the audiences.

Mary Young as Ellen Neal, John Craig as Judge Filson, and William P. Carleton as Hugh Fullerton continue to do their share to make the play a success. A souvenir of the 100th performance will be given every patron on next Monday evening.

ROBT. H. BEAN FOR PRESIDENT.

Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking has proposed Robert H. Bean of Myrtle terrace, for President of the Institute for the forthcoming fiscal year.

Mr. Bean is one of the best known younger members of the banking fraternity of Boston, and enjoys a wide acquaintance throughout the country, due largely to his activities in the work of the local chapter.

When the Institute first extended its influence to Boston in 1910, Mr. Bean was among the earliest to devote himself actively to its educational problems, and after serving on various committees was elected President for 1912—13 and re-elected for 1913—14. Under his administrations the Chapter membership nearly doubled, due in large part to the splendid educational courses which were offered under his direction and to the active interest which he created especially among the younger men.

At the Salt Lake City Convention, his abilities were further recognized by election to the National Executive Council for a three year term, during the present year of which he has been Chairman. As a member of the Council he has served on the Richmond Convention Program Committee, and also on the Post-Graduate Committee for two years.

Boston Chapter feels that in presenting Mr. Bean's name it offers a man who not only knows the Institute thoroughly, but in addition, has at heart the educational needs of the younger men in the banking business, having himself served for eighteen years in various responsible positions,—first, with the Third National, and later with the National Union Bank. He is at present Treasurer of the Old South Trust Company, organized during the past year.

AUTO WENT THROUGH GATES.

The west gates at the south side of the centre crossing have been out of commission this week owing to an automobile being driven through them on Sunday morning shortly after three o'clock. The auto, which was a Ford, is said to have been driven by R. M. Linsay of Arlington. According to reports of the affair Mr. Lindsay did not see the gates and when he crashed through he saw a south bound freight approaching. He opened up his car and took off about two feet of the end of a gate on the east side. The Ford received a broken wind-hield and damaged lamps from the accident. Mr. Lindsay was not hurt.

RECITAL BY MISS SEWALL.

The pianoforte pupils of Miss Josephine Sewall of Mt. Vernon street gave their mid-year recital last Saturday afternoon. The affair was attended by a large number of parents and friends and included numbers by Marion Smith, Dorothy Cummings, Olive Jones, Chauncy and Alice Mitchell, Mark Shultis, Lothrop Brown, Lincoln Russell, Allen Reed and Robert Sanborn, together with a duet by Miss Grace and Olive Jones.

CHILDREN'S BILL BEFORE SENATE.

Members of the National Child Labor Committee in this vicinity who have been cooperating with the Committee in its publicity campaign for the Palmer-Owen Child labor bill, received yesterday a letter from Owen R. Lovejoy, the general secretary, asking for further cooperation.

"The majority by which the House of Representatives passed the bill last Monday was much larger than we had dared to hoped it would be," writes Mr. Lovejoy, "but this is only the first step. The final step depends on you.

"Only one in seven of 256 Representatives voting on the bill opposed it, and we believe that two reasons why the bill is meeting with popular favor are: (1) that more than 100,000 children will immediately be affected by it; (2) that the standards which it proposes for these children have already been adopted by the majority of the states. Forty-three states have a 14-year limit in factories and 27 of these apply it without legal exemptions. Thirty-four states have forbidden night work by children under 16. Thirty-two states and the federal government have by statute recognized the 8-hour day as suitable for adults, (although only 19 have applied it to all children under 16). Only 16 of the important mining states have 16-year limit, or higher, for underground work in mines, but these 16 states employ two-thirds of the mine workers of the entire country.

"The bill is now before the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate from whom we expect a favorable report. The fate of the bill before the Senate itself is more uncertain, and all who have not already written to their Senators are urged to do so without delay."

LEANDER SOULE DIES AT AGE OF 84.

Leander Soule, 84, one of the best known musicians in the State, died Feb. 22 at Holbrook following a brief illness. He was born in South Abington, now Whitman, and at 16 entered the tack-making business, which he helped develop by important inventions, which revolutionized the manufacture. At 21 he went to Taunton to live, remaining there 50 years.

Mr. Soule was chorister of the Winslow Congregational Church in Taunton for 25 years. He was leader of the Taunton National Band, which played all over the East. He was the promoter of the Taunton Board of Trade and organizer of the Soule Piano and Organ Company, which is still in existence under another name. In 1872 he became director of the Beethoven Society of Taunton and in 1879 launched the Southeastern Massachusetts Festival Association of 250 voices.

He was for years the leader of the Old Stoughton Musical Society, taking the society to the World's Fair in Chicago. He led a large chorus at the peace jubilee in Boston in 1869.

Mr. Soule is survived by two sons and three daughters, Mrs. Annie S. Lewis of Winchester, Mrs. Carrie S. Metcalf of Obellin, Ohio; Harry B. Soule of Providence, Mrs. Florence E. Smith of Wellesley Hills and Carleton L. Soule of Taunton.

He was the father of Annie S. Lewis of this town.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The March meeting of the Winchester Union will be held, as for several years past, at the home for the Aged on Kendall Street. The members of the Loyal Temperance Legion will provide the entertainment and friends of the Home and of the Union are cordially invited. The date is Friday, March 12, and the hour, three o'clock. This meeting is always somewhat social in character and the members of the Union look forward to it as one of the pleasantest of the year. The new members are especially urged to come.

Last Sunday evening the Rev. O. C. Poland of the Methodist Church preached an eloquent and convincing sermon in favor of no-license, as a preparation for the town election. The Congregational and Baptist churches united in the service and the church was well filled with interested auditors. He discussed the question from the standpoint of economics, showing upon the dreadful waste to the nation caused by the liquor traffic and the enormous toll it exacts in every way. The recent actions of the great nations at war in Europe have shown how they regard the liquor question and the economic significance of prohibition. That any community like Winchester can seriously consider granting license seems absurd but it is well to keep on the safe side by taking all precautions to keep it in the dry column. The temperance people are indebted to Mr. Poland for his masterly presentation of the subject.

Readers of the daily papers have become accustomed to many things that would have seemed startling enough a year ago, but the recent speech of Lloyd George on the drink evil in Great Britain and the possibility of prohibition in drink cursed England and her sister countries is enough to make anyone sit up and take notice. He has been so ready to keep his principles in such matters out of sight while hewing to the line of the special reform for which he battles so valiantly that it is especially encouraging to see him take such a positive stand on this question. And he did not speak any too strongly in the light of the statistics prepared by those who have studied the conditions prevalent in the British Isles. If King George were an absolute monarch he might well imitate the action of his cousin, the Czar, in forbidding the traffic. So far the Russians seem to have no regrets—at least we do not hear them expressed. The song "Farewell to Vodka" is sung with great spirit-non-alcoholic, of course.

KNITTING FOR THE RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The Red Cross Society numbers among those who are knitting for the soldiers of Europe, all ages, the youngest being children six years old. The honor, however, of being the lady of most advanced age who is doing splendid Red Cross work is Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hosmer, 1056 Main street, Melrose Highlands. Mrs. Hosmer was born July 1, 1819, and is therefor "96 years young". She is the oldest person in the United States recorded as working for the Red Cross Society. Mrs. Hosmer is very happy in her work, and knits heavy stockings for the soldiers which cannot be surpassed in excellence.—[From the Melrose "Free Press."

Wisdom of the Bee.

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT.

Santa Maria Court 150 Gives Farce.

A Gentlemen's Night, under the auspices of Santa Maria Court, Daughters of Isabella, was given in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening. The first part of the evening was given over to a discussion of the various features of social service work. Mrs. George H. Root told of the work of the North End Union, on Parmenter street, Boston, where much has been accomplished for the Italian residents of the city, and of the Summer School and the Evening School in Winchester. Mrs. Oren C. Sanborn told of a scheme that had been successfully tried in Lynn, where a number of older women, who were unable to do a hard day's work, were given employment in a laundry. She advocated something of a similar nature in Winchester. Miss Mary Richards spoke of the work being done by the various Catholic societies along social service lines, notably that of the Guild of the Infant Saviour in the West End of Boston. Dr. Frederika Moore, assistant school physician, spoke of the establishment of a social service bureau in Winchester, a project which is now in process of formation.

An entertainment followed, consisting of a farce, entitled "Was Susan Justified?" presented by John C. Sullivan, Jr., Thomas H. Barrett, James W. Kelley, Leo McNally and William Noonan.

Miss Marion Brodeur gave some French-Canadian character sketches. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

The affair was in charge of the Charitable Committee of the court, consisting of Mrs. Eugenie E. Davidson, chairman, Mrs. Minnie Noonan, Mrs. Anna McNally, Mrs. Sarah Barrett and Miss Elizabeth T. Cullen. Miss Cullen presided.

BOWLING.

By team 2 losing two points to team 8 in the winter bowling tournament at the Calumet Club on Wednesday evening, and by team 9 dropping one point to team 13, an interesting situation was created. Team 2 lost an opportunity to cinch first place, dropping out of its tie with team 7. The latter team now has a chance to win, or should it drop two or three points, give 2 an opportunity for first and 1 a chance for second place. 2 and 1 have now finished their games, standing 41 and 40 points won respectively.

Team 9 was tied with 13, and by its win puts that team out of an opportunity for fourth place. Team 9 now must contend with team 12, which, should it win four in its next match, will take the lead, with another match to roll. Team 9 has but one more match to roll.

In the Mixed tournament at the Club the general standing of the teams was not materially affected. The principal work was Mrs. Gerlach taking the record for high average flat from Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Gerlach now has an average of 84 11-18 and Mrs. Wilson 84 4-15.

Always Easy to Get Spies.

It is an international law, but an unwritten one, that a sovereign cannot lawfully require a subject to serve as a spy, except in a singular case, and that of the last importance. Nevertheless, no country will ever lack spies, for the work that is required of them is so adventurous and so well paid that thousands of men would jump at the opportunity to become a secret service agent.

TOWN MEETING.

Voters Unite in Transacting Business and Keeping Tax Rate Down.

Monday night's session of the Town Meeting opened with the usual large attendance both of voters and gallery, which has thus far distinguished the assembly. As had been anticipated the meeting struck its pace as soon as it opened and the citizens united in a harmonious spirit to transact the Town's affairs in a manner satisfactory to all. The will of the voter is la 3 and the expressed desire of the large majority, as amply evidenced at previous sessions, to keep the tax rate down by economy and by wisely apportioned bond or note issues, was carried through to the general satisfaction. Neither of the opposing factions of last week's meetings found themselves in deep water, for while several appropriations were cut, there was no hysteria or unreasonable economy and the bond appropriations were voted with equal unanimity, the meeting accomplishing more business than at any previous session and in a decidedly more harmonious manner.

The one possible dissatisfied faction was Labor, and it had only itself to blame, for the clouds were gathering in plain sight for some time before the rain. It failed to realize its position even after the first sprinkle, when Mr. Parkhurst's suggestion that a 48-hour week would place the laboring man in line for a decrease in lowering the expenses without loss to himself, and his suggestion, offering possibilities for one of the strongest arguments for future betterment of Labor, to say nothing of favors received during the past, went unheeded. When Mr. Carter's motion for a direct opinion on the 48-hour week was offered and carried by a good majority, it was so stunned that only one speaker, Mr. Tuck, could collect himself to rise in its defense. It was the old story. Capital had proved itself ready to assist Labor and shown its good will, and when Capital itself was hit, it looked to Labor to do its part. The result was inevitable, and it is regretted that Labor could not grasp the situation to its advantage.

Mr. Parkhurst's letter was of a style which one expected. By defining his position in the economic situation and his frank expression of regret for past mistakes he did what almost every voter present knew he would do, and did it in a manner which is distinctive of his personality, and is largely responsible for his standing among the leaders of the community, for he is typically a citizen who backs up his words with action. His letter did more towards furthering a unity of action by the meeting than an hour of debate and its spirit was readily apparent, since ample evidence had been given that he was backed by the majority.

The meeting, although a long one, left a pleasant sensation, due no doubt to Mr. Hall's dry speech, which was rather good, and to the decision of the town to help out Dr. Allen and "keep Toodles in hairpins." Mr. Craughwell furnished a laugh so hearty that it made up for last week's difficult work.

The meeting opened on Article 5, Appropriations. Upon the motion to take Highways and Bridges from the table and Mr. Metcalf's withdrawal of his previous motion under which it was tabled, Mr. John T. Wilson gave it as his opinion that bond issues should be voted in a special meeting, for while it might safely be done, a special meeting would remove any existing doubt on the matter. Mr. Metcalf quoted further opinions from bond houses supporting the present warrant and establishing the fegality of the issue.

Mr. Parkhurst stated that he favored the motion to raise by bonds $9,000 for the construction of the bridges at Main street and Waterfield road. He then asked permission to read a statement, and in so doing explained his position on the present situation in which the Town finds itself, gave a summary of his endeavors to help the finance committee in seeking a satisfactory solution of the problem and expressed his regret for any mistakes he may have committed. His letter was received with prolonged applause which it deserved. It was typically Parkhurst and a statement which any town might feel gratified to receive.

Mr. Tuck favored a special meeting for bond issues and Rep. W. F. Prime

COTTLE RESIDENCE ENTERED.

The residence of Mr. Fred E. Cottle on Sheffield road was entered last Thursday evening, presumably while the family was at dinner, by way of an upstairs window and several articles of jewelry, together with a pocketbook containing money, stolen.

It is thought that the thief climbed the front perch and entered by way of a chamber window. The police were notified of the break and are looking for the intruder.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING.

The Board met at 7.30 p. m., all present.

Through car service to Harvard Square: Mr. Sanborn reported that he had called upon Mr. Brush of the Elevated Railroad and was informed that they were working on the plans and expected to present them to the town of Arlington for a location, and there seemed to be no question but that through car service would be an accomplished fact within a short time. Mr. Goff of the Bay State St. Ry. Co., being called upon, substantiated these views.

B. & M. R. R.: Mr. Sanborn reported having conferred with Mr. Robinson, General Supt. Southern Division, concerning the matter of the shelter on the east side of the tracks at the Center Station, and was informed that at least four sets of plans had been considered, that Mr. Hustis, President of the road, was much interested in the subject, and in a telephone conversation Mr. Hustis stated that he had been working hard to get something that would be acceptable to the town, and he hoped that when it did materialize it might be satisfactory to all concerned.

Bonds, Constables: Edward F. Maguire submitted constable's bond for $1000 with P. E. Fitzgerald and J. V. Haley as sureties. Referred to Mr. Davidson for report.

Town Hall: The Board of Park Commissioners asked that accommodations somewhere in the Town Hall Building be given to them for their meetings, records, maps, etc. Referred to the Committee on Town Hall.

Flag Service: A letter was received from the Board of Park Commissioners asking that inasmuch as they had taken over the care of the flag on the Common they be informed of all events which would require the display of the flag, and asked that the responsibility of notifying the caretaker of the flag of these events be assumed by the Selectmen. The clerk was instructed to reply that the Selectmen would assume this responsibility.

Quarantine: Notice was received from Lester H. Howard, Commissioner Department of Animal Industry of the Commonwealth, that owing to the fact that several new outbreaks of foot and mouth disease had occurred in the immediate vicinity of this town he deemed it necessary as a precautionary measure to place the town under strict quarantine, and that no cattle, sheep or swine must be allowed on the highway without a permit issued from or by an agent of the department. The Clerk reported that a copy of the notice had been sent to the Chief of Police and the Board of Health, and the Inspector of Animals.

Insurance: Sewall E. Newman applied for a portion of the Insurance to be placed by the town in June. Referred to Committee on Accounts.

Firemen: The Chief Engineer of the Fire Dept presented for approval the name of John McCarron, 6 White street, to act as a call member of the Fire Department. Mr. McCarron having been appointed a substitute member July 6, 1914. The appointment was approved.

Police Department: Voted, That Sergt James P. Hargrove be and he is hereby given leave of absence for two months on half pay dating from March 1, 1915. Voted, that the Committee on Police be authorized to confer with the Chief and appoint a patrolman from the eligible list as soon as possible.

Police Examinations: A letter was received from the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission stating that the Commissioners had ordered an examination of applicants for the position of patrolmen in Winchester, which would be held as soon as it could be arranged.

Licenses 1915 Garages: An application for a garage license was received from Fred B. Cole, 196 Parkway, and assigned for hearing March 23, 1915.

Election Town Officers: The following nominations were made to hold over one week under the rules, namely:

Burial Agent Deceased Soldiers and Sailors: Harrison Parker.

Election Officers—Democrat: Charles F. Newell, Francis R. Rogers, John F. Donaghey, Joseph D. Mawn, Robert H. Sullivan. Ballot Clerk; Republican: William Adriance, J. H. Livingstone, Harry Y. Nutter, Fred A. Parshley, George E. Lake, Ballot Clerk.

Keeper of Lockup: William R. McIntosh.

Custodian of Town Hall: Thos. J. Maher.

Licenses, 1915 Garages: An application for a garage license at 16 Symmes Road was received from Mrs. Susan M. Ranlett and assigned for hearing March 29, 1915.

Grade Crossing. Correspondence with James Baston was submitted showing the appropriate cost of the model of the town plan of abolishing the grade crossing to March 6. The committee reported that the model was now completed, and it was voted to place it on public exhibition in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon, March 13 from 2 to 6, and on Monday, March 15, from 3 to 6 p. m., also at the Monday evening session of the Town Meeting.

Cross Street Bridge: Mr. Sanborn reported that he had conferred with Mr. Dutch on the subject of the removal of piers under the Cross street bridge, who had reported that he had never received any reply from the Public Service Commission to a letter on the subject he wrote late in the fall, and that he would take the matter up with them again.

Walnut Street—Littlefield & Tilden asked for an early decision from this Board on the petition of Arthur B. Whitney and others presented October 26, 1914, for such action as might be required by the revised laws to ascertain the correct boundaries of Walnut street from Mystic Valley Parkway to Highland avenue, and to erect permanent monuments to define said boundaries. The clerk was instructed to reply that the matter was in the hands of the Town Counsel, and that as soon as his report had been received the matter would be taken up.

Adjourned at 9.45 p. m.

Frank R. Miller,
Clerk of Selectmen.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

The Star Building is now rapidly nearing completion, and will probably be turned over to the owner before the close of the month. The hardwood finish is practically all in place, doors hung, baseboard on, etc., and the work of painting is proceeding rapidly both inside and out. The J. A. Laraway Co. has all the radiators in position and the heater is ready for use. The terrazzo at the entrances, the stairs and the toilets are also finished, and the hardware has been put in place. Practically all that remains to be done is the completion of the painting, laying the top floors and installing the electric fixtures. The sprinkler system will be tested as soon as the heat is on.

At the Fire and Police Building the work is almost in the same condition, with the exception of a much greater appearance. The staging on the outside is coming down rapidly and the appearance of the building is showing up to advantage its attractive lines. As the staging is going down the windows are being hung, which also adds to its appearance. The copper conductors are also being placed on the sides, and a general cleaning up is in progress to make room for the finish.

No work has been done on the two bridges yet, but with the continued warm weather it is expected that it will soon be resumed.

IMPRESSIONS OF MONDAY'S MEETING — by Bartlett

BASE BALL ASSOCIATION.

Preparing to Open Season of 1915 With Strong Team.

A meeting of the directors of the Winchester Base Ball Association was held on Wednesday night to start the plans and activities for the coming season.

The Association makes a strong appeal to all lovers of good clean base ball to become members. The directors are now receiving renewals of membership and ask all interested to extend their support. It is planned to place a team in the field this year which will be fully as strong as in any past season.

At Wednesday night's meeting it was voted to hold a concert in the Town Hall on Thurday evening, April 15th, Messrs. George W. Tilley George LeDuc and Fred T. Dotten being appointed a committee to have the affair in charge.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

Mr. Metcalf's sermon Sunday morning will be on "The Meaning of Life." He will consider the various interpretations which have been given leading up to the Religious Interpretation.

Ex-President Taft has accepted an invitation to preside at the Sunday School meeting in connection with the General Conference that meets next Summer in San Francisco. Some very attractive personally conducted trips at a vry reasonable price have been arranged. Mr. Metcalf will furnish information in regard to them to any person interested.

There will be found in the rack for tracts in the vestibule of the church a most valuable publication of Religious Education of the American Unitarian Association. It is a tract by Mrs. Richard Cabot on Teaching Religion in the Sunday School. It is most readable, brilliant and convincing.

The Men's Dinner on Monday evening has been set very early, 6 P. M., with the expectation that the men will come directly from their work without dressing specially for the occasion. This is done in order that those who desire can also attend the Town Meeting. The illustrated lecture of Mr. MacQueen is most timely and interesting. He will show a large number of original pictures which he himself took at the front and give us the results of his first-hand experiences. Mr. MacQueen's fame as a lecturer was already great, but will he much increased by this timely address.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained of Mr. Herbert Stone or any other member of the committee. The men of Winchester generally, whether members of the Parish or not, are invited.

MIXED TOURNAMENT CLOSES.

Final Games Rolled Last Night.

The final games were rolled in the Winter Bowling Tournament at the Calumet Club last evening, the only teams affected being 9 and 12, who fought it out for fourth prize.

Team 9 made easy work of winning all four points from team 8, thereby taking fourth prize. It rolled its best game of the tournament, with Ayer putting up two strings of 115 each and the team a string of 528 flat in its third.

The real interest in the tournament centered on Wednesday night, when team 7, which lead the list by a margin of two points, rolled team 3. A win of three would have insured first prize, two points would have tied for first, one point would have tied for second and a loss of four meant third prize.

The team lost all four. The game was well rolled on both sides, team 3 having the advantage of a full team and nothing at stake. Purrington, Lane, Murphy and Berry all rolled over 300, Lane and Purrington each putting up singles of 121.

PRIZE WINNERS.

1st Team Prize. Won by team 2—James E. Corey, capt., Dr. H. N. Bernard, Henry Weed, Sewall E. Newman, Herbert T. Bond.

2nd Team Prize. Won by team 1—Joseph E. Gendron, capt., E. Abbott Bradlee, Wm. S. Olmsted, Dr. H. J. Olmsted, Charles E. Kinsley.

WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE.

Receives Paper Weight Owned and Used by Namesake.

At the meeting of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., held on Tuesday night, an interesting incident took place, when Senior Warden, Jay B. Benton, presented for Mr. John Cutler of the Boston Transcript a paper weight which was owned and used for many years by William Parkman, after whom the Lodge was named.

The meeting was a regular communication of the Lodge, there being a large attendance, about 100 being present. The third degree was worked upon a full class of five candidates, the charge to the candidates being given by Past Grand Warden W. H. H. Soule of Boston.

A collation followed the work and at its conclusion a very enjoyable juvenile vaudeville entertainment was given by six children which furnished one of the best entertainment programs at the Lodge this winter.

LUCINE FINCH CHARMS LARGE AUDIENCE IN MRS. GINN'S MUSIC-ROOM.

An audience which completely filled Mrs. Ginn's music-room listened to Lucine Finch on the evening of March 5. As always, Miss Finch simply delighted her audience with her inimitable songs and stories, learned from her negro mammy, who had been her grandmother's mammy also. As this mammy was of an uncommon sort, so are her stories. Of the many persons who tell stories about the negroes, there is no one besides Miss Finch who gives the wonderful charm of their rich poetic vein, who raises such stories to the level of folk-lore, where they belong. Mrs. Ginn played the second movement of "The New World Symphony," the fire music from "Die Dalkure" and the March Slav," a program which inspired all who heard it, Miss Finch, as well as her audience.

The voice of this great organ, articulating divine music, is a tremendous force in the uplifting and inspiring of a community, fortunate in having such a force in its midst.

The Winchester Equal Suffrage League is greatly indebted to Mrs. Ginn for the large sum realized through her generosity.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

Recently it was the good fortune of The Spectator to gaze upon an exquisite painting called "Hope." It represents the figure of a woman with eyes bound, playing on a lyre which has but one unbroken string; yet every detail of the picture adds to the story of cheer that owns no defeat and accepts life as it comes, smiling still in the face of troubles that would overthrow a less courageous, happy spirit.

Fancy how the painting would have looked if the artist had thrust that broken lyre in the hands of some of us discouraged mortals and told us to make the best of it. Would the picture have been entitled "Hope" or "Despair?"

The cheeriness that knows and sings the melody of life is a wonderful gift, for the song is not limited to the singer—it reaches and uplifts all who are within its range. And if a merry heart makes a cheerful countenance it is no less true that a cheerful countenance is given reflection in hearts all around that are made merry by the gladsome vision.

Some pictures are in the making right here in Winchester that will be fit hangings for a world where only happiness reigns, faces softly smiling and tones clear and beautiful.

Some time ago The Spectator had something to say regarding the making of parents responsible for the acts of delinquent minors. The present method of handling juvenile delinquents is not producing the results hoped for, notwithstanding the optimistic opinions of some very estimable gentlemen as to its workings.

Parental responsibility has been lost, and the moral effect of the police force, which used to be efficient in cases of this kind, has been entirely wiped out, but through no fault of the force itself, for it finds itself debarred from handling cases of this sort with anything like mild admonition.

If penalizing parents in the event of the children turning petty thieves and malicious mischief makers will bring home to them some sense of responsibility for the care of their offspring then such a law is to be welcomed.

A philosophical orchestra leader says that there would be fewer divorces if there were more high-grade music in American homes. He has expressed a fundamental truth that the ancients knew by intuition. Shakespeare knew it in his day, as witness his famous line, "If music be the food of love, play on." The only reason the ancients applied music to the solution of the divorce problem is that divorces were practically unknown in their day. When a man and his wife quarreled, he gave her a chastising, and both of them considered the matter ended.

But in these days we do things differently, and there is needed an antidote for the divorce evil. None gives proof of being so efficacious and so delightful as music. Discord cannot enter a house where harmony and the concord of sweet sounds is held in high favor. Men are fond of good music, and there are few things that will keep husbands at home of night better than a pretty wife at the piano. And few things give a pleasure loving woman more delight than to play good music with an appreciative husband as an audience.

Most men are too busy earning a living nowadays to acquire a knowledge of music. But it is the ideal accomplishment for women. There are only two valid causes why parents should spend money in giving their daughter a musical education—either to fit her for a public career or to make her more charming as a wife and mother in her home. She who would live happily and maintain the integrity of her family life can prepare herself for it in no better way than by fitting herself to lure the mighty thoughts of Beethoven from a piano's keys or release the sweet spirit of Verdi from the strings of the harp.

WINCHESTER GRANGE GIVEN ENTERTAINMENT.

Miss Frances Stern will speak on "Sanitation in the Home," and music will be rendered by the high school orchestra and the glee club.

SOMETHING BRAND NEW.

"Ellipse Idea" for Grade Crossing Abolition. Noise Distributed and Immeasurably Lessened. No Center Building Disturbed.

Editor of the Star:—

An entirely new and fresh proposal has been lately developed and declared practicable by excellent judges.

The hitherto unsolved and widely considered "unsolvable" problem of constructing the streets either over or under the B. & M. R. R. double tracks at the center of the town of Winchester is dealt with as by magic—eliminating the "problem" entirely—annihilating it altogether.

The two parallel car tracks it is proposed to have separated at the Town Center one from another and removed, the East track, for outward bound trains, 100 yards more or less towards the East nearly to the Town Hall and Library. The West track, for inward bound trains, several score yards towards the West. These each to come together again about 600 feet north toward Lowell, and again 600 feet South toward Boston.

The iron rails thus arranged would very nearly form a quite symmetrical "ellipse" of metal 1,200 feet long, from North to South, and 200 feet wide, or less, through its center and the Town Square-Center—likewise East and West, enclosing rather than crossing the Town Square.

Private parties, including one veteran railroad contractor, have traversed this elliptical line throughout and together with care, and found the project entirely feasible and not prohibitively expansive relative to other plans that have been proposed by the diligent, yet more or less perplexed, authorities of the Town from time to time, and other enterprising constructive-minded citizens.

The ground to the West being high, in front of and North and South from the Congregational Church, it is found the single track there can be so sunken for trains from North to South as to admit of its passing through a covered viaduct which would conceal trains from view for a considerable distance, also confining the noise, if not completely, yet all excessive degrees of the same.

The only one-half as loud and frequent rumblings to the East from the square center, there being only one track instead of two for the trains from South to North, would be so distant as to be undisturbing at the center, where the trolleys and steam trains have so long "rattled and thundered" of yore.

Standing in front of the drug store at the corner of Main and Mt. Vernon streets or boarding the cars there running between Arlington and Reading, no sight or sound of annoying steam trains would ever be heard. Yet they would all the day and much of the night be running as rapidly and as often as they have always before. Hawthorne's "Sleepy Hollow," forsooth, would fairly be rivalled here henceforth and forever—at least so it would almost seem—and as for jolting in trolley cars over rails and planks for many successive rods, such experience so often had by many of us would be only a memory hereafter, while emancipation therefrom, henceforth, would be an unspeakable relief and delight.

Modeover, no building at the center on either side would ever of necessity be raised or moved from its present foundations and incidentally, it may be remarked, only two elsewhere. Also, with the numerous and wide extending rails removed, space for new structures, and flowers and shrubbery galore would forthwith appear.

This is not a dream but a plain and not over difficult but practicable possibility, and that before many moons have come and gone, or changing seasons, industriously spent, have passed away.

What do the citizens of Winchester say of such a scheme as this provided it be found practicable, as it is stontly claimed and confidently believed it would be, and withal quite within the resources at the command of the town through the aggregate—the combined percentages of the four potent bodies named in the Law of the Common of Massachusetts as contributing organizations.—J. H. Emerson.*

Addendum:—A map is being arranged and will be shortly available, indicating where highway bridges will be required, and how the material largely for constructing them will be abundantly forthcoming, from out-of-sight gullies, viaducts and elsewhere. Exact surveys, precise costs and final locations must all succeed, of course, these are only preliminary observations. The present R. R. Station might be retained, or a more sightly one take to place a little East on Church street, another similar one on one or the other sides of the overhead bridge on Mt. Vernon street, would, of course, be required. This "Royal-Ellipse Plan" would seem to best befit the dignity and symmetry of this notable, not impecunious and growing town. A second plan, however, fittingly called "The Economical Efficiency Plan" might yet be named and described. Should this quiet, spreading, unique, ellipse plan, without the slightest change of a building at the Center, prove to meet with general favor.

*A preliminary map illustrating in some detail the above article can be now seen at the "Star" office, also one suspended in the B. & M. R. R. Station, and at the Town Hall.

"What's a fire insurance policy?"
"I get you! A promise to pay if you have a fire."
"Exactly. You're paying good money for a promise to pay without knowing the name of the company that promises!"
"Say, what company are you in?"
"The panic-proof Hartford Fire Insurance Company. A company that has promptly settled every honest loss for 105 years."

May we show YOU a Hartford policy? Costs no more than others.

MIXED BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Leaders Hold Their Positions and Rest Divide Points.

Four matches were rolled in the mixed bowling tournament at the Calumet Club during the week, resulting in the leaders still continuing to hold their places, while those teams in fourth and fifth places split up the points sufficiently to make several minor changes in standing, although without any decisive results.

Team C held its place by a win of three points from team N. In this match Mrs. Flanders excelled for the ladies with a single of 92 and a total of 255. The other scores were as a whole rather low, although Mr. Bowe tucked in a good single of 117 in his second, which helped materially for the point team N captured.

In a match between teams G and O, team O took three points also. Both were well down in the list and their standing was not greatly affected by the match. Mrs. R. Clark, with a single of 88 and a total of 244, was high for the ladies.

Team L went into fourth place by winning all four from team J, which is well down in the standing. Only two members of the latter team were present. Mrs. Goddu rolled a good single in this game with 90, and Mrs. Rogers, with 231, took the ladies' total.

Team F looks like a very possible winner, if it is not too early to begin to pick. It took all four from team M very handily and by the best scores of the week. Mrs. Hindes rolled a good single in her third when she piled up 92, and her total of 246 was also high. The Doctor rolled two singles of over a hundred, with 113 for high, and his total of 297 was the best for the gentlemen.

SEARCH FOR ANTI-SUFFRAGE SOCIAL WORKERS!

Editor of the Star:—

Two years ago at an anti-suffrage meeting in Winchester, I asked Mrs. A. J. George a question which to my knowledge hasn't yet been answered satisfactorily. The question was: "Why are practically all the well-known social workers also suffragists?" I named Miss Addams, Miss Julia Lathrop, Mr. Edward T. Devine, Mr. Owen R. Lovejoy. Mrs. George questioned my premise and named Miss Ida Tarbell and Mr. Felix Adler. She treated us beforehand to a good laugh, prefacing this answer with a whimsical account of her platform experiences. She never spoke at a meeting open to suffragists, she told us, without sooner or later beholding the door swing back, and Miss Addams come walking towards her down the aisle. This put us in a friendly humor and we did not feel in the mood to "answer back" about the matching of Miss Addams (who, by the way, with all of Mrs. George's most delightful graciousness and tact, was led down the aisle and discreetly shown the door, because, not being a married woman, her value was, let us say, to give the atmosphere of delicate restraint displayed by Mrs. George—considerably lessened) with Miss Ida Tarbell, and the playing off of Mr. Felix Adler, the brilliant founder of the New York Ethical Culture Society against Mr. Lovejoy, secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, and Mr. Devine, former secretary of the New York Charity Organization Society, and now director of the School of Philanthropy. There was some other pairmg-off, I believe, but I do not now recall what names figured in it.

I would like to set forth a friendly challenge (more of the "friendly" than the "challenge") to anyone in the Winchester Anti-Suffrage League who knows the difference between a social worker and a writer (viz. Miss Tarbell), or a lecturer and philosopher (viz. Mr. Adler), to match equal name against name of well-known social worker Anti against well-known social worker suffragist. The fact is that if one really knows what he is about, the thing can't be done.

All of which brings us back to the original question: "Why are practically all the well-known social workers also active suffragists?" Let me name this time for good measure: Miss Mary McDowell of Chicago, Dr. Katherine B. Davis of New York, Prof. Graham Taylor of Chicago.

I have never heard but one attempt at a direct answer to this question, and that was, I presume, intended for the humorous column.

MARGARET MUNRO ELDER.

POPULAR LIFE INSURANCE.

Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance May Issue $1,000 Policies.

Governor Walsh has signed a bill permitting the Savings Insurance Banks in Massachusetts to issue life insurance policies for one thousand dollars.

These banks have hitherto been limited by law to policies not exceeding $500. As there are four banks engaged in the life insurance business the largest amount of insurance which any individual could secure has been $2,000, or $500 in each bank. Now, this amount has been doubled, and a total insurance of $4,000 may be applied for by any resident of Massachusetts.

A one thousand dollar policy is a popular form of insurance and it is possible now for a person to take out this amount of insurance by making a single application to any one of the savings insurance banks. This is a distinct advantage, saving time and taxable for the applicant, and lessening the amount of work at the banks.

The four banks with insurance departments are Whitman Savings Bank, Whitman; People's Savings Bank, Brockton; Berkshire County Savings Bank, Pittsfield; City Savings Bank of Pittsfield, and these banks are issuing various forms of life insurance, such as straight life, twenty payment life and twenty year endowment policies.

Remarkable Promenade.

At a New York hotel a man who had suddenly become wealthy from an oil well venture had left his family, which had accompanied him to the city, in their rooms so long that they had become uneasy about him. At last he returned to the rooms, and to the anxious inquiry of his wife, "Where in the world have you been so long?" he responded, calmly: "I've just been in the cuspidore, walking pro and con."

In Solon's Time.

During the time of Solon, the famous lawmaker, he secured the passage of a statute compelling every able bodied adult man in the nation to give proof once a year that he was earning a decent living and was self-supporting. Somebody has written to us suggesting that this would not be a bad example for Uncle Sam to follow, since the class of those who have learned to live "gracefully in idleness" is constantly on the increase.—Christian Record

HOW LONG THEY LAST

Average Collars Stand 26 Launderings—Half a Year of Weekly Wear—according to the London Laundry Record.

That is possibly a fair average for American collars, too, but you cannot predict that every collar worn by every man will be unfrayed after six months.

Much depends on the kind of collars you buy; much depends on how you wear them and whether you yank them off or remove them quietly.

ANYWAY, FOLLOW YOUR COLLARS' HISTORY; WE DATE THEM.

No Restful Sleep for Seventeen Months!
Dangerous, distressing Kidney and Bladder Trouble removed by Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Mr. C. H. Smith, 320 Washington St., Providence, R. I., writes: "I thank you for the free sample bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy you sent me. Since taking this I have continued its use and have used three large bottles, with much relief. I had been troubled severely with constipation for years. My case was supposed to be chronic. Now my bowels are regular. I was also a great sufferer from Kidney and Bladder trouble and for seventeen months I had no rest at night, as it was necessary to get up so often, sometimes as often as twice an hour. I am pleased to say that now I do not have to get up more than twice during the night and sometimes only once. Your Favorite Remedy has proved a blessing to me. I feel better all over. The heavy "dopey" feeling has left me, as well as the bloated eyes. I sincerely thank you, for if I had not first tried the sample bottle I would to-day probably be in the same old condition, with aches and pains and all tired out."
Write Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N. Y., for free sample and helpful booklet. A standard Kidney, Liver and Blood remedy. 40 years successful. All druggists.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

During the business meeting two interesting reports were given: Mrs. H. E. Hodge told of the work done by the Special Relief Committee and Mr. George H. Eaton spoke of the morning session of the mid-winter Federation meeting held in Somerville.

The entertainment for the afternoon was in charge of the Dramatic Committee,Mrs. Everett W. Farmer, chairman. "The Twig of Thorn" by Marie Josephine Warren was the play given. This is an Irish play supposed to be taking place in the year of the great famine (about 1846) and deals with the old legends and superstitions of the country people of Ireland.

From the moment when the play opened with the two old women, Nessa Teig and Maurya, her neighbor talking in the cottage of Nessa in County Galway, till the close, when Alleel, the poet, sacrifices himself for the happiness of Oonah and her lover Awgus, the spirit of the play was well sustained. Each one of those taking part entered into her character with a sympathy and zest which made the play a success. It was decidedly a charming play given in a most delightful manner.

The cast of the play was as follows:

Nessa Teig, the woman of the house — Mrs. F. B. Reynolds
Maurya, her neighbor, — Miss M. Alice Mason
Oonah, Nessa's grand-daughter — Mrs. E. W. Farmer
Awgus Arran, a young peasant, — Mrs. Charles Herrick
Alleel, a wandering poet — Mrs. H. K. Barrows
Father Brian, the priest — Mrs. W. H. Lowell
A Fairy Child — Miss Carlene Murphy
Fumla — Miss Miriam Martin
Kathleen — Mrs. Walter Taylor
Sheila — Miss Annette Symmes
Shaamus — Miss Dorothy Reynolds
Martin — Mrs. Oscar C. Lane
Tumas — Mrs. L. E. Bird

The music for the graceful dancing of "the fairy child," Miss Carlene Murphy, was furnished by the following members of the Choral Class: Mrs. Rufus Herrick, Mrs. John L. Tufts, Mrs. H. T. Bond,Mrs. Herbert L. Goff,Mrs. G. R. Ferguson.

The Home Economics Demonstration lecture on Tuesday was very largely attended. Over a hundred ladies enjoyed Mrs. Darling's interesting explanations and the delicious samples served afterward. The next lecture is on March 16 and will be on "Frostings." Single tickets are thirty-five cents.

TOWN MEETING.

asked that the section of the Revised Laws relating to the scope of town meetings be read, which was done by Moderator Ives. An appropriation of $9,000 by bonds or notes for the bridges was voted, there being a comparatively small portion of the voters expressing their choice, the yeas being 180 and the nays 65.

Mr. Metcalf moved to take from the table the previous motion for $50,000 for Ways and Bridges. $41,000 of this was to be raised by revenue and $9,000 by transfer. Mr. Parkhurst moved to reduce the $41,000 by $5,000, making it $36,000. He stated that he felt some of the new work specified could be omitted, and cited Waterfield road, where it had been said the new Post Office may be located, necessitating heavy travel and rebuilding; Thompson street, for the same reason; Main street could be repaired; Everett avenue needed attention and might be rebuilt; Brooks street he resided on, and recommended holding it over; Glen road and Stratford road could go over; granolithic sidewalks appropriation was needed; curbing was in question. Mr. Parkhurst stated that it seemed that the Town men should be willing, in view of the present conditions and the demand made and given by the Town in furnishing work for the unemployed, to offer a 48-hour week's work, taking their Saturday half holiday by additional hours throughout the week. His suggestion was received with applause.

Chairman Davidson of the Selectmen hoped the appropriation would not be cut. The Town must do a little work each year in construction. It was endeavoring to replace the waterbound macadam by the penetration method, and some of this must be done. Waterfield road needed rebuilding and the curbing was needed. He gave a list of gures showing the increase in expenditures caused by the vote of the January meeting to give work to the unemployed. The surface drainage had cost $1,500 to date and the original estimate was only $1,200. It was not yet finished. The Town should help the unemployed. The Highway payroll was about 52 per cent of the appropriation. When the registry for unemployed was opened in January 226 men applied for work; 113 citizens, 95 non-residents and 8 who had taken out papers. The citizens averaged 3 persons dependent upon them and the Town could not afford to allow these men to remain idle. The sum asked was $20,000 less than last year. Main street would he dug up for new car rails, gas main and surface drainage; now was the time to rebuild it.

Mr. Jewett thought that the overhead charges might be kept to former years and Mr. Whitney favored a cut, as did Mr. Laraway. Mr. Craughwell thought the department might do with a little less. Mr. Kerr spoke in opposition to the cut, as did Mr. Tuck. They thought the men should be kept at work and that they needed the money. Mr. Hall thought that a cut of $6,000 would be better, perhaps, and favored the motion. He said that if the tax rate was to be kept down the citizens must face the matter and vote to do so. He made a very good speech, and in his dry and humorous manner, which was much appreciated by the majority, and when he further amended by asking that the Selectmen be instructed to give special attention to Chester and Oak streets and Everett avenue, he was applauded and the motion as good as carried.

Mr. Tuck thought the cut should be $10,000, and amended, making the amount $36,500, cutting out among other things the new automobile for the department.

Mr. John H. Carter stated that the cost of the streets during the past five years amounted to $309,000, the appropriation constantly increasing each year; he said further that the laborers got the benefit of the appropriation for snow and ice. He thought the work could be better apportioned throughout the season, and a few more drops of rain fell on the Labor party when he advocated a $2.50 a day wage for 48 hours a week for the regular out-of-door laborers who were able bodied men. He thought that in view of the fact that these men did not work the year round they were entitled to this consideration, but he did not believe in placing the incompetent in gangs with the able bodied. Prof. C. F. A. Currier found that the increase in the department amounted to 250 per cent and thought the cut advisable.

The vote on $41,000 was lost and the vote on $36,000 was carried.

The rain then began to fall heavily. Mr. Carter offered a motion that it was the sense of the meeting that a minimum wage of $2.50 a day for a 48 hour week be paid able bodied men of the Highway department and that preference be given to the inhabitants of the Town. Labor could hardly grasp the situation, but Mr. Tuck sensed the import of the motion, and calling upon Selectmen Davidson and Kerr, spoke viorously in opposition. He was seconded by Mr. Kerr, who stated that neither the Selectmen nor the Finance Committee were informed of the motion, and he certainly opposed it.

Mr. Carter replied that it was not his custom to consult either board and that he was exercising his right as a citizen.

His motion was simply the sense of the meeting. Mr. Parkhurst favored the motion and repeated his opinion expressed earlier that the men should be willing to make up their Saturday half holidays. Messrs. Tuck and Davidson opposed. Mr. T. H. Barrett stated that the men could work over-time, as they had to his knowledge done so, their time being put on the week ahead.

The motion was put to a rising vote and carried 248 to 107.

The Fire Department next came up for consideration. Mr. Metcalf offered a motion for the Finance Committee's recommendation of $15,150. Mr. Jewett said that he had been over this account and that it was his opinion that the $500 for maintenance and $250 out of the $500 for new hoxes could be saved by economy. He moved $14,400.

Mr. Davidson opposed any reduction and spoke for the original sum. Among other things he stated that the electric road was to install steel poles from the Centre to Symmes corner, which would necessitate two new posts for alarm boxes, and that two services, one on the West and one on the East side, needed new wire. He said that 23 old boxes needed replacing, it being the plan to replace four each year. The underground appropriation was practically exhausted and would not furnish sufficient revenue to make the changes necessary at the new Fire House. Mr. Tuck spoke and Mr. Laraway motioned to make the appropriation $15,000, which was voted.

$3,900 was asked for Cemetery maintenance. To this motion Mr. Carter spoke in favor of a reduction. It was five years ago, he stated, that the Commissioners had stated that their appropriation would shortly be less than then asked for. Instead it had increased. A large percentage of Winchester people did not use the cemetery and never will. A joke appeared at this point to some, but it was suppressed. Mr. Carter moved $3,000.

Mr. Gleason of the Cemetery Commissioners stated that the vote regarding the salaries of the town employees would reduce the payroll $1,654, which could be saved for the payment of other laborers and that the department could stand a reduction of $400. Mr. Carter accepted the amendment and $3,500 was voted.

Sewer construction. The appropriation called for was $15,500. Of this $10,000 seemed agreed upon as best met by a bond issue, the remaining $5,500 being raised by revenue. The bond issue was omitted from the discussion and the $5,500 considered.

Mr. Tuck voted to amend by making the sum of $5,300, but his motion was lost and $5,500 voted.

Sewer Maiantenance. With almost no discussion $1,250 was voted as asked.

Water Maintenance. $13,700 was asked. Mr. Carter asked for an explanation of the item of $500 for engineering and Mr. Barrows of the Water department replied that it was to pay the Town Engineers for making a much needed plan of the water system. Mr. Carter desired to know if the work was to be done by the Town why it had to be paid for separately, and as no explanation was given, moved to reduce by $500. Mr. Hall thought that $200 more might be saved, and moved to reduce $700, making the appropriation an even $13,000. This was voted.

Water Construction. Voted to issue bonds or notes to the amount of $8,000.

Town Hall. $3,500 was recommended, and after some discussion was voted, Messrs. Tuck opposing, P. E. Fitzgerald and Selectman Kendall supporting.

At this point 10.30 o'clock had been reached, but Dr. C. J. Allen of the Board of Health asked permission to speak on the Health department appropriation of $5,900, which he had moved to increase to $6,100. The Doctor stated in a somewhat lengthy speech that the increase was for the purpose of paying a Stable Inspector with the idea of reducing the fly nuisance. He went over the matter thoroughly, but the meeting was against him almost unanimously and even appeared ready to cut the original recommendation, when Mr. Patrick Craughwell, in one of the best speeches of the evening advocated the proposed sum. Mr. Craughwell's reference to the amount of the sum, which he felt would "hardly keep Toodles in hairpins," and his closing sentence, placing the matter between "Nip and Tuck," brought out a hearty laugh, and tickled the meeting so much that the Doctor was given his $6,100.

The meeting was then adjourned.

TOWN MEETING.

The fourth session of the meeting was held last evening with the usual large attendance. Economy still seemed to be the watchword, it being mentioned several times, but the appropriations went through with celerity on the recommendations of the Finance Committee in almost every instance, what slight reductions there were being off-set by a few increases. The meeting adjourned after debating for an hour that interesting question of the purchase of a tractor for the fire engine or a motor pump. The speakers for each piece of apparatus wete fairly evenly divided, cut Mr. Fitzgerald, who advocated a gasoline tractor at $3,500 in preference to an electric tractor at $4,500 or a motor pump at $8,000, appeared to have considerable support, and it would not be surprising if such a piece of apparatus is voted nexi Monday evening. It developed that our fire engine has only been used four times during the past year, two of which were out of town, and furthermore that it had been rebuilt recently, besides having several thorough overhaulings. The meeting opens on this question at the next session, and notwithstanding arguments to the contrary, a gasoline tractor looks probable as the choice of the majority of the voters, who appeared ready to again put the word economy into effect, and to keep the tax rate below $19.

Selectman Davidson offered a motion, which was passed, that a committee of five be appointed to consider a revision of the Building Laws, to report at the next meeting. Mr. J. P. Boutwell presented the report of the committee on the consolidation of town officers, with the recommendation that a committee of 15 be appointed to further consider the matter, and the sum of $100 was voted to defray expenses, such committee to report in the annual town report. The committee will be appointed by the Moderator.

Mr. Kerr presented the report on dividing the Town into voting precincts, stating that such division was deemed inexpedient at this time.

The appropriations were as follows: Contagious diseases $2,656.53, abatement of taxes $500, assessors' dept. $2,800, auditor's dept. $1,125, clerical assistance $1,600, collector of taxes $2,550, (raise) committees $250, engineering $5,320, election and registration $650, (reduction) inspector of animal $100, inspector of buildings $550, inspector of wires $335, legal dept. $750, scaler of weights and measures $440, selectmen $1,000, board of survey $150, (reduction) town clerk $550, treasurer $1,325 (raise) unclassified accounts $1,600, pensions for town laborers $600, poor dept. $12,000, soldiers' relief $144, state aid $950, library $4,300, gypsy and brown tail moth $5,500, Manchester field $1,450, common and public plots $300, public park account $500, reserve fund $1,000, (reduction) shade trees $570, independence day $700, memorial day $300, claim account $100, grade crossing $400.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

Mrs. William R. Marshall was the chairman of the Luncheon Committee which served a very delicious meal to about two hundred ladies on last Tuesday. During the regular business meeting it was voted to give $25 to the Ministers' Pension Fund.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Roger S. Forbes of Dorchester gave an interesting talk on "Those Inside and Those Outside of the Parish." Mrs. Assunta Michelini Wineship, with Mrs. A. H. Abbot at the piano, sung in her usual delightful manner.

OBSERVATIONS.

1912 up, 1913 upper, 1914 uppest, 1915 down.

Some items we have passed can well stand a cut. Interest $500. Snow and Ice $500. Town Stable $1,000 at least, by hiring the men by the hour for the times they are needed, morning, noon and night.

If the labor vote passed Monday night is carried out properly, both the regular laborer and the town will profit by it.

Now let the various departments see to it that the town receives proper value for its money expended.

The chairman of the Selectmen's comparison with Woburn didn't help his side any. Woburn with a tax rate of $26.00 and little to show for it, Winchester with a tax rate of $17.40 and a great deal to show for it and with fifty per cent greater valuation. Which system do you prefer, the one that builds up or the one that builds down?

Why was $5500 for Sewer Construction raised by taxation? This can be bonded if desired. We should ask for the reason.

Including last Monday night we have reduced appropriations below the Finance Committee's recommendations $10,000 and can reduce it a few thousands more without hurting any department. The committee's "fine table comb" had many holes in it apparently.

If we can pay half this year and half next we should buy the motor pump and there should be no trouble about so arranging it with the seller as the building will not be ready till about next Summer, and it will take six weeks to hold tests and decided what make machine to buy.

I will predict right now that there will be just as many special calls to meet next year as there are this and the same will be true every year. Extravagance of five years cannot be overcome in one year, or two, or three.

The vote on labor hire Monday night will give the Town $2000, more work and the men just as much pay as before. It was surprising that two Selectmen took the floor in favor of half holidays when men are tramping the streets looking for work.

The weird financing of last year resulted in a deficit between deferred tax payment's interest and interest on money borrowed in anticipation of taxes of about $700.00 The first time it ever happened in this Town.

THE LAW

In the employment of mechanics, and laborers in the construction of public works by the commonwealth, or by a county, city or town, or by persons contracting therewith, preference shall be given to citizens of the commonwealth, and, if they cannot be obtained in sufficient numbers, then to citizens of the United States, and every contract for such work shall contain a provision to this effect. The wages for a day's work paid to mechanics, and laborers employed in such construction of public works shall be not less than the customary and prevailing rate of wages for a day's work in the same trade or occupation in the locality, city or town where such public works are constructed. Any contractor who knowingly and wilfully violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars for each offence.

John H. Carter.

FIRE AT GINN RESIDENCE.

The fire department was called out yesterday forenoon for a fire in the residence of Mrs. Edwin Ginn on Baroon street. The fire was in several packing cases filled with rubbish in the cellar. There was not much damage except by smoke through the house, and the fire was extinguished with hand chemicals.

Just as the apparatus returned from this fire an alarm was sent in for a brush fire on Andrews Hill near the old Winn place. This fire did no damage, but burned to a strip of ploughed land on High street before it could be stopped.

GRADE CROSSING MODEL.

The model of the town plan for the elimination of the grade crossing at the Center has been made for the Selectmen and will be on exhibition in the small Town Hall this Saturday afternoon from three to six. This plaster of paris model will show the exact appearance of the Center as it will look after the work has been completed —all the buildings and streets affected being shown. It will be worth seeing.

A REMINDER OF OLD TIMES.

Amusing Cracks at Winchester Town Officials.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE.
Foochow, China, Jan. 29, 1915.

My dear Mr. Wilson:—

I am enclosing a slap at the prominent residents of the Old Town, as you and I knew them forty years ago. I wonder how many of them you will remember? Do you remember the old Turkey Swamp where we used to go hunting wild turkeys, and which now goes by the high sounding name of Highland Reservoir?

I am leaving China now after twenty-five years. A little while ago I asked for a transfer to a Canadian Consulate, near Boston, and am now going to Rimouski, Canada. So you may expect to see me "blow in" about March 25th for a few days' stay en route to my new post.

With kindest regards and best wishes,

Sincerely yours,
JOHN FOWLER.

NATURE AND MAN

Or Winchester and Her Knotty Boards.

(Read before the W. L. A. M. Association, July 4th, 1874. Affectionately inscribed to Mrs. H. F. J. (Probably the late Henry F. Johnson).

NATURE.

Winchester is a beautiful place,
Kind Nature has given her a smiling face;
Her hills and valleys with verdure are clad,
And bullfrogs sing 'mongst her lily-pads.

Her noble trees are the pride of the town,
Her forests with singing birds abound,
Her lakes are the homes of the lilies fair,
And turtles and musquash live lovingly there.

Her orchards bend o'er with luscious fruit,
Her pastures are gardens for man and brute,
Her very rocks are sermons in stone,—
Her mosquitoes whisper in hungry tones.

Her brooks and birds are always in tune,
Flowers in her fields and meadows bloom,
Her rivers are alive with "useful" fish,
But they bone the man who dare eat a dish.

Though Nature has blessed our beautiful town,
Man has made our institutions sound;
The Elect they run it as well as they can—
Who dares expect more of imperfect man?

THE SELECTMEN.

First of the runners are the Selectmen,
Who scratch on the roads like so many hens,
Who feed all the paupers as cheap as they can,
And pay out all money with a careful hand.

Our cozen George takes care of the room,
Supplies them with wafers, papers and l rooms;
He told Mrs. Johnson and Johnson told me,
They often "took something" when they felt the need.

For they do not serve for pay, you know—
So they take their "comfort" as they go;
And once a month they have a banquet,—
For the truth of this go ask the planchette.

Sam, the chairman, with the town's own rule,
Stirs up a punch so nice and cool,
That Asa and Henry, Robert and Albert,
Declare they won't vote for Governor Talbot.

Then Sam, standing in a graceful position,
Delivers to the board a Hic! Hac! oration;
And Asa sings the new classical song,
"Huldy, do you believe in courtin' too long?"

Robert enlivens with his sparkling wit;
Albert tries to, but his tongue is too thick;
And Henry, the child of that noble band,
Dances a jig, to the tune of Temperance Sam.

The next day Sam is swollen 'bout the eyes;
Asa's voice is half squeak and half cry;
The rest look like policemen on Monday.
All tell George "Put our rum into yurn 'sundries.'"

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

Next in importance is the Water Commission;
These we will "water cure" with their permission.
As individuals they are fat and plump,—
George says they don't drink from water pumps.

The chairman is a man of good common sense,
A man who never "stands on the fence;"
In speech he is blunt, just like himself,
And wants his own way, like everyone else.

The next is a man just right for these times,
When he spends money he won't "go it blind;"
He thinks over his glasses, and ponders a spell,
Before he says "Swamp water is better than well."

The third man works like a Hydraulic Ram,
(This one talks of embankments, won't say dam,)
He works nobly, (considering his head,)
And though he will follow, he won't be led.

Though all this board are short in the legs,
They have made the most of their little head;
We "write in water" their enduring fame,
And our children shall live to bless their name.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Next in order are the School Committee—
Better served here than in the city—
The lesser half wear broadcloth and "specs,"
The "better half" in "bloomers" are dressed.

Their chairman is a great medical man,
Whose patients all live in the Silent Land;
He lives on old-school pills and "glauber salts,"
And teaches children the "Honolulu" waltz.

The next man was fried on the legal spit—
His best friends say he's dry in legal wit;
His "legal" opinions he always gives;
His clients suffer and die that he may live.

The "new" man is a reverend D.D.,—
We will "pass" him till his "play" we see;
Next year, perhaps, we will "try him a hand,"
And let you all know how the "points" stand.

We would fain pass by the committee-ladies—
This is not the place to sound their praises—
Suffice it to say they are all doing well,
And as committee-men they much excel.

ASSESSORS.

Next appear the great tax assessors,
Called by all "annual oppressors"—
They count our dogs, our pigs, our cats,
Our every kitten and ladies' rats.

They look through our houses, over our lots,
They note our kettles, and all our old pots;
Nothing passes by their hungry eyes,—
Yet they will not swallow our "cooked up" lies.

You see them in spring-time under the trees,
Deciding who are bond-men, who own fees,
We cannot dodge them, it's no use to run,
So we lie easy whenever they come.

To be continued.

MOTORISTS LAUD GOODRICH STAND.

Enthusiastic at Tire Reductions—Manufacturers Fall in Line.

The following editorial from Motor Age in its February 11th issue is of interest to every user of automobile tires, in that it indicates how popular has been the reception of the Goodrich stand on tire prices. Dealers all over the country report a tremendous increase in the tire business wherever the leading manufacturers have lowered their prices to conform to the Goodrich standard. Orders have been pouring in constantly and in such volume that the men are working night and day.

In their editorial Motor Age says:

"The tire situation is clarifying itself and in the process tire lists quite generally are touching new low levels. Since the Goodrich company announced its new list and the abolishment of percentage discounts in favor of established prices to the users and net prices to the dealer, half a dozen other makers have revised lists and in practically every case the new figures are lower than the old ones.

"The B. F. Goodrich company by virtue of its long establishment, tremendous experience and wonderful equipment is in a position to meet this greatly increased demand with no difficulty. Its officials considered this standardization of tire prices for a long time before they made the announcement which has startled the entire automobile world, and they are positive that the move is the only logical advancement in this industry. Their huge volume of business admitting of a small selling profit for tires has enabled them to set this standard of prices which represents the rock bottom, or, as they call it, the gold standard in tire prices for the country.

"As F. T. Moore, New England manager, recently expressed this whole movement, 'Here is the first "Gold Standard" in tire valuation.'

"Somebody had to do it because tire price lists have been getting into the 'joke' class. Price lists were too generally being printed up for the sole purpose of being discounted down by the retailer. Value was being lost sight of in the hot competition as to who could quote the greatest discount off price lists padded up for the purpose.

"Absurd, wasn't it—in an enlightened age like this?"

"Some reliable standard to judge values by has been badly needed.

"We have the 'temerity' to cut loose from the padded price list procession and supply it.

"At this writing (Feb. 1, 1915), nine leading tire manufacturers price list (to consumers) their 34x45 plain tread tires at prices ranging from $24.35 to $33—the Goodrich price is now $19.40.

"None of these brands can be proven to average more mileage than Goodrich plain treads, under similar use.

"Now observe the difference in price.

"There is only one ready way to determine tire value in advance of wearing out the tires.

"That is to measure its price, for a given size, against the price of the most standardized tire in the field.

"This means measure it against the bona fide price list of the Goodrich tire.

"Because—The B. F. Goodrich Co. factory is not only the longest established, most experienced and best equipped, but has an annual production of over 90,000,000 pounds of rubber goods yearly.

"That justified you in believing that its purchasing of raw materials and its manufacturing costs must be the lowest in the field for similar quality.

"In turn, that also means that its huge volume also admits of selling tires on a smaller profit per tire than if it had to take all its overhead expenses out of one kind of rubber product only, or out of smaller volume.

"With such a huge market at stake, it will also be evident that such a concern could not afford to risk its future by charging more for a tire than it would deliver value for, even if the current padded price list system made it easy to do so.

"Because of foregoing, you are invited to henceforth use the Goodrich tire price as a reliable standard for comparison of values with all other makes."

Quality-Compare Prices

The Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete is all brawn and muscle—no fat

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form." Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—fictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

IT was their only "come-back." They had to say that, in stripping down prices to the point where they were fair to dealer and consumer and left no room for injurious price-cutting tactics, we had stripped our tires of some quality, too.

THE Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete, is all brawn and muscle—no fat. It represents an achievement—the ability to cut out the extra costs of manufacture, the extra costs of labor, of extra, needless material, and to give you the best, long-mileage, high-standard tire in the world.

There are padded tires as well as padded price lists.

Don't pay for padding.

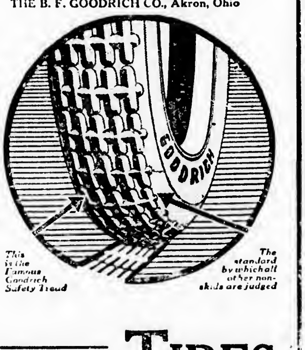

Now don't forget this—we are talking in the main about Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, for they represent ni.. ty per cent of our factory output for resale.

Furthermore, while we have put the padded prices on smooth tread tires on the run, the evil of padded prices on non-skid tires still is in evidence, as shown in table below:

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, Ohio

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	$ 9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30x3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32x3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34x4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55
36x4½	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
37x5	33.90	39.80	41.80	49.85	52.05

This is the Famous Goodrich Safety Tread

The standard by which all other non-skids are judged

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

EDISON NEWS SERVICE.

Thousands of people in the territory served by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston know that "Electricity for Everybody" is an entirely true and practical slogan. A good many know that electricity is used for many things, but they don't know all about how they can use it to better advantage. The Boston Edison Company proposes now, with the coming of Spring, to carry practical information about the varied uses of electricity to every resident and property owner in the forty-two cities and towns where its service is used.

Representatives of the company located in the different districts where its electric service goes, assisted by a large corps of men, will call on everyone. People, it is to be hoped, will "Watch for the Edison Representative."

Not only will the people who are not now using electricity have an opportunity to know more about what electric service will do for them, but every present user of the service will be visited to see that service is satisfactory, if each person is getting the right illumination and if each person is using the electric service he has at hand. The company wants its customers, as well as those who are not customers, to enjoy greater comfort and convenience.

This undertaking is a gigantic one. It means traveling over every street in every city and town in Greater Boston, and that in itself will mean thousands of miles of travel.

The great Thomas A. Edison recently said that within a few years everyone would be using electricity for nearly everything. "Electricity for Everybody" is a very present-day fact. No one in Greater Boston need wait, but can begin to "Do it Now."

"SUBMARINE" MOTION PICTURES

Not only regular theatre goers, but all school teachers and pupils of this city will be interested to learn that the marvelous "Under the Sea" pictures, which have been given pages of publicity by the scientific journals and magazines all over the world, are now being exhibited at the Boston Theatre. Photographing under water and through water has always been considered an impossibility by scientific men as well as by photographers. But, thanks to the recently completed Williamson submarine tube, the result of thirty years of experiments and labor, the motion picture operator, sitting at ease in a submarine chamber of steel and glass fathoms under the ocean, turned the crank and photographed many of the wonders and beauties of the deep, never before seen by man. No such panorama of motion pictures was ever flashed on a screen until the Williamson brothers, with their marvelous submarine inventions descend dinto the ocean, visited the beautiful coral beds of the Atlantic and took a trip through the subaqueous forests. They have brought from the deep the lost treasure of sunken shipwrecks and show thousands of strange fishes snapped in the marine gardens of the West Indies, which even men of science never saw before. Five times daily—at 12 noon, 4.30, 7.30 and 9 P. M. with two special performances on Sunday evening at 7 and 8.45. The price of admission for every seat in the theatre—at all performances—is 25 cents.

LARGELY ATTENDED.

Unitarian Vespers Greatly Enjoyed Sunday Afternoon.

The special vesper musical service at the Unitarian Church on Sunday afternoon again drew an attendance which taxed the capacity of the church to its limit. The program was given by an augumented choir with Mrs. Laura Comstock Littlefield as soprano soloist. The chorus was made up as follows: Mrs. Asunta Michelini Winship, Mrs. Carolyn B. Reed and Mrs. Herbert Goff, sopranos; Miss Eva F. Wessells, Miss Eva Kellough and Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf, contraltos; W. W. Hodgdon, Oscar E. Stevens and William A. Lefavor, tenors; Thomas N. Shufelt, Andrew T. Hunnewell and Dr. J. Churchill Hindes, basses. Mrs. Anna Winn Lockman was organist and director.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The 100th performance of "Common Clay," the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead, was celebrated Monday night at the Castle Square Theatre and souvenirs were presented to each patron. These were handsome booklets with photographs of the biggest scenes in the play.

"Common Clay" to an extent has been made great by its actors. Miss Mary Young thrills her audience as she depicts the struggles of Ellen Neal from poverty to renown. John Craig draws with subtle touches the sane, logical jurist with an unguessed past. William Carleton has won many friends with his part which contrasts so sharply the irresponsible college boy and the mature man.

Seats are still selling four weeks in advance and it is probable that Mr. Craig will finish out the season with "Common Clay" and put it on in New York City next season.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Loyal Temperance Legion will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Baptist Church at 3 p. m. Sunday, March 14. The State Superintendent of the L. T. L., Mrs. Helen G. Rice, is to be the speaker and she is always interesting, so it is hoped that there will be a full attendance of the members. The members of the Union and also others who may be interested in the training of young people are cordially invited to come to hear Mrs. Rice who is an able speaker and has had years of experience in the work.

The Middlesex County W. C. T. U. Institute, held at the State headquarters Thursday of last week, was very successful both in point of interest and attendance. Mrs. Hamilton presided in the absence of the County president, Mrs. Rolfe. In the morning three of the departments were present and in the afternoon Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, State president, conducted a parliamentary drill.

The work of Scientific Temperance Instruction was presented by Mrs. N. D. Rand of Newton, whose manner of presentation was most helpful and made everyone realize the possibilities in this most important part of the Union's work. The Loyal Temperance Legion was presented by Mrs. Rice in the unavoidable absence of the County superintendent, Mrs. Ricker, and was, as always, helpful. Mrs. Augusta J. Brigham presented the problem of increasing the subscriptions to the papers, state and national. Upon the whole the Institute proved to be well worth while and it is hoped that it may have at least an annual successor. The conventions do not leave time for the details of the work which must be learned by the newer workers and are helpful to the veterans. The meeting of the local Union this week, Friday the 12th, is at the Home for the Aged and will be of a social nature.

TOWN MEETING.

The fifth session of the town meeting was held on Monday evening with a good attendance. The meeting provided a good portion of entertainment for all, with the exhibition of a fine big auto motor pump and the interesting relief model of the proposed grade crossing elimination showing the appearance of the center as it will be if the plan is carried out.

The motor pump exhibited was the Robinson model which was shown at the recent auto show in Boston. It was driven to Winchester during the afternoon, and between the time of its arrival and the opening of the meeting, was put through its paces about town, climbing hills and showing speed. At 7.30 it was driven to the Town Hall and stationed in front of the entrance, that all the voters might have an opportunity to inspect it.

The relief model of the center was on exhibition in the small hall, where it was displayed last Saturday and Monday. It demonstrated accurately and visably the advantages of adopting the selectmens' or town plan, so called for the elimination of our grade drossing. The model is all made to scale, including not only the grades, but practically all of the buildings in the center. It is a marvel of accuracy in reproduction, each building being true to its design and proportions.

Owing to the Unitarian Men's supper the hall filled a little slowly, Peter MacQueen's war talk proving a strong attraction to many, but at 7.55 there was a large attendance and the meeting was opened by Moderator Ives.

The meeting only accomplished the disposal of one article, that of deciding the question of placing a tractor on our present steam fire engine or purchasing an auto motor pump. The previous meeting had adjourned on this question after debating for some time.

The vote gave the selectmen power to purchase the auto motor pump, $8,750 being appropriated for the purpose. While opinion was largely divided, the supporters of the pump provided the "talkers" and it became evident as the meeting progressed that the "pump" men were determined to have this piece of apparatus, and if it was voted down the question would come up at each opportunity offered until the purchase was made.

Outside this question the only matter of interest was the Post Office site, and an situation was opened when Mr. H. D. Nash of the special committee appointed to urge the selection by the government of the town site, stated that the government officials had been reported to favor the north end of the Common for a site. He also stated that although an option had been given on the Laraway property at the corner of Thompson street and Waterfield road, no acceptance or word had been received in the matter. He had heard that a number were in favor of the Common. This matter was left for consideration at last night's session.

At the opening of the meeting Town Counsel Dutch asked permission to make a report under article 6. He then presented the report of the committee appointed in the matter of acceptance of the chapter of the revised laws relating to the adoption of building lines by the town. The report was in favor of such action and recommended the insertion of an article in the warrant for the next annual meeting. The report was accepted.

Mr. Tuck then offered a motion that Mr. "Joseph" Laraway be appointed a committee of one to extend the thanks of the citizens to the members of the finance committee for their Dramatics for Benefits of the Club's Various Activities.

During the warm months of July and August when Winchester is, comparatively speaking, a deserted village, many of our citizens for obvious reasons cannot know of the activity of the Vacation School and Playground at the Chapin school, for which The Fortnightly is directly responsible. If more could be fortunate enough to visit the school while it is in session, there would undoubtedly exist a stronger interest in this splendid work, and even the casual observer could not come away without feeling that this institution fully justifies its existence.

Many of us, who were fortunate enough to be weekly visitors last summer, may well have envied the ability of the older boys and girls to produce such useful and pretty baskets as were on exhibition that last day of school in August. Under the supervision of trained teachers, the

CALUMET LADIES' NIGHT.

St. Patrick's Eve Entertainment Carried Out in Green.

Green was the predominating color at the informal ladies' night at the Calumet Club on St. Patrick's eve, the decorations, ices, cake and prizes all being cleverly arranged and selected in keeping with the season. About 100 ladies and gentlemen attended.

The entertainment consisted chiefly of novelty bowling, dancing and a social evening. In the bowling prizes were awarded for the highest strings, blind rolling and for consolation gifts to the low ones.

The decorations included flags and festoons of green, the tables being attractive in green and white, with the ices and cakes of the same color.

The bowling results were as follows:

Blind rolling: First prize, for highest string—tie between Mrs. Herbert J. Saabye and Miss Marion Parshley, each rolling 106. Second prize for the fifth highest string rolled—Mrs. George E. Willey, 98. Consolation prize, for the lowest string rolled Mr. Walter S. Taylor, 65.

High single strings: First prize—Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders, 103. Second prize, Mrs. Benjamin F. Miner, 92. Consolation prize for lowest string—Mrs. E. A. Morris, 45.

The prizes consisted of orders on a well known firm of jewellers, together with an attractive bouquet of lettuce and onions tied with green ribbon and a fine green pie, which when opened contained a long green snake.

GRADE CROSSING MODEL INTERESTING.

The relief model of the center of the town as it will look when the grade crossing is eliminated by the plan of the "Town," or so-called "Selectmen's Plan," was on exhibition in the small town hall last Saturday and Monday. It is made to scale, all of the streets showing the proportionate grades which they will have when the plan is carried out, and all of the buildings being placed in position in their relative size and design.

The most interesting feature about the model is the accuracy with which the buildings in the centre have been reproduced. The plan it readily recommend itself to all e citizens after being viewed, for raises the centre out of the hole it is now in, and the streets are in almost every instance benefited by the new grade.

The plan is based on a drop of the railroad tracks of four feet below the present level and the centre raised about 11 feet. This makes Church street come into the centre at about a level grade, and the rise of the other three streets is hardly noticable, they all being depressed at present to a greater or lesser extent.

The model is to be exhibited in some public place as soon as arrangements can be made.

Do not forget the Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital on Mar. 27. Send a goodly supply of those articles you do not need, but others may, and help both the buyer and the Hospital at the same time.

AMHERST COLLEGE MUSICAL CLUBS.

On Saturday evening March 27th in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock the Amherst College musical clubs will make their first appearance in Winchester in many years. Of late Amherst singing in this vicinity has been confined to the Stadium where the singing of the sons of Lord Geoffrey has become a highly appreciated feature of the season. The songs of Amherst are famous the country over, and enjoy a more universal popularity than those of any other college. There are few college men who do not know "Lord Geoffrey Amherst" and few school boys who are not familiar with the tune of "Cheer for old Amherst."

This season the clubs of the college are of the highest order and may be depended upon not only to sing the songs of their Alma Mater as only college men know how, but also to render the pieces of a classic standard with a zeal and finish that is the delight of music lovers.

The program itself reveals the varied entertainment and the broad range within which the college men will endeavor to appeal to every taste. "No clubs that have visited this city in recent years have given a more thoroughly satisfactory concert than that of the Amerst men last evening" is the St. Louis verdict, while the Brooklyn Eagle adds of a concert there that it "not only proved a delight to music lovers who attended, but also attracted a large number of Brooklyn society folk who enjoyed the evening thoroughly."

After the concert there will be dancing until midnight for which Hearns orchestra will play. A car to Arlington after the dancing will provide connection to Boston.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

A few people there are who see in art instruction in the public schools a frill upon the educational fabric, and who see in art interest only the pursuance of a fad. But there is enough real appreciation of the value of art instructions and art interest—and this includes a wide range, from drawing a curved line and pasting together bits of colored paper, through decorative and practical design and its application to industry, working in the mediums of art expression, and the enjoyment of works of art to sanction the expenditure of something like $12,000,000 annually in this country in its encouragement and gratification. Municipalities spend over $4,500,000 a year on art instruction in the public schools. Fifty thousand dollars is being spent each year for school room decoration.

This and many other items The Spectator has not mentioned represents the art interest of the people. As proof that the art impulse has its roots in the hearts of the people, the fact that of the thousands and thousands of dollars expended for photographs, casts and other reproductions and works of art for school room decoration in the past twenty-five years—a period that approximately covers the whole movement, probably less than five percent has come from public funds.

In the face of these figures the few people here in Winchester and elsewhere who think that art is all fol-de-rol might stop and think again.

"Buyers," says a writer on business topics, "flock to a light store like moths to a candle." But the illumination must radiate far enough to attract other than those who merely happen to be in the neighborhood. The brightness of the store must be so reflected that it will reach the eyes of possible patrons in homes throughout the community. This is the function of the newspaper advertisement, without which the bravest light effects are of little avail.

The Spectator believes The Star has done and is doing a great deal to illuminate the stores of Winchester.

A Winchester gentleman asserts that the reason it is such a pleasure to tell wonderful stories of the sagacity of animals is because an animal never brags. He can't read and he can't talk, but a Winchesterite can do both. And therefore the man who has had anything complimentary said about him never permits the community to hear the last of it. Herein one sees the triumph of reason over brute instinct.

A little youngster of The Spectator's acquaintance, who was writing a composition about hens, said he knew where hens came from, but did not know where they got eggs. "People say that hens lay eggs, but I know better. My father keeps lots of hens, and when we want any eggs he always sends me to the store for them."

The Spectator observes that the great cause of dismay among newspaper writers is the accumulation of great wealth in the hands of the few. No doubt here and there outside of Winchester one may find a man writing out of sheer envy because he cannot get his share of the wealth, but The Spectator is well nigh worried to death through fear that he may suddenly be thrust into the ranks of the few. It is an awful thing to contemplate.

Editor of the Star:—

The citizens of the town are about re-organizing their Village Improvement Society. As I gave them a little "speel" on what Winchester once did, the Committee on By-Laws have asked me to get, if possible, the Winchester by-laws.

As this organization has been dead for a good many years, I knew of nobody to write except you, thinking you probably have a copy in your files. If you can send me this information or know of anybody who can furnish it, I would greatly appreciate the same.

GIRL'S FOOT CRUSHED

The left foot of Ellen O'Melia, 18 years old, of 182 Cambridge street, employed as a domestic at the Russell Farm cottage, was crushed last Thursday afternoon when she jumped from a moving Winchester car on the upper level of the Sullivan square terminal station. One wheel of the car ran over her foot. She was attended by a physician and removed to the Relief hospital.

Locks repaired, keys fitted. Central Hardware Store.

OBSERVATIONS.

1904 debt $651,000, payment $38,000, interest $24,527; 1910 debt $448,000, payment $27,000, interest $16,857; 1915 debt $569,000, payment $55,000, interest $21,575. Our debt was down to $421,000 at one time in 1910.

This year we have increased our debt $50,000, and will pay off $48,000. Next year we will pay off $55,000. This year we pay on the debt $21,457 interest, next year $21,575 interest. Some of above figures are not exact, but are near enough for comparison. Citizens should study the excellently arranged table on page 301 of the Town Report. Next year our debt payment will call for about sixty cents more of the tax rate than this year. Debt, interest and other fixed charges are bothering financiers everywhere and the greatest objection to borrowing is that it encourages extravagance, although not only necessary, but the only fair way on certain projects. There are so many things to be considered in running a city or town that deep study is absolutely necessary to bring good results, and more attention is being paid to it all over the country than ever before and statesmanship must and will take the place of politics eventually. We have done pretty well, but we can do better with a better system, which we must have. In 1910 we expended $905 per poll, in 1914 it was $1,505, an increase of 51 percent. We expended as much per poll last year as Boston did and not a half dozen cities and towns in the commonwealth expended as much per poll as we did. In 1910 we expended $24 for each person, man, woman and child, in 1914 it was $32, an increase of 33 percent. Think it over.

Dedham has for years collected all of its taxes within the year in which they are assessed and yet many cities and towns think they must have two years more, although they are not in the business of loaning money. We have a few taxes hanging along since 1911 and 1912 and our collector and assessors should straighten them out and get them off the books; unpaid taxes for 1913 are forty percent of unpaid taxes for last year and amount to about thirty two thousand dollars. One year should be the limit, to extend it is poor business for everybody.

The tractor and motor pump question seems to be settled in favor of the pump, but you may expect that next year the lovers of "Mary Ann" will tearfully plead that the old girl be not forced to longer face the rumps of horses, but be given a tractor to make more happy her declining years and permit her to occupy the new fire house where engines are taboo. She cannot be kept in the basement of the new house, as Mr. Whitney suggested, because there is no basement that is, not now, but wait awhile and see how much more money will be asked for this house and for what purposes.

I imagine the present finance committee is looking with grim satisfaction, in a way, at the facing by the next committee of a debt payment next year of $55,000, which is $11,000 more than this year. This exhibits the weird finance of the last few years and first part of this year under which $9000 of drainage bonds are due in each of the next four years. Exactly what I have tried to warn against time and again has come about we have lumped debt and lumped appropriations and will be in deeper water next year than this and will have to cut appropriations or increase the tax rate, and I guess we will cut.

Last week's Thursday night meeting was very dull, but a little more was whitted off the sums recommended and some more might well have been. We must vote no more money if the overwhelming vote in favor of a tax rate not to exceed eighteen dollars is to be carried out.

Our officials must stop raising the pay of employees before getting authority from the town. This has been "run into the ground" of recent years.

Our interest on debt charge has increased five thousand dollars in five years.

While the finance committee's report is ample and strong in figures I hope there will be more reading matter in that for next year calling attention to general conditions connected with town finance.

UNITARIAN MEN'S DINNER.

The annual dinner of the Unitarian Men's Club was held in Metcalf Hall at the church on Monday evening, being the most successful affair in the history of the organization. About 150 men attended. An excellent dinner was served by a caterer, during which music was furnished by two colored singers and players.

The entertainment consisted of the much heralded war lecture by Peter MacQueen, special representative at the front for Leslie's Weekly and other publications. His talk was illustrated by a set of views from the battlefields of Europe and the cities of the warring nations, and they were extremely interesting.

The evening was in charge of a committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Herbert E. Stone, and consisted of Mr. Andrew T Hunnewell, Mr. Wallace F. Flanders and Mr. Fred E. Hollins.

HOBSON TO SPEAK.

The announcement made this week of the union meeting to be held in the First Congregational Church on Wednesday, April 28th, at which Richard P. Hobson will deliver an address upon temperance, is of interest to all residents. Mr. Hobson is widely known throughout the United States, and is said to be a most forceful speaker.

SUBMARINE PICTURES

It is not often that a motion picture manager is able to show his patrons something never before seen in the other houses; a picture that is totally unlike anything else ever produced in the world. And yet this is what Manager William Wood of the Boston Theatre is doing by exhibiting the first and only motion pictures ever taken under water. These wonderful adventures were photographed in the clear waters of the Bahama Islands by the Williamson Expedition to the West Indies. They were made possible by the recently perfected Williamson Submarine Tube. Attached to this flexible tube that can be lengthened or shortened at will, is a spacious spherical operating chamber of steel and glass, through whose flawless port, were made the world's first pictures of a thrilling trip along the floor of the ocean. From the moment the first picture is flashed upon the screen until the last click of the projecting machine the delighted spectators are offered a photographic treat that is absolutely unparalled in the history of motion pictures. The audience is taken on a thirty league trip along the bed of the ocean with startling scenes of beauty and thrills at every foot of the journey.

The performance at the Boston is continuous starting at 12 noon and running until 11 p. m. daily and from 7.00 to 10.30 p. m. on Sundays. The price of tickets—for all performances—is 25 cts.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Common Clay" by Cleves Kinkard, began the 19th successful week of its Boston run Monday at the Castle Square Theatre.

More than 180,000 people in Boston and from all over the state, have now seen "Common Clay." And they are still coming. It is predicted that the piece will stay 10 weeks more at the Castle Square.

Mary Young in the part of Ellen Neal has never had a role more suited to her remarkable talent than the little shop-girl who overcomes the handicap of her environment and wins her way to fame and fortune. John Craig as Judge Filson, has been highly commended for his performance. William P. Carleton, as Capt. Fullerton, does highly creditable work as Ellen Neal's sweetheart.

The test of a fire insurance policy is —FIRE—

Every fire tests the kind of service a company gives its policy-holders but the supreme test is the great conflagration that leaves a big city in ashes and forces many insurance companies out of business.

At such times the man who holds a policy of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company never worries. He knows that his policy is backed by ample assets and more than a century's record for the prompt payment of every honest loss.

That's one reason we represent the Hartford here. There are other reasons equally good. May we talk to you about it?

PARISH SUPPER OF CHURCH OF EPIPHANY.

On Friday evening, March 12th, more than 325 members of the Parish of the Epiphany met in the Town Hall for an informal "Family Supper." The large and small town halls were both filled with long tables, bright with spring flowers and lighted with many candles. Before the guests were seated the church choir sang delightfully, and grace was said by the rector. At either end of each table a hostess served coffee from a silver urn, while two other ladies acted as waitresses. The decorations of the tables were kept in St. Patrick day colors, with shamrock favors, and at each place was the following menu, printed in green, with a shamrock at the top:

At half past six on March the twelfth,
We serve this tempting dinner.
And as you taste the viands rare
Each dish you'll call a "winner."

Escalloped oysters, piping hot,
Delicious, past all knowing!
Ah! Wellfleet's contribution
Is a gift well worth the showing!

These fine fresh rolls, and jelly red,
With olives, round and green
Recall St. Patrick's colors
As plainly will be seen.

And cold sliced ham with shamrock decked,
Asparagus on toast,
Sent straight from LIBBY, known to fame.
And of its worth you'll boast.

You're offered Rice Italienne,
With peppers' piquant flavor.
Ah! ne'er was entree half so good,
Nor had so fine a savour.

Here comes the salad crisp and fresh
It is the "piece resistance."
You'll guess 'tis LIBBY'S Pineapple,
Without the least assistance.

The coffee comes from friend unknown,
Delicious beverage, very;
With crackers, cheese and colored mints,
Now feast, and all be merry.

March 12, 1915.

After the supper was over the rector, Murray W. Dewart, made a short speech as toastmaster, amid much applause, and then introduced Mr. Arthur S. Hunt of the Laymen's Missionary committee of Massachusetts, who gave an interesting account of the financial side of the missionary work of the diocese. He was followed by Mr. F. W. Dallinger, congressional representative from this district, who is also a member of the Laymen's Missionary committee. After Mr. Dallinger's speech, Mr. Paul L. Lewis showed some lantern slides of the church, the rector and many others. The evening closed with a short speech of appreciation from Mr. Marcus May, the senior warden.

The success of the supper was largely due to the untiring work of the ladies of the Guild under the able chairmanship of Mrs. T. E. Thompson.

CHICAGO MAKES BIG PROFITS FROM GARBAGE—HOW ABOUT BOSTON?

"In Chicago," writes Ida Husted Harper, "before the women took a hand in the disposal of the garbage it cost the city $4,000 a month; now it nets a profit of $2,000 a month, and yet people wonder why the grafters are so dead set against votes for women."

Boston pays $175,000 a year for the reduction of waste by an outside company.

Frederic C. Howe, Commissioner of Immigration in New York, says: "It is a terrible waste to divorce one-half of society from participation in society's work. That is what we do today. I want women's voice in the government; for government to-day is a matter of housekeeping, of domestic and social service. The changes in industry and society of themselves demand the participation of women in politics."

Eight million women in the United States are earning their own living. There is hardly a home, where one of the women is not engaged in some gainful occupation. If women are good enough to earn their livelihood, they are also good enough to use the ballot. Besides, voting itself will arouse these women, who, like dumb animals, submit to exploitation. They will be awakened by the political tumult: they will be forced to take sides, to think, to participate in the struggle of the world. Every workingman knows that he has an assurance that his daughters will be supported until marriage. Girls have to go to the shops to work. Who protects their rights, the hours of work, the wages, the conditions in general? It is the union and the law. The women and girls are given equal rights in deciding the union rules governing their labor, why are they not qualified and why should they not have the privilege of deciding what laws they must work and live under?

CAMP OF SONS OF VETERANS

The preliminary steps toward organizing a camp of Sons of Veterans in Winchester were taken Friday evening, March 12. The meeting was held in G. A. R. hall in the Town Hall building and was quite largely attended. The object of the meeting and the hopes held out by the comrades of A. D. Weld Post was stated by Commander, John T. Wilson. Nine names were entered upon the "Muster roll," which must be increased to fifteen names before the charter will be granted. There is no doubt but that the required number will be forthcoming and a charter granted in due season. The wish was expressed at this meeting that all who are eligible to join the Camp will not hesitate to come forward and do so. It is hoped that this notice will severe in no small degree in having this desired effect. That the veterans would be forced to issue this call has long been entertained by those in close touch with their fast thinning ranks. It seems certain that in the not far distant future the last member of the Post in this town will answer the final call of "Taps" and in order that the memory of what they did and dared shall not close with their passing their work must be carried on and their memory perpetuated by their logical successors, the Sons of Veterans.

FAVORS COMMON.

Regarding a site for the new Post Office building the government is strongly in favor of a location on the common, as the letter following will show:

Treasury Department.

Washington D. C.,
March 16, 1915.

Mr. Geo. T. Davidson, Chairman,
Board of Selectmen,
Mr. Charles A. Lane, Chairman.
Park Board.
The Postmaster,
Winchester, Mass.

Gentlemen:

It has come to the attention of the Treasury Department that the Town of Winchester might wish to donate a small portion of the Common, upon which the Post Office could be erected, and this letter is addressed to you for the purpose of obtaining definite information upon that subject before taking any other action.

The present authorization of Congress is so limited that if it becomes necessary to spend as much as $20,000 for the site alone, the balance of $55,000 would be sufficient only for a brick faced building of 4,000 square feet ground area.

A donation of a sufficient area for the Federal building, with the understanding that the Town would always maintain an open space around the building would, it is believed, enable the Department to consruct a much more attractive building, and, at the same time, would materially expedite the beginning of the construction.

For these reasons, it is respectfully sugrcested that this matter be given serious and if possible favorable consideration, and the Treasury Department informed of the result at your early convenience.

Very truly yours,
Byron K. Newton,
Assistant Secretary.

BAPTIST NEWS.

The Brotherhood Men's class held a most interesting and informing parlor meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Shaultis on Winthrop street. The Rev. Henry B. Williams, D.D., of Woburn, spoke informally of his trip to the Holy Land, and answered many questions which were asked by the Brotherhood Refreshments were served. A vast amount of information was gained as to the appearance of the country and the actual conditions in Jerusalem and other cities.

Mrs. Philip A. Crawford, of Vine street, passed away at 1.30 Thursday morning, after an illness of only a few days. All the family were with her during the last hours, except the daughter who lives in California. Mrs. Crawford was a noble and devoted Christian mother, and her sudden death brings deep sorrow to a large circle of relatives and friends. Deepest sympathy is extended to the family in this hour of great bereavement. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2.00 o'clock at her late residence on Vine street.

BRUSH FIRES NUMEROUS.

Brush fires were numerous over Saturday and Sunday, the fire department being called out a number of times. On Saturday a fire on Pond street necessitated an alarm from box 51, and later burning paper at the rear of one of the Farrow houses on Clark street called the department out again. On Sunday a trip was made to the Winchester Country Club for a fire at the Arlington line, at which both Winchester and Arlington worked. A brush fire on Forest street near the Stoneham line, and a grass fire on Wedgemere avenue also called the department out on Sunday.

BURGLARY AT J. C. KELLEY'S.

When the caretaker visited the residence of Mr. Joshua C. Kelley on Sheffield West yesterday morning he found that the house had been entered during the night by thieves. Owing to the absence of the family in Springfield, the amount and nature of the goods taken is not at present known.

Entrance was affected by prying open a cellar window opening into the laundry. The silver appeared not to have been touched, it being thought that the thieves were after jewelry, as only the second floor was ransacked. There was no vandalism.

VOTERS WERE CONVINCED.

Editor of the Star:—

There was never a clearer, more convincing report of the result of an investigation than Mr. Kerr gave to the citizens on Monday night in favor of the motor pump, and I commend his courage in standing out against those with whom he is associated in office, when he was sure the cause was right.

Following with Mr. Dutch's and Mr. Snyder's final businesslike summing up, of the merits of the pump over the tractor, the doubtful voters were convinced that the men who had made personal investigations were far better able to pass judgment on the matter, than those who merely gave ideas of their own.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular meeting of the Winchester Mothers' Association was held on Wednesday, March 17, in High School Assembly Hall.

Prof. Berry C. Metcalf of the Winchester school board gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on "Household Management." Many mothers availed themselves of the privilege of hearing Prof. Metcalf and added helpful thoughts and suggestions.

A social hour followed, with refreshments.

TOWN MEETING.

work done in behalf of the town. This was voted.

Mr. Nash then gave an informal report of the condition of the matter of the selection of the postoffice site. He stated that the Town's site could not be accepted because of its location; the site must be on two streets. He said that the location at the corner of Waterfield road and Thompson street had been taken up by the department inspector and an option secured within the sum allowed for the purchase of a site. It appeared that this site would be recommended and accepted. He had heard, however, that certain of the department officials favored the Common, and it had been reported unofficially that some of the citizens were in favor of this site. As no report had been received from the government on the matter, he desired that th town offer a definite sired that the town offer a definite vote on the Waterfield road-Thompson street site, as he had been advised by the town counsel that the Common could not be used for the purpose.

Mr. John H. Carter then offered a motion to leave the matter open until the next session of the meeting, that the situation might receive more time for consideration. This was voted.

Mr. A. E. Whitney then offered a motion to the effect that the Board of Health be requested to investigate and report on the condition of the water in the Aberjona river and about the center. He stated that it was in a foul condition, and although the river was nominally under the control of the State Board of Health, he felt that the local board could aid in improving the conditions.

Mr. Laraway did not favor the motion, as he thought it would call for a further appropriation of money. Dr. C. J. Allen, chairman of the Board of Health, stated that the board would welcome the motion; the board did not have any jurisdiction over the water running through the town, it was under the control of the state board; the local board had made many complaints of the conditions to the state board.

Mr. Tuck favored the motion and it was carried.

At this time the question of fire apparatus was opened under article 7, it then being 8.20.

The Thursday night's session adjourned with three motions before it: the appropriation of $1,500 for an electric tractor, $8,000 for a motor pump and $3,500 for a gasoline tractor.

Selectman Kerr first took the floor. He made a long speech in favor of a motor pump, going into the matter very completely and supplying a large mass of figures and data in connection with his remarks.

Mr. A. H. Hildreth favored a gasoline tractor for the fire engine, as did Mr. Farnsworth. Mr. Tuck favored the pump.

Mr. May asked if the sum requested would be sufficient for any kind of a motor pump or only one make, to which Mr. Jewett replied that it would purchase two makes and that $500 more would purchase any kind made. Mr. May then moved to increase the sum to $8,500.

Mr. Carter desired information as to how the payment could be arranged for, to which Mr. Jewett replied that the town could borrow 25 cents on every $1,000 of valuation, and that $4,700 would be raised by revenue and $3,800 by a note of the town payable in 1916 and not bearing interest.

Moderator Ives said that if the motion for $8,000 was carried he had been given a motion to raise $750 additional.

Mr. W. D. Richards spoke in favor of the pump. Mr. J. J. Fitzgerald then made a strong argument in favor of the gasoline tractor over the steamer. He thought "Mary Ann," as the steamer was familiarly spoken of, was good for many years to come, and in connection with Mr. Tuck's previous remarks in the effect that Hon. Samuel W. McCall favored a pump, said McCall's opinion on motor pumps, he that although Mr. Tuck accepted Mr. did not in the question of tariff, which did not show good judgment in accepting opinions. This caused some merriment. Mr. Fitzgerald made a good speech and backed it up with a strong argument.

Mr. Laraway favored a gasoline tractor. Mr. Snyder spoke for a pump, declaring that he stood opposed to a mis-mated marriage between "Mary Ann and a gasoline tractor."

To sum the numerous arguments against the tractor up, it appeared that the steamer would be racked to pieces, that a tractor suitable for hauling it could not be bought for $3,500, that a tractor could not haul it through snow and mud and that the steamer would have to stand idle after reaching a fire waiting to get up steam unless steam was kept up at the house.

The opposition did not believe any of these things, but thought a tractor could answer in every respect.

Mr. Carter stated that he did not favor either piece of apparatus, but he felt convinced that if a tractor was purchased the town would buy a pump next year, so he would vote for a pump now.

The vote was taken at 9.50. The motion for $8,000 was carried and the appropriation of $8,750 carried, and the town voted to raise $4,700 by revenue and give its note for $4,050 by a rising vote of 220 to 1.

At 10 o'clock the motion was carried.

Last Night's Session.

Last night's session was attended by the smallest gathering of citizens at any of the series yet due, no doubt to a general waning of interest in the long drawn out proceedings.

The matter of a post office site received the bulk of the attention, taking up almost one-half of the evening. It appeared in general that the site selected by the Town could not be accepted by the government. As the special committee having the matter in charge were instructed specifically with regard to the site and no other, it made its report, through Chairman Howard D. Nash, and asked that it might receive instructions regarding any consideration regarding the Common, and recommending that it be instructed to advocate the site at the corner of Waterfield road and Thompson street, which it appeared the government would consider.

The question opened up the old discussion which occupied so much time last year. While the Town was practically unanimous in its vote in favor of the former site, the opening of that question was eagerly seized upon by a number to advocate other sites and proved conclusively that the opinion did differ to a degree.

With the exception of Mr. John T. Wilson, the meeting appeared wholly opposed to the Common for a location. With regard to the corner site on Waterfield road there was a difference. It appeared to some advisable to refer the matter to the newly elected Planning Board; others though that if the matter was not definitely settled as to choice, the apparent delay would be even more lengthened, with the possibility that the appropriation might be withdrawn altogether.

Nothing was said: that if the government desired it could take the Common and if it did so, the building would be commenced at once; that otherwise it would probably take 4 or 5 years.

Mr. Laraway, who owns the property, threathened to withdraw his option if action were not taken at the meeting, and after a long and futile discussion, the meeting voted unanimously to vigorously oppose any taking of the Common for the site, and to instruct the committee to urge the Waterfield road corner location.

Article 8 called for pensioning of permanent members of the police and fire departments. Selectman Davidson explained that in case of injury to members of these departments it seemed but just that they be pensioned. Mr. Lionel Norman stated that the interpretation of the word injury had proved it included not only injury of a violent nature, but sickness such as pneumonia. It was voted to accept the provisions of the law.

The motion offered by Selectman Davidson under article 9, calling for the acceptance of the act applying to civil service laws, applied to the permanent men in the Fire Department only. This article was referred to a committee of 5 to report at the next annual meeting.

Article 10 provided a motion to the effect that all polls and personal tax be collected by Dec. 1, of the year in which they were due and all real estate taxes be collected by March 1 of the following year. The meeting was in favor of the present system.

Articles 11 and 12, authorizing the Selectmen to employ a Town Counsel and a Town Engineer, were carried, and article 13 resulted in the motion that the Board appoint measurers of wood and bark to the number of 8.

At 10 o'clock it was seen that the meeting could not reach the end of the warrant, and a motion to adjourn was carried.

"GREEN" SOCIAL.

The members of the Teachers' Club held a "Green" Social Wednesday evening in High School Assembly hall in the nature of a masquerade. Evergreen boughs, chrysanthemums and colored lights were used very effectively, all carrying out the green color scheme.

The costumes worn were original and varied. The prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Mr. Richard W. Grant, Mr. E. C. Wixom and Miss May Phillips. The judges were Mrs. N. M. Nichols, Mrs. J. H. Hefflon and Mr. E. N. Lovering.

After the unmasking a concert was given. The program consisted of songs by Mr. Grant, Miss Hubley and Miss Phillips, dances and torch drill by Miss Dora Brown and a sketch by Mr. Hanon and Mr. Grant.

Games were then enjoyed after which refreshments were served. The committee in charge included the following teachers to whom much credit is due for the success of the evening's entertainment: Miss Dora Brown, chairman; Mrs Anna T. O'Sullivan, Miss Edna Hubley, Miss Agnes Cullen, Miss May Foley and Mr. Grant.

HIGH SCHOOL BROKE EVEN.

The Winchester High School basket ball team has closed a successful season, winning 11 losing 6 and tieing one game. Two games each were lost to Winthrop and Wellesley and one each to Revere and Reading. The tie was with Walpole, at Walpole. The team made 532 points, to 336 for its opponents. Cullen, Locke and Smith will be on the team next year. Wait and Warner will leave school.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL IN "PYGMALION."

Bernard Shaw's philosophies have rarely had more subtle, more adequate exposition, than that accorded them by Mrs. Patrick Campbell and her London Company, now playing at the Colonial Theatre, Boston.

The story of "Pygmalion" is so well known, it is idle to relate it at length. The story of the master of phonetics, Henry Higgins, who wagers that he will be able to transform the slang-steeped flower girl of London, so that she will, within six months, pass as a Duchess at an Ambassador's garden party, is the meat of the comedy. When the dustman declares that middle-class morality makes all the unhappiness in the world, it is Shaw having his little fling.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

girls ranging from ten years to seventeen learn to sew, crochet and knit, making undergarments and even dresses. At the same time, they learn lessons not soon forgotten, which must always have their practical value in after life.

Visits to the nursery were always especially interesting, illustrations of the fact that very young children, babies practically speaking, left to their own devices with simple toys are quite sufficient unto themselves. Two young women in the Nursery are in constant attendance, taking care that the children do not harm themselves or each other, and the cribs are always in use for the tired ones who need naps.

One could hardly imagine a happier or more successful kindergarten department than one finds in the Chapin school during this period of six weeks. It is remarkable to see how much these children accomplish in such a short time.

The forenoon lunch of milk and crackers in one of the assets of the Vacation School. Members of the Club and other towns people have made possible this luncheon, which not only refreshes the children but stimulates them to better endeavor.

The Chapin Playground has been enjoyed during the recesses of the several classes, and by all the children in that part of the town the afternoons during the six weeks of the Vacation school and all day through the remaining three weeks of August, —a Director and Assistant guiding the many activities. Stories are read aloud while the girls embroider; all the children enjoy the swings and sandboxes, games are played including basketball and baseball; the boys may pitch quoits and, last summer, they made reed waste baskets, in which they took great pride.

In spite of the heat and discomfort of many of those sultry days, content and genuine interest were written upon the faces of all the children and in after life these boys and girls will not forget the happy hours and valuable lesons learned during the summers of their childhood in the Vacation School and on the Playground.

Through its Loan Scholarship Fund, the Club has helped several young women graduates of the Winchester High School secure their higher education and it is desirous that sufficient money be procured to be able to continue to extend this practical assistance. Let us all who believe in the value of education along practical lines as well as technical, cooperate with The Fortnightly in support of these three kinds of work.

Elizabeth R. Dennett.

Stories of the Plays.

The Work-house Ward is a play in one act by Lady Agusta Gregory with the following cast, Mike McInerney, Michael Miskell, paupers; Mrs. Donohoe, A Country woman.

Lady Gregory says, "I sometimes think the two scolding paupers are a symbol of ourselves in Ireland, it is better to be quarreling than to be lonesome." The Rapputs, that great fighting race, when they were told they had been brought under the Pax Britannica and must give up war, gave themselves opium in its place, but Connacht has not yet planted its poppy gardens."

In the Twig of Thorn we have the story of the girl, the peasant and the poet, Oonah, Aengus and Aileen and of the ancient superstition connected with the blossom of the thorn tree accursed because of its part in the crucifixion. The play taking place about 1840, the year of the great famine in Ireland.

Oonah's grandmother, Nessa Teig, sits spinning and crooning an old song before the fire when the door opens and Maurya enters. They speak in awe-stricken tones of the thorn tree at the three cross roads which has newly blossomed; of "the people laughing in the wind," the fairy hosts of the air powerful in working their magic charms as they ride on the high winds of March; of the virtue of the flax in wording evil from the hearth. They spoke of Aileel, the poet, the harper, beloved, alike by fairy host and humble peasant and of Oonah, Nessa's granddaughter, whom Father Brian has brought from Dublin that very day. The girl enters joyously with Aengus Arann, who is plainly in love with her. Ignorant of the sinister significance attached to the thorn-blossom she has broken free from the tree and fastened them in her hair. The peasants are filled with horror. She has brought the curse upon the hearth! To comfort them she goes to the door to throw the blossoms away but, reluctant to part with them, she hides one in her breast. A gust of wind rushes by, the host of the air surround her. When she returns to the kitchen her "spirit is away." Father Brian enters and reproves them for their superstition, "And it was a branch from the black vein of the blessed St. Bright under your roof." When she is alone Oonah hides the blossom behind the image of the saint when it instantly becomes black and withered. A group of young peasants and an old man carrying a violin enter to welcome Oonah and spills and curses are forgotten in the jolly dance that follows —"The Fiddler of Kerry" at the close of the dance the sound of the harp is heard and Aileel appears in the doorway, though welcomed with hearty voices he has eyes for none but Oonah. The situation leads to "the contract" between him and Aengus. They both make "songs" for Oonah. She turns to Aengus. Aileen breaks the strings of his harp saying "she is right, I will never sing again." Seven months elapse between the first and second acts. Famine is abroad in the land. Nessa Teig is dead. Aengus has tramped to another country in search of work. Aileen is wandering broken-hearted in the hills. It is the first day of November, the old beginning of winter associated by the Irish peasant with disaster and the spirit of darkness. As Aileen enters carrying his broken Oonah site alone by her hearth harp. He warns her to beware of the fairy hosts whose power is great over those who wish for happiness and again pleads his love but "no word in all Ireland" can win Oonah's love away from Aengus. When Aengus himself appears the meeting of lovers is a most joyous one and only to be followed by a quarrel because Aengus refuses to marry without some little fortune of his own. Made desperate through disappointment Oonah rushes to the door and calls upon the fairy hosts to take her out of her lovely house. Her call is answered. A fairy appears on the threshold, the image of the saint it bloom from the shrine and broke the thorn-flower blossom afresh and in the dance that follows a magic spell is woven about Oonah. Once again Aileen comes with a message of warning and, now he seizes the magic thorn and takes upon himself the curse it brings. The fairy gladly accepts the sacrifice, grants him an hour in the world, removes the spell from Oonah and dances away. The play ends with a wedding and Aileen's newly acquired fairy powers which make possible a feast in the time of famine and the bringing of gifts to Oonah and Aengus.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

The March meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held March 12 at the Home for Aged People. This gathering has become an annual event and is much enjoyed by the large number of ladies who attend. Nine children from the Loyal Temperance Legion assisted in the entertainment by giving their "Mottoes" "Rally cries" and songs. The following temperance recitations were much enjoyed: A true sign Board by Hollis Pickle, Tom Jones by Helen Raynor, Song of Legions by Donald Lutes, The dry line by Margaret Bartsch, The Ideal Boy by Rachel Erskine. What the temperance cause has done for John and me by Dorothy Kiddle. Walter Stuart and Mildred Hamilton dressed to represent an aged couple caused much merriment as they sang a little temperance song entitled "Old Mr. and Mrs. Maloon." Mrs. Ella Gleason, State Vice President at large, recited by request, a fine selection "Surrendered" which was much enjoyed.

After the usual business the reception of eight new members and the presentation by the Union of a half pound box of candy to each of the members of the Home, refreshments were served by a committee of ladies, Mrs. Jennie Tolman, Chairman.

MR. ADAMS IN TOWN MEETING.

If the address which Mr. Charles Francis Adams made last week in the town meeting of Lincoln could be spoken in every such gathering in the commonwealth, a great public need would be met. He declared that as near as he was able to estimate, the burden borne by the average family in that town now reaches $250 a year for state and town purposes alone, as against $100 in 1894, when he took up residence there. To that he adds federal taxes of about $7 per capita, or $35 to the family, by contrast with $25 five years ago. This makes an annual burden of $285 on each family in Lincoln as compared with $125 in 1910 and $85 in 1894.

We believe Mr. Adams figures are conservative, particularly in relation to federal expenditures. Our part of the country, because of its high standards of living and essentially urban conditions, is paying very much more than the nation's average. If he estimated our share at $50 per family—exclusion of postal conditions—he would still be within bounds. And what he found in Lincoln is true of Boston, Brookline, Natick, and of the whole region hereabouts. We are becoming a frightfully overtaxed people. Instead of realizing it, however, we picture the symptoms of this disease as "the high cost of living" is to a large degree the high cost of being governed, and the sooner we realize it the better. The tax rate of Lincoln last year was $12.00.—Boston Herald.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Otis Skinner who is generally conceded to be the foremost American actor is being presented the present season by Charles Frohman in a new play, called "The Silent Voice," in which he will open an engagement of two weeks with matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays at the Hollis street Theatre, Boston, on Monday evening next (March 22). "The Silent Voice" was written by Jules Eckert Goodman who found the inspiration for his play in a short story by Maurice Maeterlinck. "The Silent Voice" is a story of the regeneration of a man, its hero, who has for certain reasons become greatly embittered with the world and who begins his career of philanthropy with the idea of thwarting the aims of Providence but who soon discovers that he is but an instrument in the hands of the Deity to fulfill his wishes. The cast supporting Mr. Skinner is a particularly strong one and includes the name of Mrs. Skinner (Maud Durbin), who is returning to the stage this season after an absence of eight years. Others in the supporting company are Miss Florence Fisher, Eugenie Woodward, Esther Cornell, Ruth Farnum, George Gaul, Owen Meech, Harry Sothern, Philip Leigh and Walter Scott.

"THE NATURAL LAW AT CORT"

John Cort by arrangement with Messrs. Leffler and Bratton, will produce a new three act drama of the present, entitled "The Natural Law," at the Cort theater, Thursday evening, March 18. The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given. Charles Sumner the author of the play, has taken for his theme a situation from everyday life which involves in particular three people a woman and two men, thus giving us again the irresistible triangle that is always of interest. There are other characters, of course, in the play, whose being is quite essential to the well-doing of the story. It is a duel of the natural law of love against the sterner desire of loyalty. Mr. Cort will present a most attractive company of players in the interpretation of everyone of the various characters. The cast will include Howard Hall, Carl Eckstrom, Otto Kruger, Austin Webb, Helen Holmes, Teresa Maxwell Conover, and Maggie Hallowell Fisher.

A REMINDER OF OLD TIMES.

Amusing Cracks at Winchester Town Officials.

FISH COMMISSIONERS.

Now appear in our mind's procession
The members of the great "Fish Commission;"
Truly they are a most "scaly" lot,
Neither fit to fry or boil in our pot.

But we must cook them as well as we can,
So we'll "clean them out" with impartial hands;
We hope of such fish this will be the "last run,"
For their "fish stories" are no longer young.

Where are all of the million-and-one shad
Who were all hatched out, none of them bad?
Who all went to sea with labels on their tails—
"Please return to B—after three hundred days?"

Where are the smelts, and the bass, and salmon?
Have we been caught by fisherman's gammon?
Please tell us, too, where are our lamper eels?
Where are the kivers our streams used to yield?

Where are the pickerel who used to bite,
About which we had so many law fights?
Where are the chubs and perch we caught in nets?
Where is our net? Have you found it yet?

Where is our money we've put into your dish?
Have we got it back in useful fish?
Or do we choke o'er these bones of contention,
And pay you, only, for your boney intentions?

You mean very well, Piscatory Friends;
We know very well how it will end;—
You'll spend all our money, we'll have no fish,
We'll thank you only for an empty dish.

Take our advice, dear Of-ficial Friends;
Whatever money you Suckers spend,
Put it into good salt-cod, well dun,
And give to our poor when winter shall come.

Do not expect whales to swim in brooks,
Though B. may say so, who has "fish to cook;"
Do not believe that Abajona pouts
Will be driven off by Silver Lake trout.

TREASURER AND COLLECTOR.

But let's feast our eyes on substantial men;
Here are some who have money to lend;
One of them is our Organic Collector,
The other looks like Booth, some say like Fechter.

Both of them play their parts very well—
One takes in money, the other dispels.
The Collector collects, and smokes his pipe,
The other "shells out" when the "order" is right.

OUR POLICEMEN.

Now appear to us, in martial array,
Our Policemen, all ready for a fray;
In their hands they carry gold headed canes—
How very unlucky their heads won't hold brains.

Their Chief looks as if he had been in a fight,
When he is "on his beat" let him look to his sight,
Without that he cannot see the small boys,
Whom he tries to frighten by making a noise.

He is supported by Lieutenant, Zachariah,
Who, it is said, cannot stand much fire;
He listens to hear the order to run—
After children with half-pints of rum.

The Chief and Lieutenant, supported by all,
Are ready to run at duty's loud call;
On Sundays they stop the bleat of the calf,
And arrest all children who dare to laugh.

They try to make the birds sing Sunday hymns;
They tell the fish how wicked 'tis to swim;
They arrest the grasshoppers for holding "hops,"
And beg of the trees not to wave their tops.

They arrest all squirrels for stealing nuts,
And the rabbits who tresspass on wood lots;
They arrest the robbins for picking cherries,
And keep the partridges from stealing berries.

They arrest the ghosts for walking at night,
And lock up chickens who show much fight;
They "cobbird over" swans who have black eyes,
And will not let the doctor bathe them with rye.

This is why our town is full of good men;—
Because these saints from Heaven were sent
To arrest wrong-doers, to make perfect man,
And drive us to Heaven by their perfect plan.

TOWN CLERK AND AUDITORS.

Those last "runners" were a very bad lot;—
There are only two more, then we shall stop.
Now the Town Clerk who is plump and round,
Though he believes this to be a "sad town."

Lastly, the Auditors bring up the rear;
They are very much out of patience, I fear;
We think they deserve "honorable mention,"
As they serve without pay, or even a pension.

These worthies, we think, ought to be cheered—
So tell them, we hope they will serve us for years;
And when God audits their accounts above,
We'll mention to the clerk—they served us for love.

APPOINTED OFFICERS.

The other town officers are not of the "Elect,"
They are noted mostly for their defects;
So we'll not waste time talking of them—
They are nothing but appointed men.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Now, Nature and Man, working together,
Has not made us Birds, of the same "feather;"
Yet all may join in celebrating the day
On which the Eagle drove the Lion away.

Our Peacocks with all their gay feathers may come,
We'll even forget what our Blackbirds have done;
Our Golden Eagles in their haughty pride,
Besides our wee modest Sparrows may ride.

Then come if you're rich, come if you're poor,
Come in your ignorance, come with your lore;
To-day we will look each other in the face—
We will not pick, but bind together our race.

We can not meet oft on common ground,
Our little worlds so gird us around;
To-day we will own the Brotherhood of Man,
And prove our love for our native land.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE LEAGUE.

Referring to a signature of re-printed letter, from Boston Herald of March 4th, given below, attention is asked of the faithful workers of Winchester who for so long a time have given personal service at the Sailors' Haven, Boston, to the refutation of Miss Livingston's statement.

To wit:

The lack of care for sailors when on a short visit to Boston harbor.

Other statments made by Miss Livingston in Winchester have as much foundation as above. See letter of Mrs. Henry Preston White of Brookline in Herald of March 4th and 10th.

MRS. WM. C. NEWELL.

IN REJOINDER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Miss Tolman's letter printed in your issue of Feb. 24 entirely misunderstands my position with regard to Rose Livingston. It is not that I deprecate the "hot indignation" roused by the stories of white slavery told by her, but the wholly inadequate means of cure which is thus proposed tor its abolition.

To try to cure white slavery by votes—to try to control human passion by legislation—is as futile as was Canute's order to the ocean to stay its tide. The proposed remedy reminds me of the well-known rhyme:

Baby sat on the window seat,
Mary pushed her into the street;
Baby's brains were dashed out in the area,
Mamma held up her forefinger at Mary.

Hot indignation is indeed needed, but let us be sure that we direct it against those who deserve it. Who is responsible for the standards of men which make white slavery possible? Do these indignant women refuse to tolerate in men the lack of self-control which is the cause of this evil? Do they not in many cases receive into their houses men whom they know to be no better than prostitutes? Do they not even encourage their daughters to marry such men for the sake of money or of social rank? These things have been done by women always and they are done to-day. and until we purge ourselves of this evil it is against these sheltered women that the "bitter cry" which Miss Livingston describes should have been raised, for these women have the future of the world in their keeping. Every man is born of woman, almost every man has woman's guidance in his childhood, and it is then that the knowledge of life—the knowledge of right and wrong—the reason for self-control in everything should be given him, and by his mother. The man who associates this knowledge with his mother, the man to whom passion means the purity of motherhood, will not go wrong. Thus and thus only will white slavery ever be cured.

The authority from which I quote I shall give when I receive permission to use the name, and not before, but I think my word for its value may perhaps mean while suffice. As to the trustworthiness of Miss Livingston's statements of her work in New York we may form some opinion of her unreliability without other authority than that of her own statements concerning Boston. She stated that she knew a young man in the navy who never left his ship when she anchored in Boston harbor because there was no place in Boston where a sailor could go except the lowest kind of saloon. Not only are there at least five Sailor Havens admirably run and with adequate accommodation, but one of these is conducted by a leader in the suffrage cause here. It argues ill for the honesty of those under whose auspices Miss Livingston is speaking that they have allowed the gross misstatement reflecting on the morals of their city to go uncorrected.

Quality. Compare Prices

The Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete is all brawn and muscle—no fat

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form."

Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—lictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

IT was their only "come-back." They had to say that, in stripping down prices to the point where they were fair to dealer and consumer and left no room for injurious price-cutting tactics, we had stripped our tires of some quality, too.

THE Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete, is all brawn and muscle—no fat. It represents an achievement—the ability to cut out the extra costs of manufacture, the extra costs of labor, of extra, needless material, and to give you the best, long-mileage, high-standard tire in the world.

There are padded tires as well as padded price lists.

Don't pay for padding.

Now don't forget this—we are talking in the main about Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, for they represent ninety per cent of our factory output for resale.

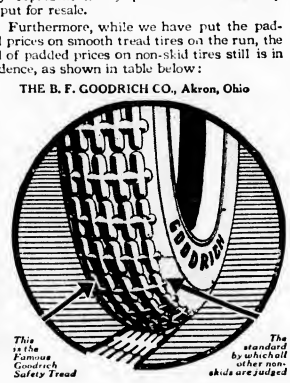

Furthermore, while we have put the padded prices on smooth tread tires on the run, the evil of padded prices on non-skid tires still is in evidence, as shown in table below:

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, Ohio

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	$ 9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30x3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32x3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34x4	20.35	22.30	23 80	31.15	33.55
36x4½	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
37x5	33.90	39.80	41.80	49.85	52.05

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

This is the Famous Goodrich Safety Tread

The standard by which all other non-skids are judged

Mrs. Crawford was born in St. John, N. B., her parents being John S. and Lydia (McElhiney) Sands. MRS. COMFORT ENTERTAINS.

On Thursday afternoon, March 18, the Ladies Missionary Society of the Second Congregational Church met at the home of Mrs. E. W. Comfort on Highland avenue. Thirty ladies were present. The meeting opened with the singing of Mrs. Taylor's "Hymn of Praise." The president, Miss Freeman followed with scripture reading and Mrs. Taylor offered prayer

The paper of the afternoon was one of unusual interest, prepared and read by Mrs. Florence Cowes, the subject being, "The Child at Worship," a summary of the fifth chapter of the Study Book "The Child in the Midst."

Miss Mabel Brown of Malden sang with great impressiveness "He Was Not Willing That Any Should Perish." This was most beautifully rendered and afforded the ladies great pleasure.

The poem "The Mother's Morning Prayer" was read by Mrs. Margaret Claflin. Miss Evelyn Parker gave a brief report of Dr. F. E. Clark's address given at the last Friday meeting of the Woman's Board, on "The Children at Work For Christ in Foreign Lands." The meeting closed with singing and the missionary benediction. A very enjoyable social hour followed.

VOL. XXXIV. NO. 39. WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS

NOT ONE CENT.

Appropriated at Last Session of Town Meeting.

The final session of the annual town meeting was held on Monday night, at which time the articles in the warrant were disposed of, the last four being left without any action being taken by the meeting dissolving. Not a cent of money was appropriated at the session, although strenuous efforts were made for at least two substantial appropriations. The estimated tax rate will be $17.75 for 1915.

The meeting was the smallest yet of the series. Although it appeared that the remaining articles would be quickly disposed of, it was after ten o'clock before the meeting dissolved, the question of the new pavement in the square, an appropriation for dredging the mill pond and a watering trough on Cambridge street, calling for considerable discussion.

The meeting opened on Article 14, which was quickly disposed of by a vote to allow the School Committee to expend the necessary money to transport the children from the hill district.

Article 15, relative to laying a permanent pavement in the square, occupied the time until after 9.15. A motion offered by Chairman Davidson of the Selectmen calling for an appropriation of $6,000, raised by bonds, for the purpose. Mr. Davidson spoke at length on the matter, stating that arrangement had been made with the various corporations and town departments whereby the streets about the square would not have to be opened for a period of at least ten years. The Bay State Railway had agreed to replace its rails with heavy construction; the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. had its wires all underground, and the Edison Company had agreed likewise to bury it wires; the only wires overhead would be the feed and trolley wires for the electric road. Steel trolley poles had been set up, the drainage, etc., taken care of, and as all abutting property was built upon, it would not be necessary to open the streets.

It would be necessary to expend $1,500 to $1,800 anyway on the square, as the new Fire Building requires that the north side of Mt. Vernon street be rebuilt from the bridge to the centre, and other work must be done. It was intended to use the penetration method macadam, similar to that used on Main street. This could be swept or flushed with water. The Bay State Railway would pay for one bond, as it took care of 18 inches on each side of its rails. It was originally intended to ask for $15,000, but the sum requested would keep the streets in condition for 10 years.

Mr. Metcalf of the Finance Committee stated that the motion had been changed from the original request upon which the committee acted. A vote on the present motion just taken showed ten of the members opposed. He urged economy, and quoted Senator Lodge's action at Nahant.

Mr. Whitney agreed with Mr. Metcalf and Mr. Norman read an article upon Senator Lodge's success in cutting appropriations to the amount of $55,000 at Nahant. Dr. Allen favored the work from a view point of influence on public health and Mr. Brown amended the motion by a move to raise by taxation. Mr. Snyder stated that the cost of bonds would mean a total of $900 a year, which in itself would go a good way towards keeping the square in condition. He thought the grade crossing should be considered, as if work on the elimination was commenced within ten years, the money would not furnish full value.

ORCHID CLUB ENTERTAINED.

On Tuesday evening the Misses Josephine and Frances Noonan entertained the Orchid Club at their home. The affair was in honor of the recent engagement of one of the club members, Miss Loretta Hargrove, to Mr. Carl Thomas of Medford. Mr. Thomas was quietly escorted to the house by his friends, during the progress of the regular club-meeting. When Miss Hargrove was ushered into the presence of the young gentlemen, she was completely overwhelmed with surprise and the congratulations of her friends. The house had been prettily decorated and the dining-room converted into a veritable bower, where Miss Margaret Foley presented Miss Hargrove with a huge bouquet of violets from the club. After a dainty luncheon, Mr. Thomas was presented with an ideal little "bungalow", which created no end of merriment. From a basket of flowers which hung over the table each one then drew a favor, accompanied by appropriate verse which expressed trite advice and good wishes for the young couple. Music and novel games planned for the occasion, completed an evening long to be remembered by all. The young ladies are: Misses Loretta Hargrove Margaret Foley, Frances Noonan, Mary Leahy, Alice Foley, Anna Murphy, Josephine Noonan, and Katherine Murphy. The guests were: Messrs. Carl Thomas, William Heavey, Thomas Conlon, James Blackham, Harry McCormack, William Noonan, Henry Chamberlain of Boston and John Coty of Melrose.

THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Doings of Winchester's Progressive Women's Club.

Ove one hundred non-members availed themselves of the privilege of an open meeting in order to enjoy the Boston Symphony Orchestral Club, composed of twelve Symphony men under the direction of Andre Maquarre.

Praise is unnecessary for such musicians but keen appreciation of their artistry was evident throughout the entire program. Familiar overtures took on an added beauty and the solos or obligatos for 'Cello, Flute, Horn, Cornet, and Violin showed the delicacy of tone and exection possible when each instrument is in the hands of a master musician.

Mr. Maquarre appeared not only a conductor, but as flute soloist, and composer and his Dance Characteristic, and Intermezzo were warmly received.

Attention is again called to the Dramatics to be given this evening in the Town Hall. See advertisement.

Members are reminded that the next meeting of The Fortnightly, which will be the Annual Meeting, occurs two weeks from Monday—on April 12. This is the Club luncheon day. Luncheon will be served in the Town Hall at 12.15. The Committee are hoping to make this an attractive and homelike occasion. Please come meaning to enjoy and help give others an informal and friendly good time. Further notice will be given later.

Economics Notes.

About ninety ladies watched Mrs. Barling's demonstration on Tuesday, when she showed how pastry should be made. Both old housekeepers and young enjoyed listening to an expert. She certainly combines pleasure and instructions and is always ready to answer questions or help in difficulties. This was the third in the series of lectures. The fourth is next Tuesday, March 30, at 2.30 in the small town hall, and is "A Simple Dinner." Doubtless many who could not attend the course will be present. The tickets are thirty-five cents. So much interest was shown in the luncheon that the committee feel sure the dinner will be well attended. Several people asked for a varied program, but the dinner seemed best since it was so announced beforehand.

On Friday, March 26, in Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston, Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait will speak on "Women's Costumes." Discussion led by Miss Constance Gutterson.

Admission free, on presentation of visiting card with "The Fortnightly" written upon it.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

The Fire and Police Building is now nearing its completing touches. In the police portion of the structure the cells are completed and the hardwood finish well under way, and there appears to be no reason why this part should not be soon completed. The fire department portion is likewise rapidly nearing completion, the cement floors being laid, drains put in the apparatus room preparatory to concreting and the doors being hung. The painting has also been started.

The Star Biulding is practically completed, only a portion of the painting and the installation of the plumbing fixtures remaining. The water was turned on in the sprinkler system by the Rockwood Company on Wednesday, and this feature is now in operation. The electric fixtures will be put up this week and the builders, J. M. & C. J. Buckley Co., expect to turn the building over to the Star the first of the week. The plant of the Star will be moved into its new quarters next Friday, the work commencing just as soon as the edition of that week is run off and continuing until the presses, folder, linotype, etc., are ready to resume work. The store will be moved later, after the printing end of the business is installed.

Mr. Safford Phippen has been ill at his home with the grip.

FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION.

Wedgemere Pond and River May Be Cleaned.

Editor of the Star:—

As a matter of public interest affecting people of Winchester, I will thank you to state in the Star that the bill, calling for the expenditure by the State of the sum of $15,000 for the dredging of the pond opposite the Wedgemere Station and the improvement of the Aberjona River from Upper Mystic Lake to Walnut street, was given its third reading in the House Monday and has gone to the Senate, where I am assured it will be given favorable consideration. The Metropolitan Park Commission is disposed to begin this work immediately upon the enactment of the bill.

Very truly yours,
Winfield F. Prime.

BAPTIST NEWS.

The walls and ceiling of the Chapel are being freshened this week. This is an Easter gift to the Church from one of the members, and it is deeply appreciated.

Miss Agnes M. Crawford begins on Monday a three years course of training in the Lynn Hospital. This has long been a cherished desire, and a host of friends wish her great success.

The decision day service last Sunday was one long to be remembered. A large number of young people enlisted in the Master's service, and great joy filled all hearts.

Easter Sunday will be observed by a baptismal service in the morning, and a missionary concert in the evening, using a specially designed service for this year, entitled, "The Living Christ for Every Life and All of Life." The program is based upon the idea of following the sun's progress around the world on Easter Day, showing how missions have girdled the earth with their blessings. The Concert Committee are Mrs. Willard A. Bradley, Mrs. John Lawrence Tufts and Miss Sara Frances Felber.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE A GARDEN.

To the Children of Winchester.

Dear Boys and Girls:

How would you like to have a garden of your own, this summer? One, in which you could do all of the work. If some one told you just how to prepare the soil, select and plant the seeds, and then care for the little growing plants, what a good time you would have watching the things grow. Would it not be fine fun to compare your garden with that of some other child. Then, if some one who knows much about gardens came to visit you quite frequently and gave you helpful suggestions about your work, that, too, would be pleasant, would it not? You could try to make your garden better than any of the others, and if you succeeded, a prize would be given to you, perhaps if it was not the best, but one almost as good, you could win a prize. Don't you want to hear more of this plan? If you do, send, at once, a post card with your name, age, and address written plainly upon it to the President of the Mothers' Association, 10 Hillside avenue.

Very truly yours,
One who is interested.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The following cases of contagious diseases have been reported to the Board of Health for the week ending Mar. 24: Measles 2, mumps 1, tuberculosis 1.

SYLVESTER H. TAYLOR.

Prominent Resident Died Suddenly Sunday Evening.

Winchester residents learned with a shock of the death of Mr. Sylvester H. Taylor on Monday morning. Mr. Taylor died at his home on Fenwick road Sunday evening very suddenly. During the day he was in his usual good health, attending the morning service at the Church of the Epiphany and enjoying an automobile ride in the afternoon with friends. In the evening when he went to attend the furnace before retiring his prolonged absence caused Mrs. Taylor alarm, and he was found unconscious, dying just before midnight.

Mr. Taylor had been a resident of Winchester for over 20 years, and enjoyed a large circle of friends. He was born in Cincinnati, O., the son of Sylvester and Emily Smith) Taylor. He later lived in Washington. He was a graduate of Yale in the class of '86, and then for several years was connected wth the Edgremont Marble Company, retiring several years ago. He was one of the founders and treasurer of the Winchester Orchestral Association, and was active in the work of the Church of the Epiphany, and was a member of the Boston Citp Club, Papyrus Club and Yale Club.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie S. Taylor; one son, Prescott Taylor; a sister, Mrs. Lyndon H. Stevens of Syracuse, N. Y., and a brother, Henry Taylor of Long Island City.

The funeral services were held from the residence at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Murray W. Dewart, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. The pallbearers were James H. Dwinell, Francis D. Cleveland, William H. W. Bicknell, Allen E. Boone, B. Frank Thompson and Lieut. Walter Richardson of Newton.

The body was placed temporarily in the receiving tomb at Wildwood Cemetery.

WATERING TROUGHS.

They Are so Few that They Should Be Opened.

The Town has finally disposed of the watering trough proposition in the west side district, no doubt to the satisfaction of the Chairman of the Water and Sewer Board, with the assistance of the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. The first named gentleman wanted an expression of opinion. It was voted in 1913 and again in 1914 by a unanimous vote, so no doubt the expression that he wanted was clearly shown in his attitude as an agent of the people. In regard to the letter that was read by the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen from the Inspector of Animals, and I believe he is a Veterinary Surgeon, that he has entirely forgotten the fact that men who own horses would hardly think it was a fair statement coming from a professional man who expected to make part of his living from them. If the automobile is a better asset for a Veterinary Surgeon to doctor, then I am in error. I find printed in the Town report in 1912 according to his own statement there was no glanders. In 1913, he had one case, and in 1914, there was only one case. Now, according to all his reports, there was no necessity of closing the watering-troughs, or even writing a letter, as his report can always be found, but a letter coming from a department from the hands of a man who expects to be appointed again to the same department must be favorable and no doubt was dictated by the power higher up. Officials and their appointers, also committees must report, and act as a few men want them to do, but no doubt some people have profited from the experience of the last few years, and might see their way clear to practice a square deal in the future. One person who lives at the corner of Everett avenue, objected to a trough in that district, according to the statement made by the Board of Selectmen in Town meeting. He had more powers than the people who went to Town meeting.

P. E. Fitzgerald.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE TEA.

The fifth neighborhood tea, given by the Equal Suffrage League, was held at the home of Mrs. Walter S. Wadsworth on Lawrence street, Wednesday afternoon. There was a large attendance, the rooms being well filled.

A very interesting talk was given by Miss Wulkop, who led the meeting, and there was a discussion led by Miss Frances Elder. A solo and a group of songs were given by Mrs. Christian Shelin, with Mrs. Fred L. Avery at the piano.

The afternoon was a most delightful and informal occasion.

UNITARIAN PARISH NOTES.

A delegation of interested workers from Taunton attended the ceremonial meeting of the Camp Fire Girls on Wednesday of this week.

The preparations for the May party are going on rapidly. It promises to be the finest one we have ever given. 150 to 200 children will take part in it.

A letter has been received from Mabel S. Weld through Mrs. Ferd. French, thanking the Metcalf Union for their gift of money to furnish hospital supplies for the hospitals of Northern France. The letter says that the need is sure to be very great through March and April and the following months.

By an error it was announced that last week's vesper service would be the final one of the season. This is not so, as we are to have perhaps the finest of all on April 11th, when Bernice Fisher, the Opera Star, is to be the soloist.

If there are any of the Congregation who are not provided with Hymn and service books, they may obtain them of Mr. Howard Snelling, the Treasurer of the Society.

Mr. Metcalf would consider it a great favor if his parishioners would notify him of cases of sickness in the parish.

Mr. Frederick M. Ives, Moderator of the town meeting, has appointed the following committees:

Finance— Maurice H. Brown, Alfred B. Carhart, John H. Carter, Robert Davis, Walter H. Dotten, James J. Fitzgerald, Edward S. Foster, Warren Healey, Alfred H. Hildreth, Thomas E. Jansen, William E. Kneeland, Edward S. Mansfield, Frederic S. Snyder, Charles S. Tenney, Walter S. Wadsworth.

Civil Service—George T. Davidson, Vincent Farnsworth, Wallace F. Flanders, Charles F. Maxwell, Irving Symmes.

Town Government—Harry K. Clark, Dennis Foley, Charles N. Harris, Algernon K. Jewett, Ralph E. Joslin, Charles T. Main, Robert H. Metcalf, James Nowell, Lewis Parkhurst, Addison R. Pike, Preston Pond, William D. Richards, Arthur H. Russell, James W. Russell, Jr., Frederic S. Snyder.

TUCK PICKED FOR ALL-STAR TEAM.

Leon Tuck of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield L. Tuck of Winthrop street has been picked for the position of left wing by Tom Howard, coach of the Yale varsity hockey team for the collegiate all-star hockey team. Of the seven men selected three are from Harvard, two from Dartmouth and on each from Yale and Cornell.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE.

In many employments it is necessary for a man's success that he be well dressed. It may be illogical, but shabby clothes hurt his business. Consequently he has half used suits and overcoats for distribution at regular intervals. Being well made they have a great deal of substantial wear. Also his wife feels that her position requires her to discard garments before they are worn out.

The amount of clothing thus passed on is a big total. If used kindly and benevolently, it can keep a great many deserving people very comfortable. Some persons sell it to some vendor of castoffs, who makes a thrifty profit. The amount that can be realized from second hand dealers is never large. It would seem to The Spectator that people might much better make this little offering to worthy charity by a direct gift.

It is poor policy to hand out these garments to the first blowsy tramp who comes along. Right here in Winchester there are always people who have met misfortune, but who have fought a good fight with adverse circumstances. They are entitled to the preference.

According to any man with a shiny pate or with snow upon his hair if he has hair, the seasons are changing. We do not have as much snow as we used to have, they will tell you; nor is it so cold. Away back in the "forties," you will hear them say, it used to snow on Thanksgiving and there was sleighing until March. And the ice on the pond was so thick that you could drive a four-horse team across it for four months at a stretch. To prove his contention that the seasons are changing, your veteran friend will tell of the drought through this part of the country in the long ago.

Talking about public libraries and their relation to certain sorts of books, a gentleman points out to The Spectator that a restaurant could not be expected to refuse to furnish lobster salad because that dish is harmful to dyspeptics and children; nor should the restaurant keeper be blamed if a dyspeptic steals in and slyly gorges himself ill on lobster salad. So with the library. It must have its varied list, to suit the needs and tastes of all. Probably the gentleman would not justify the restaurant keeper in offering positively recognized unwholesome dishes, either to gratify perverted taste or to lead the unwary into a sad mistake. But while the diner is quite willing to accept the verdict of the restauranteur as to whether the mushrooms are of the edible variety, the librarian is not always so willingly accepted as the guide to the reading of other people.

Mainly, however, the library can regulate the desires of its readers by what it offers them; and where it fails to satisfy on the point of a doubtful book, there is always a question as to what extent it is justified in going out of its way to suit in the matter of reading for recreation. When the public funds are to supply the books, the money should buy what the mass of the people want. They do not want bad books any more than they want food that is bad for them. The conscientious librarian's troublesome point is in distinguishing what are really bad books and what are books merely bad for some people. The "best" book to the mind of one makes no appeal to another. The book distasteful to one is pleasant to another. The average librarian is doing his or her best in buying books. He or she would be honestly grieved to find that lobster salad had been served to a tea and toast digestion.

A "reader of the Star" would have men compelled to go to the polls and vote, thinking that by such means many of the abuses which surround the suffrage would be eliminated and that government would be improved.

What a man does after he reaches the ballot box is quite as important as whether he goes there—more important. The Spectator insists, in some aspects. If a man goes to the ballot box and votes for bad and incompetent candidates he had better stay away, for he becomes a positive detriment to good government. A fair presumption would be that a citizen who lacked sufficient interest to vote of his own volition would not be very particular about the character of his vote if he were forced to vote. Law might make him go to the polling place, and even to place a ballot in the box. No law could possibly ensure that he would vote wisely or even decently.

BASE BALL ASSOCIATION CONCERT.

The directors of the Winchester Base Ball Association are busy making arrangements for the concert to be held on Thursday evening, April 15th, and will present one of the most entertaining and enjoyable affairs yet given this season. The concert will be given at popular prices, and the support given by the citizens is assuring that the affair will be a decided success.

The enthusiasm of the fans in sending in their renewals of membership in the organization is well demonstrated, and it is anticipated that the membership will be considerably enlarged this season over that of last year.

It is the earnest desire and intention of the directors to furnish clean, wholesome base ball on each Saturday afternoon and on the holidays throughout the summer. A schedule is now being made up which will give thorough satisfaction to all without doubt.

As base ball gives more pleasure to the majority of our townspeople, it is thought that all will show their loyal support by aiding the Association in every way.

MAY PARTY WILL BE HELD.

The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church will hold its annual May Party this year as usual. The date set for the event is Saturday, May 1, and it will be held in the Town Hall.

The committee of ladies having the affair in charge are busily engaged in perfecting plans for the party and further announcement will be made in a short time regarding it.

MASONIC LADIES' NIGHT.

The Committee on Ladies' Night for William Parkman Lodge, on Tuesday, April 20, have at last reported on their entertainment for that occasion. After canvassing the entire situation and considering many offers by entertainers they have at last, although it will be at great expense, made arrangements with the Scottish Musical Comedy Company for their production of "Tam O'Shanter." This is one of the brightest, most artistic, and most delightfully entertaining adaptions of Burns' poems ever conceived. It takes the nature of a musical comedy, and takes the audience back to the times of Burns and those scenes upon which he has based his master pieces. The pasticipants will portray the various characters in costumes of the period, and the whole event will be brim full of quality and humor, rich in jest, song and story. Inquiry reveals the fact that there is not a dull moment throughout the performance, and that this event of itself will be something in the form of entertainment superior to anything that has ever yet been presented in Winchester. The present large demand for tickets makes it imperative that all who are affiliated with the Lodge, or who are Masons in Town, should immediately get in touch with the various members of the Committee in order to secure tickets, the number of which will of necessity be limited.

MANY BRUSH FIRES.

Saturday and Sunday were busy days for the members of the Winchester Fire Department, alarms following each other in quick succession for numerous brush fires all over town. A list of the fires is as follows, there being little or no damage from the entire alarms.

Saturday—10 a. m. grass at Greeley estate on the Parkway. 11 o'clock a telephone reporting fire at the residence of Selectman Davidson on Park avenue. This proved to be grass. 12.45, grass fire on Salisbury road. 1.45, a grass fire on Fletcher street. 4 p. m. box 44, for a brush fire on Canal street. At this fire two sheds and a fence were scorched. 4.30 o'clock, grass on Laurel street. 7.30 p. m., a fire at the rear of the Reuben Hawes Stable on Main street. This fire was evidently caused by a lighted match. The damage was slight.

Sunday—Still alarm for grass on Lebanon street during the forenoon. 12 m., box 5, for grass on Woodside. Also in the vicinity of the residence of Mrs. F. A. Priest. 2.30 p. m., box 57, for a fire at the rear of Cox's hill on the Lexington line. The Lexington department also responded for this fire, and the local firemen were obliged to work until almost six o'clock before it was under control. The damage was slight.

The address at the Calumet Club, to be given tomorrow evening by Lincoln Wirt, explorer and lecturer, on "Our Little Brothers in Fur," will doubtless prove one of the best entertainments at the Club this winter.

The test of a fire insurance policy is -FIRE-

Every fire tests the kind of service a company gives its policy-holders but the supreme test is the great conflagration that leaves a big city in ashes and forces many insurance companies out of business.

At such times the man who holds a policy of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company never worries. He knows that his policy is backed by ample assets and more than a century's record for the prompt payment of every honest loss.

That's one reason we represent the Hartford here. There are other reasons equally good. May we talk to you about it?

COLORADO SENATE REFUTES CLAIMS IN EASTERN NEWSPAPERS.

Colorado has had woman suffrage for 22 years, and the present Senate of that state, annoyed at the repeated misrepresentations of the effect and results of the participation of women in the ballot on the part of anti-suffragists in the East, have just passed the following resolution: "We deem it to be our duty to say that experience has demonstrated that woman suffrage is not only a just recognition of the rights of all before the law, but has proved in all respects materially helpful to good government among the people, and to a noticeable degree has inculcated a higher respect for the supremacy of the law."

Women suffragists do not expect the sudden dawning of an earthly paradise with the achievement of woman suffrage, but they do expect with a confidence that is gaining support from fact, a new, strong, incalculable impetus toward right ideals in public life, good men and good women standing together in a true camaradie which will accelerate with the years and the passing of darkness and prejudice.

During the past week the women of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association in and around Boston have been busying themselves with rendering what aid and comfort and happiness they could to some of their less fortunate fellows. A Flag Day netted $2,500 for the aid of the unemployed and last Saturday 4,000 oranges were distributed among the children and invalids in Boston hospitals, while somewhat earlier $4,500 was contributed to the relief of the war sufferers abroad, all by the same women. It is a very practical demonstration of the part which women can and will take in that side of our every day life which men are too busy to spend much time on, and a part which the women will have more incentive to concern themselves with once they get the ballot.

NOT ONE CENT.

Mr. Carter said that so many bonds had been issued that even the Finance Committee could not keep track of them. They were all in small lots. So far the meeting had only reduced the appropriations $10,000; this motion would replace $6,000 of the cut. He thought our square in as good condition as any in this vicinity, and opposed the motion. Mr. Tuck thought that the reform had been started and then ran away and left the tax payers to run and catch up. The tax rate would go to $18.10 with this one appropriation and he estimated it at over $18 without it. Mr. Emerson vigorously opposed the motion.

The vote on Mr. Brown's amendment was lost, and the vote on the original motion met a like fate.

Article 16 resulted in Foxcroft road being accepted as a town way from Wedgemere avenue to Cambridge street, no appropriation being asked or made.

Under Article 17 Stone avenue was similarly accepted.

Article 18, calling for the widening and regarding of Forest circle, was dropped.

Article 19, calling for $650 for the George Washington Memorial Biulding at Washington, D. C., was indefinitely postponed.

Article 20 brought forth a request for $6,200 for dredging the mill pond, Mr. Lane of the Park Board making the motion and speaking to it. This resulted in a long discussion. Mr. Lane stated that the completion of the bridges would leave the Whitney lot a foot below the street and the mill pond full of stakes and unsightly mud and banks. If left the survey points would be lost and more money needed for that work. It was proposed as soon and the bridge contractor completed his work to draw off all the water, allow the mud to dry, and then use the material excavated for surfacing the Whitney lot, the banks of the pond, the island and the patch from Mt. Vernon street to Waterfield road.

Mr. Metcalf stated that the tax rate was estimated at $17.75; that he again desired to remind the Town of its vote not eo exceed $18. He stated that the contractor's estimate of the work was $5,000, as the Park Board intended doing the work itself by town labor, it appeared much more expensive.

Mr. Lane stated that by town labor the work would cost about $5,500, the additional money to be used, $400 for the path and $300 for commissions.

Mr. Whitney thought the pond would look all right if the water was raised. Mr. Metcalf had previously raised a doubt regarding the value of the excavated material, stating that if it did not prove as represented, it might be necessary to remove it after being placed on the various points and additional expense incurred. Mr. Whitney also did not think much of the quality of the material. An interesting point in his remarks was that the mill pond had once before been excavated at a cost of $500.

Mr. Lane said the Mass. Agricultural College and Technology had both given assurance to the value of the material, and Mr. Snyder also thought it good. Mr. Snyder moved to amend by appropriating $1,000 as a starter in the work, but Mr. Lane said that this world do no good.

Mr. Carter thought no more should be spent on the Aberjona Parks improvement until the Town knew where it was at. If the whole scheme was to be carried out it would cost a million.

Mr. Lane asked for an opinion from the Assessors on the appropriation's effect on the tax rate, and Mr. Wooster replied that on last year's valuation the rate would be $18.10. No additional valuation was in sight, although the Assessors hoped to have it raised some. That was all he could say.

Mr. Metcalf stated in accordance with a bill favorable reported and now before the Legislature this town might be called upon to pay an additional State tax of $6,000 in apportioning school expenses. To sum the bill up, the rich towns had to help the poor towns pay school expenses.

Mr. Emerson wanted to stand by the vote to keep the tax rate below $18. He urged waiting and seeing how the pond looked after the bridges were completed, then if necessary, a meeting could be called and the money appropriated.

A vote on $6,200 was lost and a following vote on $1,000 was lost.

On Article 21, calling for an appropriation for the Highlands Playground, Mr. Lane stated that in view of the needed economy no appropriation would be asked for.

Article 22, regarding seats on Manchester Field, was indefinitely postponed.

Article 23 was to amend the license fee for hawkers and peddlers, reducing it from $10 to $2. Mr. Granville D. Richardson spoke on this and made a good argument. The reduction was voted.

Article 24 regarding the purchase of the Cutting estate adjoining the Town Hall property, was referred to the Planning Board.

Article 25 was a move to increase the number of members in the School Committee to nine. Mr. Tuck favored the increase and spoke to his motion. Mr. Arthur Black then made a report for four members of the committee appointed last year to investigate the matter. Their report was in favor of retaining the present number of three. Mr. Tuck then presented his minoroty report calling for nine. He spoke at length, and then Mr. W. A. Kneeland moved to petition the legislature to allow a committee of five, the present law stating that the committee must be in multiples of three. Mr. Fitzgerald wanted six members. The whole matter was voted down, the final rising vote on the number of six being 77 nays to 77 yeas.

Article 26 was indefinitely postponed.

Articles 27, 28 and 29 had been previously acted upon at an earlier session.

Article 30 brought up the matter of a watering trough on Cambridge street. Mr. Fitzgerald was the only advocate and he fought hard for it, but it appeared clear that the voters did not want a trough there and the motion was voted down.

Mr. Barrows of the Water Board stated that the State would only permit a trough north of Calumet road and that the present troughs in town were a nuisance, especially at Symmes' corner, where nuisances were continually committed, and the board was considering its removal. The triangle at the corner of Everett avenue and Cambridge street was considered by Mr. Fitzgerald upon Mr. Whitney's suggestion, but this was not approved. Mr. Carter thought that all of the residents objected to the large swill teams stopping in front of their houses. A letter from Dr. Buckley, the veterinary, spoke in opposition to all troughs as a method of spreading disease.

A motion was then made to dissolve. This was voted and carried by acclamation, but it being doubted, a rising vote was taken and the meeting dissolved.

PHYSICAL CULTURE DEMONSTRATION.

The Winchester High School girls gave their annual gymnastic demonstration on Friday evening in the School gymnasium.

The instructor, Miss Dora I. Brown, a graduate of Sargent School, Cambridge, directs the girls' physical work in all the public schools. The diving in the apparatus work deserves special mention. Those taking part in it were: Margaret Adriance, leader, Marjorie Wait, Ethel McEwen, Mabel Gray, Maude Gurney, Rhoda Case and Hazel Smith.

The basket ball game played at the end was a walk over for the Varsity team on account of their superior playing and partly on account of the fact that the Senior team, the champions of the class teams in school, did not have their complete team, being obliged to use two of the Sophomore girls. The summary is as follows:

Another "Hopeless Case"
He Astonished the Doctors—Recovers Without Operation—Used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.
Mr. James Lettice, of Canajoharie, N.Y., writes:
"Some years ago I was attacked with fearful pains in my back and side. I could not control my kidneys at all, and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered intensely. A prominent physician of Albany, N.Y., decided that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded that and commenced to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I felt better almost immediately. When I had taken about two bottles, the flow from the bladder was much cleaner, the pain stopped, I was saved from the surgeon's knife and am now well."
The above letter was written in 1900. To prove that the benefit he obtained from Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was permanent, read what he says in a recent letter (in 1912):
"I am enjoying the best of health. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me permanently. I have answered many letters asking about it. I and keep on praising it."
Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has had nearly 40 years of great success in Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Not a "patent" medicine, but a physician's prescription, prepared for universal use. Write to-day to Dr. David Kennedy Co., Rondout, N.Y., for a free trial bottle and booklet of valuable medical advice. Large bottles sold by 40,000 druggists.

The Winchester Star

Entered at the post-office at Winchester, Massachusetts, as second-class matter.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 29.

THEODORE P. WILSON, Editor and Publisher : WINCHESTER, MASS

What reason is there for the citizens of Saugus excluding women from attending town meetings as spectators? Women should be welcomed at these meetings the same as they are in Winchester.

The Common would make an elegant site for the new postoffice building situated as it is in the heart of the business center of the town, which cannot be said of the site on Waterfield road. But, then, the people will have something to say before the Common is decided upon.

At the Wakefield town meeting Monday evening in the matter of raising the wages of town laborers from $2.25 to $2.50 a day, the majority declared themselves in favor of the principle, but argued that with a definite appropriation higher wages mean fewer jobs.

Foremost among the questions of the day is that of equal suffrage. The action of the Massachusetts Legislature in twice voting to submit a constitutional amendment to the people has brought the question to an issue and it comes squarely before the voters of the State at the coming fall election. The Star is neither pro nor anti-suffragist—it is on the fence—on all matters, independent. It is recognized that it is now the duty of every citizen to inform himself thoroughly so that his vote at the polls will be based upon an intelligent decision. Towards that end this paper will be glad to devote a reasonable amount of its space during the coming months to both sides of the question.

MISS MADGE HOVEY.

Elected Member of Eta Chapter Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Madge Hovey, daughter of Freeland E. Hovey, of Stratford road, has been elected to the Massachusetts Eta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa located at Smith College. Miss Hovey was graduated from the Wadleigh Grammar school in June, 1907, and from the High School four years later in June, 1911, "with highest honor." In the High school she was noted for the breadth of her interests and all once in all school affairs and basket ball, as well as [illegible] ship, and her success in college has not surprised those who knew her. We extend to her and to the High School our congratulations.

Our readers may be interested in knowing that Phi Beta Kappa is a college fraternity to which a limited number of students in the colleges having chapters are elected on the basis of exceptional scholarship. The fraternity was founded on December 5, 1776, at William and Mary's College in Virginia. At first it was conducted much as the usual college fraternities are today. Its standards of admission were, however, so high that it gradually became the means by which the best scholars in colleges of high standing were officially recognized as such. Its pin is a gold key worn with modest pride by several of our high school teachers and others in town as a pleasant remembrance of four college years well spent.

CARS TO HARVARD SQ.

Winchester through cars to Harvard square subway are coming slowly but surely, and Mr. Tuck will not rest until this is accomplished as the following letter will show;

Public Service Commission,
Boston, Mass., March 18, 1915.

Mr. Whitfield Tuck, Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Referring to the petition of residents of Winchester that cars of the Bay State Street Railway Company operated from that town to Arlington be continued to the subway of the Boston Elevated Railway Company in the city of Cambridge, on which the Commission rendered a decision under date of July 22, 1914, recommending that these companies cooperate in bringing about that rearrangement of service requested by the petitioners, I beg to advise you that management of the Bay State Street Railway Company informed me that application had already been made to the Selectmen of Arlington for approval of certain changes in tracks in that town.

Very truly yours,
Allan Brooks,
Assistant Secretary.

WHAT IS THE "KELLAWAY PLAN."

Editor of the Star:—

At the late town meeting, also at the January town meeting, there seemed to be some confusion of ideas as to what constituted the Kellaway plan of treating the mill pond property belonging to the town. Some speakers claimed that the building of the new dam was in accordance with the Kellaway plan, others claimed it was not and that the town never voted for the new dam and has never been consulted regarding it. Will you, or some one of your correspondence write out a short explanation of the Kellaway plan for the benefit of the new people in town. We know of no suburban paper which can boast of better correspondents than those who write for the Star. The "Spectater" is particularly good and there are others who write understandingly and clearly and help make your paper what it is, one of the best papers of its kind in the vicinity of Boston. Let some of them tell us about the Kellaway plan and whence its name.

MATCHED PAIRS.

The matched pairs, or two men team tournament, opened on the Calumet alleys Wednesday evening, ten of the eleven teams entering in the contest competing. The results placed team 2 in first place, with 1 and 8 tied at second, one point behind. The observance of Mystic League rules, including the foul line and lobbing, proved somewhat of a hindrance to several of the high men, who had previously not kept strictly back of the line.

OBSERVATIONS.

It is deplorable that any citizen should so conduct himself that a town meeting is exasperated into taking the action it did Monday night by dissolving the meeting without taking up articles he had placed in the warrant, but it is not in human nature to allow anyone to run amuck without retaliating in kind. He ought to "take a tumble to himself," as the boys say.

If it is thought desirable to have one piece of fire apparatus west of the railroad tracks, the Water Board shop on Vine street could be fixed up at not a great expense for that purpose. That department should move its plant to the town yard on Linden street anyway.

While the proposed new half mill school tax may not became law and will not go into effect till next year, if it does, there is danger of a ten million dollars State tax this year, which would cost us $4,375, more than last year. If this should happen, every city and town should insist that it be negged there and no increase over that sum be permitted.

I do not think the lighting of our centre is a success, and some different plan should be tried.

Two pension acts, one relating to firemen and policemen and one to other public employees, have been reported into the Legislature by the committee on Social Welfare, based upon the very elaborate report of the Special Commission on pensions which reported last year and whose report is well worth reading. These bills are an attempt to straighten out our hodge podge, ridiculous, unfair and unconstitutional laws of recent years. We have gone lung on pensions and this report shows it up in startling style. I doubt if our Selectmen or Finance Committee knew anything about this report, but they should have. Outside of policemen and firemen in cities and the larger towns and soldiers, no public employee nor official is entitled to any pension and a decided re-action against it is under way, and as soon as the people understand the burden that is being placed on their backs they will unload it without ceremony.

After the Assessors have finish d their valuations and before they have fixed the tax rate, it may be desirable to call a town meeting to adjust some things looking toward next year. I believe we may find we shall have more leeway toward holding down the tax rate this year than we are likely to have next year and if this appears to be certain by August it may be good policy to take care of one or two more things by taxation this year instead of letting them go over till next year.

Our Assessors should try and complete the re-valuation of real estate this year, last year's increase on land valuation over the previous year was only $37,000 and a very large part of the town has not been re-valued for a dozen years or more in which time we have expended many hundreds of thousands of dollars in improvements of all kinds, which of course, makes land as a whole more valuable. Although we shall lose some personal property this year there is an ample supply left to furnish a decided net increase on intangibles and incomes.

The motion that we should appropriate money to keep all of our street apparatus employed is rot, it would be better to sell some of it or even give it away, than to maintain such a policy. We have been running riot in buying all kinds of apparatus in the last few years, witness three steam rollers for a town of our extent. We must back pedal for a time and halt the reign of extravagance and it should be clear to all town officials now that we mean it. Our tax rate under good management would have been sixteen dollars of recent years. Seventeen-forty is too high for a town like ours. Furthermore we have appropriated more money for highway purposes than could be expended to the best advantage in any one year and we have not got the results we should have consequently. We must have more care given and not so much "go as you please" system. More interest by more citizens is what is needed.

About forty voters spoke at the town meetings and the quality as a whole was high and the results good. Our action on a prospective high tax rate was in striking contrast to that of most towns and was refreshing. It showed that "absolutely necessary appropriations" are not so.

STOLEN JEWELRY FOUND ON MAN IN BROOKLINE.

Goods stolen from the residences of Joshua C. Kelley and Miss Minnie E. Holt on Sheffield West last week were found Thursday on a man arrested in Brookline charged with attempting to enter the home of John J. Bright at 91 Salisbury road. He was arrested after a long struggle by patrolman William P. McCracken. He was arraigned in court on Friday and held in $1,500 for a hearing. A quantity of jewelry was found on him, which led the police to suspect that he had been concerned in breaks at other places. He gave the name of Walter Carter and was thought to come from the West.

Chief McIntosh went to Brookline Friday and identified some of the goods. On Saturday Miss Holt visited Brookline and identified her jewelry, and on Sunday Mr. Kelley did likewise.

The Kelley and Holt residences were broken into on the night of Wednesday, March 17th. Carter is about 29 years of age and claims to be a plumber by occupation. He has also been connected with a break at Worcester on the 13th.

He has been held for the superior court and will be tried in June.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Again the local Union asks the members and friends to send in their contributions of good things for the Easter box that is to go to the Flower Mission the latter part of next week. Delicacies for the sick and anything in the way of eatables that will keep are much appreciated. Some years the union has asked for money with which to buy a case of eggs, but this year it asks for either money or other contributions. Mrs. J. C. Adams is in charge of the box and all contributions should be sent to her home on Dix street. Jellies, preserves, fruit, cocoa and crackers, are among the desirable things.

Another box which is also demanding attention is the one for Llewsac Lodge. In that may be put anything suitable for carpet rugs, especially old stockings and other pieces of underwear. These are used in weaving the rugs for which the Lodge is becoming famous. Towels and bed or table linen for use at the Lodge are also desired and gifts of that kind will be much appreciated. They may be sent to Mrs. Daniel Kelley of Dix street who is in charge of the work for the Frances E. Willard Settlement of which Llewsac Lodge is a part.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

It is not often that following the last curtain of a serious dramatic offering that the audience remain in their seats applauding, yet such was the case at the Hollis Street Theatre, last Monday night when Otis Skinner presented for the first time in Boston, his new play "The Silent Voice". "The Silent Voice," is undeniably one of the big dramatic novelties and successes of the present season. Otis Skinner's art is seen to particularly good advantage. He is graceful, impelling and genuine and he feels the throb of fine human ambitions in the character of an afflicted iconoclast. Mrs. Skinner as 'Mildred Hallam' has a role particularly well suited to her and which portrays delightfully and Florence Fisher plays the young wife charmingly. The other members of the cast are all players of ability and the performance as a whole is an exceptional exposition. Mr. Skinner will play a matinee on Wednesday and on Saturday.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

Who Have Put in Electric Lights on the Edison Easy-Payment House Wiring Plan:

NEWTON.

"My tenant, who had used electricity before, demanded it here, and now has extended his lease."

NEWTON.

"It is all you claim for it, and most excellent in every respect."

NEWTON.

"We have found your service satisfactory in every particular under the Easy Payment Plan. When we decided to wire our house (in Walton) it was our intention to pay cash, but on being acquainted with your Easy Payment Plan we eagerly availed ourselves of the opportunity to pay in small monthly amounts, and used our ready cash for very necessary repairs to the house. I heartily endorse it!"

NEWTON.

"I am surely more than pleased with the Edison service and would not be without it. I shall certainly recommend it every chance I get."

NEWTON.

"I was somewhat fearful that the annoyance and possible damage to the floors and wood finish would be so great that I should regret having ordered this change from gas to electricity. But, instead, we are more than delighted with your service, and it has been impossible to find a single place anywhere about the house where any injury to the property has been made."

SOMERVILLE.

"Electricity is one of the greatest things. It is without danger. It is very nice, you do not have to have any matches."

WINCHESTER.

"It is more convenient and cleaner than either gas or oil, and I might say safer than either of the above, as it does away with the necessity of striking matches all over the house. After using it for nine months, I could not get along without it."

WOBURN.

"I am very well satisfied with the wiring also with the light furnished. I have never had any trouble since the job was done and it is much cheaper than oil which I burned before I used electric illumination. I would not be without it."

DORCHESTER.

"We are more than satisfied with the change. Electric Light has brought to our home. No other light for us anymore. Vacuum Cleaner will be the next."

HYDE PARK.

"The cleanliness and convenience of the electric light far exceeds gas or kerosene. The ease with which it is operated and its reliability are such that we would not be without it."

FRAMINGHAM.

"Perfectly satisfactory in every respect."

HOLLISTON.

"Electric Light superior to all others. Am greatly pleased with the service, and am advising all my friends to take advantage of your installment plan."

HOLLISTON.

"We are very much satisfied with your service and often wonder how we ever got along with lamps."

SUDBURY.

"Your plan for installation is very satisfactory and I intend to extend a little later and install electric range and heat."

WOBURN.

"It is very convenient in lighting quickly, in going about the house, especially by extra push buttons or switches at the doors. The light is beautiful and very brilliant. The electric radiator is very useful in heating any room where wall receptacle is, or by lamp connection and a fan would be fine in summer."

WATERTOWN.

"It is safe, satisfactory, saving of labor and a sane method of lighting; always ready when wanted. The easiest thing to forget is to turn off the cellar lights." (A light near the head of the cellar stairs prevents this.)

NEWTON.

"It is much cleaner and more convenient than any other; safer where there are children and more healthful."

THE PROHIBITIONIST'S CREED.

Believe as I believe, no more, no less;
That I am right, and no one else, confess;
Feel as I feel, think only as I think;
Eat what I eat, and drink but what I drink;
Look as I look, do always as I do,
And then, and only then, I'll fellowship with you.

That I am right, and always right, I know,
Because my own convictions tell me so;
And to be right is simply this to be Entirely and in all respects like me;
To question, doubt, or hestitate, is sin.

I reverence the Bible if it be
Translated first and then explained by me;
By churchly laws and customs I abide,
If they with my opinions coincide;
All creeds and doctrines I admit divine,
Excepting those which disagree with mine.

Let sink the drowning if he will not swim
Upon the plank that I throw out to him;
Let starve the hungry if he will not eat
My kind and ouality of bread and meat;
Let freeze the naked if he will not be Clothed in such garments as are made for me.

'Twere better that the sick should die than live,
Unless they take the medicine I give;
'Twere better sinners perish than refuse
To be conformed to my peculiar views;
'Twere better that the world stand still for ever
In any other way than that which I approve.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

With the opening of the eleventh week of "Common Clay," the record that "Believe Me, Xantippe," the last year's Harvard Prize Play made, was tied and the coming week will break all records for runs made in the history of John Craig's Castle Square Theatre.

It seems fitting that at this time should come the news that a new $500,000 theatre is to be built this summer for John Craig and Mary Young at the corner of Boylston and Ipswich streets. It will be an ideal location and the Craigs feel they may depend upon their clientele to follow them to their new home at the Fenway. The theatre will be ready for occupation by the first of November.

WINCHESTER MAN APPOINTED.

Geo. A. Barron of Winchester has been appointed the New England member of the Transportation Committee to make arrangements for the Optometrists who go to the Optometrical Congress to be held at the Panama Exposition in July.

REPLY TO MISS ELDER.

Editor of the Star:—

Miss Elder "sends a friendly challenge to Anti-Suffragists to match equal name against name of well-known social worker Anti against well-known social work Suffragist;" adding "the fact is that if one really knows what he is about the thing can't be done." I think Miss Elder is mistaken and that it is because she doesn't quite "know what she is about" that she is so sure. Her list of social workers who are Suffragists is as follows:

Miss Jane Addams. Miss Julia Lathrop, Miss Katherine B. Davis, Miss Mary McDowell, Owen Lovejoy, Prof. Graham Taylor and Edward Devine.

Miss Addams, it may be recalled, made her reputation by doing social settlement work in Chicago in the days when settlement work was a novelty and by writing books about it. Her work at Hull House is much more than offset by the work of world-wide importance done by Miss Mabel Boardman, head of the American Red Cross; the flood sufferers in China and Ohio, the earthquake victims in Italy, the sick and suffering in all lands stricken by this terrible war are all beneficiaries of her work for humanity. No woman in America is doing work of broader scope. At the time when Miss Addams joined the Bull Moose party, Miss Boardman was urged to act as Chairman of the Advisory Committee of Women of the Republican Party although a personal friend of Pres. Taft she refused because she believed that it would be an injury to her work for her to be affiliated with a political party.

Miss Lathrop, head of the Federal Children's Bureau comes next on the list. Miss Lathrop is a paid employe of the Government and her work consist largely in collecting data and statistics concerning child welfare. She can be matched with Miss Minnie Tronson, who as special agent of the U. S. Bureau of Labor, investigated the labor conditions of women and children, and the great shirtwaist strike in New York.

Miss Katherine B. Davis is Commissioner of Corrections, a well-paid, exacting position in New York; Miss Davis, like Miss Addams, spends much time travelling about and speaking at suffrage meetings. Would a man holding her position be counted as a "social worker?" Mrs. Barclay Hazard of New York, an Anti-Suffragist, is really a social worker, being the only woman member of the Executive Committee of the so-called Committee of Fourteen of the Vice Commission, as well as Chairman of the Board of Managers of the Florence Crittendon Mission, and a helper in the Woman's Night Court.

Miss Mary McDowell comes next. She, too, is a social settlement worker in Chicago, and has helped in solving the garbage problem in that city. Against her we place Miss Emily P. Bissell of Delaware, one of the best known women in her state. She is secretary of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Commission, President of the Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs. Her non-partisan influence has been successful several times in helping to put reform measure; through the legislature when party feeling ran high.

Against Owen Lovejoy of the National Child Labor Committee, we place Mrs. Lillian Carpenter Streeter of New Hampshire, who is Chairman of the New Hampshire Children's Commission. This commission owes its existence to Mrs. Streeter's untiring efforts for the children of the state and it was stated in the Boston Herald of Feb. 28th, 1915, that nothing so important had come before New Hampshire since the Civil War. Mrs. Streeter is called the Jane Addams of New Hampshire. She is much less in the public eye than Miss Addams, but it must be remembered that Miss Addams' prominence is now due largely to her suffrage activities, as she is constantly journeying about the country, from Nevada to Tennessee and Massachusetts, making suffrage speeches. It is interesting to notice that Miss Addams is now almost never mentioned in connection with social work and it is really a question whether she should still be listed primarily as a social worker or a suffrage agitator; whereas Mrs. Streeter, besides heading the Children's Commission of three members, is chairman of the Committee on Dependent Children, Secretary of the Concord District Nursing Association, and a working member of various other societies for social welfare. She started the New Hampshire State Federation of Woman's Clubs, of which she now holds the title of "Founder and Honorary President."

Prof. Graham Taylor, also of Chicago, comes next on Miss Elder's list. Against him we place Mrs. William Lowell Putman of Boston. Mrs. Putman is Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Milk Consumers' Association, Chairman of the Department of Public Health of the Woman's Municipal League, a Director of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality and a member of the National Pre-Natal Committee of this Association. Mrs. Putman is at the head of the Committee on Pre-Natal work of the Woman's Municipal League, whose work is attracting scientific attention all over the world and is being copied in various countries. Its importance to women and to the next generation can hardly be over-estimated.

Last on the list comes Mr. Edward Devine, director of the School of Philanthropy. Against him we place Dr. J. Whitridge Williams, Dean of John Hopkins University and head of the department of Obstetrics. Dr. Williams is one of the foremost experts in the country and in building his model hospital for women and in training expert in the most scientific care of women in childbirth he too is doing social work of an importance and value beyond a question whose benefits will be felt by women all over the country.

For good measure I will add the names of

J. Lawrence Vellier, the greatest housing expert of the country. He is Executive Secretary of the National Housing Association, and is prominent in the Anti-Tuberculosis work in New York as well.

Mrs. Robert Maclver, President of the New York Consumer's League, and member of the Executive Council of the National Consumer's League, which has done so much to improve the conditions under which woman wage-earners do their work.

3. Mrs. Edward T. Hewitt, President of the New York Woman's Municipal League with its remarkable record of civic and social work. She is also Vice-president of the Society for improving the condition of the blind.

4. Kate Douglas Wiggin (Mrs. Riggs), who formed the free kindergarten system in California and is first Vice-president of the Kindergarten Association in New York.

5. To close: Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, President of the National Association opposed to Woman Suffrage, who is President of the Federation of Day Nurseries; a director of the Public Education Association, and Vice-president of the Legal Aid Society. She also started the New York Branch of the Needlework Guild.

The list could be continued indefinitely of the Anti-suffragists who are doing expert work for social welfare.

Miss Elder asks at the end of her paper "Why are practically all the well-known social workers also active suffragists?" The answer is "they are not; but the social workers who advertise themselves the most, and are most advertised by excellent suffrage press agents, are suffragists."

Many suffragists are under the impression that Colorado is the only state which has a children's court, because it is the only state whose Judge of the children's court (Judge Lindsey) goes all over the country lecturing on Suffrage, and being advertised as a man who has done such a wonderful work in the children's court. The fact is, more than twenty states have children's courts, many of them doing admirable work—all the more admirable because quietly done by men who stay on their job instead of touring the country and speaking in most of the states of the Union, as Judge Lindsey boasts that he has done on suffrage.

Mrs. Ferdinand F. French.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN, IT'S YOU

(Cincinnati Rotary Club.)

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grin,
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you've left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't the town, it's you!

Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When everybody works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if you, while you make your per sonal stake,
Your neighbors can make one, too
Your town will be what you want to see.
It isn't the town—it's you!

To Mothers in This Town.

Children who are delicate, feverish and cross will get immediate relief from Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children. They cleanse the stomach, act on the liver, and are recommended for complaining children. A pleasant remedy for worms. At all Druggists, 25c. Sample FREE. Address, A. S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Swat that fly!

TWO KINDS OF PEOPLE

There are two kinds of people on earth today;
Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood,
The good are half bad and the bad are half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth,
You must first know the state of his conscience and health;
Not the humble and proud, for, in life's little span,
Who puts on vain air is not counted a man.
Not the happy and sad, for the swift-flying years,
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No, the two kinds of people on earth that I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes;
And oddly enough, you will find too, I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifter who toils down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

How much per—— —DELIVERED Mile?

THAT'S the Tire Question in a Nutshell!

Not—"how much does the Tire Cost"—"how much Rubber is in it"—"how many layers of Cotton fabric"—or "how many different Vulcanizings does it go through."

Because,—Results have shown that some of the Tires which have most Cotton, Rubber, Weight and stiffness, give much less MILEAGE and Resilience than other tires made lighter by more expert workmen, through more direct and precise Methods.

Nor is so-called "Mileage Guarantee" worth considering in purchasing of Tires.

Because—no Tires are actually guaranteed to give definite Mileage, no matter what the surface reading may suggest.

Such "Guarantee" would be impracticable with the best Tire ever made, or that ever will be made.

—This, unless the Tire User could, in turn, guarantee the kind of roads over which he would always drive, the kind of driving his Chauffeur would always do, and the air pressure he would always carry on each Tire.

THE "Mileage Guarantee" is therefore a deceptive Misnomer.

It does not guarantee given Mileage but is only a figure arbitrarily named "as a Basis for Adjustment" on Claims made for defective Workmanship or Materials.

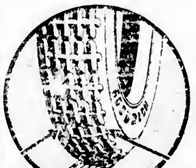

Read any of these "Guarantees" that are printed (or have the verbal ones defined) and you will see that they don't guarantee anything except that the Maker alone shall decide everything such "Guarantee" is supposed to cover.

The larger the Mileage "Guarantee" the higher the price the Maker must charge, to cover (as with Life Insurance) the increased "risk" of replacing Tires that are reasonably sure to wear out in considerable numbers, before they have given the "Guaranteed" Mileage.

The Careful Driver, over good roads and streets, would thus pay more than the Tire is worth, so that the Reckless Driver, or he who must continually drive over bad roads and streets, might get Mileage he is not entitled to, at the Careful Driver's expense.

THE Goodrich Safety Tread is the fairest-priced Tire, of similar Quality, in the field.—Ten to 30% lower than other Tires that give less Mileage on average performance less effective Traction, with more Vibration, and greater tendency to separate the layers of Fabric and of Tread.

Compare the "Goodrich Safety" Mileage Costs with that of any other Tire in the field, and ACT on what the Comparison shows you.

This is the Famous Goodrich Safety Tread
The standard by which all other non-skids are judged

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30x3	$ 9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30x3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32x3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34x4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55
36x4½	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
37x5	33.90	39.80	41.80	49.85	52.05

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Morris A. Cook of Philadelphia has an impressive interview in last Sunday's American on three cent electricity, his animus being aimed at the Edison Co. He is, without saying, an advocate of public ownership, and in his interview he says so. Municipally owned electric light plants in this section, after being tried out, have been found to be expensive failures, and they are now getting their current from the Edison Co. The public don't want to swallow what Mr. Cook says. Actual experience is more reliable.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN FLAHERTY AND MARY ANN.

In the Fire department of this town,
There's an able bodied man
By three Spark plug's combined with steam
He drives the Mary Ann.
He never had a lesson
On a tractor or machine
For fear that he might go too fast
By using gasoline.

Chorus.
Adieu to you dear Mary Ann
We hate to see you go,
You could not stand the gasoline
When stuck by frost and snow,
We'll remember you both day and night
Your praise we'll sing and bloat
The shed will be your resting place
The dirt will get your goat.

They may boast about their gasoline
Their tractors and their pumps,
But when the fire alarm rings
On the seat this man he jumps
Like a hurrycane across the plains,
He blows dust through the air
The swiftest deer he'd leave behind
A greyhound or a hare.

Perhaps in future years to come
When we are gone to stay,
The future generation
Will honor him this way
With an iron cross and monument
At the corner of Swanton and Main
Where he beat the Combination
And the tractor good and plain.
